Attendant Abducted, Officer Killed after Station Robbery

By KENT DOWNING

A Clark gas station robbery early Monday morning in Tecumseh led to the abduction of attendant Terry J. Hale, 19, Tecumseh and eventually to the death of Adrian patrolman Bobby Williams.

The three men allegedly involved with the shooting and robbery are being charged with two counts of robbery, kidnapping and one open charge of murder. They are also being held in connection with a Marion, Ohio murder.

All three suspects are from Marion. They are Paul Craft, 18, Harold Huggins, 17, and Gerald Deaton, 31.

Robbery occurred at the West Chicago Clark gas station shortly after 6 a.m. Monday. Only $60 was taken.

Clay Neal, 315½ W. Logan, a witness, was getting gas at the time. The robbers took $20 from him and $40 from the station.

Neal explained that when he drove up to the pumps, a blue Dart was already there. Three persons then pulled away from the pumps and one man drew a gun on the attendant, Terry Hale.

Neal explained that until that time, he thought the three in the car were a family on vacation.

Three men forced the attendant into their car and Neal ran across West Chicago, behind the cover of several trees just east of the Church of the Nazarene.

Neal stopped a motorcyclist and asked the man to call the police, but the biker drove off. Neal hid in a nearby garage for a short time and then called Tecumseh Police.

Bobby Williams, Adrian police officer, stopped a blue Dart on West Beecher Street, Adrian, at about 6:25 a.m.

After running a routine check on the car and driver, Williams walked up to the Dart. The driver shot Williams four times at close range, three times in abdomen and once in the neck.

Williams fired six shots. Four hit the suspects' vehicle and one hit the Dart's tire, forcing the suspects to flee on foot about three quarters of a mile from the shooting.

As the three fled, Hale, the hostage, escaped unharmed.

An area resident used the patrol car's radio to report the shooting to Adrian police.

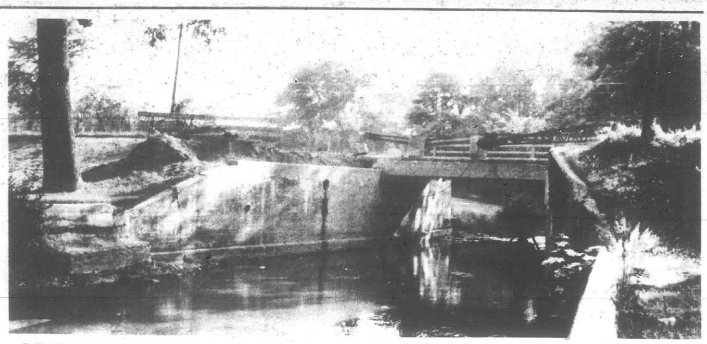
Williams was found lying in the roadway. He was taken to Bixby Hospital and later transferred to University Hospital, Ann ARbor, where he died on the operating table at 10 a.m.

Suspects car was abandoned on Larch St., near Hickory St. Police theorized the suspects failed to gain entry into a hous trying to obtain another and fled on foot again.

A two hour police and sheriff man-hunt followed in a nearby wooded area bounded by Baldwin Hwy., Cadmus Rd., and US-223.

The three suspects were apprehended near US-223 about 8:15 a.m.; they offered no resistance and were taken to the county jail.

Services for the two-year veteran of the Adrian police department, Bobby Williams, are Thursday at Berean Baptist Church, West Maumee, Adrian-Tecumseh



READY AND WAITING — The rising sun creates a mirage effect in the photo of the Union Street bridge looking east. The construction, however, is no mirage for motorists. Manager Cal Zorn explained that the abutments have been poured and the city is waiting for the beams to finish the job. Concrete beams are expected to arrive anytime. Once they do, work should be completed within a week. (Photo by Kent Downing)

4 Bikes Stolen

Four bicycles were stolen this past week. Two of the stolen bikes were taken from Tecumseh Park and one was found at the park.

The bicycles were stolen from Tecumseh Park Thursday, June 26. They belonged to Sarah Russell, 1205 W. Pottawatamie, and Patricia Duhan, 220 Maple.

Russell bicycle was a boy's regular bike. Duhan's was a 20-inch bike, valued at $60.

A bicycle was recovered Saturday at the park and is now held for claiment. It is valued at $10.

On Saturday, Jeff Parker, 503 Cairns, reported the theft of his 10-speed bicycle. It was taken from the rear of his residence and was valued at $250.

Also on Saturday, Linda Hammang reported the theft of her 3-speed Huffy girl's bike from her front yard at 211½ West Shawnee. It was unlocked at the time and was valued at $75.

Questions Answered on M-50 Widening

Information as to the delay in widening M-50 in Tecumseh has been received and passed on to The Herald by Mrs. Betty Kline, 4968 Ridge Highway.

Several weeks ago she raised questions relative to the delay and why something wasn't being done about it.

The letter from the Department of State Highways and Transportation to Mrs. Kline reads in part:

The resurfacing of M-50 in Tecumseh was tentatively scheduled for letting in May 1975 at a cost of $140,000. A review of the project in the field by our designers showed that a portion of the route inside the west limits of the city should be widened to accomodate the heavy left turn movements.

This widening to three lanes will be from the west city limits easterly about 0.6 miles to the beginning of the boulevard section east of Sunset Street. This extra work is estimated to cost an additional $110,000.

This expenditure was approved in January. At that time a survey was ordered so that the drainage could be computed and an outlet for the water determined. This survey will be completed by June 30, 1975. The normal design time for this work is about three to four months.

If it is determined that no additional right of way is necessary for the drainage outlet, bids will be taken in December. The drainage items can be constructed this winter and the balance of work completed in 1976.

Local 79 To Bargain for Hospital

Local 79 AFL-CIO has won the right to bargain for the employes of Herrick Memorial Hospital, announced Richard Cordtz, president of Service Employes Local 79.

In balloting conducted by the Michigan Employment Relations Commission, Local 79 received 80 votes to only 26 cast for no union.

Eight ballots were challenged.

The organizing drive at the hospital was headed by Local 79 staff representative Ken Davis, assisted by Henry Asavedo and Bryce Lane.

Entire House Is Ransacked

Henry Newlin, 710 W. Pottawatamie, reported to Tecumseh police Thursday, June 26, the breaking and entering of his residence.

Incident occurred after 9:15 a.m. Thieves took $114 cash.

Police theorize that boys in their early teens used their hand to push out a lower window pane in the southwest corner of the house to gain entry. Many items could have been stolen, but were untouched.

Thieves ransacked the entire house, apparently only interested in finding money.

A neighbor reported to police that she saw a group of boys park their bicycles and run into the back of the Newlin's property about the time of the B&E. Police are investigating.

State Police Investigate B&E, Thefts, Auto Fire

Clinton State Police are continuing their investigation of a breaking and entering of a new house under construction at 7570 Hendershot Hwy.

Jack Whelan reported, June 24, that a green short shag carpeting 19 x 24 had apparently been cut and removed from the living room floor of the new home of his wife's mother, Mrs. C.M. Brown.

Also stolen were draperies from the living room and bedroom and rods, and a quantity of sheer curtains still in boxes.

Forced entry was apparently gained sometime in the night of the day the carpet was laid.

John Underwood Cheverolet-Olds-Pontiac reported to Clinton State Police the theft of a 1975 Chevy ¾ ton pickup.

The white over silver vehicle was valued at around $6,000. Theft may have occurred June 26, but was discovered June 28.

An automobile owned by J.C. Beardsley, Tecumseh was stolen and reported on fire in a ditch on the Saline-Macon Rd., about 7:40 a.m. Saturday.

Clinton Firemen went to the scene in dense fog.

Two suspects who were near the scene, according to the passerby who reported the fire to Clinton State Police, were described as two white males, one having long blond hair, and one brown hair.

A large cabin cruiser, owned by Whiteman's Marina of Sharon-Hollow Rd., north west of Clinton, was reported stolen June 29.

The boat, which was used on Lake Michigan, was valued at over $11,000.

School Office To Be Open

The Tecumseh High School principal's office will be open Monday and Thursday from 9 to 10 a.m. for those who need transcripts or have other business.

Fireworks the 4th

Gigantic fireworks display, sponsored by the Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce, will be the highlight of the Fourth of July celebration here Friday.

Display begins at dark at the Tecumseh Athletic Field.

Over $1,000 worth of fireworks will be discharged and will include ground display as well.

James Fielder will again "shoot the works" for the Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce. Fielder has been Tecumseh's pyro technician for 12 years, missing only one performance in 1967 owing to an automobile accident.

Assisting Fielder are Bill Fielder, Mike Withrow, Terry Sisty, Ed Fleshman, Tom Smith and Mike Cessnie.

Unique aspect of this year's production will be a land display engineered by Fielder and the fireworks supplier, instead of one factory designed.

Included are an American Flag, a cannon that "shoots" Roman candles and a multiple salute with 40 rapid fire shots.

Having previously worked with explosives, Fielder said he volunteers his services because "I enjoy it. It is my share in contributing to the communiy's fun."

In his 12 years Fielder said there was one humorous occasion when a shell went off in the firing tube before launching. Another time, he said he "got knocked on his can" and was injured in one firing mishap.

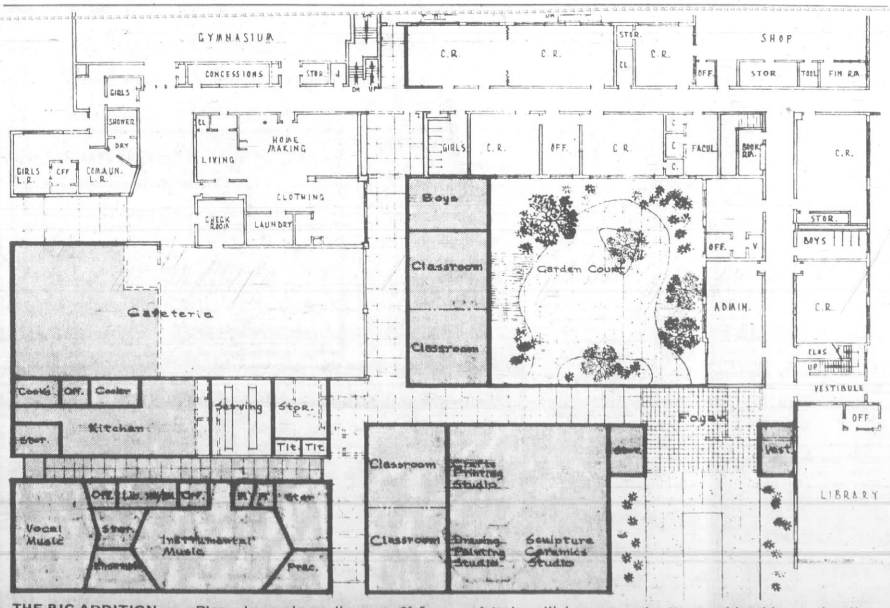
"Actually domestic fireworks, firecrackers and sparklers, are more dangerous in the hands of youngsters than the fireworks we use.

"Kids should use explosives only with adult supervision. Keep track of sparkler wires. They can cause personal and property damage, hot or cold," Fielder commented.

Instead of playing around with these potentially dangerous amusements, Fielder suggested people come to the display.

Parents are reminded by officials to control children during the holiday and fireworks display for the public safety.

Bleacher area of the athletic field will be restricted since area is planned for fall out. Public is welcome to view the 600 foot high rockets from the grass banks.



THE BIG ADDITION — Plan above shows the new $1.5 million addition to Tecumseh High School that has been approved by the School Board. Final and detailed plans are expected in a few weeks for bidding. Officials hope that the addition will be completed and ready for the 1976-77 school year. The entire area between the existing library and cafeteria will be enclosed with considerable construction between the cafeteria and N. Maumee St. By enlarging the cafeteria to seat 400, officials are hoping to have a closed campus next year and also to handle a study hall overload. Total project encompasses 25,000 square feet.

Police Investigate Minor Accidents

Tecumseh Police Department investigated five accidents this week. All accidents were minor.

Thursday, June 26, a car owned by Underwood Chevrolet was parked on Chicago near the Evans St. intersection when Diana M. Davila, 22, Britton, tried to park in the open space in front of the Underwood vehicle. She struck the other car's bumper.

Later that day, Lois M. Frye, Blissfield, was parked in a city public parking lot. Paul H. Barbour, 65, Clinton, then backed his vehicle out of a space and hit the Frye vehicle.

Sunday, Robert E. Nichelson, 28, 702 E. Chicago, was stopped making a right turn into his driveway when a vehicle driven by Ponsiama M. Rafael, 17, Ridgeway, struck his car in the rear. Rafael was cited for failure to stop in the assured clear distance ahead.

Monday, John J. McFadden, 37, 5364 Green Hwy., was stopped on Occidental at the M-50 intersection with a vehicle driven by Robert J. Ondrovick, 25, 113 N. Maiden Lane, stopped behind him. Ondrovick thought McFadden started to make a right turn and proceded, striking McFadden's car in the rear. Damage was minor. No citations were issued.

Tuesday, July 1, William R. Vollmer, 17, Tipton was turning into a private drive at 101 E. Logan. A car driven by Kenneth F. Owens was parked in the street and started backing up, hitting the Vollmer vehicle. Owens, 56, Tipton, was cited for unsafe backing.

Through My Window

ONE TO GO

She said they were slightly smaller than a blackbird, perhaps about the size of a smallish robin. They were long legged and had light bills. She thought they were a chocolate brown color, but her husband saw them as more a reddish brown. There was a light cast to their fronts.

Noisy birds, two of them seemed to be catching bugs in the mock orange bushes. Mrs. Rutherford wondered who her birds were. I did too.

Actually, I am still wondering. A veery is cinnamon brown in color, has a light unspotted breast and a bone colored bill. But noisy? These are rather shy birds and most bird books talk about their trilling song. No mention of them making a racket. And long legs? Well, just about all young birds can be shrill and squeaky and loud, so can they be leggy.

Cowbirds also fit parts of the description. We have never seen them do much insect catching in bushes but they are dark birds. The male has what could be called a chocolate brown head and these birds are noisy.

But they have small dark bills and if the mystery birds were two youngsters, well, it is highly unlikely that a pair of male cowbirds would be together. The female lays one egg in another bird's nest but seldom two.

I am afraid the name of the Rutherford's bird still remains a mystery. How frustrating. I know only too well how maddening it is to have a good look at a bird - a good enough look so that many supposedly identifying characteristics can be noted - then go to the books and find nothing.

Some birds simply do not read the description of what they should look like. They also do not make any effort to behave as the books say they should.

Perhaps the mock orange bushes are hosting young orioles. They could be noisy and leggy and light billed. They could also be very busy picking bugs out of white syringa blossoms.

All of our young orioles though are much lighter in color than the birds described to me over the telephone. Of course, male orchard orioles are dark but they have decided white markings on their wings. And so it goes.

As difficult as this mystery was to solve, my aunt posed one that topped it. At least for about three days it did. A red bird with a blue head defied all of our efforts.

We searched and searched but none of the books showed such a creature. We were all in my room but only Auntn had a good look at the feeder. The bird flew just as she exclaimed "What is THAT?"

When she told us what she had seen, you can imagine the raised eyebrows and skeptical looks. But after all, a red bird with a blue head!?! You can be very sure that for the next few days every bird that lit on the feeder was looked at carefully, each bird that flew past the window was checked out thoroughly and the slightest movement in the treetops was scrutinized. Everything was normal.

Careful thumbling through the bird books revealed some colorful birds. Male western tanagers in breeding plumage have black backs, yellow fronts and red heads.

Even our gorgeous scarlet tanagers can look mighty strange as they molt the juvenile plumage. They are a weird splotchy mixture of black, yellowish green, olive and red.

Vermilion flycatchers have brilliant red breasts and heads and blueback backs but they have not indigenous to this part of the country. Bluebirds have blue heads and red breasts. For bizarre coloring can anything top the Long Island's small colony of European goldfinches with their red faces and yellow wing patches?

The closest the books came were the male painted buntings who have brilliant purple heads and red breasts. But they also have bright green backs and are found in the south. Besides, Auntn said this was definitely not her bird.

Finally the day came. I heard the unmistakable squeaking of a young cardinal and looked out just as a red bird with a blue head landed on the near-my-window feeder. Such a sad looking sight.

The little guy was beautifully feathered out in his new red suit with one exception. His head had not a single feather on it. And his skin was a dark blue. Auntn's bird!

So it is that we had two mystery birds - the appearance of the juvenile cardinal solved one but there is still one to go.

Tecumseh Viewpoint

Tecumseh Herald reporter Kathy Brown and photographer Frank Weir, posed the questions, "What do you think of Tecumseh police chief Ray Walton's resignation?" to shoppers in downtown Tecumseh and recorded their reactions.

Analysis of the comments shows regret over the resignation or ambivalance, owing to not knowing Walton or news facts. When asked "In your opinion why did he resign?" people answered they did not know or guessed.

Anonymous woman: "I don't think he should resign. I like the man. I think he has a right to resign if his authority has been undermined. I think it has been (undermined). just by observing the police."

Richard Montcalm: "I'm not familiar with the fact. It would be a good thing to find out what his reasons are so we don't have the same problems again. I think it will take a community effort, more than just the police. A lot of people want to know why there is so much vandalism and why so many kids, aged 12 to 20, are out until 3 or 4 a.m. in the morning.

R. MONTCALM

Gina Bauman: "I'm sorry that he's leaving. I think he felt he had too many pressures."

Sylvia Korte: Clinton resident "I think there are more important things to worry about in the city of Tecumseh than the men buying their own helmets. I think the thing was blown out of proportion."

Bob Powell: "I don't know why he resigned. I met him once. I thought he was a nice guy. But I don't know anything else about the situation."

Anne Nixon: "I think its too bad. He tried to do a job. I would continue to do the job and if the city didn't like it, I'd wait for them to ask me to resign."

John Wilt: "If the boys are playing politics, they should go to the union with their problems and then to council. I do know that they nail a lot of people with arrests. That tells us we have a lot of problems for a little town. Maybe we're growing up.

Charlie Saling: "I would like him to stay. I appreciated the job he's done."

C. SALING

Carson Stout: "I don't know him. If a man wants to quit, let him quit."

Carl Lamb: "I'm horrified. He is a gentleman, an efficient police officer and a great administrator. Perhaps public opinion can sway his decision. We should certainly know why he resigned. As former councilman, as long as I can remember, we've always had a problem with the men coming forward with their problems. They should go through the proper channels."

C. LAMB

Sam Compton: "I don't think he should resign.

I think personally, that he was under fire, uptight, but he's done a good job. The overall ciriticism probably got to him finally. That could be it, even if he doesn't give it as a reason."

Epoxy glue is made in many forms by many manufacturers. It comes in two parts, both liquid, and is mixed in the required amount just before using. It is a good wood glue, and it glues almost anything else, as well. As it is usually 100 percent solid, it can be used to stick large areas of metal together. Here solvent drying glues will not work, because the solvent can not escape from between the metal surfaces. Epoxy glue holds with a strength of one ton per square inch or more.

Bi-centennial Journey

OPERA HOUSE

By Thelma Youngloye

BRITTON — It's true, Britton once had what was called the "Opera House" or "Lenardson's Hall". It was located above the double store owned by O.B. (Owen) Lenardson, operator of a dry goods store now occupied by the Britton Variety Store and a grocery store adjacent to it in the store building recently vacated. The Opera House floor space was equivalent to the size of two stores combined.

The Opera House had the largest floor space of any building in Britton. At each side were wings from which the performers entered. Colorful curtains at the back of the stage and at the front dropped down. Scenery and advertisements for local merchants were painted on the curtains.

Entrance to the Opera House was by a long stairway leading from the alley up the west side of the building. Props, musical instruments, even a piano had to be taken up those stairs.

For one event a piano was rented from an Adrian music store. When the rental period was over, the store manager sent two men to get the piano. The men tried to get the piano down the steep stairs without additional assistance, but were unable to manage the piano. It slipped, and one man broke a leg.

The Opera House served many purposes. At that time the high school had no auditorium to present school plays or concerts. For many years they were presented in the Opera House.

As late as the 1900s, the school's graduation services were held in the Opera House. Some members of the alumni must remember receiving that coveted high school diploma from the stage of the Opera House.

Dances and large banquets were held there. What a task it must have been to carry tables, chairs, table service and feed up stairs. The building was not equipped with cooking or dining facilities.

For many years a medicine show came to Britton. Show people stayed at the Britton Hotel, but performances were at the Opera House. Shows were usually quite well attended. Each evening there was a different performance. The Saturday night show was billed as the best and drew the largest crowd.

In between acts, show people passed among the audience selling salve and medicine. To promote the sale of the medicine, purchasers were allowed to vote for a popular young lady from the community. The young lady receiving the most votes during the week was considered to be the most popular and received a gift at the close of the final show.

Finally the school had facilities for accommodating large audiences for school plays, concerts, and gradution. By that time people were beginning to question the safety of the Opera House for large gatherings, and its use for public events was discontinued. Since then the space has been converted into living quarters.

Jewels & gems

By Dick Eggleston

To engrave a gem, one must use a rotating metal tool. The stone is fastened to a wooden handle, and moved against the tool, which does not itself perform the cutting of the design, but merely rubs abrasive powder on the stone. Ancient people probably used emery powder for this purpose, but today a mixture of diamond dust and oil is used. Once this is done, a craftsman must then draft a design onto the gem, and using both delicate and sharp, hard instruments, cut his design into the stone.

Our experts will be happy to check and clean your jewelry to prevent losing precious stones. Stop in soon at EGGLESTON'S JEWELRY, 107 E. Chicago Blvd., 423-2715. We will also size rings so they fit properly and are comfortable. BankAmericard and Master Charges honored.

GEM FACTS: The color, cut and clarity of a gem determine the value.

Letter to the Editor

Enjoyments Taken Away from Children

To the Editor:

How can children of this younger generation have respect for the older people of this community? They profess to be Christians, but are they, when they take the privileges and enjoyments away from children?

The children can't have pets, play on their own private property nor have anything for enjoyment. What does the city have to offer to help keep the children off the streets and out of trouble? Nothing!

This is why our children turn to dope, alcohol and juvenile delinquency, so the old ones can set back and gloat.

I am a working mother, not by choice, and my ex-husband bought our son a mini-bike four years ago to keep him home and off the streets.

One older person has complained twice to the police. He cannot ride it any more. If this is so, the police department better crack down on the other mini-bikes in town. I am a home owner and tax payer, but yet, one cannot do what one wishes on one's private property.

If this person wishes to pay my taxes and upkeep, they can be my boss, but until then, no way!

Wake up, senior citizens, remember you were young once and had children, as we all were. None of us were angels, or there would be a city full of Saints. Another thing, a mini-bike doesn't sound as bad as all the power mowers, the cars and motorcycles racing up and down Kilbuck.

by Linda Phillips 423-5213

Let's take time during the upcoming holiday weekend of picnics, parades and fireworks to reflect on what July 4 really means.

Consider the struggle, personal sacrifices and hardship endured by men and women who believed that no price was too high to pay for precious freedom.

The dictionary defines freedom as: "Exemption or liberation from slavery or imprisonment; exemption from political restraint or autocratic control; independence; liberty of choice of action." We may not often speak the word freedom, but we live it every day.

We complain about high prices. We complain about corrupt politicians. We complain, we protest, we picket. We have the freedom to do so.

Our shortcoming is not that we complain. Our shortcoming is that we take for granted the right to be able to.

That's freedom, and that's what the Fourth of July is all about.

Let us cherish it.

Lois and Truman Jordan, if you will remember, took an extended trip to Alaska last summer. This year, their travels took them to 15 states—south and west of Michigan—and 11 national parks. During the month-long trip, Lois looked up several nieces and cousins whom she had never met.

Two Honored in Kentucky

Two area students have been named to the dean's list at Union College in Barbourville, Ky. They are Norman Ross Fisher, son of Mrs. Maude M. Fisher, Tipton, and Nancy M. Warner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Warner, 303 Herrick Pk. Dr.

Both are Tecumseh High School graduates.

To qualify for the dean's list, a student must attain at least a 3. grade point average.

Union College is a fully accredited liberal arts institution affiliated with the United Methodist Church, granting both undergraduate and graduate degrees.

4-H'ers Prepare Fair Projects

Tecumseh Top Notchers 4-H Club has organized for the summer. Approximately 30 to 40 students will prepare projects in sewing, cooking, macrame, plants and flowers for the Lenawee County Fair.

Community leader is Betty Meni, 423-3253. Assistants are Shirley Philo and Lynn Cook.

Project leaders are Pam Niedermier, macrame and plants; Katherine Laszo, Ann Hunter, Joyce Butters, cooking; Shirley Philo, Cathy Montgomery, Joyce Salters, Gladys Newton, Betty Meni and Lynn Cook, sewing.

Registration is closed for the summer program but will reopen again with new projects this fall.

Camp Kanesatake, near Brooklyn, opened on June 22 for a five week Scout camping season which will be followed by a week of camping for Webelos Cub Scouts.

Webelos Camp is a pilot project for 10 year old cub scouts who normally do not camp overnight on an extended basis without their fathers. Project is in its second summer of experimentation and has been approved by the National Cub Scouting Service of the Boy Scouts.

Demand for the Webelos Camp has made it necessary to double the capacity this year.

Wright's Lake Scout Reservation, near Evart, will open for its third summer season on July 6. During its six week season, Wright's Lake will specialize in the outdoor skills of scouting, including wilderness survival, orienteering, pioneering and rapelling.

Both camps have been awarded the coveted National Standard Camp Rating by the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America for excellence in health, safety, program and administration.

While most scouts attend camp with their own troop, under the leadership of their year-round scoutmaster and committeemen, it is possible for individual boys to attend during the two weeks of provisional camping offered at each camp.

Veteran Scoutmaster John R. Williams, Ann Arbor, will serve as provisional scoutmaster for scouts in both camps. Reservations are still available for scouts on an individual basis. For information, call the Council Service Center, 313-663-8514.

Tecumseh Library

The Tecumseh Public Library has a variety of subjects to interest young adults (junior high school age).

Teen feelings often range from "down in the dumps" one minute to "up in the clouds" the next. Is this abnormal? No, family counselor, Eda LeShan, says in her latest book, YOU AND YOUR FEELINGS. The problems of today's youth include drugs, alcohol, love, dating, and sex. Personal feelings and behavior with family, friends, and school are thoughtfully handled.

On a lighter note, the growing hobbies of film-making and jewelry making are explored. FILMMAKING FOR BEGINNERS, by Joan Horvath, introduces the basics from choice of camera and lens, to script-writing, editing and animation, and additional information.

ROCK TUMBLING, by Carolyn Meyer with photographer Jerome Wexler, covers rock collecting from stones to gems to jewelry.

Answer your questions on why and how we are going metric. METRIC POWER by Richard Deming joins the Tecumseh library's growing collection of materials on this system that will soon become our own standard.

For animal lovers and ecologists there's FALCONS RETURN by John Kaufmann and Heinz Meng. An engrossing account of the attempted restoration of this species high on the endangered list.

Summer is a good time to make things. A source for many ideas is FUN TIME BATIK AND TIE DYING. Step-by-step directions for decorating anything from T-shirts to tablecloths. The book also includes other crafts, such as making apple head dolls and corn husk people.

Roy Cadmus' Life Story Is Published in Book

The late Roy L. Cadmus, long-time Centennial Rd. farmer, was awarded a tribute in the form of a book before his recent death by his daughter, Joan, and step-daughter, Jackie Pappalardo, of Cleveland.

Both Joan and her sister, Margrett, brought up on the Cadmus farm, married and moved to California. They rarely saw their father.

A year ago Joan asked her Dad to put on tape some of his experiences as a child, student of the Michigan Agricultural College, East Lansing, soldier of World War I and a farmer. She felt that Roy's grandchildren had been deprived of their family background.

During the making of three tapes, Jackie, daughter of Roy's second wife, Anabel Hall Finnegan Cadmus, was visiting in the home and decided to transcribe the tape into a book for her own family.

It was entitled "How I Won the War and Other Anecdotes" by Roy L. Cadmus. It includes many amusing and educational excerpts from the life of the author.

In an editor's note, Jackie explains the family relationships and states "The legacy Roy has left all of his children" is rich and unforgettable. He always had an open heart and an extra hand from which dangled all of his children, grandchildren and neighborhood children on the way to the fields and the barn."

Fire Causes Kitchen Damage

CLINTON — A fire, which apparently started in the rear of a refrigerator, caused extensive fire damage to the kitchen at the home of Mrs. Francis Faulhaber, Clinton-Macon Rd., Friday at 5:30 p.m.

Mrs. Faulhaber had been in Mexico with the Clinton Spanish Club. Neighbors noticed the smoke pouring out of the house a few minutes after son, Tom, left the house to pick up his mother at Metro Airport.

Smoke damaged the entire house and there was also considerable water damage.

Clinton firemen were at the scene for one and one-half hours. Since the house is located just second lot east of the village limits, firemen were able to use the village water hydrant.

Saturday at 8:30 a.m. Clinton firemen answered an automobile firecall on the Saline Rd. north of Macon, while the area was shrouded in deep fog.

Mr. and Mrs. John Young, nee Cathy Bauer, and two sons and a daughter, came from Lakewood, Calif., last week to visit until July 14 with her mother, Mrs. Jacob Bauer and other relatives.

Mrs. Hugh Pike and family left Monday for San Jose, Calif., to spend the summer near where her husband is employed as a plant engineer.

Mrs. Jerry Goldsmith, nee Ann Steffens, of Rochester is visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. Max Steffens. Her husband and children will come for the 4th of July weekend. Another daughter, Mrs. David Rainsberger, nee Ellen Steffens, and two children are spending a month here, while her husband, Lt. Rainsberger, is being transferred from Monterey, Calif., to Washington, D.C. He is a Navy computer specialist.

Mr. and Mrs. David Crysler and three sons, Chris, 10; Kevin, 7; and Robby, 4, who have been living in Sao Paulo, Brazil, for the past year while Mr. Crysler is employed with Philco Div., Ford Motor Co., are visiting for July with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Waltz.

While Mrs. John Young and Mrs. David Crysler are home at the same time, it seemed like a good idea to get their class of 1963 together. A family picnic is planned for all members of that class for Saturday afternoon at Carr Park, Manchester.

ATTEND CAMP — Officers of the Tecumseh FFA chapter attended Region II leadership training camp June 13-15. The Camp is 4-H Camp Palmer located in Fayette, Ohio. Attending (l to r) Tonia Schultz, Jesse Higgins, Ron Halasz, Brad Williams, Mark Hunter, Karl Brown, and Paul Burns, chapter advisor. Aubrey Schroeder, chapter president attended Boys State during the camp period. Regional FFA officers hold training sessions designed to teach students responsibilities of FFA respective offices.

SWEPT CLEAN — Maude Bell's residence, where she fashioned gowns for many area brides, is a relic of the past. In just one day Selders Excavating demolished the old home at the corner of Pottawatamie and Maiden Lane leaving the area swept clean for additional parking for the Purse Funeral Home. Gilbert Purse owner, remarked Tuesday that he hopes to have the area landscaped with lights, pillars and grass in less than a week. During the razing process, Purse grabbed a board enscribed with the name of S.W. Temple, probably the first lumber co. in Tecumseh.

HAY PITCHIN' BALL PLAYERS — Young men of the Britton Bethel Baptist Church baseball team pitched in to help bale hay at the Robert Hunt farm Tuesday while Mr. Hunt is recovering from phlebitis. That afternoon, the young men beat the Berean Baptist Church team in a double header at Adrian. Teammates are Loren and Tim Gall, Andrew, Leo and Francis Bishop, Terry Whaley and Pastor Gerald Booth. Lauren Gall drove the tractor. Pastor Booth promised to let the team work in the fields before every game.

Lisa Baker to Tour with Musical Youth International

Lisa Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Baker, Rogers Hwy., is among 118 students who will tour Europe with the Musical Youth International until Aug. 4.

Lisa, a senior at Tecumseh High School this fall, will sing first alto in the choir on the concert tour.

Although she played mallet percussion and bassoon in the varsity band and was in the stage band, this is her first venture into singing with a choir.

However, she said she attends the Church of Christ, Adrian, where she sings with a congregation noted for "singing out."

She also teaches piano at Flanders Music Co.

Assisting with the cost of the trip are scholarships of $100 from Rotary Club; $50 from Tecumseh Band Boosters; $15 from Business and Professional Women and $25 from National Federation of Music Clubs.

Musical Youth International, a People to People International Youth Chapter, left Metropolitan Airport June 30, for Amsterdam, Holland, to begin a five-week European concert and family living tour.

Itinerary for the 11th season will include five countries, Holland and Germany, Switzerland, and Italy and Denmark.

Official concerts are scheduled on July 4 at the Netherlands Congresgebouw in The Hague; July 15 in the Saarpfalz Hall, Qmmersheim, Germany; July 22, Concert Hall Milan, Italy; and Aug. 1 in the Concert Hall, Tivoli Garden, Copenhagen.

MYI will feature musical group at the International Band Festival in Gersthofen, Germany from July 24 to 27. They will also perform at an International Teachers Conference in Berlin Congress Hall on July 29. Many sacred and informal concerts and official receptions are also planned.

MYI is a chartered People to People Youth Group who annually visit a distant area of the world to experience interchange of living at the personal level. Each year one hundred students are selected from high schools in the Great Lakes area to organize a concert band and chorus. Some 50 schools are represented each year by their outstanding student citizens, who bring back to their local communities a personal report of their own experiences.

MYI was founded by the late Dr. Lester McCoy in 1965 who planned the first 10 year schedule.

Upon their return to Michigan, Aug. 4, MYI will present a concert in Oxford High School on Tuesday, Aug. 5, at 7:30 p.m. Oxford has sent students each year to participate in the MYI program, and has hosted two previous MYI concerts.

The final concert of the 1975 MYI season is scheduled at Hill Auditorium, Ann Arbor, at 8 p.m. sponsored by the School of Music, University of Michigan. All concerts are open to the public.

THERE'S MORE TO LIFE THAN A PRETTY BALLOON!

A bouncy red or yellow balloon is the symbol the world over of good un and happy feelings.

There's rarely a festival, a fiesta, or a fair held anywhere without the familiar balloon vendor strolling through the crowd, selling happiness for a few pennies. Parents buy them for their kids and young men present them with a flourish to their girl friends.

Just why a balloon is so much fun isn't clear, but one thing is certain — the pleasure never lasts. The air leaks out, balloons unexpectedly pop, careless fingers send them soaring away forever.

But there is a far greater pleasure to be found that will last for an eternity. It is the happy pursuit of a Christian life and you can find out all about it this Sunday — in church.

McNitt Wins Macon Match Play

After defeating Tecumseh's Bill Berkley 4-3 in the semi-finals Saturday, Adrian High School assistant principal, Gary McNitt, went on to win the ninth annual Macon Match Play Championship overwhelming Bill Jones of Milan 6-5 Sunday. McNitt was two down after the first two holes in the 36-hole finals but went on to go one up after the first nine. After 18 holes of play he was three up and after 27 holes, five up.

A birdie on the 31st hole wrapped up the tourney for McNitt.

Eighteen-hole finals were also held in the other three flights Sunday. Bob Marsh of Clinton won the first flight beating Dale Garrison 3-2 after a victory over Harold Stout 4-3 in the semi-finals match. Garrison beat Jerry Tomacek 6-5 in the semi-finals.

Bob Beevers Jr., won the second flight over Ron Miller two-up. In the semi-finals, Beevers beat Frank Philo 2-1 while Miller defeated Marty Ivan 3-2.

Third flight winner was Bill Bishop who won over Mike Morse 3-2 after beating Rick Steele 4-3 in the semi-finals. Morse defeated Bob Yensch 2-1 in his semi-final match.

Irish Hills and VFW Tied for First Place

WEDNESDAY

Protco took advantage of eight errors by Judkins Insurance to win 14-5. The winners also got five hits by Ford including a home run.

Poe batted in the winning run in the bottom of the seventh to give Pike Inn a 2-1 win over Oberst Agency.

Ponderosa scored four runs in the first inning then went on to beat Tecumseh Jaycees 13-2. Tripp and Place each had three run homers for Ponderosas. M. Clement scored both runs for J.C.'s.

THURSDAY LEAGUE

Handley equipment had little trouble beating Watson Bros. Roofing 14-1. Handley broke the game open in the fourth inning when they scored four times.

In a protested game that saw a melee at the home plate, the Irish Hills Merchants scored six runs in the eighth inning to beat VFW 14-8.

VFW had an 8-4 lead at one point but Irish Hills scored three in the sixth and one in the seventh to send the game into extra innings.

IHM then scored the winning runs with a triple by Piotter, three singles and a home run by Davenport.

The win moved Irish Hills into a first place tie with VFW both at 6-1. The winners got three hits each from Piotter, Vallad and Edwards while the losers were led by Whelans 4 hits.

A trio of two-run home runs by Gurtzweiler, Schlegal and Nykodym in the third and fourth innings powered Rumpf Trucking over American Legion Post 34 13-2.

Nykodym and Schlegal each had four hits for Rumpf while Heeman was the only Legion player with more than one hit.

THURSDAY MAKE-UP

Back to back home runs by Bryan and Davenport ignited a nine run rally in the first inning as IHM beat Watson Brothers 19-2, in five innings.

The league leaders added seven more in the third to put the game out of reach. Watson scored both their runs in the second inning on a walk and 2 singles.

Rumpf trucking scored two runs in the fifth inning to edge Handley Equipment 6-4. Henning and Betz each had a two run home run for each team.

VFW maintained a share of first place by beating American Legion 9-4. The winners scored 3 runs in the top of the seventh to ice the win.

ROCKING ON — Tecumseh resident Jolene Woodby, 23, 6953 Green Hwy., was among the three finalists who agreed to a tie in the rocking chair marathon held over the weekend at Adrian Mall. The event was stopped at noon Monday after 96 consecutive hours of rocking. Jolene and the other two contestants will each receive $250. Jolene said she'll use the money to start her own beauty shop. Gymnastics Clinic To Begin Tecumseh High School has scored another sports first.

With the coming school year, the Indians will have an inter-scholastic gymnastics team, the first such team among Huron League schools.

In order to prepare for the coming year, coach Mary Wood is holding a one-week competition gymnastics clinic starting July 7.

The clinic is open to any girl now in high school or who will be in high school this fall and is interested in gymnastics.

The clinic will last from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. each day for the week.

Because no other school in the league has a gymnastics team, Coach Wood confides that Tecumseh will probably participate as an "independent team".

The season will begin in late December or early January.

Britton Wins Two

BRITTON — Britton picked up two more victories in pony league action last week defeating VFW 5-3 and TPW 3-0.

Dennis Kimerer was the winning pitcher in the VFW contest earning six strikeouts walking six and allowing no hits.

Greg Fanslau led Britton in hits with a pair of singles.

Against TPW, Fanslau was on the mound striking out 10. Greg Sears led the hitting with a pair of singles.

Britton grabbed two runs in the first inning on three straight singles and added their third run in the fifth on a walk to Al Dickerson, a walk to Ken Stotler and a single by Jeff Maska.

Women's Softball

SENIOR GIRLS

In a see-saw battle, Tecumseh's girls finally came out on top defeating a good Blissfield team, 15-12.

In the opening inning Blissfield grabbed eight runs but Tecumseh came back to score six. Blissfield took the lead 12-9 in the fifth but not for long.

Tecumseh had another big inning in the sixth scoring another six runs including a home run by Sue Long. They hung on to take the win.

Jane Faulkner was the leading hitter for Tecumseh witt three singles. Pam Palmer and Jill Greenfield were next with two singles each.

In their second game of the week, the senior girls brought down Clinton 19-12. Leading hitters were Jane Faulkner, Pam Palmer and Lisa Lee each with a home run.

LouAnn Harvey went three for 5, Sandy Humphries 2 for 2, Kathy Kruger and Gloria Gosbender 2 for 4, Lisa Caterina adding a home run.

Britton scored 10 runs on 7 hits and Tecumseh had 9 runs on 13 hits. Tecumseh No. 1 is now 0-1 for the season.

Their next game will be against Irish Hills at Tecumseh on Monday, July 7, at 8:30.

Boating Class

The Lenawee County Sheriff's Department will conduct a pleasure boating class for youth, ages 12 to 16 years to obtain a boating safety certificate.

The law requires all youths between the ages of 12 and 16 must have successfully completed a boating safety course before they can operate a vessel of six or more horse power.

The training will be held at the Devils Lake Yacht Club, Manitou Beach.

Next class is July 9 at 2 p.m. where the students may register and receive their material. They will have to return on July 16 at 2 p.m. and finish the course.

Group Rebuilds Homes

Twenty-two girls, boys, and counselors recently returned from Kentucky after volunteering their help for a week. Under the Appalachian Service Project, they got up at 6 a.m., ate at 7, and then worked until 3:30 p.m. five days in 95 degree weather for no monetary pay.

But of those 22 who went, none would ever complain. The work is hard, as building rooms, porches, and roofs always is, but no one complains when he realizes he helped an impoverished family who couldn't afford home improvements.

The group is from the United Methodist Church of Tecumseh. They made their annual trip to the Appalachian mountains this summer to help rebuild homes of underprivileged families.

They separated into two groups. One, led by Rene Crombez and Mrs. Robert Thompson, fixed a roof, replaced windows, painted, and built a porch. The other group, led by Jerry O'Brien and Myrna Downing, built a 12x12 bedroom addition, painted, and built a roof. It took five days for both projects.

Each group consisted of nine kids and two counselors. The first was typical with three boys and five girls helping the counselors. The second group, which built the room, was composed of girls only, except for counselor Jerry O'Brien.

Those participating included: Mark Deming, Ross Dornan, John Gray, Sue and Sherrie Norris, Sue and Laurie Ford, Ann Jubenville, Cindy Adams, Diane Williams, Lynn Wikle, Laura MacLaughlin, Glenn Vavernick, Cindy Younglove, Jennifer Thompson, Maureen O'Brien, Tammy Downing, and Mary McElroy.

Volunteer program operates out of Union College Environmental Center in Cumberland Gap National Park and cost families in the area nothing. This project and other similar programs in the mountains and southern states, is under the direction of Rev. Glenn (Tex) Evans.

Trip Off

Due to lack of response, the trip to Mackinaw and the surrounding areas has been canceled.

It was scheduled for July 8-11.

Both the Sandy Pines and Mackinaw trips have been canceled due to unforeseen circumstances.

Split Pair

Tecumseh split a pair with Morenci last Saturday in American Legion baseball. Tecumseh won the first game 6-0 but dropped the second 4-2.

Dave Spillman was the winning pitcher in the first contest with Mike Creswell hitting a single and triple and Bill Smith hitting two triples and one single.

Mike Saxton was on the mound for Morenci in the second game striking out 15 Tecumseh batters. Tom Richter took the loss on the mound for Tecumseh.

Tecumseh's record now stands at 2-4.

Resignation Is Accepted, Walton Reveals Feelings

By KATHY BROWN

Tecumseh City Council unanimously accepted the resignation of police chief Ray Walton with regrets at Monday night's meeting.

Although the chief agreed to remain until the city finds a satisfactory replacement, the city will have no easy job finding a new man for the job.

Asked what kind of man the city will seek to control the 12 man force, Mayor Harold Easton shook his head.

"I don't know. It is going to be a real tough job. This man was a gentleman and it didn't work. A military man would split this town in two. As we replace policemen, hopefully we'll get the kind who will do the job right."

Easton said unions are right behind men in cases of moral charges or discipline actions and it is getting harder to prove misconduct.

Speaking before the vote, Easton told Council disappointedly, "I talked to Ray. I'm sure that there is no chance that he will change his mind. I recommend Council accept the resignation with regrets."

Counciman Wallace Whiting then tried to persuade Walton to reconsider.

"Until the men show the same loyalty and same professional ethics as Chief Walton, I think Ray should hold off," Whiting said strongly.

In reference to department problems, Whiting said, "In my opinion the chief has been harangued by men who put on the street what shouldn't be there." He said grievance procedures should have been followed.

"I'm sure the Council shares your feelings," said Easton. "In all fairness to Councilman Whiting's request, Ray would reconsider?" asked the mayor.

Walton gave a moving reply:

"In five or six months, I'd probably feel the same as I do now, I'd rather leave now."

"I regret I haven't been able to do better. I can't do the job . . I probably shouldn't have come," Walton said calmly in reflection.

"I'm no hatchet man. I don't want to divide the community. I prefer to live here than do the job that I know has to be done.

"The city is fortunate to have Cal Zorn as city manager. My thanks to him, the council and community for support," he continued.

Walton said he appreciated the calls of support from the community; he received no negative calls. "In the 25 years I had been in Ypsilanti, I haven't had this kind of support."

With no further discussion, Council approved the resignation.

"Tecumseh was very fortunate to have had you for two years, I sincerely mean that," Mayor Easton told Walton with respect.

Plans Are Underway for Downtown Trees

By KENT DOWNING

Plans are only experimental at this time, but at least there is some action to get trees and benches in the downtown Tecumseh shopping district.

Charles Trickey, Merlyn Downing, Richard Eggleston, and Paul and Mary Lou Dangler are trying to finalize the plans now for crocks with trees, and benches in the two main downtown blocks.

They are now waiting for the community's opinion.

The program is completely voluntary on each individual merchant's part.

Importantly, this plan for trees will cost merchants much less than previous plans.

Trees will be completely clear of the road and will cover as little of the walks as possible.

Pots will be stained to prevent costly upkeep. Flowers will be planted, as well as one tree.

Charles Trickey has already bought one cement crock with a tree. It is planted behind Trickey's Inc. The pot measures 60 inches in diameter and 36 inches tall. The tree, a Sunburst Locust, is about 15 foot tall.

The group hopes to interest merchants in a similar set up, but with a smaller crock and perhaps a larger tree.

The group does favor a tree similar to Trickey's, one easily trimmed and with no leaves to clean.

City Manager Cal Zorn is working with the group and explains approximately 33 potted trees would be needed in the two block area.

Two or three of the crocks per block would have redwood benches securely attached to the pots.

This group hopes the trees can be planted in September or early October, in plenty of time to put electricity outlets in the trees for Christmas lights.

Motorcycle Accidents Injure Two

Lawrence E. Cote Jr., 25, of 4393 Comfort Rd., received minor injuries in a motorcycle mishap, Thursday at 4 p.m.

Cote was southbound on Tecumseh-Clinton Rd. just north of Pennington Rd., when he lost control, ran off the right side, hit a deep rut and slid over on the right side.

He was treated at Herrick Hospital and released.

Gary Michael Schofield, 28, of 228 Evans Trail, was injured slightly when his motorcycle was forced over and he was knocked off.

A white and red Chevrolet, with two men in it, passed Schofield, then cut in front of him, causing the accident.

Clinton State Police are seeking the driver of the automobile in the incident which occurred on Sharon Hollow Rd., just north of US-12 at 12:57 p.m., July 4.

Schofield was treated at Herrick Hospital and released.

Subscription Salesmen Are Busy

Fifty young salesmen are busy selling The Tecumseh Herald subscriptions throughout the area to Earn a Bike.

Youngsters may see a 10-speed bicycle like they can win with the sale of 30 new subscriptions in The Herald office, along with the transistor radio and calendar watch for lesser numbers of subscriptions.

First youngster to turn in 30 subscriptions will have his or her photo in the next issue of the paper.

It's not too late to start selling, just pick up a permission slip at the office and have it signed by a parent. Contest runs until July 21.

Sidewalk Sale Next Weekend

Next Friday and Saturday, July 18 and 19, has been set as Tecumseh's annual Sidewalk Sale. And of course, that means the largest shopping crowd of the year.

Twenty-eight stores are participating in the Chamber of Commerce retail division event. Stores will be open 9 a.m. Friday and 9 a.m. - 5:30 p.m. Saturday.

Scheduled for this year's event is a Fun Money Drawing at 3 p.m., Saturday. Prizes of $100, $50, and $10 are being awarded and the Fun Money is redeemable at any participating store.

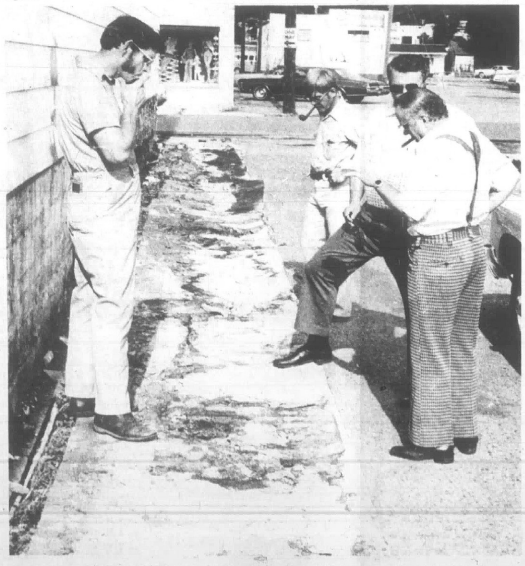
Coupons can be picked up during the sale at participating stores and deposited in barrels on the main four corners.

Also scheduled for the sale days are games for the whole family, a chicken barbecue starting Friday afternoon and bake sale. There will be clowns, popcorn, cotton candy and snow cones.

Russell Steinke will demonstrate a professional oil painting in the Jackson Real Estate office window. Painting will be for sale to the highest bidder Saturday.

Businesses participating in the Fun Money Drawing and in the Chamber event include: D & C Store, Eggleston's Jewelry, Watkin's Shop, Baldwin Ace Hardware, Cal's Tog Shop, Gamble's Home Improvement, Green's United Savings Bank, Ken-Ray Drugs, Lamb's Rexall and Grey Fox Floral.

Others participating include Pat's Craft Studio, Gaston's Jewelry, Jean Colgrove's, Proctor's Shoes, Master Kraft, Tecumseh Office Supply, Merkel's Home Furnishings, Tecumseh Camera Shop, Kitchen and Fabric Center, Sluyter Electric, Clauda Plumbing and Heating, Arrow Parts, Dancers, Wolf's Appliance, the Party Shop, and Don's Beef Buffet and Contented Sole.



CRASH, THE WALL FELL — The three foot high cement wall at the north end of the building soon to be occupied by Ken-Ray Drug fell down Tuesday morning. Fortunately no one was close to it. Ray Dubrinsky, owner, said that he had already taken bids for replacing the wall which runs the full width of the building and expects that the work will be done within a week.

GOOD HABITS MAKE GOOD DRIVERS — Charles Gross, director of driver's education at Tecumseh High School tells Karl Brown both hands on the wheel in the 10 to 2 position, as on a clock, is a safe habit. Teachers prefer inexperienced drivers who are receptive to learning good driving habits. Including the two small classes taught during the school year, some 300 students will be instructed in the year around program.

250 Working for License

By KATHY BROWN

Summer is at a peak. Beach parties, picnics, bicycling, swimming. Certainly not a time for school and homework.

Still more than 250 students participating in Tecumseh High School's summer driver education program are highly motivated to obtain a driver's certificate.

Students' enthusiasm motivates the teachers, too. They are Charles Gross, director of driver's education with 19 years in the field, Harrison Gonser, 17 years, Ron Spagnoli, Robert Glenn, Ted Mosier and John Jensen, also certified, experienced instructors.

"There is a different relationship between a driver's ed student and a regular classroom situation. You have something the student wants: a driver's certificate. The same kid who may flunk a history exam in class can get every answer right on a driver's ed test," explained Robert Glenn.

Driver's education also presents most students with the first test of their maturity. They must accept responsibility when they get behind the wheel of a car.

Driver's education certificate means a student has passed a state approved course and is entitled to obtain a learner's permit good for more than 100 days.

Students must 'practice' minimum of 30 days before applying for license which includes one year probation.

Instructors encourage students to take their time in applying for a license.

"Parents should help make the decision, too, since they are financially responsible," said Glenn.

Summer program, split into two five week sessions, offers the state required 30 hours of classroom instruction, with speakers from law enforcement agencies, filmstrips, complete text and tests.

Students are also given six hours behind the wheel, rotating turns with five per car. They also benefit from 18 hours observing fellow student drivers.

Attendance is strictly enforced. Absentees spend makeup time observing traffic patterns and violations on selected Tecumseh street corners.

Program is intense but not designed to produce expert drivers.

4 Cited, 3 Injured, Yet Accidents Minor

Police investigated six accidents this week. Four citations were given. Three persons, involved with two different accidents, were taken to Herrick Hospital, but none were injured seriously.

On Thursday, July 3, Ernest J. Sampsel, 201 Russell Rd., was taken to Herrick Hospital after he pulled out from a private drive into the path of another vehicle traveling west on M-50.

He was cited for failing to yield the right of way.

Sampsel, 42, was treated at the hospital for bruises and released.

Ruth M. Cole, 5061 Macon Rd., was driving the vehicle heading west on M-50

Sunday, Richard W. Roberts Jr., 22, of Ottawa Lake, and James C. Mitchell, 20, were taken to Herrick Hospital with minor injuries after a motorcycle accident.

Roberts was traveling through the "S" turn on Rogers with Mitchell on the back of his bike when he apparently lost control on the wet pavement on the last part of the turn.

Bike left the road, traveling 66 feet on its side through a ditch and weeds before it stopped.

Both were wearing helmets.

Roberts was charged with violating the basic speed law.

On Wednesday, July 2, Lois A. Mackey, 44, 903 River Acres, was backing her vehicle out of a parking place behind Don's Contented Sole, when she struck a parked car owned by Sally Hunt, 204 Maple.

Thursday, Douglas Nelson, 406 Seneca, reported to police he heard a loud noise and found his car got hit while parked in the street.

Also on July 3, William J. Houck, 58, Dundee, was cited for violating the basic speed restrictions after he struck a car driven by Fred Miljak, 26, Monroe, in the rear.

Miljak was reportedly stopped for a car in front of him turning left onto Pearl St. from Chicago Blvd. when the Houck vehicle struck his auto.

Sunday, Michael C. Mayers, 18, 1418 Southwick, was cited for failure to yield the right of way. He reported that a tennis ball rolled under his foot while driving and he ran through a stop sign while going west on Pottawatamie.

He struck a vehicle driven by Randy C. Bacon, 20, Tipton, which was heading south on Union St.

Slips, Falls, Breaks Back

David Smith, 202 E. Pottawatamie, broke his back Sunday in an accident on the Kiwanis Park bridge, N. Maumee.

Arthur Snyder, 115 Burt St., reported to police that Smith and two others were playing on the bridge about 5:30 p.m. when David slipped and fell in the creek.

Tecumseh police and Bennett's Ambulance took the 17 year old boy to Herrick Hospital. He is expected to be released in six to 10 days.

Car Damage Is Reported

Cecil L. Williams, 305 W. Shawnee, reported a slight property damage accident to Tecumseh police Wednesday, June 2.

Ronald Pilbeam Jr. was parked in front of the store while Williams was waiting for Pilbeam's door to close to pull in the parking lot.

Pilbeam reportedly cut his car short when backing out and scraped the Williams vehicle. Damage was minor.

10-Speed Stolen

Saturday, Marty Beet, 906 W. Pottawatamie, reported the theft of his 10-speed bicycle.

Marty reported he parked his bike in the yard. It was gone when he returned.

Investigation remains open.

Older Citizens Benefit?

Tecumseh City Council acknowledged a communication from Charles Osgood, of the Lenawee Council on Aging.

Councilman James Palmer suggested a meeting with the LCOA representatives to find out what benefits the program can offer Tecumseh's older citizens.

Senior Calendar

Goldenaires — Noon sack lunch.

Thursday, July 17
Drop In for Seniors — at noon. Cards.

At the present time, Tecumseh senior citizens are able to participate in such services as van transportation to Adrian on a bi-weekly basis.

Some other residents are members of the LCOA and participate in recreation activities based in Adrian.

However, Tecumseh qualifies for participation only on a limited basis because federal monies are involved.

Fuller participation would require monetary contributions or "in-kind" contributions of community resources as the Community Center.

City Asks County To Enforce Code

Tecumseh City Council voted to request Lenawee County assume the responsibility for enforcement of the State Plumbing Code.

Manager Cal Zorn suggested the move to City Council Monday night since the city itself has a problem in getting qualified inspectors.

In the past the State of Michigan has always provided the plumbing inspection in the city and most of the surrounding area.

Under the new Michigan Construction Code, the State will continue inspections if not undertaken by the local units of governments.

However, city was first asked by the State to show evidence that the county will not assume responsibility for enforcement.

Board of Commissioners in Lenawee County is aware of the act, but as yet, no local governmental unit has requested county inspections, said Zorn.

Tecumseh Fence Bid Is Accepted

City Council Monday night accepted the sole bid of Tecumseh Fence for $897 to install a fence on the Park Street lot, an addition to Tecumseh Park.

House May Be Saved

Is the Kennedy House a gold mine or a gold brick?

Tecumseh City Council approved a chance to find out Monday night.

It voted to contribute one third of the $150 fee of historical architecture specialist, Richard Frank, Ann Arbor, along with the Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce and the Tecumseh Historical Society, to find out if the Kennedy House is worth saving.

City Council decided at the April 21 meeting to sell the home by Aug. 1 to someone financially responsible who will refurbish it, or it will be demolished, probably for a parking lot.

That corner property at 123 N. Ottawa, was originally purchased by the city for the parking lot system.

City manager Cal Zorn said no offers have been made to purchase the house.

No date has been set for Frank's appraisal.

Organizational Meeting

By KATHY BROWN

What is the Tecumseh Bicentennial Commission up to these hot summer days?

It is planning an organizational meeting to which everyone is invited after summer vacation.

Tecumseh Bicentennial Commission will meet Aug. 19 at 7:30 p.m. in the Community Center.

Representatives from all community groups, such as social and fraternal clubs, professional groups, labor unions, business, PTA, city departments, recreation groups, youth clubs, churches, and many others, along with the general public, are invited to attend the planning meeting.

To make the effort of Tecumseh's commission successful, involvement from all local groups and local government is essential.

Purpose of the commission is to encourage smaller committees to develop goals that coincide with the themes of the Bicentennial, which are Heritage '76, Festival USA and Horizons '76.

These committees are to report back to the commission on activities that celebrate the nation's history and values, encourage the revival of the spirit of hospitality and cultural exchange and focus on the future and leave a lasting memorial to the Bicentennial, as the themes respectively suggest.

One idea the commission is considering is a Bicentennial Year Calendar, to coordinate activities that any organization may plan.

Members are the Rev. David Fox, chairman protem, Isabel Sisty, Owen Merrill, also a representative on the county Bicentennial commission, James McDowell, Cecil Eby and Vera Driscoll. Adeline MacKenzie is secretary.

Seats Available for Senior Trip

The Tecumseh Recreation Department announces seats are still available for the senior citizens trip to the Wisconsin Dells, Aug. 7, 8, 9 and 10.

For further information on this trip, call the Tecumseh Recreation Department at 423-5602. Reservations must be in no later than July 15.

No Pestering Moths, Larvae Damage Is Light this Year

By Kathy Brown

Remember the invasion of spruce bud moths that pestered Tecumsehites about this time last year after some unusual stormy weather?

Cooperative Extension Service county agent Richard Allen said that damage this spring from the larvae, who feast on new growth of spruce trees, has been light in this area.

He said this spring some residents have called agents to identify the larvae. Now the moths are in the adult stage and just fly about.

Moths are native to Canada and were brought by northern winds. Allen said the Teton Mountain area has lost all of its spruce trees to larvae damage.

"There aren't too many here. However residents should watch for larvae next spring. If they increase, it may mean spraying. If residents don't cooperate, it may mean we will have to stop planting spruce trees altogether," Allen cautioned.

Newlywed Mr. and Mrs. Ronald J. Breznicky (nee Linda Susan Watkins) are living in Baltimore, Md. following their June marriage in Ann Arbor. The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Richard Watkins and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Watkins. Barbara Watkins was maid of honor for her sister's wedding and Judy Ash and Laura Watkins, both sisters of the bride, were bridesmaids. Rick Watkins, bride's brother, was an usher. Following a reception at the Ann Arbor Town Club, the couple left for a honeymoon in Virginia.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren S. Wixom, formerly of Gaylord and now of Mesa, Ariz. were feted by their children at an open house June 22 in the home of their daughter, Mrs. Chris Neilson, and her husband. Nearly 120 guests, most from Michigan, attended the event. The couple will spend the summer in Gaylord.

Have just discovered the neatest book! It's titled "The Compleat American Housewife—1776," written by Julianne Belote and illustrated with authentic pen and ink sketches by Craig Torlucci.

Not only is it a collection of recipes of the American Colonies including turnip wine, hasty pudding, King's soup, peas-porridge and Johnny cake, the book also has accounts of Colonial life, "with remarks of those Gentlemen and Ladies," and chapters on medical cures and restoratives, etiquette, perfumery and observations on housewifery and marketing.

Interesting subtitles include: "To Cure Venison when it Stinks," "A Certain Cure for the Bite of a Mad Dog," "What Our Leaders Chuse to Eat," "To Heat a Bed at a moments Notice," and "Instruction for Fireplace Baking."

"The Compleat American Housewife—1776" intrigued, entertained, informed and amused me. But mostly it made me glad I was born 171 years later because I haven't the stomach for curing stinking venison!

Now that we are celebrating our country's 200th birthday, I'd like to share excerpts with you from Ms. Belote's book. I'll begin by quoting the foreward:

"Lest a Failure in Cookery be attributed to any Lack of Management in the Preparation of this Book: Heaven sends good Meat, But the Devil sends Cooks."

Word about the restoration of Mills School by Macon Historical Society members has spread far and wide. The group has received a donation and a letter from Charles Christensen of Sunnyvale, Calif., expressed interest in the project. Dogs, Pinball Machines, Garbage Concern Council

By FRANK WEIR

CLINTON—Shaggy dog stories and pinball machines dominated much of the monthly meeting of the Clinton village council Monday night.

The council repealed a 1969 ordinance in order to allow a Tecumseh couple to operate a game room at 154 W. Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. Crit Mills, 315 S. Union St., asked the council for permission at an earlier meeting to open a game room consisting of pool tables and pinball machines.

However, a 1969 ordinance prevented them from doing so since it stipulated that youths under 18 must be accompanied by their parents to play the machines.

The old ordinance was written after complaints that youth were buying beer from 18 year old workers at a game room no longer in business.

Councilman Dale Sourbeck, chairman of the ordinance committee—felt that the Mills' couple should be given a chance. They will be allowed to run the game room from 12 noon to 12 midnight each day until school starts.

If the room operates without police complaint, then the couple will be given a permit to continue operations with a new licensing ordinance to be written at that time. The agreement specifies that activities will be supervised by an adult at all times.

Dog complaints again dominated council's attentions as they listened to complaints from Mr. and Mrs. Richard Brown, 114 Washington St., and Mike Williams, 202 Loomis.

The Browns told the council that they were summoned to court after a complaint from a neighbor concerning their dog running loose. The charge was dismissed but the Browns had to pay $125 for their defense.

They told council that their dog was at a veterinarian office the day their neighbor made the complaint.

Mr. Brown went on to say that there was no investigation of the complaint, that he didn't learn of it until issued a court summons. Mrs. Brown angrily told councilmen, "We were put on a butcher block to test the dog ordinance."

This was denied by council. Sheriff Frank Becker agreed that there "should be more investigation." He went on to say that its "up to the complainant to prove (their charges) in court. The police aren't the complainants."

Becker and village attorney Melvin Smith told the Browns and council that there is a state law that requires a court summons to be issued in such cases.

Smith agreed to review complaints from now on, "We'll find out more facts before we go to trial."

Council also heard from Mike Williams who has complained of neighbors owning and, Williams alleges, selling dogs. Council told him that a county wide regulation requires that a residence with three dogs or more must have a kennel permit and may not have more than 10 dogs at a residence.

Councilman Richard Peterson said, "If they are selling in a residential A area, they will be disallowed." Williams' charges will be investigated.

Councilman Sourbeck stated after the meeting that council hopes to revamp Clinton's dog ordinance in the near future.

In addition, council members heard a request from area senior citizens for $600 to operate activities on Thursdays at the Smith-Kimball Community Center.

The senior citizens wanted to get funds from tax assessments made on tax payers to operate the center. Council told the group that the village has no control over those funds, they would have to make the request to the Smith Kimball board of directors.

Sourbeck told them that they would get their funds "one way or another" perhaps from the United Fund. The Thursday program would be a part of Lenawee County Council on Aging.

Council will hold an all council committee meeting this Thursday night at 7 p.m. to further discuss an issue brought up by Mr. and Mrs. Laird Kieft, 502 Sunset Drive, at the council's June meeting.

The Kiefts are new in town and were told by the contractor that they were responsible for curbs and gutters on the side of their lot in the Underwood subdivision, shortly after moving in.

Council will decide who's responsibility it is.

In other action Monday night, the board accepted a bid of $11,354.16 from Cunningham-Gooding and Co. of Ypsilanti for the re-surfacint of Church St., Sunset Dr. and the alley off Tecumseh Road.

Council also acted on a request by camp fire girls to hold a barbecue Sept. 13 at Memorial park. The request was granted. Councilmen also agreed to send a letter to Clinton Jaycees requesting that the Park be cleaned up after their barbecue within 48 hours or permission to use the park would be denied.

Council approved a plan from the Jaycees Auxiliary to hold a walk-a-thon with proceeds going towards the proposed new park. The event will take place April 24, 1976.

In other action, council will look into a request by Kehoe Road residents for more street lighting. They will also consider control of garage sales and signs and motorcycle racing in the village.

Councilman William Stout informed council that fire call agreements have not been signed with Saline and Macon. It was decided that these townships will be charged $500 per fire call that Clinton makes as would be the case with a signed agreement.

Council members also decided to publish a notice in the Local warning residents that they should not allow outsiders to bring in their garbage for pick up.

This could result in higher costs due to increased volume.

Garbage pickup is paid for by Clinton taxes.

CLINTON — Road work was the main concern of the Clinton Township Board at the July meeting Monday night.

Supervisor Harry Comstock and all board members were present, and Martin Halley, Lenawee County Commissioner was a guest.

Contracts with Lenawee County Road Commission were reviewed for 1974-75 road work in the township, and approval was given for approximately $79,000 expenditure for these two years work to be completed in the near future.

Roads to be improved with processed gravel include Kehoe, Hogan, Billmyer and Eccles Roads.

Supervisor Comstock reported on meeting of the River Raisin Watershed committee he had attended.

Library Board Buys Bike Rack

CLINTON — Clinton Township Library board voted to purchase bike racks for placement beside the library, at the regular meeting Tuesday evening.

Nicholas Holt presented the information about bicycle racks available from various companies.

Least cost item decided upon is an 8-bike permanent installation rack at a cost of approximately $200 installed. Two of these will be ordered this week, from Game Time Inc. of Litchfield.

These are the same type of racks used at the elementary school.

Board approved the new carpeting which had been laid in the entry, although it was a bit different from that ordered.

Library board funds are to be audited this week and the new account established with the township treasurer.

A special meeting was planned for Tuesday, July 22, when the board will consider ordering new library cards designated, "Lenawee County Library," since the library is no longer affiliated with the county library.

Also to be on the agenda will be communication between the board and all the library employees.

Board will also discuss the geographical area to be serviced by the local library.

John Colton presided, in the absence of the president, Mrs. Philip Groeb. Six visitors were also in attendance, including Supervisor Harry Comstock.

WAITING TOGETHER — The Harold Makinen family, 208 S. Union, felt relieved when 2½ year-old adopted Dan arrived from Vietnam. But now they wait for another adopted son and brother, a five-year-old, also with polio paralysis like Dan. L-R, are Dan, Margaret 16 months, Matthew 3, Tien 4, Dede 11, Harold, Sharon, Liisa 14 and Ollie, a family pet.

Where Is Du Van Minh?

By KATHY BROWN

Harold and Sharon Makinen have waited nearly three months for another adopted Vietnameese son, Du Van Minh.

He is the five year old half brother of Dan Makinen, three-and-a-half years-old who arrived at Detroit Metropolitan Airport April 14. Both are polio victims.

The Makinens have an idea of where Du Van Minn is, but until Catholic Relief Services, an adoption agency believed to be responsible for the child's airlift to this country, reveals information subpoenaed by the State Department Agency for International Development and private lawyers, the Makinens and several other adopting families in the United States may not know exactly where their children are and how they are doing.

Sharon Makinen said the confusion of the airlift of children from Saigon caused competition between agencies to rescue children.

Children have been misidentified or not located at all because of "no central organization" coordinating rescue efforts and "unfortunate practices" by adoption agencies, said Mrs. Makinen.

"It would be embarassing for CRS to admit its mistake," said Mrs. Makinen.

"An agency as large as it is, with a lot of legal power at its disposal, can afford not to admit a mistake," she explained.

We want them to admit what they've done, so it doesn't happen again, even though we may not feel like disrupting him if he has been placed in a home. He may already be attached to a family and they to him," she continued.

"Three months is a long time in a child's life. We would love to have him home with his brother."

The Makinens keep in constant contact with other parents in New York and Los Angeles and have followed clues on the whereabouts of their children.

"This is a waiting time. We can do nothing until time runs out," said Mrs. Makinen.

Marda Gene Is Mentioned In Two Magazines

Tecumseh's bird woman, Marda Gene Duncan received mention in the June-July issue of National Wildlife magazine and also in a reprint in Reader's Digest.

The article was written by Marjorie Valentine Adams, long time bird watcher and columnist, who advocates birding not only for pleasure and competition but states that birds with their mobility, grace and beauty, are a constant symbol of freedom.

She wrote that "humans begin to understand the laws of nature watching birds and to realize that misuse of power over living things may not only decide the fate of other life but our own as well."

Through My Window

by Marda Gene Duncan

I THINK THAT I SHALL NEVER SEE

In Florida we came to know three trees. The palms were exotic and exciting because of their newness; the cypress were tall, brooding and somewhat somber; the live oaks with their drapings of Spanish moss were mysterious and almost too much like the atmosphere written into southern novels to be believed. However, it is still next to impossible to beat our maple trees.

Happily all of my window pictures are full of maples. To the south they are the huge old maples which line both Logan and Democrat Streets.

I assume they are sugar maples because as Knowing Your Trees by Collingwood and Brush, which is a publication of the American Forestry Association, says, "In autumn the leaves change from green to brilliant reds and yellows."

These trees turn more of a fiery orange but let's not quibble. The upper corner of this window picture is decorated with a few fringes of walnut tree leaves.

The west window is nothing but green. Green, green, green! These maples are not like the others. They leaf out later in the spring, bear infinitely more winged keys or seeds, turn a not-true yellow in the fall, and hang onto their leaves long after Prettyman's trees are bare. Norway maples we have been told they are.

The family of maples on the creek bank has been interesting to watch as they grow. When I first began my west window watching, there was but a single big maple there and a few spindly saplings or daughters.

For a while we kept them pruned back but that was given up long ago and now some of the younger trees are almost as tall as the parent. And my, so thick is the foliage this year that the creek is almost hidden from view. The green curtain is pulled down tight.

This green, leafy curtain hides a great deal in addition to the high muddy waters of Evans Creek. At least, as of this dictating, the creek is high and muddy. It is the color of coffee which has been liberally laced with cream.

This, of course, is thanks to all of the hard heavy rains. July may bring a let-up in all of Jerry Hodak's 'shower activities', but we all hope and pray that there is no repeat of last year's devastating drought.

Getting back to the creek, there has been so much rain since we got home in late May that not once have we seen the water at its usual June-time low level nor have we seen it clear.

Without a doubt all of this moisture is in some way reflected in the heavier and larger than normal foliage on the family. In fact, all trees seem to be carrying more greenery than ever. But, Marda, what were you saying about the leaves hiding things?

All sorts of things are happening in the west window's tree tops and I can only guess at what they are. From the actions of the tree limbs, I know there are squirrels tearing back and forth.

The maple branches are long and supple — they bounce up and down as the fox squirrels use them as tree roads. The tiny red squirrels are such light weights that they do not begin to cause the same motion. However, once in a while we know they are there.

Sound is another good indication of what is happening behind the leafy green curtain. We hear the orioles far more often than we see them. In that clear whistle song is the distilled essence of summer. Wrens, cardinals, and bluejays also announce their presence.

And yes, the shrill nerve grating chatter of the red squirrels is indeed one of the ways we know they are around. There are other bird voices, of course — some familiar but unnamed and others completely new. I shall have to have a careful and long session with the National Geographic's bird song records.

So it is that I am watching trees lately and loving them all — it may be a bit corny but I still agree with Joyce Kilmer and "I think that I shall never see....".

EGGLESTON'S JEWELRY, 107 E. Chicago Blvd., 423-2715 handles many fine watches. Bulova, Caravelle, Accutron and Seiko are available and we do expert repair work on watches and jewelry. We also have Seth-Thomas and Bulova decorator wall clocks.

The principal function of a clock in medieval times was that it be an adequate instrument for calling out the hours, particularly the hours of devotion. How different things are today. Today we demand that timepieces be miracles of accuracy, down to the second, and that our activities be likewise well-timed, and carefully planned. This is why a striking apparatus was very early put into medieval clocks—so that they could know the time, accurate, or of course to the hour!

Bi-centennial Journey

FARM WOOD LOTS
By Thelma Younglove

Nearly every farm in this area had a wood lot. They varied in size. Many farmers and their families referred to the lot as woods.

The wood lot served many purposes. It provided shelter for wild life — squirrels, birds, rabbits etc. It was a source of fuel and if the lot was well fenced, it was used as pasture for the farmer's livestock.

Early each spring before it was time to turn livestock out to pasture, young and old found much pleasure in wandering through a wood lot looking for wild flowers.

When summer came, some wood lots provided an excellent place for picnics. The older generation can recall many of those delightful occasions with pleasure.

Late in the fall gathering the family's winter supply of nuts from the woods was not too distasteful a task. Some gathered wild grapes for making jelly.

Just strolling through the woods after the foliage had turned to the beautiful fall colors and listening to the crackle of the dry crisp leaves as they were crushed under one's feet was enjoyable.

If a stream flowed through the wood lot, going after the cows toward evening could be fun. Many a barefooted youngster tarried too long wading in the cool water and was admonished for being late getting the cows to the barn to be milked.

Occasionally on a Sunday afternoon the entire family strolled down the lane to the wood lot to examine the pasture and to ascertaan if the water supply was sufficient for the needs.

The lane was a narrow strip of land fenced on both sides to keep the animals from damaging field crops. It led from the barn to the wood lot and was wide enough for a wide farm wagon to travel through with a little space to spare on each side.

If one or both fences on each side of the lane happened to be an old fashioned zig-zag rail fence the walk was more interesting.

Wild flowers, wild strawberries, wild black raspberries, or asparagus usuallygrew in the corners where the rails joined, and the family rarely came back to the house empty handed.

While parents looked over the growing crops and made sure gates were shut and securely fastened the children ran and played sometimes startling a bird or rabbit from its nest.

The afternoon may not have been very exciting but it cost nothing and the exercise was good for everyone.

Former Tecumsehite Publishes Poetry Book

Richard Gartee, formerly of Tecumseh and now an elementary teacher in Gainsville, Fla., is the author of a collection of short stories and poetry entitled "Chrysalis" recently published by Lake and Emerald Publishers of Florida.

The book is available at Tecumseh Newstand.

A graduate of Tecumseh High School, he studies at Eastern Michigan University and Washtenaw Community College.

Gartee is back in Michigan to see his grandparents, the Wayne Schroeders at Devils Lake and for an autograph party in Ann Arbor, Monday.

He was interviewed on the Betty Flanders radio program the same day.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gartee are living in Somerset, Ky. where he is an engineer for The Tecumseh Products Co.

The author said he was stimulated to change his major in college to journalism when he worked for the Tecumseh Herald and studied photography under Tom Riordan.

From journalism he went to creative writing and hopes to do a biography in the future.

In Oct. 1974, as he strolled the streets of Tecumseh, he penned the following verses.

October 10th
The fog lifts lightly as the crisp edge of a grey morning
nibbles the ears.
Old time streets are garnished in orange and yellow memories scattered like leaves fallen over worn sidewalks.
Detach from a thousand brisk mornings
once crossed here, and remember the embrace and shiver earth mother leaves just before she crawls
into quiescence.

Insulation should be used in warm as well as in cold areas of the country. One of the most common misconceptions about insulation is that it is not needed in warm parts of the country. It is just as essential there as it is in cold climates. Insulation keeps out heat just as efficiently as it keeps out cold. An insulated house is at least 10 percent cooler in the summer than an uninsulated one. An insulated house contributes to the lowering of fuel bills, but also to the lowering of energy costs for air conditioners.

HANDY HINTS: A well-insulated house will reduce heat loss by about 50 percent.

PEE WEE ACTION — The Mets were defeated by a strong Giant team 20-6 Thursday during the Pee Wee games on the athletic field. Above, Met's Scott Palmer slid in with style at first base while Philip Marvin reached and reached, but the ball just didn't get there in time. At right, Giant's Mark Ruhl stretched but could not bring down the throw to home plate. Tom Watson scored awkwardly, but safely. Underwood Chevy Remains Winless

TUESDAY'S MAKE-UP

Wrong Way Pub got home runs by Schimmel, Sanchez and Webb to beat Underwood Chevrolet 13-6. Underwood got two home runs, a grand slam, by Olsen. WWP moved their record to 4-3 while Underwood is 0-7.

B & W West handed Dancer's their third straight loss beating them 6-3. West scored four runs in the fourth on a home run by Gonzalez and three Dancer errors. George Harvey was 3-3 for Dancer's.

Gunder and Oxley each had three hits for United Savings Bank in their 7-3 win over Sheep Flockers. The win strengthened the bank's hold on first place giving them a two game advantage over Dancer's, Sheep Flockers, and Wrong Way Pub.

Bennett hit a seventh inning homerun for AKSF.

TUESDAY LEAGUE

United Savings Bank clinched a share of the Tuesday championship by beating Dancer's 9-4. One win in their remaining two games will give the bankers their third straight title.

Oxley had three hits including a home run for the bank and G. Harvey paced the losers with three singles.

Sheep Flockers kept slim title hopes alive beating Underwood Cheverolet 12-3. The flockers scored five runs in the first inning before any outs but Underwood came back with three runs on a home run by Schultz. The game leaves both teams with a 14-4 record.

B & W West scored five runs in the top of the seventh then held on to upset Wrong Way Pub 10-9. Smith had two doubles and a single to pace WEst while Dancer's was led by Webb, Schimmel and Murphy each with three hits.

WEDNESDAY LEAGUE

Pike Inn beat Ponderosa 16-4 on the strength of six home runs.

Roberts led the attack with three home runs, Vogel connected for two and Welch got one. Stoddard homered for Ponderosa.

Protco batted only four innings due to the 15 run rule in beating the Jaycees 20-5. Protco also let go with a home run barrage with Ford hitting two, Juraskek and Cook one each.

The win gives Protco at least a tie for the Wednesday title. The Jaycees got two home runs by Connors and one by Sisty.

Judkins got two home runs by McWilliams and one by Lebarron as they beat Oberst Agency 13-3. Philo homered for Oberst. The win gives Judkins a 3-5 mark and dropped Oberst to 2-6.

Kids Learning To Drive

They are beginners," said Gonser.

Program gives them a competent knowledge of the law, road safety tips and how to maneuver a car.

Good driving habits are what the teachers drill.

Attitude is also the vital difference between a good and a bad driver.

"We can predict the bad drivers in our classes almost every time on the basis of attitude. Knowing the mechanics does not make a good driver, attitude does," said Gonser.

Humorous experiences happen "eight hours a day" said Ted Mosier. Some days student drivers drive the instructors right out their minds. "After a day on the expressway, you feel like a dish rag," commented Gross.

Kids comments about adults' driving and unexpected situations provide humor, even though the situation may not be funny at the time.

Students in the program must be offered the course on or near their 16th birthday but not be under 15 years old. Others are placed in adult classes.

Maturity, physical, mental and emotional, is the key to participation and success. Students must have parent permission and declare any physical disabilities. Some discover for the first time that they need glasses.

Teachers must have a bachelor of arts degree and a teaching certificate plus driver's education certification. They cannot have more than two points against their license and must be of good moral character.

"Qualified teachers are getting tougher to find. Most younger teachers don't take time to become certified to teach driver's ed. Not all can afford to spend their summer teaching or care," said Gross.

First three weeks of the course, basic aspects of driving, steering, smooth starting, positioning the car, moving into traffic, turning, etc. are practiced.

Third week is most crucial, students start moving out into heavier traffic. Freeway driving comes in the fourth week.

Although teachers have dual brakes, they encourage students to work their way out of a tight situation.

Week five is most hectic Parallel parking and maneuvering the car in traffic challenges the student as he prepares for the final course test and state written exam in class.

A driving test with a checklist of 30 key points must be passed before the coveted driver's education program certificate is won.

No one really fails the course. Some students may be required to retake the course for additional benefit.

State also monitors the success of the driver's education programs with special code numbers recorded on the student's driver's license application.

Board Selects New Principal for High School

Clarence G. Lacny, 44, has been employed by the School Board to succeed Dermont Poley, as principal of Tecumseh High School.

Poley, successor to Nevile Hart, held the position for the past two years, resigning earlier this year. He will now teach in the Junior High.

Lacny, a native of Chicago, is currently principal at Albion High School. He will take over his duties here on Aug. 4.

During his 22 years in education, he has been an assistant principal at Jackson Parkside High School, central office administrator in personnel for the Jackson Public Schools, and was a teacher in Port Huron and at Marked Tree, Ark.

His Bachelor of Science degree was earned at Arkansas State University and a Masters of Science degree from Michigan State University.

He expects to receive his Educational Specialist degree later this year from MSU.

He is married and has five children. The family is currently in the process of looking for housing in Tecumseh.

$12,000 B&E Loss

A breaking and entering at Schneider Chevrolet-Buick that netted thieves some $12,000 in tools, equipment and parts remains under investigation, according to a Tecumseh police report.

The B&E occurred June 26 when a fibreglass overhead door was cut and allowed thieves to unlock the door. Police theorize that a truck was then driven inside the service department of the agency, and the overhead door closed.

Three mechanics lost approximately $9,000 in tools. John Wotring reported his loss at $4,000; Richard Moehler, $3,000, and Dave Randolph, $2,000.

About $3,000 in parts and equipment were taken from the agency's parts department.

Classroom Leasing Pact Near

Supt. Robert Duhan told the School Board Monday night that it's just "a matter of time" before school and church officials reach a final agreement on leasing classrooms at St. Elizabeth.

He said that furniture already has been ordered for the classrooms, which will be used for some high school classes due to space problems at Tecumseh High School.

The schools will pay $4,500 to lease the classrooms from St. Elizabeth for one year.

State Police Officer Named City Chief

Subject to Council's approval next Monday night, Merlin R. Mowery, a sergeant with the State Police crime lab department at Plymouth, will be Tecumseh's new police chief.

Cal Zorn, city manager, feels that Mowery is an excellent choice to succeed Ray Walton, who resigned here after holding the position for the past two years.

If Council approves Mowery, a 13-year veteran with the State Police, he will succeed Walton in early August.

The new police chief is 36 years old, born Feb. 1939 in Wauseon, Ohio. He is married and has three children, all living at the family residence at 12940 Tipton Highway.

After graduating from the Michigan State Police Academy in 1962, Mowery served posts at Bay City, Grand Haven, Clinton and now at Plymouth.

He has attended and completed many professional training courses, not only in Michigan but at police training centers in other sections of the country. Through his training he has been instructor for a number of police education courses.

Mowery graduated from Pittsford High School and then attended Adrian and Hillsdale Colleges.

He has also taken additional courses at Schoolcraft College and Madonna College in Livonia, and is presently enrolled at Siena Heights College as a parttime student.

Members accepted the resignation of Nancy Maland, an adjusted studies teacher at Tecumseh Acres Elementary school.

Mrs. Maland, who has taught here for two years, and her husband are moving to Minnesota.

Replacing Mrs. Maland is Connie Robertson, a graduate of MSU who taught adjusted studies in Pontiac for one year.

Theodore Rachwal, also an MSU graduate, will replace Max Bailey as junior high science teacher. He will earn a masters degree from the University of Toledo by the end of the summer.

Robert Schoof will replace Don Johnson as a teacher of instrumental music at the junior high and elementary schools. A graduate of Western Michigan, Schoof has taught one year at Deerfield.

Also assigned to high school English is beginning teacher Lee Suzanne Nelson, a graduate of Denison University, Granville, Ohio. She was an art and English major and comes with "excellent credentials" according to Supt. Robert Duhan.

Beginning teacher Daniel R. Howlett, a graduate of Adrian College will teach physical education and health and will be an assistant wrestling coach.

Ken-Ray Drugs will complete its move this weekend and open next Monday in the former Des Ermia Furniture store.

Ray Dubrinsky, pharmacist and owner, has remodeled the interior of the former Des Ermia Furniture store.

Ray Dubrinsy pharmacist and owner, has remodeled the interior of the former furniture store for a new prescription department, gift center. and a medical equipment section.

New fixtures have been installed, providing much wider aisles for patrons, and for improved display of merchandise. Some departments have been expanded to include more items.

Final transfer of the pharmacy's stock will take place this weekend, after Tecumseh's Sidewalk Sale.

It's not known whether a new shop will move into the present Ken-Ray store at 102 W. Chicago Blvd., or if the building will become vacant.

Products Buys Line, Property

Tecumseh Products Co. announced July 10 the completion of purchase of a product line from Wagner Electric Corp.

Purchase includes certain property and assets used by Wagner Electric Corp. in the manufacture and sale of the electric motors purchased by Tecumseh Products from Wagner's Hermetic Motor Division.

The transaction was previously announced. The sale was a cash transaction; amount was not disclosed.

Wagner, a New Jersey based corporation, specializes in the manufacture and sale of a broad line of automotive and electrical products.

Tecumseh Products, a Michigan based corporation, specializes in the manufacture of refrigeration and air conditioning compressors, gasoline engines and trans axles.

Duhan Says Late Notices Necessary

Board member Todd Herrick asked Supt. Robert Duhan at Monday night's Board meeting if parents could be notified earlier about where their children will attend school.

Herrick said he has received several inquiries from parents concerning the matter.

Presently, parents receive a written notice two or three days before the start of classes informing them of which school their child will attend.

Duhan told Herrick that the late notice is necessary due to last minute registration of new students.

In order to keep class size uniform at all schools, changes must be made at the last minute, Duhan elaborated.

It was decided that the first parent newsletter would contain an explanation.

Bowling at Center

By FRANK WEIR

If you happen to be in Tecumseh's community center in the near future, don't be surprised to hear excited laughter and the sound of falling bowling pins emanating from the center's basement.

That's the way things have been since Hal Marshall—an Adrian engineer—donated a miniature bowling alley he built himself by hand to the city's department of parks and recreation.

The two 60-foot alleyways are constructed according to scale along the lines of a regulation alley and for 10 years Marshall has been trying to get his model accepted by national bowling concerns.

According to recreation director Ward Eardley, the idea of the alley is to teach the 12 and under set the "proper procedures and techniques in bowling."

Eardley adds that learning on the small alley won't affect you when switching to regulation size. Nine pound bowling balls are used and the operation does require the pins to be reset by hand.

But that's no problem at all as Eardley confides that "the kids enjoy setting the pins as much as bowling."

The alleys will be used year round by children and senior citizens.

Jewels & gems

By Dick Eggleston

In jewelry design, the best designers find that it is quite necessary that stones be given a naturalistic appearance. The effect of light on various stones is also important to their settings. Jewelry design should reflect the personal characteristics of the wearer. It should also be in keeping with the physical characteristics of the sex intended. Jewelry for gentlemen should be much heavier in design and carried out in a bolder form of ornamentation.

Let our experts at EGGLESTON'S JEWELRY, 107 E. Chicago Blvd., 423-2715 re-set your precious stones for your personal needs. We specialize in new mountings, will size rings for comfort and safety and do expert jewelry repairs. The bride-to-be is invited to come in and register with our bridal registry and receive our free booklet "Planning Your Engagement and Wedding."

Hot water heaters should be located as close as possible to other fixtures using hot water. Consideration must be given to locating the heater close to a flue or chimney to vent it. A well located hot water heater is found close to the chimney flue. Short runs of water piping are economical and result in a minimum loss of hot water. Washing machines should be located close to both water supply and drainage.

Supplies for do-it-yourselfers can be easily found at CLAUDA PLUMBING & HEATING, 1108 W. Chicago Blvd., 423-3121. We will be happy to give advice on how to handle a project and have the materials and tools necessary to do your own work. Insinkerator garbage disposals, Altons personal showers, Kitchen aid dishashers, electric wire, conduit, fuse boxes, fuses, electrical switches, light bulbs, and bathroom items including soap dishes, towel racks, glass holders, chrome, nickle or brass waste baskets and marble walls are available. The bride, escorted by her father, wore a gown of ivory maracaine crepe. The bodice with long slim sleeves and scoop neck was defined at the waist line with a pearl medallion. The gown featured a watteau train.

An antique cross, belonging to the bride's grandmother and another cross, a gift of the groom, accented her gown. A face framer headpiece of Alencon lace secured her illusion veil.

She carried a cascade of phalaenopsis orchids, stephanotis and red sweetheart roses.

Marcia Lemon, bride's sister, Romulus, was matron of honor in a light blue halter gown of jersey with a matching chiffon capelet.

She carried a cresent of red roses, blue miniature carnations and ivory pompons with blue streamers.

The bride wore a white gown of organza and Chantilly lace, featuring floral lace applique set in a sheer deep yoke at the high neckline. A ruffle outlined the yoke. Panels of lace and seed pearls trimmed the front of the gown, and a deep flounce and chapel train were trimmed in lace.

A lattice effect caplet held her fingertip veil of silk illusion. Bride's bouquet was formed of red rose buds, stephanotis and baby's breath.

Diane Beckley of Carrollton was maid of honor.

Bridesmaids were Diane Spohr, sister of groom, and Denise Moschell of Dexton, Ohio. Richelle Burwell of Malvein, Ohio was the flower girl.

Heartworm From Antelope

CLINTON — Mrs. E.J. Kehoe reports that son-in-law, Paul Snyder, of Decatur, Ga., is continuing to improve. He underwent brain surgery after suffering a stroke some months ago. He is now able to walk a bit. He expects to undergo heart surgery in September.

Snyder, an employee of the Atlanta Braves baseball team, has been ill since September of 1974, when he contracted heartworm while dressing an antelope he had shot. Although he did not eat any of the meat, apparently the infection entered his system from a minor cut on his hand.

Only the 23rd person known to have contracted heartworm from an animal, doctors at the U.S. Health Dept. research laboratory were able to determine the source of his illness after months of research.

Three Hired, Still Three Vacancies

CLINTON — Board of Education approved the hiring of three members of the faculty at the meeting, Monday. At this time there are still three vacancies on the faculty staff.

Mark A. Schnizlein will be the new Instrumental Music Director and High School Vocal Music teacher. He received his bachelor of music degree from Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo, with certification to teach music in all grade levels.

He has had experience playing in the WMU marching band and its top symphonic group, the wind ensemble and performed for one year in the Michigan State marching and symphonic bands. Mr. Schnizlein is married and plans to move to Clinton soon.

Mrs. Ronald VanMatre, nee Nancy Ann Finkbeiner, will fill the vacancy in the elementary school created by the resignation of Richard Irving. Assignment will be to the first and second grade level, mixed class.

Mrs. VanMatre has a BA degree from WMU, received in December 1973. She has been a substitute teacher first and second semester during Mary Houghton's leave. Mr. and Mrs. VanMatre reside at 10200 Willow Rd., Clinton.

Donald Richard Eaton will be the head football coach and social studies teacher, primarily teaching history, in the high school. Previously from Lancaster, Ohio, he is currently residing in Ann Arbor. He is 24 and single, and plans to move to Clinton.

He is a graduate of U of M, where he was active in the football program, made the varsity football team as a sophomore and was a member of the traveling varsity team for three years. He was also involved in the intramural basketball program at the University.

Eaton taught eleventh grade American History and was assistant football coach at Riverside High School, Dearborn Heights, for one year.

Arrested, Jailed

CLINTON — Jeff Baldwin, 28, of 210 W. Michigan Ave., Clinton, has been arrested by Clinton State Police, lodged in the Lenawee County Jail, and charged with a breaking and entering at the Kiebler Meat Co. He will be arraigned in Circuit Court, July 18 at 8:30 a.m.

The incident occurred Nov. 1, 1974, when meat valued at approximately $2,000 was taken from Kieblers in a vehicle provided by the subjects involved.

Jeff Kavos, also of Clinton, who is presently serving a year's sentence on other charges at the Lenawee County Jail, was named in the Kiebler case, as was a third individual, still at large.

About two weeks after the Nov. 1 breaking and entering, the Kiebler Meat Co. van was stolen, and found abandoned in the Detroit area, stuck in the snow, still loaded with a large quantity of frozen meat taken from the meat company. Clinton State Police are still investigating this case.

Auxilary Washes Net $100 Profit

CLINTON — Mrs. Ronald Jones reported that the two recent car washes sponsored by the Clinton Area Jaycee Auxiliary netted $100 profit.

In other action at the meeting, Monday night, Mrs. Gary Tafina was named in charge of arrangements for the Jaycee and Auxiliary picnic at Hayes State Park July 26.

Joy Hawkins was named in charge of the Bonus Basket to be given away at the Clinton Fall Festival for a local scholarship grant.

Auxiliary members will assist with the food concession at MIS Time Trials, Saturday, and the race, Sunday. Clinton, Tecumseh and Blissfield Jaycees and Auxiliaries are co-sponsoring the food concession.

At a date to be announced, members plan to sell popcorn for the benefit of the Michigan Kidney Foundation.

A quantity of teapots were donated to the United Church of Christ in appreciation for use of the facilities.

Mrs. Gary Krouse will be in charge of the project to sell Redskin badges at Fall Festival and school activities. Profits will go to the Clinton Athletic Fund.

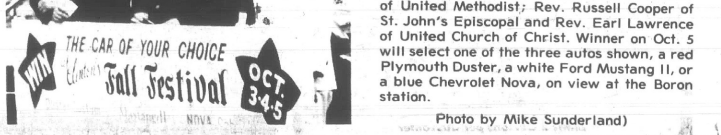
Plans were made to arrange bingo games for the residents at the Herrick Nursing Home in August.

State Jaycee Auxiliary convention will be held Aug. 15-16 at Ypsilanti.

Secret Pals were selected for the coming year.

A white elephant auction at the meeting netted $29.

Next meeting will be Aug. 11 at 7:30 p.m. in Water Wheel Center.



GIVEAWAY HAS GETAWAY — Four ministers, whose churches will share in the proceeds, were given complimentary tickets, Monday, to kickoff the Fall Festival ticket sales on the new car raffle. Shown are Rev. James Lee of St. Dominic's; Rev. Ronald Corl of United Methodist; Rev. Russell Cooper of St. John's Episcopal and Rev. Earl Lawrence of United Church of Christ. NEARS COMPLETION — Irish Hills Branch of State Savings Bank is located on US-12 just east of the M-124 intersection.

New Banking Facility To Open

CLINTON — A new complete banking service facility is expected to be opened in the fall in the Irish Hills, by the State Savings Bank of Clinton. Site is on US-12 just east of M-124 intersection.

The branch bank will initially be staffed with a loan officer and three tellers. Drive-in banking service and safety deposit boxes will be available.

The modern white brick building is being constructed by Holmes Construction Co. of Tecumseh. Plans and supervision of construction are by Daniels and Zermack Associates of Ann Arbor.

This long awaited extension of service by the State Savings Bank of Clinton has been delayed since March 1973 by court action initiated by the National Baak of Jackson and the Union Savings Bank of Manchester.

These banks have contended there is no need for banking services in the Irish Hills area and that insufficient population to successfully support a branch bank is present.

State Savings Bank of Clinton has presented evidence to the Supervisory Banking Authorities the Ingham County Circuit Court, the Appeals Court of State of Michigan, and the Branch Bank Hearings Examiner of the Financial Institutions Bureau that the Irish Hills Area does indeed need banking services and that the population of the area will support a successful branch bank office.

The delaying tactics of the two banks has deprived the Irish Hills Area of more convenient banking facilities for the past two and one-half years and has added considerable to the overall cost of the project to the State Savings Bank of Clinton.

Clinton Bank officers have expressed their disappointment in the long delay in the plans.

Voice OF THE HERALD

"NO FREE LUNCH"

Someone has said, "There's no such thing as a free lunch." Evidence mounts daily that some folks still think there is, though.

For instance, Clinton Township Library has for most of its existance offered free library services, not only to Clinton Township residents who support the library with their one-mill yearly taxes, but also those residents who have Clinton mail addresses or who reside in the Clinton School District, which stretches across several Lenawee townships and into some Washtenaw County townships.

Should they continue free library service or should the Clinton Township Library Board arrange for other townships to pay a nominal fee for the use of this library?

This matter will be discussed at a special meeting of the Clinton Township Library Board, at 7:30 p.m. July 22.

Tecumseh Public Library is supported by and provides services to the entire Tecumseh School District. Manchester Public Library assesses each of the townships it services at variable but nominal fees for library services.

A similar problem has arisen with the request from the Shamrock Senior Citizens group for free use of the Smith-Kimball Community Center in Clinton.

This group has also requested a donation of $600 to enable them to participate in the services of the Lenawee Council on Aging. Village Council directed them to appeal to the United Fund for this donation.

Just as the library, Smith-Kimball Community Center - although the building was donated by the Smith-Kimball families - is supported by the one-mill tax of Clinton Village residents.

Value of the center can be appreciated, when one realizes that the cost of its restoration after a disastrous fire in recent years, was more than $100,000.

Certainly it is a beautiful, utilitarian building, which should be used to the utmost, but this, too, costs money. If those who use it do not pay for it, who will?

Smith-Kimball Community Center Board will have to ponder this question in the near future.

Those elected to be custodians of the taxpayers' money, would do well to consider the portent for the future in the decisions they make for today.

There is, indeed, "no free lunch."

He Stood Tall

By MAXINE CALHOUN

CLINTON — E. John Hoelzer stood tall, before us all.

An amputee for several years, a double amputee for the last three, he remained undaunted by the challenges that would have defeated a lesser man.

His ready smile and sense of humor seldom faltered.

Sustained by a wisely perceptive spouse, Elva, who encouraged him to maintain his independent spirit, John, just months after his first leg was amputated, pulled himself onto his farm tractor, then daily drove about his small farm that way.

He continued to care for an extensive garden, strawberries and all.

He kept up his active participation in his card games at Bridgewater Townhall and at United Church of Christ Men's Fellowship suppers.

An avid cribbage devotee, he carved his own board and played the game when his cronies dropped in.

He apparently brushed off his second leg amputation as just a temporary inconvenience, since he soon resumed most of his earlier activities.

While in a wheel chair, he developed an intricate handcraft of creating miniature rockers and candleholders by cutting and twisting small metal beverage cans.

His hobby led to his participation in numerous craft shows, was at the Dundee Arts and Crafts Show, Sunday, when he was fatally stricken.

Somehow, it seems an appropriate place for John's farewell appearance.

All who knew him gained from his display. . .of sheer courage.

Board Officers Are Elected

CLINTON — Glenn Clark was named president of the board of education of Clinton Community Schools at the reorganization meeting Monday evening.

Other officers of the board elected are: vice-president, Norman Randall; secretary, Dr. Dean Kirkland and treasurer, Thomas Carlton.

Board authorized purchase of tele-communications equipment costing $2,965 for curriculum use by faculty.

One half of this cost will be underwritten by a matching grant of the Federal NDEA Title 3 program. Equipment includes a cassette recorder, TV monitor, camera and tapes.

Purchase of five IBM typewriters was approved, to replace those stolen.

Board accepted with regret the retirement of Mrs. Charles (Charlotte) Parker, high school English teacher for the past 31 years.

Also accepted was resignation of Stanley Gage, Middle School social studies teacher. Mrs. Gage, has also resigned as secretary in the superintendent's office. The Gages are returning to their home state of Ohio.

Board approved purchase of textbooks for the high school, in the science and math areas.

Special meeting was scheduled for Monday, July 28, for analysis of insurance bids. Discussion will concern blanket coverage insurance.

Faculty-board negotiation meetings are continuing each Wednesday night at 6 p.m.

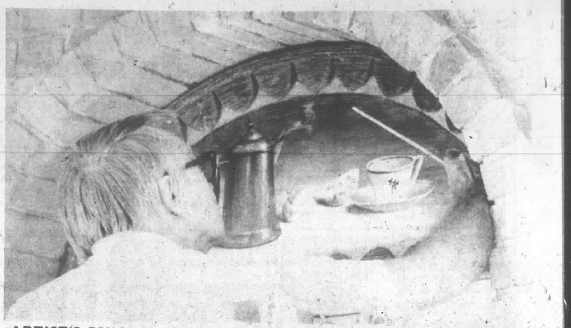
William Faulkner Is on Dean's List

William A. Faulkner, of 504 Outer Dr., a sophomore in the school of arts and social sciences at Lake Superior State College, Sault Ste Marie, was named to the dean's list for spring term.



ARTIST'S CONCEPT— Russell Steinke adds the final detail to his still life paintings, framed in rugged, scalloped wood, which have recently enhanced the oval recessed windows at Don's Beef Buffet.

Art Fills the Windows

Two years ago Russell Steinke, Tecumseh's foremost artist, looked across the street from his downtown studio window and conceived the idea for the still life paintings which were recently added to the front windows at Don's Beef Buffet.

Don Smith, whose brick-front restaurant on W. Chicago Blvd. is noted for its distinctive decor, commissioned the paintings just six months ago.

First planned as abstracts, Steinke became so wrapped up in his work, that he gave each painting considerable attention to detail, color and placement for the lighting effect.

Each painting was outlined by the artist with a rugged, scalloped wooden frame.

Subjects of the colorful paintings are a coffee pot and cup, fruit bowl, cabbage and onions, pitcher and fruit, and eggplant and vegetables.

Speaks on Woman's Role

BRITTON — "God created woman to know Him personally, love Him intimately and please Him in whatever she did," said Mrs. Gerald Booth. She gave devotions at the monthly meeting of the Bethel Baptist Church Missionary ladies.

She started by asking, "What is a WOP, WOE, WOM, WOF, WOT?" Using the Bible as her reference she spoke on woman and her role in life. Summing up, a WOP was the wife of a pastor, WOE, the wife of an electrician, WOM, wife of a missionary etc.

The business meeting followed a picnic at the home of Mrs. Robert Hunt with Iva Caswell and Gladys Goodacre, hostesses, serving strawberry shortcake to the 15 women and three guests.

Mrs. Norman Barnard asked God's blessing on the meal.

Mrs. Walter Stutesman presided at the meeting and Pat Preston led prayer for the missionaries.

Mrs. Hunt led in group singing and Mrs. Barnard gave a reading "So Send I You."

She noted that in Hong Kong, where she and her husband are missionary appointees, 10,000 people would be housed in an area as large as the 40 acres the Hunts live on or 2500 persons to every acre.

Next meeting is Aug. 7 at the Killarney Lake home of Pat Preston with Ida Olds and Ethel Miller, hostesses.

Two Leaving for Home

BRITTON — Miguel Verduzco of Tampico, Mexico, and Werner Jahn from Leverkuson, Germany, exchange students who have been living with the David Stiles family at 9204 Ridge Hwy., are leaving for their homelands this month.

Miguel left Monday after spending the past school year the Stiles family. Both boys graduated from Britton-Macon High School this past June.

Miguel, 17, will enter college and major in agriculture for four years when school begins this fall. His English was very limited when he arrived last August, but has learned the English language quite well.

Mrs. Stiles says, "Miguel had been counting the months and days until he could join his family in Tampico. He could hardly wait to get back home for some Mexican food," she added.

Besides his parents, he has a younger sister and an older brother and two married sisters. His father is an executive of the Coca Cola Co. in Mexico.

His best subject in the Britton school was Spanish in which he received "A's". English and other subject were somewhat harder. "He was an exuberant boy but he enjoyed his siestas often," said Mrs. Stiles.

Werner Jahn who turned 19 this month, was a sportsman at Britton-Macon High School, excelling in football and track. When he goes back to Germany he will have two more years of high school there and spend 15 months service in the army, which is mandatory. He then plans to go to college, but has not yet decided on a profession.

The Stiles gave Werner a football to take back home with him, as there is no football played in Leverkuson. "He likes our American hamburgers", said Mrs. Stiles, "In his home they are eaten raw with onions."

Werner's dad visited the U.S. on business last May and spent some time with his son at the Stiles' home. His dad is an export manager for a car brake firm for New York, Philadelphia and the Detroit area.

Both boys were a great help on the farm and will be missed, noted Mrs. Stiles. The Britton family have an 18 year old daughter at home and a married son.

Bi-centennial Journey

ICE HOUSE

By Thelma Younglove

BRITTON — The ice-house, once common on farms in Michigan before and after the turn of the century has disappeared. The ice-house, a building about as large as the average garage was constructed with double walls.

There was approximately 10 inches of space between the two walls. This space was filled with saw dust from one of the sawmills in the area.

The attic space was boarded over and covered with a thick layer of saw dust, an insulating material. There were no windows in the building to let in heat or light.

The ice-house was filled during the winter, usually in January, after several nights of sub-zero temperature so that the ice on the river at Tecumseh had been frozen to a depth of several inches.

Advanced plans were made for filling the ice-house. Neighbors cooperated. From three to five neighbors with teams of horses pulling sleighs made the trip to Tecumseh to get the cakes of ice.

They started early in the morning, immediately after finishing the chores. (cows milked, stables cleaned, and livestock fed). By the time the sleighs were loaded with large blocks of ice sawed from the river, and the men were back to the farm it was late afternoon.

Using large ice tongs, the men unloaded the ice from the sleighs placing it on the saw dust covered dirt floor. A layer of saw dust was spread over the ice then another layer of ice was added, then another layer of saw dust until the ice house was packed full. The last layer was always one of thick saw dust.

Then the two doors, one inside and one outside, were closed tightly not to be opened until warm weather came and ice was needed to keep food cool.

Storage of ice was a cold, hard days work, but men dressed for the task. Most of them wore fur caps, long fur coats made from a cow hide or horse hide with large fur mittens to match.

With the arrival of warm days, the ice box was thoroughly cleaned and a cake of ice from the ice house was put in the ice section, usually across the top of the ice box (an insulated cupboard-like item). Milk, cream, butter, and other foods that needed to be kept cool were placed on the shelves under the ice chamber.

A large dish pan was placed on the floor under the ice box to catch the water from the melting ice. The pan had to be emptied daily to prevent it from running over.

If the ice house had been well constructed and the ice properly stored there would be sufficient ice to last until late fall even after using the ice box and freezing a few freezers of that delicious homemade ice cream, made with country fresh eggs, wholesome whole milk and rich cream.

Filling the ice house ended when large commercial ice storage buildings were erected and ice delivery routes were established. Ice was then delivered to the home at regular intervals in the size cake desired.

This method continued until the advent of the electric refrigerator. Ice boxes are no longer in use and the ice house in some cases became a hog house, or was torn down.

How did Dodge Colt put so much in such a little car? And give it such great gas mileage? Colt's standard 1600 cc engine got 30 mpg in the highway cycle and 20 mpg in the city cycle in recent EPA tests. And Colt's got: Fully synchronized manual transmission • Tinted glass • Reclining bucket seats • Adjustable steering column. And don't forget "the Clincher" —the new 1975 passenger car warranty.

*MSRP for a '75 Dodge Colt coupe. Not included are state and local taxes, license and title fees, destination charge, and Dealer prep, if any.

Through My Window

by Marda Gene Duncan

MORE ABOUT MY TREES

Last week I — well, there is no other way to describe it except to say that I was carried away with maple trees. I talked about the maples which dominate the south window and then began on those which grow along the creek bank. My west-facing window does show an interesting family of maples but it also looks out at a bit of walnut tree and some mulberry trees. The latter came into their own near the first of this month.

This must be a good year for all fruit bearing trees. At least the mulberry as well as the cherry trees are loaded with fruit. The branches sag under the weight of it.

The mulberry trees actually look rather sick so limp and dragged down are their branches. They are in good shape though and it is nothing except the messy black berries that are weighting them down.

And it is these berries which are calling all sorts of bird and squirrel business. Mother Nature has a hungry crew this year and mulberries must be one of the favorite items on the menu. Unfortunately too many of the birds who gorge themselves are starlings and grackles.

Young starlings and young grackles. Some are old enough to peck the berries themselves but others still scream to be fed. The loud harsh squawking they make we could easily do without.

Other birds sound and look much nicer as they gather for an all day fruit eating session. The young baldheaded cardinal still visits and the poor thing, eating mulberries has not helped him a bit.

He is still Auntn's red bird with the blue head — not the slightest trace of red feathers have started to show on his little head. And his head is small — one would not think that feathers would make that much difference. But they do.

The fox squirrels are going through their usual mulberry eating antics. Why they always stretch and reach for the berry which grows at the very end of the flimsiest little branch I shall never know. Is it the challenge, are those hard-to-get berries extra tasty, or are the young squirrels simply having fun?

Usually it looks like fun — a nimble-footed, bushy-tailed youngster scrambles to the end of the wildly waving limb, picks the berry, then backs up and eats his prize where the footing is less tricky. Once in a while, however, a branch dumps the squirrel and he either hustles, upside down, back to a stronger portion of the branch or he falls to the limb below. Both actions are fun to watch.

The porch is on the north end of my room and I have often called my porch living tree house living. On two sides the trees are close and the leafy branches so near that truly, the only description is a tree house. The trees themselves are mostly maples and mulberry.

The three closest to the west end lower branches are spindly and less heavily foliated.

On one particularly bare branch a blue jay likes to perform. We like to have him there too because the view is hardly obstructed. I'm not sure what the bird does, what his motivations are, but I say he is pumping up.

He actually does pump his body up and down, his feet never leave the limb but he stretches his head so far up that, if it were possible, he would be standing on tip toe and then he lowers and pulls himself down until his lower tummy almost touches the perching limb.

This up and down bouncing is done quite rapidly and is always accomplished by a clear almost flute-like two note whistle. Very pretty, very unbluejayish.

Then comes the mulberry bush-tree. It is completely different than the other mulberries. With little or no trunk at all its thick lower branches are wide spreading, bushlike. It never bears fruit but in the spring has tiny white flowers in clusters or catkins. Quite inconspicuous.

But the orioles and the warblers love this bush-tree when it blossoms, it must be full of bugs. And could this be the male mulberry which pollenates the rest of the trees and insures such a good berry crop? This year better than ever.

So it is that next week I will be on to other things but today I simply had to continue telling you some more about my trees.

Memoriams

In loving memory of Louis E. Underwood who passed away July 24, 1973;

To those of you who have a dad,
Cherish him with care, for you shall never miss him
Until he isn't there.
'Tis two years since he left us
But hasn't wandered far.
Just entered God's own garden
And left the gate ajar.
Sadly missed by his daughter, Linda. 7-17c

In memory of our dear son and brother Ben Studnick, taken from us one year ago July 16, 1974. We miss you Ben!

"We do not need a special day to bring you to our minds. The days we do not think of you are very hard to find."

Sadly missed by Mom, Dad, Liz, Jim, Todd, William and JoJo 7-17c

In Wednesday's contest agains Dundee, the ladies just couldn't put it together, losing 17-8.

Girls Beat Toledo

SENIOR GIRLS SOFTBALL

The Tecumseh Parks and Recreations' senior girls team was up for the challenge that Toledo offered them, the fastest pitcher the team has ever faced.

The pitching proved to be most helpful to Tecumseh as they won 24-11. Twenty batters were walked in the contest, with many of the runs unearned.

The fourth inning proved to be the most productive for Tecumseh in the contest with 16 runs scored and 19 batters sent to the plate, nine of whom walked.

Vicky Smith hit a three-run homer for Tecumseh in the fourth.

Tecumseh Parks and Recreations' junior girls softball team came out on top of Toledo 23-6.

Sue Bunch and Sandy Humphries each had a home run for the victors. Each Tecumseh player reached first base, with a hit or a walk.

The Tecumseh team looked and played extremely well after starting out slowly.

In last Tuesday's juniors' game against Clinton, both teams came home with a voctory, green team won 35-14 and blue team was also victorious 22-7.

Leading hitters for green team were Chris Spagnoli with six singles, JoAnn Harvey five hits and Sue Bunch four hits, one being a three run homer. Linda West was the winning pitcher. Leading hitter for Clinton was Wendy Hunt with three singles.

Leading the blue team were Gloria Fosbender with four hits, Leisa Hibbard and Kathy Kruger with three singles each. Janet Williams was the winning pitcher.

VOL. 124 OUR 125th YEAR — NO. 45. THURSDAY JULY 24, 1974 FOURTEEN PAGES—20c

Fire Razes Building in Business District

Fire gutted the top two floors of a downtown Tecumseh building early Sunday morning and threatened to wipe out the entire southwest business block here before firemen from Tecumseh, Raisin Township and Clinton brought it under control.

Loss of the building and contents has been estimated by Wallace MacGeorge, Tecumseh fire chief, to run in the neighborhood of $60,000. Grey Fox Floral and C. Jackson Realty, first floor occupants, sustained extensive damages as did Russell Steinke, artist, who occupied the second floor.

Rest of the building, adjacent to First Federal Savings and Loan and owned by Cliff Jackson and Larry Ganun, is practically a total loss. Jackson said Monday that they have hopes of saving the first floor but may have to demolish the entire building.

A state fire marshall, inspecting the site Monday, told MacGeorge that it was his opinion that the fire was deliberately set and was started on the third floor.

The fire was discovered after the local department returned from an "arson" fire in the city's building at Tecumseh Park. A counter and some other furnishings there had been set a blaze. Damages were minor.

Firemen were returning their equipment to the S. Evans St. station when smoke was noticed in the downtown Chicago Blvd. area. Flames broke out of Jackson's and Ganun's three-story building before firemen had a chance to hook up to hydrants.

Both the Raisin and Clinton departments were summoned immediately, a quick call that undoubtedly saved adjacent buildings from extensive damages and possibly the entire block.

By this time several hundred onlookers had gathered as the three departments battled flames that at one time were 20 to 30 feet above the roof. Tecumseh had three pumpers in action and the other departments two each. According to the city water department, approximately 100,000 gallons of water were used to extinguish the blaze.

Firemen surrounded the building, and it was nearly an hour before it was certain the rest of business block would be saved.

Losses reported included about $4,000 in paintings and furnishings for Steinke, who was found on the second floor and taken from the building by two firemen.

Dr. Robert and Mary Bowers, owners of an adjacent building, estimate losses there of about $5,000 to two apartments and the optometrist's office.

Carl Lamb says Lamb Rexall Pharmacy sustained some water damage on the second floor of his building.

No estimates have been reported by Grey Fox Floral or Jackson Realty.

Jackson reports the building was only partially insured and has no plans to replace the entire structure.

Chief Reports Suspects

Police Chief Ray Walton said early Wednesday that there are suspects relative to the fire and some new developments may occur Wednesday.

He and others have discounted three youths wearing masks as being involved. They were seen in the vicinity just before and after the fire broke out.

Both the fire marshal and local fire department officials believe that the building was set on fire and that the fire was started on the third floor.

Official Praises Firemen, Equipment

The fire that destroyed the Cliff Jackson-Lawrence Ganun building on W. Chicago Blvd. early July 20 was the largest and most dangerous fire in Tecumseh in many years.

I am extremely proud of each and every fireman who assisted in controlling and extinguishing this raging inferno that threatened to destroy much of our downtown area in the early stages.

Hard work, determination and many hours of training, plus some new equpment never used on fires in Tecumseh before were deciding factors.

On behalf of the Tecumseh Fire Department, I would like to thank our neighbors, Raisin Township Fire Department and Clinton Fire Department, for another fine assist. Also, a thanks to the folks who donated food and coffee to the firemen.

New equipment used include the city's hi-ranger, a 1,000-gallon a minute deluge gun and two new walkie-talkies.

Many questions remain unanswered about the fire, and anyone having any information that may be helpful in the investigation would they please contact the Tecumseh Police Department or the local fire department.

ONE-MAN'S STAND—Jack Osburn, local real estate broker and owner of A & P building and property there, showed his personal dissatisfaction over his arrangements with the company early Monday evening by parking his car against the front door of the super market. Patrons, however, could enter and leave via the exit door. Since Osburn owns the property, police were in somewhat of a dilemna as what to do. They asked three wrecker operators to tow away his car, but all refused. Osburn, here with Officer James Knierim, and A&P patrons laughed at the stunt, especially when the businessman reclined on the car's hood, resting his head behind his hands on the windshield. Equipment, belonging to pro Art Michalke, included an adding machine, woods and irons, 12 dozen balls, shoes and shirts, and a set of used clubs. An outside loud speaker was also taken.

Entry was gained through an east side window in the pro's office area.

One worker who watered at the course nightly, reported to the Clinton State Police he noticed an orange VW with Alabama plates near the scene.

Letter to Editor

To the Editor:

Recently the Tecumseh Jaycee Auxiliary received comprehensive information regarding House Bill 4704.

Through this article, and by written information being forwarded to many of the local clubs in the area, the Auxiliary hopes to inform the public of the effects this bill will have if passed.

For example, the new bill will disallow any persistent, serious and dangerous offenders, under the age of 16 from being transferred to adult court.

It prohibits the confinement of any juvenile under any age in jail, regardless of the seriousness of the offense, the sophistication of the offender or the menace he might pose to the other juveniles.

It further limits jurisdiction of any juvenile to a maximum of 30 months regardless of the seriousness of the offense.

Criminal juvenile records cannot be passed on to adult court which might reveal patterned or pathological criminal tendencies.

If you are concerned about this issue write your state legislator simply stating that you wish to express your opposition to the proposed revision of the Juvenile Code as introduced in the Michigan Legislature as House Bill 4704.

Sidewalk sale days were a success last weekend in Tecumseh. Thanks to the cooperation of the retail division of the Chamber of Commerce, the days of the old fashioned bargain and the gaiety and friendliness of the Sesquicentennial celebration were renewed.

It takes cooperation and hard work to plan something for the city and this year's gigantic fireworks and sidewalk sale days seem to prove the Chamber of Commerce really has it all together.

Downspouts are generally secured to the wall surface by metal straps, which are either screwed or nailed into place. The straps should be spaced at a minimum of four feet apart, to insure strength. Gutter sections are then just slipped into place. The top ends of each section are a little larger than the bottom. Thus a good connection can be made without soldering. Be sure to solder the joint between the gutter outled and the top of the downspot, however.

To be sure you are really satisfied let us at CLAUDA PLUMBING & HEATING, 1108 W. Chicago Blvd., 423-3121 handle your plumbing and air-conditioning needs. We have been serving the area for over 75 years and our many years of experience enables us to guarantee you satisfaction in every job we do. Open: 8 a.m.-5:30 p.m. daily, until 5 p.m. Sat.

Jewels & gems

By Dick Eggleston

Gold is widely distributed in nature and found in many ways and in all parts of the world. It is found in water, in the ice of Alaska, in the sand of South Africa, and in the quartz in Colorado, and is frequently found unaccompanied, though usually alloyed with silver or iron. The various types of races of mankind have selected gold as the first and chief representative of value. In the earliest times it was used as a medium of exchange in the form of bars and rings. The rings could be opened and closed so that a chain could be made for convenience of carrying.

For personal attention in selecting watches, gifts and jewelry visit us at EGGLESTON'S JEWELRY, 107 E. Chicago Blvd., 423-2715. Keepsake diamond, dinner, engagement and birthstone rings are available and there is also a fine choice costume jewelry in a wide range of prices. BankAmericard and Master Charges honored.

'The Sound of Music' Is Scheduled

Rodgers and Hammerstein are the creators of "The Sound of Music" that will float through the Croswell Opera House beginning Wednesday, July 30 when their hit musical opens for a 10 day run.

"The Sound of Music" tells the tale of the Trapp family who fled from Hitler to America where they became famous folk singers.

The story begins in the abbey of Nonnberg, Austria, where a young postulant, who is more interested in singing than in doing her assigned chores is sent off to become governess to the seven children of a wealthy widower, Capt. George Von Trapp.

He brought up his children in a cold, severe manner, but through their new companion they learned gaiety, love and the fun of music — the captain included. He and the girl marry and the family escapes over the mountain into Switzerland.

Starring in the Croswell Opera house production are Joan Troy, Maria, the plucky, cheerful and music-filled heroine.

Rod Hohkenson (Capt. Von Trapp), a minister of the Christ the Redeemer Lutheran Church, will play the captain who surrenders his bosun's whistle for a pitch pipe.

His seven children are portrayed by Liesel (Mary Ann Puellella), Friedrich (Ray Gale), Louisa (Nancy Ulrich), Kurt (Steve Hokenson), Brigitta (Dawn Miller of Tecumseh), Marta (Amy Taylor) and Gretl (Larae Ranson).

Bi-centennial Journey

By Thelma Younglove

BRITTON—Prior to the 1930's gypsies usually visited southeartern Michigan during the warm months. Residents in the area never knew just when to expect the arrival of the not too welcome visitors, nor did they have any idea how many different caravans of them would come.

Gypsies traveled in horse drawn wagons in caravan formation. Normally there were at least four or five families in each group. The wagons carried not only people but some household items, camping equipment, wash tubs, and scrub boards.

Several children of various ages accompanied the adults. Numerous dogs of every size, breed, and description either tagged along or trotted under the wagons.

In addition to the horses needed to pull the wagons, several other horses were led behind. The extra horses were traded or sold along the way.

Farmers who dared barter with the gypsies needed to be extra alert. Gypsies were too often not only tricky, but frequently dishonest. The unsuspecting farmer discovered much too late that the gypsy trader had gotten the better of the deal.

Naturally horse and dogs had to be fed and humans had to eat. How did the gypsies get feed for the horses? You guessed it. The gypsies visited the farms along their route and requested feed, even demanded it. If their requests were refused they helped themselves.

When a group of gypsies was known to be in the neighborhood, word soon spread. Children stopped their play and ran to their parents with the message "Gypsies are coming".

Telephones became busy as the message was phoned from one to another. Doors and windows were locked. Granaries and hen houses were pad locked.

In spite of careful precautions, few families were spared the loss of a chicken or two, eggs and numerous other items.

Some of the gypsies pretended to be fortune tellers and insisted on reading a person's palm. They demanded money for their services and in many instances, while the person's palm was being read, another gypsy was picking the unsuspecting person's pockets.

The victim was sometimes unaware that he had been robbed until the gypsies were well on their way. Rarely did gypsies visit a community that someone wasn't a victim of their unscrupulous tricks.

If the gypsies were in the area toward night, they made camp, usually along a quiet country road. People living in the vicinity spent a restless night listening for the squeak of doors or startling cry of children signifying all was not well - chicken roosts were being raided or something else of value was being taken.

Farm families drew a sigh of relief when they knew the caravan had broken camp and was well on its way.

The last gypsies seen in the neighborhood came about 1930. They no longer traveled with horses, but used automobiles. They still traveled in caravan formation. The women were colorfully attired.

The rumor was that they enjoyed the vagabond style of life during the summer months but lived in nice houses in a nearby city during the winter.

Color slides and movies were viewed of the class' fifth and 10th year reunions, as well as slides of old basketball and football games, cheerleaders, bands, parades, parties and their senior trip.

Next reunion will be held in 1980.

Class officers in charge of the reunion were the Cal Rohrbacks, Karl Kimerers and Jerry Benedicts.

B-M Junior Is Selected for Meeting

BRITTON — Mary Schroeder, a junior at Britton-Macon High School, was one of 1,800 delegates selected from more than a half-million members nationally to attend the Future Homemakers of America (FHA) annual leadership meeting this month in Washington, D.C.

Mary is secretary of Region 12 and reporter of the Britton FHA chapter.

During her four days at the national meeting, July 14-17, she was trained for leadership activities to help her as an FHA officer on local and district levels for the coming year.

Selection as a leadership meeting delegate is one of the highest honors an FHA member can receive.

Mary also is an active member of 4-H, church youth group and Campfire Girls.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Schroeder of Britton.

Several highlights of the trip included meeting representatives, hearing the Senate in session and touring the nation's Capital.

Church Young Conduct Service

BRITTON—"Faithfulness: no matter how big or small or important or unimportant our service for the Lord, what is required by God is that we be faithful," said Francis.

Young people of Bethel Baptist Church conducted the evening worship service July 13. Francis Bishop presented the sermon. His topic was the parable of the laborers from Matt. 19 and 20.

Hymns were led by Andrew Bishop with Byron Gall at the piano.

Special music was presented by a quintet composed of Melody, Chris and Laurie Whaley, Charlene Grounds and Jean Bishop, a trio, Joyal and Jean Bishop and Beth Whaley and a young mens trio, Francis, Leo and Andrew Bishop.

Terry Whaley played a trumpet solo during the offertory while Jeff Parker, Leo Bishop, Dawn and Debbie Lovell served as ushers.

Pastor Gerald Booth said he hopes to involve the young people more often.

Committee Letter Pushes for Action

The Steering Committee of Lenawee County Common Cause, in a letter to Rep. Edward Hutchinson, urged action by the U.S. House Judiciary Committee on lobby disclosure and financial disclosure legislation.

Rep. Hutchinson is a member of the Judiciary Committee, which is considering the two bills.

"Although more than half the Congress went on record in the 1974 election as favoring strong lobby disclosure and financial disclosure laws, two bills aimed at bringing about the accountability have been sitting in a subcommittee of the House Judiciary Committee for six months without any action being taken on them," the Steering Committee said in its letter to Hutchinson.

The letter further points out that the two bills were each co-sponsored by over 130 representatives, indicating widespread support for the legislation.

However, to date the Judiciary Committee has not even scheduled hearings on the bills, said Common Cause. Federal courts

H.R. 15, the lobby disclosure bill, requires all persons or groups who spend $250 or more annually to influence either Legislative or Executive Branch decisions to register as lobbyists and to file quarterly financial reports.

Policy making officials of the Executive Branch are also required a log their contacts with lobbyists.

H.R. 3249, the financial disclosure bill, requires the President, Vice-President, federal policy making officials, judges and justices of federal courts, representatives and senators, and all candidates for federal office to file personal financial reports annually.

Reports must identify each gift over $100 and each asset and liability over a minimum set amount.

Lenawee County Common Cause Steering Committee members are Marge Boynton, Dick Egli, Mike and Debby Havener and Dick Lewis, of Tecumseh, and Jan Vern, Adrian.

THE YOUNGSTERS

Things are the same as ever and yet everything is different. And that, Marda, is about the most unoriginal, overworked sentence you could have found to start an article. Yet it is true. At this time of year most of the bird watching focuses on the youngsters but they always seem to come up with a whole new bag of tricks.

The robins afford a good example. Although the trees are about picked clean, there are still a few mulberries and oh, how the robins are enjoying them. We thought there was a bumper crop last year but this summer was even better. More berries and bigger ones too. Last year we laughed at the young robins who had trouble swallowing some of the larger berries.

It would take two or three gulps to work the messy black fruit down. This year, however, many youngsters are not even trying to swallow a whole berry. They take their mulberries to the ground and peck bite-sized pieces.

This, of course, is a much neater way of eating. Much more polite too. The watching fun occurs when a young robin frightens himself. If he jabs at the mulberry in such a way that it moves -- well, that can mean one frightened robin.

This often happens when he has taken his 'lunch' to one of the pieces of flag-stone in the back-yard. When he pecks at the berry, the hard surface often makes it jump back. Such a scared young robin.

Dad had an unexpected encounter with a mourning dove a few days ago. Just as he, Dad, turned into the driveway a young dove landed in the middle of the drive. He was right in front of the car and Dad thought surely he would take off again. Not so.

The car slowed to practically a stop, the dove looked over his shoulder and nonchalantly turned around. Instead of flying, he waddled up the driveway. Dad followed. It must have been quite a parade, the mourning dove leading the white station-wagon.

When the car stopped and Dad got out he thought, of course, the bird would fly away. Wrong again. The dove waddled on the sidewalk from the drive to the porch with Dad following behind.

Upon reaching the steps the silly bird flew to the porch railing and it was only when Dad's foot touched the first step that the bird flew. Now that is what could be called being led right up to your own front door.

To Mom and me came the thrill of seeing the little fresh-out-of-the-nest wrens. For sometime we had known there were wrens nesting nearby. We had seen the parents and heard the joyous singing but where their home-sweet-home was remained a mystery. A mystery still unsolved.

However, we knew it was very close to the porch because for two days we heard that incessant high-pitched shrill squeaky noise made only by baby wrens. And it was so loud that we knew the nest was close at hand. Then came the day when Mom and I saw the younsters.

There are several small dead branches on one of the creek-bank mulberry trees. These branches are favored by all the birds -- it was here that we used to see the tiny hummingbirds land and rest after they had "worked' the shaggy red bergamot blossoms.

But back to the wrens. Mom saw them first, three tiny kids lined up in a row on one of the bare branches. Lined up and screaming to be fed. Just as Mom directed my attention there, Papa Wren flew in and, although we could not see what he was feeding his family, we could see him feed them.

For several days the family was around. We could not be sure whether there were three youngsters or four. Whichever, they were taught all the 'tricks of the trade' by their father and we can only hope he did a good job.

Young wrens are fun to have around; they are noisy little characters and sort of ragged looking. When flying they make such hard work of it -- actually they flutter more than fly.

All the lessons must be learned by now though for we have neither seen nor heard anything of the youngsters just lately. They must be off on their own.

So it is that things are the same and yet are different and never is this more true than in the summer when we bird-watchers watch the youngsters.

Marching Band Completes Appearance

The Tecumseh Marching Band, composed of 80 volunteers from the junior and senior high schools just completed another successful appearance July 11. This time the group marched in the Traverse City National Cherry Festival parade.

They marched proudly and enthusiastically down the parade route, according to observers, as this was the first time a Tecumseh Band appeared in the parade.

"The list of people who helped make this trip possible is almost endless," said director Jimmie Rice.

Bus drivers were Betty Downard, Gladys Hartley, Rita Kortier, Bill Mukenstrum, Barb Retan and June Sisson. Chaperones who were especially helpful were Mr. and Mrs. Dick Egli, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Henning, Mrs. Phillips, Mrs. Schuch and Miss Stevens.

"We also want to thank the parents of these 80 students for getting them up at 3 a.m. in the morning and bringing them to the school, and then for picking them up at 12:30 a.m. Saturday morning.

"Another group who should be thanked are the residents of Tecumseh who cheered us on as we practiced up and down their streets," said director Rice.

"Finally the administrators and board of education are thanked, for making the trip possible," continued Rice.

To celebrate the end of the volunteer band season, there will be a party on July 23 at 6 p.m.

"This won't be the last parade for the marching band," told Rice. The Tecumseh Marching Band is already scheduled to march again in the Holland tulip festival parade, the cherry festival parade and one at Frankenmuth. The director also has plans to enter the group in field drill competition after a few years.

Pool, 'Pit' Satisfy the Love for Water

By Kathy Brown

One hundred years ago, the swimming hole was a popular summer retreat for Tecumseh youngsters. Today the Joyce Andrews Memorial Swimming Pool and Tecumseh Park "pit" continue to satisfy the love Tecumseh youth have for the water.

Already this year, more than 5,000 have participated in the daily pool swim. Some had comments for the Tecumseh Herald.

Nanette Martin, 10, just plain likes the water. "It's nice. I come here a lot. My father said I should come every day because he bought a pass for us." She said she will retake beginner's class again next year but didn't seem to mind a bit as she practiced her manuevers along with her other friends in the deeper end.

Karen Bartenslager, 12, enjoys the pool, "on a nice warm day," and as for Jennifer Royal, 10, "I just like it cause it's warm" and she dove back into the water like an otter.

Pool manager Victor Lawson said the number of students in swimming classes is slightly lower this year, but Sunday afternoon open swimming has become more popular with families.

"Families seem to be seeking more recreation close to home. We haven't had the same turn out for classes. Parents might figure that this year they'll get a family pass and that's it," commented Lawson.

A family pass entitles parents and children to swim in either the pool or at the pit during open hours. Cost for a family pass for residents of the school district is $35. Individual passes for residents cost $15.

Otherwise a charge of 35 cents per swim is made at the pool and 45 centers for the day at the pit.

Over 100 family passes and almost 50 individual passes have been sold this year.

Swimming lessons cost eight dollars per session. Classes offered include beginning swimming, advance beginner, intermediate, swimmer, an endurance class in which one masters basic strokes, advance swimmer, in which the student must master nine strokes and have a lifesaving course and junior and senior lifesaving courses.

About 150 total have enrolled in classes this four week session which began July 14.

Classes are from 8 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. At noon, tot swim, with parent and child in the water, is supervised by the instructor.

Classes are half hour sessions five days a week or a total of 10 hours per session, except the lifesaving class which has one hour of instruction or a total of 20 hours.

Open swimming begins at 2 p.m., a second period at 3 p.m. Later in the evening at 7 p.m. is another swim period except on Tuesdays and Thursdays when "adult only" swimming is from 8:30 to 10 p.m.

Saturday and Sunday there are no classes, only regular swimming.

All instructors and guards are Red Cross Water Safety Instructors.

This year they are Ellen Zimmerman, Lee Ann Schneider, Mike Duhan, Cathy Retan and Bill Silberhorn. Tim Prettyman, Nancy Hamilton and Dale Bird will assist next session beginning Aug. 11.

Ratio of instructors to students in the classes is one to eight.

Pool manager Victor Lawson has worked at the pool ever since its dedication in May 22, 1954. He is a grade school physical education teacher and has been with the school system for 23 years. He was head coach of Tecumseh High School basketball for 15 years.

The Joyce Andrews Memorial Swimming Pool was a community project through the joint financial efforts of Ray Herrick and the city of Tecumseh.

The heated pool, 80x40 foot, is nine foot deep at the north end with a diving board and 28 inches at the south end near the bath house.

About 155,000 gallons of water required to fill the pool, circulate through a filter four times every 24 hours.

Frequency of changing the water depends on the condition and use. Screens for the filters can be changed and cleaned. A vacuum sweeper cleans the bottom of lint, hair, etc. Chlorine levels are checked several times a day.

The bath house at the south has a 20x15 foot section for men and a 18x15 foot section for women, with wet and dry rooms and stalls with public toilets adjacent.

A wading pool for tots is located south of the bath house.

Teaching of Morals Starts with Manners

By Grace M. Stanistreet
Edited by Kathy Brown

Are you afraid to walk alone on a street at night? Do you wonder, when you read accounts of violence and law breaking, what has happened to the morals of society? And when someone is discourteous to you, how do you feel?

"Do your thing" has become a popular theme in society. It is interpreted as the right to make yourself comfortable in any environment, disregarding the rights and comfort of others and disregarding the need to preserve the environment.

Some excuse society's lack of manners saying that social forms have become meaningless. Still a democratic and cooperative society requires form for survival because it implies equal rights. This is the principle behind a cooperative society.

Being raised with "good manners" however doesn't guarantee high moral performance.

A child from a home where manners are expected may suddenly develop rude and careless personal habits. This can happen as early as kindergarten or as late as college.

What can be done?

The responsibility begins with the adults and with their attitudes.

Carelessness of others' rights at age seven can develop into disregard of others' rights and ownership that may end in violence.

Adults can set an example in their own behavior by observing not only the letter of the law but go beyond what the law requires.

Adult relationships is another way to teach morals with manners. Adults must respect youth and afford them the same kind of treatment they ask for themselves.

This does not mean coddling. The young need the adult who plays his role of parent, teacher or counselor well. He does not try to insinuate himself into the child's regard by playing pal, but he earns respect and affection by his courage to stand up for his convictions.

Youth needs the adult who means what he says and whose honesty is apparent in his attitudes and actions.

Youth needs adults who know the value of limits and are aware that limits are not restraints but flexible boundaries.

Certainly if children saw adults practicing genuine concern for others, if children were held accountable for social behaviour, the chances are the moral level would be considerably higher.

We would have less fear when we leave the comparative safety of our homes. The teaching of morals begins with the teaching of manners.

(Dr. Stanistreet is the founder of The Children's Centre for Creative Arts, Adelphi University, Garden City N.Y.)

Auxiliary Holds General Meeting

The Tecumseh Jaycee Auxiliary held its June general membership meeting at the Jaycee clubrooms, June 24. Guests, Mrs. Hugh McGill, Clinton, district vice-president of the Jaycee Auxiliary and Mrs. Ken Beavers, Tecumseh, were welcomed by President Mrs. Gene Foust.

Several projects for the coming year were approved by the membership, some are: a babysitting clinic, to be held at the Junior High School this fall, a style show, a rummage sale and holiday parties for Boysville, Adrian Training School and Lenawee Institute.

Currently, the members are assisting the Jaycees by helping run concession stands at Michigan International Speedway and the upcoming chicken barbecue during sidewalk sale days.

Mrs. Dan Bush reports that several children's games and music books were purchased and given to Lenawee Institute.

Mrs. Gene Hoover still needs recipes for the club's cook book to be published this fall.

Mrs. Barb Myers is putting together an Awareness Campaign on Retinititis Pigmentosa and other eye diseases and Mrs. Ray Russell reported on the Juvenile Code Revision.

GARDENING ALL HIS LIFE — Gus Wellnitz, 2325 Eccles Rd., will be 95 years old in November and he is still gardening. This year, his garden is the best ever. He planted the half acre, hoes it by hand, and picks the vegetables himself. His daughter, Ruth Marie and son-in-law, Gordon Gove, explained that Wellnitz spends two to three hours in the garden a day and he has every vegetable imaginable planted. Corn surrounding the field is already 10 feet high (right). The height was obvious as Wellnitz walked to his vine garden through the corn. Above, Wellnitz explained some of the squash vines had to be cut off because they had grown in the road, which runs about six feet to the right of this photo. (Photo by Kent Downing)

Queen's Contest Changes Focus

The Lenawee County Fair Queen contest has changed focus over the past two years and this year is no exception.

Attention has been placed on getting to know the candidate and judging her on the qualities of poise, personality and appearance. Talent will also be a new consideration as the queen is entered the following June in the Cherry Festival in Traverse City. The talent portion of the contest will be performed before the judges at the preliminary luncheon held the Saturday before the Fair.

For the first time, the queen will compete for a $300 scholarship that can be renewed yearly while she is working toward a degree at Siena Heights College.

Entries, still available at the secretary's office must be returned by July 31.

Completes 5 Session Course

The Tecumseh Jaycee Auxiliary completed a five session course in personal dynamics July 15.

Personal dynamics is geared to help a person achieve more of his potential and provides each participant with modern and up-to-date individual development material available.

Session topics included self-evaluation, goal setting, led by Susan Lambrecht, Cooperative Extension Service in Adrian, planning, led by Mrs. Thomas Ball, Faraday sales representative, communications, Ian Brown, Family Counseling Service in Adrian and working with people.

Mrs. Eugene Foust, course chairman, awarded certificates of completion to Mrs. Dan Bush, Mrs. Duane Killingbeck, Mrs. Thomas Ball, Mrs. James Fliss, and Mrs. Ray Russell.

Readers Write

To the residents of the Tecumseh area:

In June, a new board of officers was installed in the Tecumseh Jaycees and Auxiliary. We are now embarking on our new year with great hopes and expectations.

The purpose of this letter is two-fold. First, I would like to make you aware of what the Jaycees are.

The basic Jaycee theory is this: In any community, the young men and women eventually will be the ones on which the leadership responsibility of that community will fall. This responsibility will not only be in governmental affairs, but also in business, industry, church, family, and social organizations and activities. Without these vital functions, no community can long survive.

The purpose of the Jaycees is to provide individuals with the skills that they will need when they must assume their leadership duties. By providing an opportunity for personal and leadership development and growth, the Jaycees can assist any young person who wants to more ably meet his future leadership responsibilities. This is accomplished through both individually-oriented and community-oriented projects.

Secondly, and straight-from-the-shoulder, the Jaycees need more manpower. As it stands now, the Jaycees cannot do everything that we would like to do with the members that we now have. By increasing our ranks, both we and you can benefit.

You would be able to develop your leadership potential and contribute to your community through expressing your ideas and acting on them. And by sharing your ideas with us, we can and will improve our overall organization and make it a strong and successful action group.

If it were possible, I would personally call upon each one of you in your home and invite you to our get-acquainted meeting on Thursday, July 24, at 7:30 p.m. at the city hall. But since I cannot, this will have to surrice.

If you are between the ages of 18 and 35, or if you know someone who is, please, please, please come and share your ideas with us. It won't be a long meeting, but it could be the most important one of your life. Thank you.

Sincerely,
Thomas Ball, president
Tecumseh Jaycees

P.S. If you would like a ride, or have any other questions, please feel free to call any Jaycee or myself at 423-4724. Remember — July 24 at 7:30 p.m. at the city hall. Your spouse is also welcome.

To the Editor:

I wonder how many other people in town had the wonderful experience I had this week when a group of young people and their sponsors from a church in Blissfield came to my door and asked if there was anything they coud do for me FOR FREE!

I was so amazed I couldn't think of a thing, but finally I asked them to weed my small flower garden and bring in the cart I take my garbage out on.

They did both with a smile and then thanked me!

God bless you young people — there's hope for this world yet!!!

Gratefully,
Anna B. Grigg

Renew Friendships at Island

Former Tecumsehites, Sgt. and Mrs. LeRoy DuMond and daughter, Deborah who have just moved to Jackson spend last Saturday at Mackinac Island, to renew old friendships.

A State Police sergeant, formerly stationed at the Clinton Post, DuMond had been stationed on Mackinac Island several years ago.

Of course, the visit of President Gerald Ford was an added attraction.

Saturday evening the DuMonds walked to Arch Rock and back to wait for the President's helicopter "Spirit of '76" to land. Governor William Milliken and his wife came up the road with their little white dog, and were casual and friendly, Mrs. DuMond reports, and kindly posed for daughter Deborah, 12, to take their photographs.

Sunday morning Deborah and Mrs. DuMond greeted President Ford on Annex Road as he was riding in an antique horse-drawn carriage, en route to the Grand Hotel to speak at the Sixth District Judicial Conference.

President Ford asked Debbie how she was, and with the estatic spirit of a 12-year-old, she replied, "Fine, thank you!"

The DuMonds and Debbie shook hands with the President and Mrs. Ford after church on Sunday and then again downtown, where they were greeted again by Gov. Milliken.

Michigan's historic Mackinac Island may never be the same after the visit from the President, as one householder there can testify. Her little white picket fence was blown down by the windlash of the President's helicopter.

Still shaken by this experience, that little lady graciously helped the DuMonds, who had walked to the fort, find their way in the dark through the locked-up fort and down the hillside, evading the numerous secret service men.

Cedar Point Trip

Anyone interested in going to Cedar Point with the Recreation Department is asked to sign up immediately. There are still a few seats open on the July 28 trip. Cost is $9.60 for transportation and ticket price.

Readers may call 423-2107 ext. 25 for further details, or come down to the recreation department.

Macon Dialog

by Linda Phillips 423-5213

What's the most terrifying experience you've ever had? A turbulent plane ride — or maybe a skyjacking? A tornado winding a wicked path right for you and not a ditch in sight? Not having enough money at the grocery checkout?

Sure to curl my future grandchildren's hair is the frightening tale concerning my run-in with a pressure canner.

I was raised on home canned foods. Mother used the water bath method in a large, covered canner. After 20 summers of peering through fogged-up glasses, she hung up her rack.

When the time came, I inherited all the attic-stored paraphernalia and had used it three seasons when a friend spied my antiquated equipment in the kitchen corner.

In shock and disbelief she said, "Don't you know people die every day from botulism!"

"Well, I'll admit," said I, "that my canner is a little rusty inside, but . . ."

She cut in before I could finish and explained the horrible fate I faced if I ate so much as one more black-eyed pea "put up in that thing." She added the only canned food safe enough to consume was processed in a pressure canner.

I have always known mine will be a violent demise; somehow food poisoning just wasn't my style. I decided to borrow a pressure canner and make a test run before I took the plunge and bought one.

For those of you who are in the dark about modern technology's latest contraption contrived to freak out American women, let me say better you should stay in the dark.

A pressure canner is a huge, gleaming, stainless steel monster (they are also available in harvest gold for the more decor-conscious) with two do-jiggies on the lid.

One do-jiggie is a steam vent. The other is a pressure gauge that indicates zero to 20 pounds of pressure inside the canner.

There is not, however, a gauge to measure the pressure OUTSIDE the canner, which is where, as far as I am concerned, most of the pressure occurs.

There is a thick, black line on the gauge over which is printed CAUTION. This is extremely close (1-1000 inch, according to my husband-the-diemaker's micrometer), and although it isn't spelled out in gruesome detail what will happen if the needle enters the caution area, you just KNOW.

I read the instruction book hurriedly when I went to my friend's house to pick up the canner and left the booklet there. "Haste makes waste" — sometimes nervous breakdowns.

When I finished snapping the green beans five hours later, my mind was a bit foggy as to the number of pounds of pressure I was to maintain.

It was 1 a.m., so calling my friend was out. "I'm sure it was 20 pounds," I sleepily assured myself. I placed the filled jars and a quart of hot water in the canner, secured the lid, and turned on the heat.

Little did I know that the next 25 minutes would be the most harrowing of my life.

As the needle on the gauge began to rise, the little cap that sets the steam vent began to jiggle. I could take a jiggle.

When the pressure approached 15 pounds, the jiggling turned into rhythmic undulation, and by 20 pounds (which I had to maintain for 25 minutes — a lifetime), it was hissing steam in a frenzy of gyration.

I was afraid to stand there and afraid to run — sort of like when a rattle snake is slithering around your ankles. What does one do? Better not make any fast moves, I decided, and remained at my post as the steam sputtered "gonna get you, gonna get you" 40 times to the minute.

People react differently under stress. Some chew their fingernails or crack their knuckles; some whistle. I eat. Taking three steps to the refrigerator was out, but the counter was within reach. I had a choice of dried split peas, a Black Flag ant trap, or green beans.

I opted for the green beans, and say with adamant conviction that I will never plant, hoe, dust, pick, cook or eat another green bean as long as I live.

It's said that when your number is up, your life flashes before your eyes. I guess I've been in the newspaper business too long because headlines flashed before mine: "Macon Woman Killed In Freak Pressure Canner Explosion."

The timer went off, breaking my hypnotic gauge-gazing. I turned off the heat and watched the needle's descent with a sigh of relief, only a doomed man who's been given a reprieve at zero hour would understand.

I learned the next day from my friend that I needed to maintain only 10 pounds of pressure. In other words, I suffered half a nervous breakdown more than I needed to.

Still, I think I'd rather slip peacefully away with a case of the big "B."

He is a mighty small man—almost too small to leave his footprints in the sand. But he is starting out on his own. He is exploring, seeking, learning. Where will his footsteps ultimately lead him?

There are so many courses a child may take—so many that a person of any age can follow. But it is never too late to change direction, even if it seems as if a dead end has been reached. The beauty of life is that the word itself is synonomous with hope.

If the direction your footsteps have been taking you is disappointing, then turn toward the Church. Remember, the Church has survived for centuries against odds that would have annihilated a lesser force. That in itself is reason enough to give it a chance—to see what it has to offer.

Tuesday League

The Sheep Flockers got three hits including a home run from Ehnis and three hits by Slusher to beat B and W West 7-4. The win gives AKSF a 7-3 record as they enter tournament play.

B and W West was led by Gonzales who had four singles.They finished regular season play with a 5-5 record.

Dancer's took advantage of five errors by Wrong Way Pub to post a 9-2 win. Harvey was the only Dancer player with more than one hit while WWP got two hits each from Webb, Pike and Schimmel. Dancers is 6-4 and WWP is 4-6 for the season.

Underwood Chevrolet scored four runs in the first inning but United Savings Bank bounced back to win the game 12-6 and their third straight Tuesday league championship.

The champions quickly came back with four second inning runs and went from there.

The Bank finishes with an 8-2 record, while Underwood is winless in 10 starts. Bremmer of Underwood was the only player with three hits.

Wednesday League

The Jaycees got three hits from Shough and a home run by Connors to win their second game of the season beating Oberst Agency 8-2.

Oberst led 2-1 going into the sixth but the Jaycees scored three in the sixth and four in the seventh to take the win.Both teams end up at two wins and eight losses.

Pike Inn blasted Judkins Insurance 33-0 on 29 hits. Roberts and Arnold each hit two home runs and Pittman added another. In addition, Pray got five hits, Arnold and Pittman four each. Cubberly got two hits to lead Judkins.

Protco won the Wednesday championship with Ponderosa forfeiting the final game.

Thursday League

VFW scored nine runs in the bottom of the sixth to pull away from Handley Equipment winning 9-3. Cole and Dotson got three hits for VFW as did Duval for Handley Equipment.

Trailing 4-3 in the fifth inning, Rumpf Trucking scored eight runs to beat Watson Brothers 15-4. Goodacre, Schlegal and Merz all got three hits to pace Rumpf, while Starkey was three for three for Watson.

Thursday Playoff

A play off was held Monday night for the Thursday league championship. Rumpf Trucking, VFW and Irish Hills Merchants were all tied for first place with 8-2 records.VFW prevailed beating Rumpf 14-0 and Irish Hills 10-9 for the title.

VFW limited Rumpf to five hits and took an early lead with seven runs in the second inning en route to the win. VFW had six different players with two hits each while Rumpf was paced by Schlegal with a triple and two singles.

The championship game was one of the best of the season with VFW coming from behind with three runs in the top of the seventh, then holding on to beat the Merchants 10-9. Irish Hills took a 1-0 lead in the first inning and led all the way until the seventh. The league champions got three hits from Dotson while Irish Hills got three hits from Edwards and home runs by Bryan and Henning.

Bill Brown, 46, School Board President, Succumbs to Attack

Funeral services were held Wednesday morning for William K. Brown, area businessman and school official, who died Sunday morning following a heart attack.

His sudden death, shocking to many as he appeared to be in the best of health, occured while jogging prior to going to church. He was pronounced dead at Herrick Hospital.

WELL KNOWN — Bill Brown was a well known businessman and school official.

The well known and popular 46-year-old school official had served on the board for 12 years, the past two years as president. He was re-elected to a four-year term in June and was re-elected president of the board at its July organizational meeting.

A businessman for the past 23 years, Brown was president and general manager of Kitty Kurtis, Inc., large beef producing farm, and was in charge of Reyco Products in Ridgeway.

He was a member of St. Peter's Episcopal Church, had served on the vestry and on other church committees.

He was born July 18, 1929 at Dayton, Ohio, moving to Tecumseh area in 1934. He graduated from Tecumseh High School and from Michigan State University in 1953 with a bachelor of science degree. He was very active in MSU Alumni Association and was a member of numerous agricultural organizations and clubs.

On Sept. 6, 1949, he married Anna Aebersold in Tecumseh. They had five children.

Survivors, besides the widow, are two daughters, Mrs. Karen Mobley of East Lansing and Mrs. Henry (Lorraine) Mensing of Onsted; three sons, Kenneth, Curtis and Karl, all of Tecumseh; his mother, Mrs. C.M. Brown; a brother, Curtis B. Brown, Teton Village, Wyo.; and one sister, Mrs. Jack (Sally) Whelan.

His father, C.M. Brown, one of the founders of the Tecumseh Products Co., died in 1970.

Services were held at St. Peter's with the Rev. David Fox officiating. Burial was in Ridgeway Cemetery.

Arrangements were handled by the Purse Funeral Home.

Jars, Lid Shortage Is Reported Here

By Kathy Brown

The nation's jar and jar lid shortage may not be as glamourous an issue as the energy shortage, CIA activities or Apollo-Soyuz, however it is a matter of concern to millions of Americans trying to put the lid on their garden produced fruits and vegetables.

Consumers in the Tecumseh area, who may have only started their victory gardens at the recent urging of the President to check inflation, have had their patriotic impulses sharply blunted trying to find a local source of jar lids.

A survey of area stores, markets and hardware stores produced some humorous comments on the jarring shortage.

"What do they look like?" asked Bob Meadows of Bob's Market. He hasn't had any since a year ago May.

Bob Coffey at Jerry's Market,who had three cases in March and George Heeman at Country Market, who didn't have any since Sept., wish they had some to sell.

Baldwin Ace Hardware, McCarty's, The Party Shop and A&P haven't had any this year, although they are on order.

Kroger manager Walt Rowley said the store is supposed to be getting some. He has had three small shipments since May. Gambles also had some and are waiting, said Cherie Benedict.

Prices this year are also out of sight. Last year price was about 25 cents a dozen. This year a Toledo general store retails eight lids and rings for 80 cents.

Most important reason for the shortage is that the nation has suffered a soda ash and tin shortage, materials essential to the manufacture of home canning equipment.

Recent Congressional testimony indicates this soda ash shortage is attributable to government involvement, commented the Hon. Edward Hutchinson in a newsletter.

Registration for School

School officials are urging parents to register their youngsters for kindergarten before the opening of school in September.

Supt. Robert Duhan reports that 245 have registered so far.

To be eligible for kindergarten, a youngster must be five years old on or before Dec. 1st.

Registrations are taken at the board office on W. Chicago Blvd., 7 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday. The office is closed at noon.

Plan Meeting for Aug. 4th

Tecumseh City Council will meet with the executive officers of the Lenawee Council on Aging Aug. 4, the night of the regular council meeting, to discuss the benefits of the multi-purpose center and transportation, nutrition and health program for local elderly (age 55 and older.)

Recreation is a small part of the opportunities which include support services such as escort and interpretation services, tax and legal aid, outreach, nutrition program consisting of site meals, homebound meals and nutrition talks, medical program and transportation.

LCOA receives operating funds from the federal government through the Older American Acts, the state government, the cities of Adrian and Morenci, the villages of Blissfield and Deerfield, and senior citizen donations, including the Clinton area Shamrock Senior Citizens.

2 Arrested for Robbery

Clinton State Police have arrested Mark Henricks, and Richard James Sterling, both 20 of Britton, and they were charged with B and E of the Tecumseh Country Club, in Second District Court, July 23.

At their arraignment, July 24, the $5000 bond was continued, examination was set for July 30 at 3 p.m., and they were returned to Lenawee County Jail.

Most of the property taken from the pro shop was recovered.

M-50 Tee Is Now Sand Trap

John and Madeline Townshend, formerly of Ann Arbor and Jackson and new residents of Wildwood Circle, have purchased M-50 Tee and changed the golf driving range, putt-putt's name to The Sand Trap.

It was formerly owned by Clayton and Chris Greenwald, long time business people in Tecumseh.

The new owners have numerous improvements in mind plus expanding present facilities; however, many of these developments are not likely to occur until next year's golf season begins.

Helping the Townsends are three children, Eric, 10, Andrea, 11, and Michelle, 14.

Mr. Townsend is a former plant manager of Reliance Electric at Chelsea, and Mrs. Townsend is a realtor, having sold real estate in Jackson before coming to Tecumseh. She hopes to open her own real estate office in Tecumseh in the near future.

MAKE PLANS — John and Madeline Townsend have many plans, including a putt-putt contest for youngsters in August, at The Sand Trap on M-50.

Niblack Sells Mortuary to Petersburg Director

Stu Niblack, Britton funeral director since Janurary 1964, has sold the Niblack Home for Funeral to Norman Spencer, 33, of Petersburg, effective August 15.

It will mark the end of the Niblack family in a business that William S. Niblack took over 44 years ago. Stu's father bought the business in 1931 from Ernest DuBois when the funeral home was located in the Britton commercial district. He moved it to the present residence in 1936.

The new owner currently operates funeral homes in Petersburg and Deerfield, having bought out a partner earlier this year. He will continue to operate both of these mortuaries along with Niblack Home for Funerals.

Mr. Spencer is married. His wife, Sandra Kay, and their two boys, Scott and Kurt, will move into the Britton mortuary residence after mid-August.

He graduated from Stockbridge High School, Jackson Junior College and Wayne State Mortuary School in 1965.

NEW DIRECTOR — Norm Spencer, left, has purchased Stu Niblack's funeral home in Britton.

Principal Is Hired

Thomas G. Sura, 34, Oxford, has been hired by the Tecumseh schools to replace Otto Bufe as elementary principal at the Sutton and Tipton schools.

Mr. Bufe resigned earlier this year to accept a superintendency in the Upper Peninsula.

The new principal served as an elementary specialist for the past two years for an American school in Saudi Arabia. Prior, he had been an elementary principal at Oxford.

He also taught two years in the Troy system and six years in the Lake Orion schools.

Sura received his bachelor degree from Michigan State University in 1964, and a masters from MSU in 1969.

He is married and has two children.

4 Mishaps Are Minor

Four accidents on city streets were investigated the past week by local police, but none involved serious personal injury.

Rundown on the traffic mishaps is:

July 24 - Melanie Sue Way, 17, Clinton, was cited for failure to yield the right of way after pulling out of Adrian St. and into the path of an auto driven by Michael L. Sunderland, 17, of 414 Seminole Dr. Miss Way suffered minor injuries.

July 27 - Erika E. Whitt, 23, Northville, was backing in a private drive off W. Chicago Blvd. and struck a parked car owned by Philip L. Lagore, Sandusky.

July 27 - Allen D. Stites, 18, of 1954 Russell Rd., was charged with careless driving after an accident on Murray Dr. Tim Lapham, 15, of 902 Murray, was riding on the trunk of the Stites car when he either fell or jumped off, hitting his head on pavement there. Injuries were minor.

July 28 - William J. Canuelle, 8742 Billmyer, was cited for an improper turn after an accident with Edward O. Stoelt, 5120 Milwaukee Rd., on Burt St. at Clark.

Inspection Next Week

Richard Frank of Preservation Urban Design, Inc. Ann Arbor, is the historic architect scheduled to assess the value of refurbishing the Kennedy House. He will be in town sometime next week.

Frank will offer suggestions to City Council in letter form as to whether or not the Kennedy House, corner of N. Ottawa and Logan, is restorable. Decision what to do will then rest with city.

Formerly of Johnson, Johnson and Roy, Frank was employed by the city of Detroit and the Detroit Historic Society to assist in the restoration of the Morse House, a brick building, circa 1850, which parallels the Kennedy House.

The Morse House is now a well known meeting place for small groups.

Rural Britton Man Killed

BRITTON — An overturned tractor pinned Michael Hamann, 27, Wellsville Hwy., who was dead on arrival at Bixby Hospital of chest injuries.

His eight year old nephew, Frank Dunning of Toledo, received a broken arm when he was thrown from the vehicle.

According to the Lenawee County Sheriff's Department, Hamann was riding eastbound in the field, came to a bridge-like culvert and turned too short.

One of the small wheels apparently fell into the ditch and the overturned tractor pinned Hamann.

A nearby bulldozer was used to free him.

Russell Rd. Plan Given Approval

City officials have been notified that the proposed Russell Rd. project has been approved and adopted by the Federal Highway Administration.

Copies of the Final Environmental Impact Statement, relative to the project and public hearings have been distributed to many parties involved, and it answers all questions as far as government authorities are concerned.

City manager Cal Zorn expects the project to start yet this year with improvements of Russell Rd. between Adrian St. and Mill Highway. The street will be widened, paved and include curb and gutter.

Estimated cost is $200,000 with Federal funds contributing approximately $107,000.

Zorn says the balance of the project will be scheduled by council but hopes that the second stage - Russell Rd. east to Rogers Highway with a bridge over River Raisin - will start next year.

Right-of-way of property for this stage must be obtained from three property owners, William Mackey, Tecumseh Products and Clifford Adams.

Estimated cost is $400,000 with the government providing over $180,000.

The city will sell highway revenue bonds to finance its $220,000 share.

Youth, 17, Connected to Downtown Fire

Richard E. Peyton, 17, of 109 N. Van Buren St., is in the county jail on two different charges, one of which is related to the July 20th fire in downtown Tecumseh.

One charge is entering without breaking with attempt to commit larceny, and the other is theft of a motorcycle from the residence of Lester Howser on Willow St.

Peyton was arraigned in District Court Monday on charge of entering without breaking to commit larceny. He waived examination. New court date on charge is Aug. 5.

According to the local police, Peyton entered the downtown Jackson Realty-Grey Fox Floral building with the idea of taking a plant from the floral business.

After entering through a broken window on the third floor, he told police that he struck a match to see his way in the dark and accidentally set some papers on fire. He then reportedly attempted to put the fire out but failed.

Police received a tip as to Peyton's involvement in the balze which practically destroyed the top two floors and caused damages to the first floor plus damages to a building owned by Dr. and Mrs. Robert Bowers.

State Police arrested him last Wednesday. He has been in jail since under $3,000 bond on each charge.

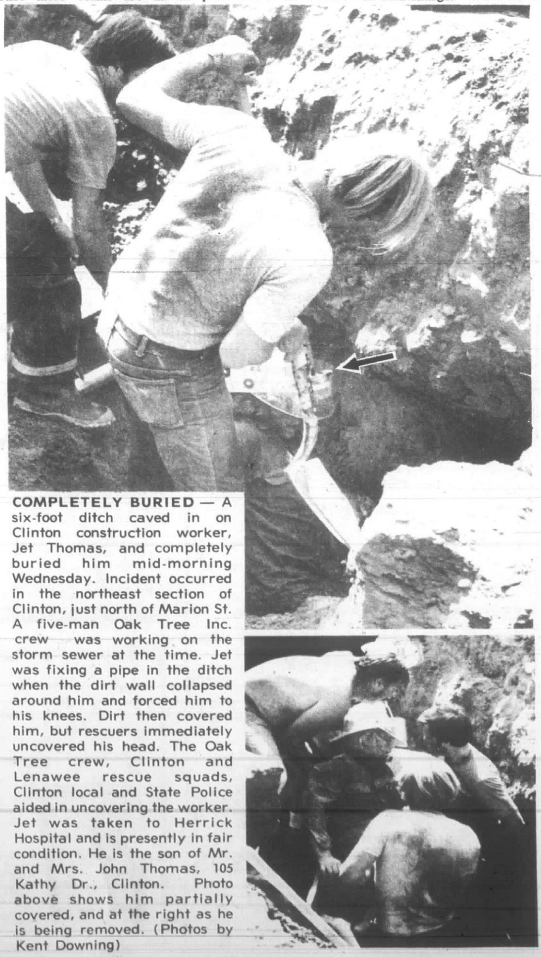
Renew Bridge Work

If work and delivery proceeds on schedule, the N. Union St. bridge over Evans Creek should be completed by mid-August.

City Manager Cal Zorn says pre-cast concrete beams were due for delivery Wednesday. Once these beams are in place, approach street base to the bridge and pavement can be completed.

Balance of the work will include finishing curb and gutter and sidewalk.

Zorn does not anticipate the street being closed except for the placement of the beams.



COMPLETELY BURIED — A six-foot ditch caved in on Clinton construction worker, Jet Thomas, and completely buried him mid-morning Wednesday. Incident occurred in the northeast section of Clinton, just north of Marion St. A five-man Oak Tree Inc. crew was working on the storm sewer at the time. Jet was fixing a pipe in the ditch when the dirt wall collapsed around him and forced him to his knees. Dirt then covered him, but rescuers immediately uncovered his head. The Oak Tree crew, Clinton and Lenawee rescue squads, Clinton local and State Police aided in uncovering the worker. Jet was taken to Herrick Hospital and is presently in fair condition. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Thomas, 105 Kathy Dr., Clinton. Photo above shows him partially covered, and at the right as he is being removed. (Photos by Kent Downing)

Jewels & gems

By Dick Eggleston

There is nothing more beautiful than a pearl, but a pearl begins as an irritation. Pearls happen when a foreign body becomes lodged inside the shell of an oyster. When the oyster's tender body is irritated, it deposits layer after layer of mother-of-pearl, called nacre by scientists, around a foreign substance. It take divers many years of experience to find the oyster with the pearl, but it is always considered a good omen, and a sign of good luck in the future when a diver manages to make such a discovery.

HOMEOWNERS CORNER

by Vic Clauda

If side margins are uneven and a door strikes at the top or bottom, because the frame has settled, it may be necessary to trim the door by planing it. Points of contact are usually to be found by worn places on the door finish. The edges of the door should be planed slightly where it is marked, with frequent testing to see how much planing is needed. Do not plane too much from the door, since it will then need to be weather-stripped. If the top or front edge of a door requires planing this can be done without removing the door.

We cater to builders, contractors and commercial firms as well as individuals. When you need heating, plumbing or air conditioning jobs done give us a call at CLAUDA PLUMBING & HEATING, 1108 W. Chicago Blvd., 423-3121. Free estimates are provided and inquiries are invited by phone or in person. Open: Daily 8 a.m.-5:30 p.m., Fri until 9 p.m., Sat. until 5 p.m.

HANDY HINT: Before adding new glass, give wood frames a coat of thin paint or linseed oil to act as a filler and prevent the oil in the putty from being absorbed into the wood.

To Negotiate For Library Services

CLINTON—At a special meeting of the Clinton Township Public Library Board, July 21, board decided to issue new library cards to all present holders of cards residing in Clinton Township, and to residents of all other Townships in the Clinton School District who negotiate for services with the Clinton library.

Such negotiations with the five townships involved, Bridgewater and Manchester in Washtenaw County, and Franklin, Macon and Tecumseh, would not take effect until spring, so present library cards would be honored until then.

The five townships would be assessed for Clinton library services on the basis of actual use by their residents.

John Colton and Marge Miller were named to the budget committee, which will meet with staff, then compile a tentative budget at the September meeting.

A special meeting was tentatively set for Monday, Aug. 18 at 7:30 p.m. in the Clinton Township Library Board office, when the Lenawee County Library Board will be invited to discuss contract for services.

The local library staffer, Mrs. David Pray, will conduct a story hour from 2:30 to 3:30 p.m. on Wednesday, July 30 and Aug. 13, to supplement the story hours provided on alternate Wednesdays by the county library.

Attending Monday's meeting were five members of the library board, three members of the staff, Township Supervisor Harry Comstock, and four visitors.

First Federal Bank Approved

CLINTON—An application for establishment of a new branch office of First Federal Savings of Lenawee in downtown Clinton has been approved by the Federal Home Loan Bank of Indianapolis, said Allan C. Graybiel, president of First Federal.

Planned for opening in early 1976, the new office will be on U.S. 12, east of Clinton-Tecumseh Road.

Jack Dewsberry, Northville, was the owner of the property at the time of sale, and present occupants are Mr. and Mrs. Gary Phipps.

Property was owned until just a few years ago by the late Rev. Riggio, a former pastor of the Methodist Church.

Although the house is known to be one of the oldest in the village, built probably in the 1830's, its exact origin is in question.

The carriage house is truly unique in its construction and has not been modernized.

William Glencorse, vice-president of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association at Adrian, said that tentative plans call for construction to begin in "four or five months," he stated that an effort will be made to retain the house in the plans as an office, and the carriage house will be kept as it is.

A drive-in facility will be located on the large lot which extends well to the south from the building.

The approval for a new office is the second within a year. A new office is also planned for early 1976 opening at Lewis and Stearns Roads at Temperance to raise to five the number of offices of First Federal Savings of Lenawee in Lenawee and Monroe counties.

An $81,000,000 savings and loan association, First Federal Savings of Lenawee's main office is in Adrian. It also has operating offices in Tecumseh and Blissfield.

Who Built House on Bank Site

CLINTON—If anyone nas information concerning the original builder of the house, now on the property to be the site of a new First Federal Savings and Loan branch, at 124 W. Michigan Ave., please call Maxine Calhoun, 456-4512.

Although recently attributed to be built by Gen. Clinton Fisk, this is in question, since the 1874 Lenawee County Plat Book has a sketch of the H.A. Fisk residence located a block farther east at 208 E. Michigan, now occupied by the Steve Bowman family.

According to Clinton historian Lawrence Bailey, the house Civil War Gen. Clinton Fisk built, was for his mother, and located north of Clinton on Fisk Road.

An 1893 plat book indicates the proposed bank site was then owned by Laura Tuttle, then successive properties east were owned by Janet Parson and C.W. Nase, adjacent to Currier St.

The Francis Fenn house (in 1893) is the one which was moved from the site of the present J&C Family Foods, and is now located on E. Church St., and occupied by the George Lancaster family.

History buffs may wish to pursue this further before on of Clinton's antiquities is altered.

WHERE CAN YOU GET A MUMMY?—Try a monster store, pick a discarded one up at a museum, go to Egypt or keep his hand. He'll be sure to come and find you!" said Lois Sprengnether.

Mummies' Day at the Library

By KATHY BROWN

Parents balk when children ask "Where did I come from?" But what can they say when children ask "Where did mummy come from?"

Eleven elementary school children heard the fact and fiction about Egyptian mummies at the Tecumseh Public Library summer reading program Wednesday afternoon when Lois Sprengnether, children's librarian, introduced them to the secrets of mummies through books.

"Mummies' Day" was one in the eight week children's story hour series on monsters. Other monsters covered in the series are Frankenstein, dragons, vampires, wolfmen, ogres, ghosts and swamp creatures.

Program will culminate with a "Monster Mash" gala monster costume party at 1:30 p.m., Aug. 20 at the library.

"Monsters have always been interesting to children. I myself have been hooked on dragons since the popularity of the "Hobbit." In Japan, children's story tellers relate horror stories during the summer to chill the blood, (a superstition)," related Mrs. Sprengnether.

Her stories are not the blood chilling type. "I place more emphasis on the humorous in my story telling. Kids ask me 'When are you going to get to the scary part?' "

"Sometimes the children do have a hard time distinguishing the difference between fact and fiction, especially in the case of mummies. They are a tougher subject because there is more fact. They seem to handle it well," she commented.

Only once in her story telling career did a family report a frightened child. They finally concluded the child was scared because he was forced to attend a story hour.

Real goal of the program is to introduce children to books for their age level, which is done after each story session.

Some are over anxious and select books which require parents' help. The program benefits a wide range of children from middle elementary to junior high school students.

"One remedial reading student was so enthusiastic about the subject matter, he is now buried in books all the time," commented the librarian.

"Story telling requires a greater attention span, usually appreciated by the other children. The program is actually geared to them. I feel it is very important they enjoy hearing a story told. They are neglected as they get older. Some only remember their grandparents telling them stories in early childhood," Mrs. Sprengnether said.

Story hours are also held at the playground on Thursdays, at Herrick Park, 9:30 a.m., Tecumseh Acres 10:30 and Patterson at 11:15 a.m.

In addition to mummie jokes, the children learned where mummies originated and why, how they were made and important in the Egyptians' beliefs.

The word mummy was coined in the 1300's. People thought if you ate the mineral betumen, known as "moom" in Persia, the chief scource, you'd be cured of ill health.

Egyptians heard of "moom" and soon started marketing the wrapped mummies for the "eternal life giving" resins. Finally the government was forced to tax the sale of mummies to protect them from "body snatchers" and protect the public from the black market that developed.

Motion To Rescind Earlier Action Is Vetoed

Lenawee County Board of Commissioners last Wednesday vetoed a motion made by Martin Halley, Tecumseh, to rescind an earlier action taken by the Board on July 9 which established the classification of personnel director for the county.

The 10 to 4 vote, which came after a 45 minute, sometimes intense debate, was similar to the July 9 vote of 10 to 5, which established the job.

Last Wednesday Commissioners Martin Halley, William Mackey, chairman, both of Tecumseh, Melvin Rodesiler, Riga, Stacy Zilke, Deerfield, voted to rescind the earlier action.

Larry Gould, Morenci, who vetoed the classification July 9, voted not to rescind the decision.

Commissioners wanted to rescind the motion to ammend the procedure under which it was approved.

Commissioners Halley and Zilke, however, felt the classification unnecessary.

At the July 9 meeting, the Board acted to create the classification and appropriated the $10,000 from the contingency fund to cover expenditures, necessary for the balance of the fiscal year, for salaries and equipment necessary for the personnel committee of the Board to secure applicants, subject to the final approval by the full board.

According to commissioners, available for comment last week, the July 9 resolution was orginally intended to be placed on an August meeting agenda.

However, during the meeting, some commissioners felt the resolution was being held up in committee.

"A few commissioners consistently tied it up in committee. A minority will not run the business of the county," Ray Jackson, Tipton, told the Herald.

In order to act on the resolution, not placed on the agenda, the rules of order had to be suspended.

Although some commissioners, who voted for the classification, including Nancy Nichols of Tecumseh, did not like suspending the rules, which may be done by a two-thirds majority, they voted for the motion they felt was in the best interest of the county.

Halley challenged the "legal status" of the Board to create such a position. "As a county commissioner, I cannot vest somebody with authority I don't have. Every department head is his own personnel director. I don't have the authority to transfer authority," said Halley.

Proponents argued that at least 13 other counties have hired such a director. They argued this is not the same as a county manager proposal the electorate vetoed in a 2 to 1 margin last November.

Theoretically, the personnel director, proponents said, would work through the personnel committee of the Board to coordinate personnel conduct policies, such as time off, etc., and save exorbitant labor attorney fees during contract negotiations with the some five unions that represent the employees.

He or she would also uniformly handle applications, pensions, workmen's compensation, insurance, etc.

Although a job description has been drafted by the personnel committee and discussed by the commissioners, the director's duties are still subject to debate.

Last week, Commissioner Mackey told the Herald this is one reason he voted against the July 9 motion, although he believes a personnel director could be "a great step for the county, helping departments stay efficient."

Tecumseh Library

The picture book set will enjoy the newest additions to the Tecumseh Public Library shelves.

For curious young dog lovers, be sure to see MY PUPPY IS BORN by Joanna Cole and the very fine photography of Jerome Wexler. The book traces the stages from expectant mother dachshund through actual birth and progressively more loveable pups.

The ever-popular Little Bear created by Janice is back as LITTLE BEAR LEARNS TO READ THE COOKBOOK. Just the encouragement to keep young readers happily turning the pages.

Black writer, Lucille Clifton proves her universal appeal with four lively books. SOME OF THE DAYS OF EVERETT ANDERSON, EVERETT ANDERSON'S YEAR and EVERETT ANDERSON'S CHRISTMAS COMING provide bouncing verse that catches the attention of young readers.

On a different note Mrs. Clifton uses a catchy prose style for THE BOY WHO DIDN'T BELIEVE IN SPRING. King Shabazz insists "Everybody talkin' bout Spring! . . . Where is it at? He and his friend Tony go on a search worth remembering.

Another search comes in the easy-reading LOOKING FOR SUSIE by Bernadine Cook. Try as you might the trail is sure to keep the reader guessing. Still one more hunt is for a dog LOST IN A STORM by Carol Carrick with mood-matching illustrations by her husband, Donald.

"Difficult to describe" and "very inventive" would be the best explanation of Mitsumasa Anno's unusual ANNO'S ALPHABET and the funny view of ordinary life by Georgess McHargue and Michael Foreman in PRIVATE ZOO.

To cool down in muggy weather, try Astrid Lingren's THE TOMTEM or its sequel, THE TOMTEM AND THE FOX. Unlike the author's mischievous PIPPI LONGSTOCKING, Emil, or her other characters, the Tomtem is an old Swedish-style elf tracking through the still, Scandanavian snow.

Many smart children at the Tecumseh Public Library still check the non-fiction shelves even though school assignments have stopped. There you can find this assortment of books.

BE A WINNER IN TENNIS by Charles Coombs cpaches readers in physical conditioning, racket selection and grip, techniques of serves, volley and ground strokes, as well as strategy for both singles and doubles. This book is interesting and useful to both beginners and would-be competitors.

Another book to increase outdoor fun is DIRT BIKES by Ray Hill. The main type of dirt bikes (scramblers, enduros, trials, and motocross) are matched first with their specific uses. The main part of the book looks at 38 bikes manufactured by 20 companies, from Bultaco to Yamaha. Photographs look as if they are fresh from "Cycle World" magazine.

If you can't guess the answers to "Why was Paul Revere just like a penny?" or "What was the first bus to cross the Atlantic?", be sure to see the wacky STAR-SPANGLED BANANA AND OTHER REVOLUTIONARY RIDDLES by Charles Keller and Richard Baker. They are an off-beat way to celebrate the bicentennial.

Another funny form of Americana is WHOPPER'S TALL TALES AND OTHER LIES by Glen Rounds. For example, under Mosquitoes we find "in some places the mosquitoes are so big that one can whip a dog, two can overcome a man, and four can fly off with a cow."

Just in time for the Summer Reading Program at the Tecumseh Public Library is a wide-ranging collection of children's fiction.

Young horse-lovers can enjoy either the zodiac fantasy LUDO AND THE STAR HORSE by Mary Stewart or Lynn Hall's realistic story of a wild mustang in A HORSE CALLED DRAGON.

For a further summer sports story, try HOOK A FISH, CATCH A MOUNTAIN, written by award-winning Jean Craighead George. This exciting tale combines fishing, mountain back-packing, and liberal doses of suspense.

Another attempt at getting away from it all is Felice Holman's novel, SLAKE'S LIMBO. This is the unusual story of 13 year-old Aremis Slake, who hid for four months in the New York subways.

UP A TREE

It had been a rather quiet, ordinary day -- very sane, very sensible -- and there was no reason to believe that there would be any change. Dinner was about over and Mom had just started to give me the first bite of dessert when I happened to glance out the west-facing window.

I could hardly believe my eyes; I looked, then looked again. There was something in the mulberry tree, high in the mulberry tree. And that something was quite large. "Oh look," I exclaimed to Mom and Dad, "Murphy is in the mulberry tree!"

Murphy, of course, is a woodchuck. Years ago Dick christened a neighborhood woodchuck with that name and somehow all of the succeeding generations have just automatically been Murphy. It fits so perfectly.

Once in awhile we have wondered how many Murphys there have been. I doubt that woodchucks have exceptionally long life spans but certainly they are not frail and fragile creatures either. In fact, the opposite is true -- they are tough and strong characters with sharp teeth and powerful legs.

That they climb trees I knew for one of the first woodchucks I ever saw was hitching himself up a small tree. I can still remember the surprise of it, the excitement of seeing a new animal and the wonder that such a short legged, fat bodied character would pick such a small tree to climb. He must have known what he was doing though because he came down with a big mouthful of green leaves and ambled on his way.

Well, needless to say, once this current tree-climbing woodchuck was spotted the Duncans did nothing for the next five or 10 minutes except look.

Walter Cronkite and the news about the return of our astronauts was ignored and the jewel colored raspberries stayed in the dessert dishes. We had more important things to do.

Murphy, nor any of his predecessors, will never take any prizes for agility or quickness in tree-climbing competiton. The fox squirrels and, or course, the little red squirrels have them beaten hands down.

But, Murphy did quite well -- he got where he was going, enjoyed a feast of mulberries and never once was there even the slightest hint of a mis-step. Furthermore, when he decided to come down, he did it with no mishap.

I am getting ahead of myself though. Before he came down, he went up. And up. And up. We held our breath and though surely he was working up so high in the tree that the branches would not hold his weight.

He was certainly not the largest of the woodchucks but he was full grown and quite heavy. But, as usually happens, he knew more about what he was doing than we did. Never once did he get in trouble. Slowly and carefully he climbed from branch to branch, always testing the strength of a foothold before committing himself fully.

It was not a steady climb either, he paused on the way and nipped off all of the mulberries within reach. If there were tasty looking berries further out on the limb he crawled out and got those too. It was a very leisurely fruit course he was enjoying.

When finally he decided it was not safe to go any higher, he paused and we wondered. Was he going to have trouble? Certainly not! After a short rest he cautiously inches his way down until his fat fanny came in contact withh he first sturdy branch. There he rested, sitting upright on the limb with his two front legs clinging to the tree trunk.

Finally he twisted around and went head first to the next branch. Crawling out on this, he picked a few mulberries and then rested again. Eating must be a terribly tiring chore because his entire journey down the tree trunk was interrupted at every possible spot for a short period. When he reached the Wilson Speical Corn Feeder he even scrambled to its platform and paused. Such a character.

For such plain, ordinary looking animals woodchucks enjoy a rather exotic diet. The one who first earned the name Murphy showed a marked preference for Wanda's geranium blossoms and last year's Murphy dined on the red and white blooms of our impatiens.

Dandelions are favorite food and every day this summer Gertie sees a Murphy amble up her creek bank and cross her yard on his way to check a neighbor's compost pile.

The Duncan's dinner was interrupted but we could not have been happier, it was most interesting to watch Murphy up a tree.

Rev. G.O. Hannevik Resigns from Church

BRITTON — The Congregational Christian Church of Britton recently accepted, with sincere regret, the resignation of its pastor, The Rev. G.O. Hannevik, effective Sept. 1.

The Rev. Hannevik, and the late Mrs. Hannevik, came to Britton in Sept. 1957 from Stoughton, Wisc. During his 17 years as pastor, the Church has seen many improvements, such as a new heating system, Sunday School building addition, a new parsonage, and most recently a new church organ.

Of great importance is his true Christian leadership and faithful service to the congregation and the community of Britton. His many visits and prayers to the sick and aging have been a big part of his ministry also.

He has been a member of the Tecumseh Ministerial Association for the past 15 years, serving as secretary-treasurer for one year.

The congregation mourned with the Rev. Hannevik the lose of his first wife, Margaret, and rejoiced in 1972 when he married the present Mrs. Pearl Hannevik, who has also been an inspiration to the congregation in her Christian work.

Their future plans include serving in the area of Stoughton, Wisc., where they will make their home.

The Congregation wishes them God's blessing in their new location. Plans are being made for Aug. 31, by the Women's Fellowship, to honor the Rev. and Mrs. Hannevik in recognition for service.

Macon Dialog

by Linda Phillips 423-5213

No doubt you've seen the many items commemorating our country's 200th birthday which have flooded the market lately. Keepsakes such as candles, fruit jars, coffee mugs, hats, umbrella stands, bumper stickers and beach towels are available.

But underwear?

Believe it or not, the catalog of a large mail order house is offering Bi-Centennial bikinis. Each pair (three pair per package) depicts a different historical scene — in full color.

Think the Founding Fathers would agree, that's carrying patriotism a bit too far?!!!

Dr. Charles Lindquist, curator of Lenawee County's Historical Society Museum, was guest speaker last Tuesday evening at Macon United Methodist Church's Heritage Tea.

Mr. Lindquist spoke to the 45 women about the area's history and the architectural documentation that is in progress on the County's older buildings. He made specific reference to the two Ford built homes (now occupied by the Banks and Williams families).

Barbara Mehler narrated a slide presentation entitled, "This Land of Ours." Four of the Sweet Adelines entertained in keeping with the historical theme, sang early songs of our nation.

Betsy Ross dolls made by Lois Jordan decorated the dining room where refreshments were provided by Wilma Clark and helpers.

From THE COMPLEAT AMERICAN HOUSEWIFE — 1776:

"Abigail Adams, the wife of John Adams, is a housewife and hostess quite able to match wits with any man. In writing to her husband in 1776, she plainly expresses the new sense of confidence we women are achieving and how we too have interest in the Revolutionary movement.

'. . . in the new code of laws which I suppose it will be necessary for you to make, I desire you would remember the ladies, and be more generous to them than your ancestors. Do not put such unlimited power in the hands of husbands. Remember, all men would be tyrants if they could. If particular care and attention are not paid to the ladies, we are determined to foment a rebellion, and will not hold ourselves bound to obey the laws in which we have no voice or representation.' "

Right on, Abby old girl!

Bi-centennial Journey

By Thelma Younglove

BRITTON — Prior to the days of radio, many people in Britton and its vicinity looked forward with anticipation to the seasons when they would be privileged to attend the Chautauqua or the Lyceum.

The Chautauqua, often spoken of as the Tent Chautauqua because it was held in a tent came to Britton usually in July or August for one week between the years of 1903 and 1930.

Quite often members of the Chautauqua personnel were college people. Traveling as a Chautauqua entertainer possibly served as a paid vacation and gave them an opportunity to see different parts of the country.

The Chautauqua at Britton was held in a tent located south of the creek in what is now the Britton Community Park. Performances were held in the afternoon on a raised platform at one end of the big tent.

The audience was seated on folding chairs. Even if the weather was hot, it was not too uncomfortable under the tent pitched among the large trees.

The chautauqua programs varied each afternoon. Some were recitals (vocal and instrumental), concerts, chalk talks, and lectures. Many were quite educational.

Some families, mostly women and children, (Fathers and sons were too busy during the harvest season) purchased season tickets. Others bought tickets for each performance.

Chautauquas ceased to come to Britton after automobiles and radios became common.

Lyceums were held evenings during the winter months in the study hall at the high school. The Lyceum provided a series of about six meetings, about one a month. The Lyceum was both educational and entertaining.

Programs were similar to the Chautauqua. They consisted of lectures, debates, recitals, concerts, and readings.

Some season tickets were sold in advance or tickets could be purchased at the door. Lyceums were discontinued about the same time the Chautauquas ended.

Benefits Explained by 'Aging' Officials

Executive officers of the Lenawee Council on Aging met with Tecumseh City Council to answer questions about the benefits of the multi-purpose center and transportation, nutrition and health program.

Decision rests with Council whether or not it chooses to financially support Tecumseh's older citizens so they may participate in the county program.

Ray Maxe, treasurer told Council its estimated cost would be $2,000 cash for a half-time coordinator to organize the desired programs twice a week for 10 months, if Tecumseh joined in September.

Remainder of the city's share would be use of the Community Center as a meeting place, or an "in-kind" contribution of $1,000; and $483 in donations from senior citizens and other community groups. Total estimate is $3,483.

This budget would provide Tecumseh with a half-time coordinator to direct a senior citizens program, supplies and services for a total senior citizens center.

These estimates would change if the numbers of people increased significantly or if more days were added.

The program or kinds of opportunities for older persons would be determined by a board of directors composed of Tecumseh residents.

Asked by Mayor Harold Easton if the LCOA program would interfere with community center acitivites, director Rose Bowman answered, "Tecumseh's board of directors would have to answer that question. It is up to you people."

She cited the case at Blissfield where two groups of senior citizens, those who meet at the American Legion and those at the LCOA Bliss satellite center, coexist.

Councilman Ray Puffer asked what would happen to Tecumseh's present director.

Ray Maxe explained that would also be determined locally. He said the reason LCOA uses coordinators at each satellite center is so he or she can devote time to develop a total senior program, including human services with recreation programs.

Director Rose Bowman presented slides on activities in the satellite centers.

The federal and state governments, the cities of Adrian, Morenci, and the villages of Blissfield and Deerfield, Shamrock Senior citizens of Clinton and other senior citizen donations support the LCOA. Adrian Rotary club contributes to the nutrition program in Adrian.

Tecumseh Public Library is sponsoring a series of three discussion programs especially for teen agers on drugs and legal rights.

Programs are each Tuesday during August at 7:30 p.m.

First program, "Go Help Alice" will be led by staff members from Call Someone Concerned, and include role playing and discussion on drug reactions.

Aug. 19, the program will feature a movie entitled "This Child is Rated X" and discuss the juvenille detention system including juvenile courts, treatment of minors, runaways, truants and felons. Answering questions will be resigning Chief of Police, Ray Walton.

Final program Aug. 26 will be led by the Youth Liberation Group of Ann Arbor. Topic is legal reform. Group will discuss equal legal rights for minors.

Discussion from teenagers is a major part of each program, although interested adults may attend and observe.

Fan Club Schedules Annual Campaign

Annual fund drive by the Indian Fan Club will start soon with representatives contacting prospective doners for contributions.

One of the club's major sources of income is donations from the business, industry and professional people of Tecumseh. Donations of $15 are being sought.

The club helps to finance varsity football camps, cheerleader camps, cross country camps, golf camps, wrestling equipment, track equipment, football and wrestling films and banquets for THS sports.

Ed Schwartz is president of the club; Ron Wisner, vice president; Lois Tilton, secretary, and Earl Egbert, treasurer.

Trustees on the board are Tom Jacoby, Bob Youngblove, Irene Allen and Harold "Buck" Smith.

VFW Observing 30th on Aug. 16

The Tecumseh Hall Slater VFW Post 4187 is celebrating its 30th anniversary Aug. 16. Post and Auxiliary members are asked to make reservations for the catered dinner at the post home by Aug. 14 with Auxiliary President Adeline MacKenzie.

Special Meeting Monday Night

Tecumseh School Board will hold a special meeting Monday night to appoint a new member as a successor to the late William Brown and to elect a new president of the board.

Mr. Brown, president of the board, died suddenly on Sunday, July 27.

3 B&E's in City

Three B & E's of Tecumseh homes occurred the past week and are under investigation by the local police.

Richard L. Graf, 703 Russell Rd., told officers that a 30-30 rifle and a .380 Beretta, eight-shot automatic handgun were taken from his residence.

Linda Coudron, 103 Burt St., reported an AM-FM 8-track stereo, valued at $170, taken at her residence. Entry was made by cutting screen and unlocking rear door.

The Harold Rayburns, 1009 River Acres Dr., reported a breaking and entering with a loss of $210 in items, which included three cameras, clothing, statue, vases, lamp and electronic TV antenna.

A rear door was pried open.

Terry Yentz, 211 N. Van Buren, had a bicycle stolen Friday from the residence. Value was $60.

David Waynick, 305 W. Pottawatamie, told police his car wouldn't start Tuesday, and then discovered the battery had been stolen. Loss was estimated at $55.

7 Accidents on Streets

Seven accidents were handled by Tecumseh police during the past week, including one which involved personal injury.

Martha Valdez, 18, of 4921 Deleon Dr., attempted to turn off W. Chicago Blvd. into Sunset Dr. Friday, when her motorcycle hit a curb and she upset. She and a passenger, Cindy Jones, 16, received treatment for minor injuries at Herrick Hospital.

A resume of the other traffic mishaps is:

July 30—Wynne L. Matterson, 53, of 907 Sunset, told police his foot slipped off the brake and hit the accelerator, causing him to run into George W. Perry, 47, Dundee, in Tecumseh Products parking lot.

Aug. 2—Lon S. Cook, 46, of 401 Seneca, backing in Trickey's parking lot, hit Jane T. Woodward, 19, Clinton.

Aug. 2—Martha C. Long, 32, of 6510 Stone Hwy., and Jack S. Geigler, 16, Britton, collided on W. Chicago Blvd. after the Long vehicle left the Kroger parking lot driveway and Geigler pulled out of the Checker station.

Aug. 3—John Haveman, 24, of 306 E. Pottawatamie, told police that the defroster on his antique car was not working, and he failed to see a highway sign at the west edge of W. Chicago Blvd.

Aug. 4—Thomas Ross, Manchester, reported his car damaged while in a parking lot. Other driver is unknown.

Aug. 5—LeRoy D. Schlegel, 25, Adrian, backed into a parked vehicle in a private drive off E. Logan St. Parked vehicle belongs to Steven W. McCrate, 26, of 709 N. Union St.

Removing Top Two Floors of Building

Work to remove the top two floors of a downtown Tecumseh business building is expected to start next week, report Cliff Jackson and Larry Ganun, owners of the building which was badly damaged by fire on July 20.

They said that it has been difficult to obtain services of anyone, including contractors, to do the work.

While plans are still indefinite, they indicate that the first floor will be extensively remodeled and new construction will add modern business offices plus new store areas for Grey Fox Floral and Jackson Realty.

City Hall Addition Approved by Council

Tecumseh City Council unanimously approved a $40,000 addition to the city hall at Monday night's council meeting after learning that a "healthy" fund balance exists after a recent audit.

City manager Cal Zorn said he anticipates a healthy fund balance of about $200,000 and an increase of about $12,000 from last year. These monies have accumulated from previous year funds not reappropriated.

"It sounds like a whale of a lot of money, and it is, but when you consider the amount in bills that Council paid Monday night, it is not a lot," Cal Zorn commented.

He mentioned that the money is needed to tide the city over July to August when deliquent taxes are received.

The 20x40-foot city hall addition was originally proposed in April to Council by Zorn as part of a capital improvements program, which Council vetoed because of the economic situation.

The addition for offices will extend 20 feet toward Maumee St. and the 40-foot section will run north and south with a full basement for storage.

Total cost estimate includes furnishings, heating and air conditioning.

David R. Siler of Adrian is the architect and met with Zorn Tuesday. City Council discussed the possibility of beginning the project next spring.

The city manager is hopeful that work can be let this fall and the addition closed in before winter. Work would then be completed in early spring of 1976.

Project Deadline Is August 19th

To help area residents and organizations decide on projects they would like to accomplish and to avoid duplication, the Tecumseh Bicentennial Committee requests interested groups complete a project information form by Aug. 19.

The Bicentennial Committee will meet for an organizational meeting to which everyone is invited, Aug. 19 at 7:30 p.m. in the Community Center.

Representatives from all community groups, such as social and fraternal clubs, professional groups, labor unions, business, PTA, city departments, recreation groups, youth clubs, churches, and many others, along with the general public, are invited to attend the planning meeting.

To make the efforts of Tecumseh's Bicentennial successful, involvement from all local groups and local government is essential.

Purpose of the commission is to encourage smaller committees to develop goals that coincide with the themes of the Bicentennial, which are Heritage '76, Festival USA and Horizons '76.

These project committees are to report back to the commission on activities that celebrate the nation's history and values, encourage the revival of the spirit of hospitality and cultural exchange and focus on the future or leave a lasting memorial to the Bicentennial, as the three themes respectively suggest.

Community activities will be placed on a Bicentennial activity calendar at city hall.

The Rev. David Fox is chairman. Isabel Sisty and Donna Flynn have helped coordinate the project information campaign.

Union OK's 3-Year Pact

Members of United Paper Makers International Union, AFL-CIO, ratified a three-year contract with Tecumseh Corrugated Box Saturday morning.

Vote for ratification was 41 to 23. There are approximately 120 employees at the local plant.

The Union and Company had been negotiating for the past month.

Rumpf Truck Sale Effective Sunday

Sale of Rumpf Truck Line to Duff Truck Line, Inc., will take effect Sunday, Aug. 10, ending legal procedures which started in July 1974 when the sale was first announced.

Merger of the two companies had to be approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission and state regulatory authorities.

Few changes are anticipated at the local terminal.

Shooting Victim Now Recovering

CLINTON—Alton Emerine, 45, 13653 E. Michigan Ave., came home Tuesday morning from St. Joseph Hospital, Ann Arbor, to recuperate from gunshot wounds.

Emerine was one of the three persons shot by an assailant in the Ford Motor Co. Ypsilanti plant, July 31.

Emerine sustained a gunshot wound, which penetrated his right lung and lodged behind his left shoulder blade. Bullet also injured the forefinger on the left hand, which he had raised to his chest. At this time his physicians do not plan to remove the bullet.

Emerine, a plant labor relations supervisor, was seated in the office of the plant physician, Dr. Robert Watling, 37, of Dearborn, when J.C. Vincent, a six-year employee of the plant shot and killed Watling, and shot Emerine.

The assailant then shot another man, Charles Seed, of Ohio, a vendor, who was apparently just making a telephone call at a nearby pay phone.

Vincent, who surrendered to authorities at the scene, had left the plant the previous Monday morning, and had not returned until the day of the shooting. Ypsilanti police are still seeking a motive for the shooting.

Emerine's son, Pat, who has been traveling in Europe with the Michigan Youth International, also arrived home Tuesday.

City Auction Is Saturday at Hospital

A city auction of surplus equipment and vehicles will be held Saturday morning south of Herrick Hospital, near the water tower.

Cal Zorn, city manager, says much of the equipment to be auctioned resulted from the remodeling and expansion of the Tecumseh hospital plant.

An auction ad, listing items to be sold, appears in this issue of The Herald. Sale is scheduled to start at 10 a.m.

ALREADY?—Conditioning for the 1975 football season has started, and it must be a bit painful to be running and exercising under sunny skies with temperatures in the 90's. Coach Pat Connors has a good nucleus back from the '74 team which won the Huron League crown, plus a bunch of sophomores who were undefeated last season as freshmen. Football practice is still a couple weeks away but the Indians already are getting in shape with hopes for another league title. Season opener is at Chelsea on Sept. 12. (Photos by Frank Weir)

What Tecumseh Junior High School teacher, with the initials "R.M." made a "course in one" at Macon Golf Course recently? The golfer made a drive on the first tee, it hit a light pole and made a hole in one on the ninth hole. That shot would be hard to beat!

Question Bike Paths

Councilman Dr. Carlton Cook questioned whether or not bicycle paths could be included in the engineering of the Russell Road project.

City Manager Cal Zorn commented that no more space could be squeezed on the existing right of way.

Building inspector Bob Hamden suggested someone be designated to come up with a map of existing city streets that Council would like to see included in a city bike route so that the bike route proposal could be considered more seriously.

The most common cut of the diamond is called the brilliant. In this cut the top of the stone is ground to a flat table from which the sides of the stone slope outward to the broadest portion of the stone, which is called the girdle. Below the girdle the sides slope inward at a slightly broader angle to a smaller surface. In the ordinary brilliant cut there are 32 facets besides the table in the top portion of the stone.

You'll find a wide selection of diamonds plus personal attention and knowledgeable service at EGGLESTON'S JEWELRY, 107 E. Chicago Blvd., 423-2715. Engagement and other diamond rings including dinner rings are handled and we are pleased to assist you in making your selection.

Architect Is Expected this Week

Richard Frank, historical architect expected to make recommendations on the Kennedy House for the city, is expected this week.

Council should have the information on which to base a decision by the next meeting.

Council discussed possible use for the lot Monday night.

Councilman James Palmer envisions the corner house as a gathering spot similar to the attractiveness of Adams Park. He suggested other councilmembers consider future use for the city owned lot.

Mayor Harold Easton drew attention to the critical need for more parking on the block since the reopening of a business there.

Councilman Dr. Carlton Cook said he was undecided about use of the lot but said its attractiveness should be preserved. Furthermore as a parking lot next to a sidewalk, he said attractiveness of the corner would be hard to preserve.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Meade, 6048 S. Occidental, will celebrate their silver wedding anniversary, Aug. 9, with an open house at the VFW Hall 427, N. Evans St. from 2 to 6 p.m. Harold Meade and Bonnie Beasley were married July 26, 1950 in Angola, Ind., in the Chapel in the Garden by the Rev. Glenn Lester Utterback. Mowat Voices Opinion of 'Political Reform' Bill

By REP. JOHN S. MOWAT, JR.

In a marathon session which carried over from Monday evening until 3 a.m. Tuesday morning, the Michigan House of Representatives passed a House Bill 5250, commonly referred to as "Political Reform."

I voted against passage of this legislation for a number of reasons. Like most of my fellow legislators who voted either for or against the bill, I resented the threats and pressures of the Common Cause movement as to what might happen should this bill not be passed by the Legislature.

I think it is a sorry state of affairs when the Governor and quadrant leadership in both parties are saying, in essence, "I don't really like this bill any more than you, but if we do not pass this legislation Common Cause will initiate a petition drive to place a measure on the ballot which none of us can live with, and you know the people of this state will willingly support its adoption."

To capitulate to this kind of pressure from a group, who purportedly was leading the charge for political reform to create an environment in which public officeholders would not be subjected to the influence of special interest groups, seems to me to only reaffirm what many suspect, that the Legislature is weak and easily influenced by pressure groups.

I do not want to leave the impression that the overall intent of the legislation is necessarily bad nor that most of its provisions are bad. I have consistently supported the full reporting of campaign funds. However, this measure begins with a $15 floor, not bad, but certainly not complete.

While the proponents cite the need for limiting campaign contributions and spending, and while in the case of a state representative, it would limit spending to $15,000, in each primary and general election; for all practical matters, the bill would legally allow me in my district to spend $29,650 in each election.

The bill does indeed limit the amount an individual may contribute or that a candidate may receive from one source, this is probably desirable. Although one can argue that full disclosure of the contributions severest allowing the voter to decide if there was an apparent over-influence from large contributors.

The bill continues the prohibition on corporate contributions, they are considered special interest, but does little to prevent union participation — which for some reason isn't considered as special interest.

This is, I believe, a major flaw in the bill, because special interest groups are favored and will be encouraged to peddle their influence through campaign contributions.

The proposal would allow for a two dollar check off on income tax to be used to fund or partially fund gubernational campaigns. It would allow a candidate to receive a maximum of $750,000 per election. While this limited use of public funding may seem desirable on the surface, I have strong reservations.

If the check-up parallels the participation of the federal checkoff, there will be more revenue produced than necessary for the gubernational candidate, should a surplus occur, it would then be logical to begin to include other state offices. This disturbs me because it will then free union checkoff dues normally used in these races to be used in local campaigns.

I believe in the two-party system and I am fearful that the minority party, which now has less than 20 percent of the voters registered in their party, will suffer immeasurably.

Probably the most objectionable section of the bill deals with personal financial disclosure. As it passed the House, practically all state and local officials elected and appointed, and their spouses, will be required to file personal financial information.

While it does not require specific dollar amounts, I still believe it to be an invasion of my family privacy — and I resent the fact that I must attempt to prove my honesty by this procedure. I, further, do not see the desirability or need for this type of information provided we enforce the provisions under campaign contribution reporting.

For the above reasons, I felt compelled to vote my conscience in voting against the bill. Hopefully, through Senate action, some of these objectionable features of the bill will be changed to compliment the good provision of the proposal — that is the creation of an Ethics Commission to regulate and govern unfair campaign practices, the burdensome but rather comprehensive reporting of contributions by the candidate; and the regulation and reporting of lobbyists' activities.

Journey

PEDDLERS
By Thelma Youngloye

During the early part of this century, peddlers of various types were quite regular callers among farming communities of southeastern Michigan.

Most of the men drove one horse on a light wagon. Some sold articles to the farmers and their families, while others came to buy.

Since the majority of the peddlers seemed to be honest trying to make an honest living, their visits were welcome.

The peddlers who came to buy were mainly "junk" dealers. They bought old iron (parts of machinery that had no more use around the farm).

Farmers were glad to get rid of it and get the small amount of money the dealer paid him.

Rag peddlers bought scraps of old clothing that the housewife had stored, usually in flour sacks. The dealer paid very little for the old rags but the few cents the housewife received meant pin money she wouldn't otherwise have had. In those days even a few pennies were important.

Old Dutch George was a different type of peddler. He drove a horse on a covered wagon and came only during the warm summer months.

He usually stopped in front of the farm house. After getting out of his wagon, placed an iron weight on the ground in front of the horse. One end of a strap was attached to the weight, the other end was fastened to the horse's bridle. This device served the same principle as a hitching post.

Dutch George then carried his wares to the house in suitcases. These he opened on the front porch for the housewife to see. Children stood around, hands behind their backs and were told they could look but not touch.

The suitcases contained articles one normally purchases in a variety store — thread, needles, buttons, novelties, dress trimmings, dress lengths, ribbon, lace, small kitchen utensils, etc.

In those horse and buggy days, housewives weren't able to get to town so easily as now and welcomed the opportunity to purchase the useful items.

Before the advent of roadside stands, two truck farmers, one from near Tecumseh and the other from the Petersburg area, made regular trips to Britton and vicinity to sell their produce.

Both men drove a horse on a light wagon and had fresh carrots, beets, cabbage, large meaty peppers, onions, green beans, potatoes, pumpkins, squash, melons, celery, and other vegetables.

Each fall, Jake, the man from Petersburg area was at the Lenawee County Fair in Adrian with bunches of celery for sale. The other farmer shipped railroad freight car loads of celery from Tecumseh to Chicago each season.

Fish peddlers had regular routes in the Britton area. One retired gentleman lived in Scofield. The other elderly man lived in Britton.

Both were honest salesmen trying to earn a few extra dollars to add to their small incomes. Early in the morning the men drove to Monroe where they obtained freshly caught fish from commercial fishermen.

The fish were loaded into their pick up trucks, and packed in ice. Then the fish peddlers started house to house calls. Housewives, wishing to add variety to their menus, went to the truck with a large pan to carry fish.

The fish peddlers weighed the fish on scales on the truck and charged a very low price compared to the price of fish today, especially for the freshness and quality. Both men had to discontinue their business when fish became hard to obtain at the fisheries.

Occasionally a peddler would bring fresh red raspberries, black raspberries, black berries, goose berries, and currants to sell. Some of those fruits have become so scarce that they have almost completely disappeared from fruit stands.

Heritage-Festival-Horizon

Our country will celebrate the nation's 200th birthday in a number of ways. All of which can be classified under one of three themes - Heritage, Festival or Horizon.

Heritage involves the history of an area or specific people. For example, a history of women's sports in Tecumseh (essay or pictures, etc.) would come under the theme Heritage. The preservation or restoration of a city building or landmark would also come under the Heritage theme.

Festival as a theme would include dances, cook outs, sports tournaments and a great number of other activities that center around joyous, festive, and fun celebrating.

The best of the past carried with us into the future best describes what Horizon as a Bicentennial theme means. Some examples of Horizon themes that might be worthwhile for Tecumseh include; a city bike trail (or streets painted to designate bicycle travel areas), a building rennovated for public meetings or gatherings, a beautify Tecumseh Day established as a local holiday.

If you (or an organization you represent) has an idea, a project, or a bi-celebration activity in mind for Tecumseh, fill in the following form (use additional paper if needed) and submit it before the August 19th Bicentennial Committee Meeting. The meeting will be held at the Community Center at 7:30 p.m. You are invited and encouraged to attend.

Building Inspector Bill Mackey Has an Avocation, Building Clocks

By KATHY BROWN

Building inspector of Raisin Township is his occupation; building clocks is his avocation.

"I've always been interested in clocks. About three years ago I read a story about clock building in "Popular Mechanics." It listed companies who sold movements and designs for the cases. Clock building has been my hobby every since. I enjoy it because I can let it set and come back to it when I have time."

An ideal hobby indeed for the man who is also busy with the affairs of the county. He is Bill Mackey, present chairman of the Lenawee County Board of Commissioners.

He is also building inspector of Ogden and Franklin Townships.

Mackey is partial to three kinds of clocks, the traditional school clock, octagonal with pendulum, grandfather clocks with chimes and the regulator clock, which bears an advertisement inside the case.

In addition to these three he has also built the cases for mantel clocks and an old English favorite, the Chesterfield with a ceramic face and brass tube pendulum.

He shops around for the hardwoods, cherry, oak, walnut, etc. and makes occasional trips to the Chicago area to purchase the hand crafted movements imported from Germany. This enables him to have several on hand for completing in one season.

FACE OF CONTENTMENT — Bill Mackey of Raisin Township finds clock building suited to his busy schedule. Winding his clocks is one way the present Chairman of the Lenaawee County Board of Commissioners relaxes at his home located on the back of the Raisin River. In the olden days, regulator clocks such as this one, had company advertisements in the inside of the case. (Photo by Mike Sunderland)

Mackey said the first clock he built, a school clock of walnut, took 62 hours to complete.

Curious what a "production line" could do, Mackey built 10 clocks by completing each step 10 times before proceeding with the next step. He built the 10 clocks in the same amount of time it took to make his first. "But the production line takes the fun out of building a clock," Mackey related.

Mackey describes himself as a "leisurely collector" of clocks and picks up one whenever a particularly interesting clock is available.

Speaking of collectors reminded Mackey of a story about Burl Ives, the popular folk singer, who passionately collects clocks with chimes.

As the story goes, "He has over 100 of them and has each set so they go off in rapid succession. It supposedly takes 15 minutes for them to all do their thing," Mackey said.

Does Mackey get all wound up in his clock, too? Occasionally he keeps all of them going at once. Winding clocks is relaxing.

How does one wind a clock? Mackey demonstrated his leisurely technique on a key wind regulator and for a moment, the scene conjured an image of ye ol' clock winder, contentedly and conscientiously setting the dials and turning the keys in his clocks, with stocking cap on head and lighted candle in hand.

Devil's Pointe is another topic that brings a jolly grin to Mackey's face. He told the story of scouting with buddy John Damon, now of Toledo, on the Raisin River bank, now the part of the land Bill and his wife Bertha have built their home 15 years ago.

"As boys, we had a lean-to out there where we could keep out of the rains, camp and sleep. (There was a pond and dam out there the boys claimed, too.) Being the kids we were, we called it Devil's Pointe," said Mackey.

When the Ford Motor Co. was selling the property, the Mackeys who liked the area, decided to buy.

"When I returned with my wife to inspect the property, I recognized Devil's Pointe and said I would build on it."

And they did.

The house, set back in the woods, combines the charm of a country home with the untouched beauty of nature. In the fall and winter, when the leaves turn color and are finally gone, the Mackeys have a picturesque view of the Raisin River as it bends from the east and then turns south at Devil's Pointe.

Mrs. Mackey's avocation is furniture refinishing. She has literally rescued some pieces out of the junk heap and reconditioned them into stunning pieces of furniture. Although she is not as active in her hobby now, she has refinished an entire room of furniture.

Together the husband and wife make quite a team.

Catholic Church Is Waiting For Vietnam Family

Parishioners of St. Elizabeth's Catholic Church are awaiting the arrival of a Vietnamese family who will be housed in the former church convent.

It is not known at this time how many are in the family or when they will arrive.

The parish is making preparations for the family by forming a committee with James H. Kane as chairman to look into their possible needs.

Various interested parishioners are volunteering to meet some of these needs such as food, clothing, employment and overcoming the language barrier by tutoring.

It is hoped that shortly more details will be received about the family but until then the parish will continue to make what preparations they can.

Until I became interested in sailing, I thought boats simply drifted with the wind. It hadn't occurred to me that few sailors would ever reach port in this manner.

And before I became earnest about church, I thought people's lives—their joys and disappointments, their achievements and failures—were largely a result of fate or fortune. Luck would long ago have replaced religion if this were true.

Now I know the thrill of sailing into the wind. Sure; tacking to port or starboard requires a zigzag course, and when your craft heels over at that precarious angle it takes skill to control her. But that's part of the adventure—making headway against a strong wind.

Now, too, I know the thrill of believing in God . . . of setting a goal, of relying on His power, of devoting myself to reaching the destination. Making headway against adverse winds heels us over—but it's part of the adventure of being a Christian today.

ECOL Will Design Trails for New Medina Park

The Environmental Council of Lenawee (ECOL) held its monthly meeting July 28 at Adrian College with Marge Comfort, president.

Ty Duhamel and Bill Kenyon, ECOL's law clerks, briefed the Board on their activities during the past month.

At the July meeting of the Lenawee County Parks and Recreation Commission, ECOL was given the responsibility for designing the nature trails in the new Medina Park.

ECOL was disturbed to discover the Lenawee County Road Commission, in opening an access road to Medina Park, had cleared a wooded area larger than necessary, diminishing the aesthetic qualities of the park.

Aug. 1 marked the beginning of ECOL's new land donation program, under which County property owners may donate land to tax exempt organizations. Anyone interested may contact ECOL.

Any township resident having difficulty disposing garbage may contact ECOL for information concerning alternatives available.

ECOL also advises property owners that the Lenawee County Road Commission can only cut trees when the landowner gives permission or when the County exercises its power of eminent domain and purchases the tree or the land on which it is located.

The Board discussed the Township problem of the avoidance of subdivision control requirements of the Plat Act in areas zoned for agriculture.

Currently owners of agricultural land in several parts of the County are dividing their land over a period of years by taking advantage of a loophole in the zoning laws.

The loophole allows landowners to divide large tracts of agricultural land into small residential sized plots. Townships might consider discouraging this practice by raising the minimum lot size to 20 acres or by requiring a 750 foot road frontage in areas zoned for agricultural use.

Makes Dean's List

Douglas K. Dillon, 715 Seneca, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Dillon, was named to the dean's list for the spring session at Western Michiian University. He was one of 300 scholars who maintained at least a 3.5 grade point average.

Tecumseh Library

Fiction readers will enjoy the following novels at Tecumseh Public Library. Two deal with World War II, one reaches back into the sixth century, and one is an odd novel of life in the 20th century. In addition, there's a top notch new story collection for those who love the outdoor life.

GREAT VICTORIAN COLLECTION, by Brian Moore, is one of the most peculiar novels to be published this summer. It concerns Anthony Maloney, a young historian who wakes up one morning to find all the images of his dream intact on the lawn outside. An enormous display of Victorian artifacts. Maloney tries to explore the implications of this event.

SPY WHO SAT AND WAITED, By R. Wright Campbell, is a spy novel with a different twist. At the end of World War I Will Oerter, a young soldier, is ordered to Scotland by German Intelligence to become a sleeper (a spy who sits and waits). During the next 20 years Will follows orders. Then German Intelligence calls Will back to Germany during Hitler's rise to power. Readers will sympathize with the conflicts of this spy.

THE BOAT, by Lothar-Gunter Buchheim, is the story of a World War II U-boat. The author, who served on such a submarine in World War II, creates a very vivid novel. He has also chosen a dramatic time and subject: of 40,000 men who served in German subs in World War II, only one in four returned from duty.

WOMEN IN THE WALL, by Julia O'Faolain, is a novel of women in sixth century Gaulm Radegunda, a German princess, is married to the Frankish king who murdered her family but took her to raise. Hating the chaos and brutality of medieval life, she leaves her husband's court to found a convent which will serve as a haven for other women like her. But gradually the discord outside the convent walls seeps in. WOMEN IN THE WALL is an extremely well written novel, absorbing from page one.

Corey Ford was associate editor of Field and Stream as well as a regular contributor when he died in 1969. THE BEST OF COREY FORD is a collection of histories about sporting life, including many about fishing. Sure to make fishermen nod and chuckle in sympathy as Ford relates vintage fish stories concocted during a 40-year career.

Young mystery lovers will enjoy THE MYSTERIOUS RED TAPE GANG written by Joan Lowrey Nixon. A project beginning as an innocent attempt at neighborhood clean-up rapidly proves dangerous when threats become all to real.

THE EARS OF LOUIS by popular comic writer, Constance C. Greene, is one book that doesn't fit any category. In this way the book, like Louis, is special. While most young readers probably don't feel that they need to hide their ears in a football helmet, they probably will understand his problem. It also will match feelings common to readers everywhere.

Zilpha Keatley Snyder in BELOW THE ROOT has created a science fiction world like our own, yet very different. People live in great cities built in giant trees, while burrowed within its roots are yet another mysterious and feared society. Three young people challenge religion and government for a surprising and dangerous unraveling of truth buried in their own world's roots.

Top Honors for Troop

The Lenape District County Wide Boy Scout, Cub Scout Picnic and Fun Day was held at Riverside Park in Adrian on July 12.

The parents watched while Scouts and Cubs participated in a fun day of games and sports. There was something of interest for everyone. The afternoon was filled with games of croquette, challenges in softball and Frisbee throwing.

A refreshing swim ended the sports part of the day. Accumulating the most points in the games and sports division were the Scouts of Pack 73 and Troop 272.

After such a busy day of activities the relaxing picnic lunch was welcomed by boys and parents alike.

Top honors for attendence went to Troop 272 with the largest number of Scouts present.

HOMEOWNERS CORNER

by Vic Clauda

Downspouts are generally secured to the wall surface by metal straps, which are either screwed or nailed into place. The straps should be spaced at a minimum of four feet apart, to insure strenth. Gutter sections are then just slipped into place. The top ends of each section are a little larger than the bottom. Thus a good connection can be made without soldering. Be sure to solder the joint between the gutter outlet and the top of the downspot, however.

You can depend on us at CLAUDA PLUMBING & HEATING, 1108 W. Chicago Blvd., 423-3121 to handle all your plumbing and air-conditioning jobs. HANDY HINT: You will need about one square inch of downspout capacity for every 100 square feet of roof area.

Through My Window

by Marda Gene Duncan

WHILE HE ATE

Last week's column dealt with the woodchuck, Murphy, who entertained us by climbing the mulberry tree. A super dinner-time show. His actions were most entertaining. Of course, when Mother Nature decides to offer a free entertainment she seldom is satisfied with a single act performance.

Thus, while watching Murphy's journey to the top of the tree, we were also enjoying the birds and squirrels. The usual free-loaders were very much aware that a new and different 'presence' was in their domain.

Perhaps he was not new, certainly though he was different. They did not seem afraid but there was no spreading of the welcome mat either. In fact, while staying their distance they did it with such an air of 'not noticing' that we could almost get the message 'if we pay no attention IT may go away'.

Since first berries began ripening the birds have all kept close track of the tree and enjoyed innumerable feasts. This particular day they were not about to be detoured from their evening meal by a mere big fat short-legged creature who posed no threat to them, he could not even fly!

Besides, most of the free-loaders are starlings and grackles, the black mafia, and they are afraid of nothing. That, of course, is pure and simple over-reaction on my part – there are so many of the black birds around that it just seems they are mobbing.

The birds, at this time of year, are in the process of 'changing clothes'. This molting and acquiring the new feathers which will take them through winter is quite a process. For many, if not all, ducks it is a time of extreme danger for they are flightless.

During the eclipse period they loose even their flight feathers and must wait for new ones to grow. The birds we saw gorging themselves on messy black mulberries were more fortunate. Never are they so seriosly handicapped during a molt.

In fact, only a few 'important' feathers are gone at the same time and these losses are theoretically well balanced. When particular feathers on one wing go, the corresponding ones on the other do too. The same is true of tail feathers. Accordingly a bird is without his two outer tail feathers, then the second ones, etc.

During this dinner-time show we could not help noticing that one faction of the black mob was all in the same class. They seemed to be lacking middle tail feathers. It was, of course, the grackles who look so strange. They have much longer tails than their partners in crime, the starlings.

Why they were more in evidence I do not know – usually the tree is full of both black unwanted species. It could even be that the starlings were mulberry eating and we simply noticed the grackles more because of their silly looking tails.

Not chancing a face-to-face encounter with Murphy meant that the birds and squirrel free-loaded in one part of the tree while Murphy feasted in another. Or to put it in another way, when he was top-side they confined themselves to the lower branches and as he worked his way down they suddenly re-discovered the top.

With the fox squirrels it made no difference -- they are at home anyplace; however, with the red squirrels it was an inconvenience. They seem to prefer the top of the tree for their berry picking.

They are so tiny that only the smallest of the upper branches will not tolerate their weight. They scamper along on unbelievable twigs. Such light-weights!

Of course, fancifully speaking I could say that these little red characters dart along the branches at such speed that their feet hardly touch down long enough to make a branch befd.

But back to the birds. Three we were especially pleased to see. And in one case hear. Two baby bluejays brought a parent to the tree and oh, how they screamed and hollered to be fed.

The orioles were around to, we caught flashes of their black and orange but oriole watching requires careful attention and, quite truthfully, our main concern was the woodchuck.

Even the two flickers did not receive their fair share of our time. Unfortunately they left when Murphy did thus there was no watching them later which was probably what our sub-conscious thoughts had planned. Perhaps the flickers did not want to follow the main act.

We had a busy time and a great show watching Murphy and all of the other action that took place while he ate.

Food Co-op Is Gaining Interest

Todd Bailey and John Hopson, both of Tecumseh, think that people working together can beat the rising cost of food.

They are trying to organize the Tecumseh Food Co-op, a year around food co-op that would offer produce, grains, all staples, and some dairy products to save consumers money.

"We don't want to put people out of business. some people can't keep up with food prices or may not have an adequate income," said John Hopson.

Produce for the co-op would be delivered from the Ypsilanti Federation Co-op local farmers and gardners.

The Tecumseh Food Co-op members must donate or buy coolers, refrigerators and raise rent money for a "store front."

"This is not an ordering club. Non-members will be welcome to browse," Bailey commented.

The group is meeting at the Good Earth of Tecumseh Greenhouses at Blood Road at 7:30 p.m. Wednesdays.

"So far a lot of interest has been generated. We're concentrating on membership for working capital," Bailey continued. So far they have met the expenses. Group is presently working on the by-laws for the co-op.

The pair are willing to coordinate the co-op but said success of the idea depends on the number of members willing to work an hour a week as a cashier, cleaning, unloading, etc. "The benefit is that people can help save themselves money," summarized Bailey. Readers may call 423-4419 for more information.

Services Thursday for Glen Driscoll

Services will be held at 11 a.m. Thursday at St. Peter's Episcopal Church for Glenn L. Driscoll, 79, of 601 N. Evans St.

He died in Herrick Memorial Hospital at 4:06 a.m. Tuesday where he had been a patient since last Thursday.

GLENN DRISCOLL

About a month ago he suffered a stroke but recovered well and continued to be active until he suffered a similar relapse last week.

He was well known here, having retired as a school teacher and from an insurance business he operated for nearly 45 years.

Mr. Driscoll was born Jan. 17, 1896 at Wolfe Creek, the son of the late John and Carrie (Barrus) Driscoll. He married Vera Myers on April 8, 1916 in West Rome. She survives.

He was a life long resident of Lenawee County and resided in Tecumseh since 1933. He taught school for 33 years in the county and for 13 years he taught at Ford's school in Tecumseh.

The Ford school was commonly called the Brownville School and was located on Brown St. When the Gloria Dei Lutheran church was built, the building was included in the new structure.

He graduated from Onsted High School in 1914 and attended Ferris State and Adrian College. He was principal of Onsted High School in 1918. He also sold insurance since 1927.

He was an avid sportsman and also played in dance bands in 1918 throughout the county. He was still active in the River Raisin Rats dance band.

He was an active member of St. Peter's Episcopal Church, a life member of Tecumseh Lodge No. 69, member of Tecumseh Chapter No. 51 Order of the Eastern Star, the Tecumseh Rotary Club, and a past member of the Tecumseh Grange.

The church honored him about two years ago for his service, which included many years on the vestry.

Survivors besides wife include: two daughters, Mrs. Frank (Roma) Gray and Mrs. Harry (Ruth) Crosby, both of Tecumseh; one son, Gerald B. Driscoll of Clinton; one sister, Mrs. Iva Dowling of Tipton; six grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

He was preceded in death by three sisters and two brothers.

The Rev. David Fox will officiate at the services with burial to follow at Brookside Cemetery.

A Masonic Memorial Service will be held at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Purse Funeral Home.

2 Cited in Mishaps

Only five accidents were investigated the past week by Tecumseh police, but two motorists received citations for traffic violations.

A resume is:

Aug. 6 — George O. Meads, 60, of 315 Adrian St., was cited for failure to yield the right of way after turning in front of William P. Macbeth, 20, Monroe, on W. Chicago Blvd.

Aug. 7 — Dorothy J. Dunbar, 42, of 216 W. Logan, backed into a parked car owned by Donald F. Root, 316 W. Pottawatamie, at the Clark station on W. Chicago.

Aug. 8 — Donald Chojnacki, 30, Detroit, was charged with a stop sign violation after a mishap with John R. Reel, 5128 Noland Dr., at the intersection of S. Evans St. and Pottawatamie.

Aug. 9 — Mary M. Miller, 60, Britton, backed into Donald C. Fling, Monroe at the A&W parking lot.

Aug. 11 — Paula A. Gainey, 27, Clinton, backed into Margaret Starkey, 309 E. Logan St., in a parking lot. The Starkey vehicle was parked at the time.

Ocamb Heads Board, DesErmia New Member

At a special meeting of the Tecumseh school board Monday night, members appointed Hugh DesErmia to fill the vacancy caused by the recent death of board president, William K. Brown.

In nominating DesErmia—a four-year veteran of the board defeated in the last school election—board member Harold Ocamb said, "We had no particular protocol to follow as to how the vacancy should be filled. But it was the feeling of the board that, for this part of the year, we would prefer someone already oriented to the problems."

DesErmia's term expires June 14, 1976, the date of the next school election.

After taking his seat on the board, DesErmia said, "Thank you for asking me back. I can't fulfill Bill's shoes, but I want to thank you and I'll try."

The board also elected Ocamb president and DesErmia vice-president of the board.

DR. HAROLD OCAMB

Schools Schedule Sept. 3 Opening

By SUPT. ROBERT DUHAN

Tecumseh Public Schools will open for all pupils on Wednesday, Sept. 3, with all professional staff members meeting Sept. 2 for pre-school conferences.

September 3 will be a full day of school for all students except kindergarteners, who will start their classes on Thursday, Sept. 4.

Elementary pupils - kindergarten- 6 — will be mailed assignement cards during the last week of August. However, if it is necessary to make some assignment changes after school starts because of class loads, these changes will be made as soon as possible.

Parents of children who are new to Tecumseh School District and who haven't registered their children are asked to enroll their kindergarten through sixth grade pupils immediately with Mrs. Rosann Vollmar at the Board of Education Office, 304 West Chicago Boulevard.

Children are eligible for kindergarten if they are five years old on or before Dec. 1, 1975.

The Junior High School (Grades 7 and 8) will be open from Monday, Aug. 18. However, new enrollment can be best made on Aug. 21 and 22.

Guidance personnel will be in their respective offices at the Senior High School from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Thursday and Friday, Aug. 28 and 29, to confer, counsel and enroll pupils new to Tecumseh High school.

New students are requested to enroll on Thursday, Aug. 28, and students with schedule conflicts are asked to confer with guidance personnel on Friday, Aug. 29.

School will start for all pupils except kindergarten, Wednesday, Sept. 3, at 8 locations; Grades 9-12 at Senior High School, Grades 7 and 8 at Junior High School, Elementary K-6 at Patterson, Herrick Park, Tecumseh Acres, Tipton, Ridgeway and Sutton Elementary Schools.

The first day will be a full day of school for all pupils. Although kindergarteners' first day will be Thursday, Sept. 4, the kindergarten teachers will, however, be in their rooms from 9 a.m. till 3:45 p.m. (except for lunch) on Sept. 3 to meet with parents and new students on an individual basis.

If the child has not been assigned to the morning session, please plan to meet with the teacher in the morning. If assigned to afternoon session, please plan to meet the teacher in the afternoon. Please bring your child's health record for school form and birth certificate if it was not presented at the registration.

A hot lunch program will begin Sept. 3 at the high school. Junior High pupils may purchase their lunch at the High School if they prefer. Milk will be available in all other buildings and children will be expected to bring their lunches unless they go home for lunch.

Bus service to Tecumseh Public School pupils will again be on a "safety first" basis. State regulations say that pupils in grades kindergarten through sixth grade may be required to walk up to one-half mile to scheduled bus routes, and pupils grades seven through 12 up to one mile. These regulations are used to determine the length of bus routes as well as to group pupils so that fewer stops may be made. Backtracking has been eliminated unless absolutely necessary.

Parents of pupils requested to join groups at pick-up points are again asked to give their cooperation.

All new children to receive bus service will be contacted by bus personnel as to time and bus number for the pupils. It is planned at this time that bus routes and times will be the same as last year unless parents are contacted individually.

High School student schedule cards will be mailed to the enrolled students the last week of August. High School classes will begin Sept. 3 at 7:35 a.m.

Junior High pupils are to report at 7:30 a.m. on Sept. 3, the 7th grade to the boys' gym on the first floor, and the 8th grade to the girls' gym on the third floor. Regular classes will begin immediately following the distribution of schedule cards.

Elementary students grades one through six are asked to report to the school assigned at 9:10 a.m. Children starting kindergarten will meet school assigned at 9:10 a.m. Children starting kindergarten will meet Sept. 4 at the scheduled time.

Kindergarten bus drivers will make home calls sometime before Thursday, Sept. 4 to acquaint parents of their school bus routines.

New staff members for the 1975-76 school year are, High School: Ronald Franzen, Industiral Arts; Daniel Howlett, Physical Education-Health; Mrs. Lee Suzanne Nelson, English; and Mrs. Mary Katheryn Shroyer, English.

Junior High: Theodore Rachwal, Science.

Elementary: Robert Schoof, Jr., Instrumental Music; and Connie Robertson, Adjusted Studies, Tecumseh Acres.

There are two administrative changes for the 1975-76 school year.

Clarence Lacny has been hired as high school principal, replacing Dermont Poley who resigned.

Thomas Sura has been hired as principal of Sutton and Tipton Elementary Schools to replace Otto Bufe, who resigned at the end of the 1974-75 school year.

Returning administrators are as follows: Superintendent, Robert S. Duhan; Assistant Superintendent, H. Eugene Cooley; Curriculum and Elementary Coordinator, Wayne Kaiser; Assistant High School Principal, Donald Brazee and Dr. Raymond Bandlow; Junior High School Principal, David J. Dick; Assistant Junior High School Principal, Donald Berkley; Elementary Principal, at Herrick Park and Ridgeway, Mrs. Lois Fleming; Tecumseh Acres Principal, William P. Clark; Patterson, Mrs. Cynthia Opelt, Principal.

Three Chutes Are Stolen

Harold Lang, manager, reports the theft of three parachutes from the Parachute Training building, Saturday. One was a green one full of holes, and the others were reserve parachutes.

Neither parachute is usable, and might be dangerous, Lang urges whoever has them to return them to Meyers Airport and no questions will be asked.

Youth Admits to Guilt

Richard K. Peyton, 17, of Tecumseh pleaded guilty to July 20 charge of entry without breaking to commit larceny before Circuit Court Judge Rex B Martin last week.

A pre-sentence investigation was ordered.

Peyton is involved with a downtown fire on July 20.

Sales, Signs Are Illegal

Rummage sale or garage sale, either one may be something of the past in Tecumseh unless some controls are established.

Cal Zorn, city manager, points out that they are illegal along with the signs that are nailed to poles and trees. In the past, the city has permitted such sales but the number in the community has increased each week.

Zorn says the city has a sign ordinance, and the handmade posters or signs tacked up in residential districts on trees and poles are the definite violation of the city code.

Also, those running the sales do not have business licenses, as required, nor do they have sales tax licenses. The sale tax licenses would be easier to acquire than the business licenses, as the city can issue such licenses only in commercial areas and not residential.

Last week a city official checked the southwest section of Tecumseh and found that nine rummage and garage sales were being conducted. Over the entire community, the number is expected to be in the proximity of 25 to 30.

Some sales have been held for weeks, or for most of the summer, and some have included new merchandise.

Officials are looking into present ordinances and the possibility of adopting an ordinance to control the sales, which are being considered by some as a nuisance.

OK Contract for School at Church

During a special school board meeting held Monday night, Supt. Robert Duhan told members that a contract allowing the school district to use three classrooms at St. Elizabeth's School has been approved by church officials in Lansing.

Use of the rooms is needed due to overcrowded conditions at the high school.

Duhan went on to say that 75 to 90 students will use the three rooms in the morning and another 75 to 90 will use them in the afternoon.

Total cost to the district will be $4,500 for the one year.

Officials hope that the high school addition will be ready by fall of 1976, eliminating the need to rent the classrooms beyond one year.

Vietnamese Arriving Here Friday

Two members of a Vietnamese family sponsored by St. Elizabeth Catholic Church are expected to arrive here Friday.

Family of 16 includes mother, father, seven children and relatives.

Two of the members are housepainters, one is an auto mechanic and stone mason, another a telephone repairman and one of the women is a seamstress. Family will need jobs once they arrive.

A committee is looking into the family's needs.

TEA, Schools Negotiating

Although the Tecumseh Education Association and the School Board have yet to ratify a new contract, negotiating teams have been meeting regularly and considerable progress is reported.

Both parties are currently awaiting financial information from the state, information relative to the amount of state funds that will be available to the schools for the 1975-76 school year.

Apparently, accord has been reached on most segments of a new contract except on economics.

Supt. Robert Duhan and his assistant, Gene Cooley, are representing the board at the sessions, while Joyce Costigan, George Choske, Helen Bendes, Ken Feldman and Ted Todd are negotiating for the teachers.

Innocent, Guilty Pleas

ELECTRICAL FIRE — Tecumseh firemen responded to a second call at the Larry Sutherland residence, 9700 Newburg Hwy. at about 9 a.m. Friday. Insulation in the attic area had caught fire again. Respond to Call, One Injured in Fall

Tecumseh firemen responded to a house fire call at 9700 Newburg Hwy., Friday morning about 4 a.m. and then were forced to return to the electrical fire later when insulation in the roof flared up a second time.

Fireman Bill Hollis fell through the ceiling of the building while fighting the blaze, but was not injured seriously. He was taken to Herrick Hospital, treated and released.

Damage to the building and contents is estimated at $15,000.

Owner of the building, Larry Sutherland, and his family had moved into the house just two days before the fire started.

Fire started in the top of a recessed light in the kitchen. That fire was put out, but insulation in the roof caught fire again. Firemen finally had to bring someone in to blow the fire out so there was no longer a danger of the insulation catching fire again.

Damage to the house was limited to the ceiling, roof, attic and kitchen.

Man of La Mancha Begins Engagement at Croswell

"The Impossible Dream," will lift the hearts of audiences with its tuneful lilt and its message of courage, at the Croswell Opera House beginning Aug. 20 when the musical play that brought it to fame, "Man of La Mancha," begins a 10 performance engagement through Aug. 31.

Don Quixote's gallantry is extended to a slatternly tavern wench whom he sees only as a fair maid in distress; to a ruffianly innkeeper who to him is a lord of a castle, to a coarsely impish barber who becomes to him a courtly sorcerer.

The sober-faced Don pursues his lunatic career with fanatical zeal, completely oblivious of the mockery he receives from those around him.

The armour used in the play, on loan from Excalibur Productions, is the original armour that was used in the Broadway production.

"Man of La Mancha" brings a seasoned performer, Leanna Nelson, playing the role of Aldonza, she has appeared as Antonia in "Man of La Mancha" with a national company.

Emery L. Kedocia's credits include design, production, direction and writing. He plays Quixote and has played over 40 leading roles in summer stock and has nine years professional experience.

Dennis V. Kisor conducts.

Kathy Sanks is production manager, Emery L. Kedocia of Excalibur Productions, Oregon, Ohio is artistic director this season.

Croswell box office is open daily Monday through Saturday 11 to 5 p.m., Sunday 1-5 p.m. and show nights 6 to 9 p.m.

Jewels & gems

By Dick Eggleston

The ruby is the oldest or first known of all precious stones, dating far back in the early history of Chaldea and Babylonia. The value of rubies depends upon their color and transparency. The superbly blood-red color of the perfect ruby is produced by the very tiny portions of impurity in the substance after they have been crystalized in nature. All genuine stones contain certain tiny flaws and blemishes. The fewer the flaws, of course, the rarer the gem.

We are known for our friendly service and wide choices of jewelry, gifts and watches. For all your needs stop by at EGGLESTON'S JEWELRY, 107 E. Chicago Blvd., 423-2715. Stainless flatware by Oneida, International and Gorham, gift items of sterling silver, silverplate and pewter and wedding attendant gifts by Anson are available. Northalnd stainless by Oneida has some lovely items for gifts including chafing dish, buffet server with well and tree carving board, tea and coffee service and Paul Revere bowls and liners.

GEM FACTS: The ruby must be red. The highest standard of color is crimson.

Macon Dialog

by Linda Phillips 423-5213

"Mary, Mary — quite contrary;

how does your garden grow?

With silver bells and cockle shells and orange tennis balls all in a row."

They look like orange tennis balls anyway. Actually the round pumpkin-colored vegetables are cucumbers growing in the Hover garden. According to Clarence Hall, the odd-ball cukes are water-starved.

They aren't as mixed up as they appear, though, because they do taste like cucumbers—and they don't bounce...

Speaking of gardens, Truman Jordan went a full 10 rounds with a pesky and persistent raccoon who had a taste for sweet corn.

Truman tried planting a scarecrow (scare-coon?) in the rows of corn and even played a transistor radio to frighten off the hungry critter. But it seems the raccoon liked the "company" and the music to dine by.

A surprise attack was the strategy then planned by Truman, and he waited gun in hand until 1 a.m. for the uninvited guest. He didn't show.

"Tippy", neighbor Jim Perry's coon hound, came to the rescue and keeps a nightly vigil now in front of the Jordan garden.

Here's a flash for you pickle makers: Don't use softened water—especially in preparing the brine for dills. They may turn out soggy (like ours last year) if you use treated water. This tip comes too late for me this year, but it may save the crunch for someone else.

Hope Circle's picnic was better than ever this year—thanks to Sharon and Rich Mohr who held the annual event at their home Aug. 3.

The picnic also gave those attending the chance to say good bye and good luck to Circle member Judy and husband John Vance who have moved this week to Sterling Heights where John has a new job.

First Hand Experience

The day-to-day world of patients' health problems seen by a Tecumseh family doctor will be experienced first hand this summer by an M.D. student from Michigan State University.

ALAN LEICHTMAN

Working with Dr. C.L. Cook from Aug. 4 to Aug. 29, medical student Alan Leichtman of MSU's College of Human Medicine will get an inside view of the kind of life led by today's medical practitioner.

Both are participants in the statewide Cooperative Michigan Primary Care Preceptorship Program, the nation's largest office-based educational program for medical students.

Michigan State University, University of Michigan and Wayne State University medical schools jointly sponsor the program funded by the National Institutes of Health, Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Preceptorship programs are organized to enable ample learning about the true nature of primary health care and how it is provided.

Dr. Cook's young colleague from MSU, will help interview patients, take health histories, assist in physical examinations, learn about ordering appropriate laboratory tests, and gain insight in determining patient care.

In September, medical student Leichtman, whose hometown is Ann Arbor, will begin his second year at the MSU College of Human Medicine.

Under the guidance of Dr. Cook, he also will learn about health related services offered by various agencies and institutions serving the Tecumseh area.

Now beginning its fourth year, the preceptorship program includes continuing education workshops for the doctor-teachers; detailed evaluations of the entire experience from the M.D. and student viewpoints, and student debriefing to enhance planning for future training.

Dear Sir:

WOULD YOU GIVE YOUR LAND AWAY?

Each year hundreds of acres of undeveloped land in Lenawee County are irretrieveably converted to more intensive uses.

Increasing population, pollution, and other pressures are causing the rapid loss of our natural lands and the vegetation and wildlife dependent on those lands.

Already we are leaving far less of a natural legacy to our descendants than our fathers left to us. If this trend is to be slowed, we must take deliberate steps to protect remaining undeveloped lands for the benefit of our children and grandchildren.

The Environmental Council of Lenawee is a privately funded tax exempt organization comprised of individuals and organizations concerned about environmental quality in Lenawee County.

We have served Lenawee County for four years and have become increasingly aware of the accelerating loss of our natural lands.

The Environmental Council has committed itself to preserving lands in their natural, scenic, or recreational states. If your share this goal, there are numerous ways we can help you protect your land, many of which offer substantial savings in income, property, and estate taxes to individuals, clubs, and financial corporations.

We can help preserve your land by deed or will and will locate a tax exempt organization best suited to accept and protect your donated land.

The Audubon Society, the County Parks and Recreation Commission, or a local Board of Education are several examples of tax exempt organizations willing to accept property.

If you are interested in making a gift of land for natural, scenic, historical, educational, wildlife preservational or recreational purposes, or if you would merely like more information, you may write: The Environmental Council of Lenawee, 107E Jones Hall, Adrian College, Adrian, Michigan 49221; or phone: 265-5161 ext. 431

Dear Sir:

I wish to comment on the reported win of the Tecumseh Junior Girls softball team tournament in your Aug. 7 paper.

This team was sponsored by the Tecumseh Recreation Department and many girls signed up and paid the fee for a summer of softball fun, good sportsmanship and development of skills.

However, while the girls practiced long hours many of them sat through the games and some played exactly one inning of the whole summer schedule. Is this fun or fairness?

It is too bad that even in a summer recreational program so much emphasis is placed on winning.

I find nothing laudable in the victory of the Junior girls softball team when it was at the expense of some of the girls.

Mrs. Donald Phelan

To the Editor:

I appreciate the reporting of Mrs. Brown, your correspondent, for her coverage of our meeting with the Tecumseh City Council last Monday, August 4th. Her summary of the pertinent facts was complete and even though many other statements given by the other four members were omitted, the County program is now understood by the Mayor and Council members.

No publicity for the meeting was desired since many Senior Citizens attending could have interrupted the desired purpose of the meeting.

The City Council will soon make a decision with which every good Citizen will abide. The elderly are deserving of help, especially when needed. The many services available provide much to be disired by all the Senior Citizens of Tecumseh.

The Lenawee Council of Aging
Charles H. Osgood. Vice Pres.

To the Editor:

The city council will have a motion before it on Monday night's agenda, the 18th to join "the Lenawee Council on Aging."

It has already benefited citizens in the cities of Adrian and Morenci, the villages of Blissfield and Deerfield. It will benefit all senior citizens 55 years of age or older in Tecumseh, too.

We urge you to be present at this meeting and express your views.

Nutrition Program Is Popular at the Blissfield Drop-In Center

Editor's note: From time to time, Tecumseh residents have inquired about service programs offered by the Lenawee Council on Aging. This story explains the new nutrition program offered at the Blissfield Drop-In Center, a satellite Center of the LCOA.

By Kathy Brown

The Lenawee Council on Aging started a nutrition program in Blissfield about two weeks ago. Based on the first week of operation at the satellite center, the Bliss Drop-In Center, the nutrition program is growing in popularity.

Between 20 to 30 meals a day were served the first week with new faces each day. An average of five meals were delivered to homebound elderly who can not travel to the center.

All qualified senior citizens of the Blissfield area may take advantage of the program.

Monday through Friday at noon a balanced Basic-4 meal is served at the center located on 137 S. Lane. A Basic-4 meal includes: meat or fish, vegetable and fruit, dairy products, cereal and grain products.

To qualify one must be 55 years of age or older. Payment for the meal is on a donation basis.

Homebound deliveries are made possible with the cooperation of the Blissfield area Council of Churches.

To be eligible for a homebound meal one must be a senior citizen (55 years old or older) temporarily disabled; permanently disabled either physically or mentally, and living within a 10 mile radius of participating center.

A spouse or housekeeper of the disabled person is eligible. An evaluation of each person's situation is made monthly.

An appeals committee from the LCOA is available for arbitration.

A disabled person is defined as one that is impaired physicially; a convalescent; unable to shop for groceries; mentally incompetent; mentally despondant; temporarily ill or finanicially unable.

The same program has been operating in Adrian.

Transportation is available to the Bliss Center daily, via volunteers drivers. Beginning this fall, the Council of Churches will organize volunteers to assist during meal time.

At the present time senior citizens themselves assist the satellite center coordinator, Ann McAdam, in serving meals setting tables and clean-up.

Trays are sterilized at the Piotter Center, Adrian, where the meals are prepared by part-time workers and volunteers. A dietician prepares the menu. Meals are prepared beginning at 11 a.m. and packed for delivery in insulated materials to keep food hot.

In addition to the meal program, nutrition education is given twice a month at nutrition sites. These can help with special diets, give ideas of menus for one or two persons and many special hints to improve eating habits.

On July 18 the Tecumseh Herald reporter traveled to Blissfield to lunch with the seniors. There is no typical participant. Generally he or she lives alone, likes activity keeping busy and meeting people, either can't prepare the variety of meals at home, or can't afford to. Basically, they all feel a need to be outside their environment.

Carl Smith, 73, lives alone. He comes down to the center every day to shoot pool, eat, and assist with repair work.

"Sociability is the biggest thing to a person who lives alone. I'd go flaky looking at the four walls. No one here feels it (the LCOA center) is forced on them. Only other opportunity for seniors is a gathering at the American Legion every Wednesday at noon," he said.

"And it is much more pleasant here," commented Ann Stoner. She lives alone and enjoys the convenience of the site meals.

The atmosphere at the satellite center is one of friendliness, a cooperative spirit and still one of freedom - - folks feel free to participate in group activity or enjoy themselves apart from the group.

Each satellite center has an LCOA coordinator whose main purpose is to socialize with the elderly and make sure the center meets their needs.

The satellite center functions in more ways than a recreation center and meal site for Blissfield and area seniors, it is a multi-purpose service center, caring for the social, musical, physical, educational and other needs and interest of the elderly.

It offers support services such as escort, tax and legal aide, outreach program, medical program and transportation, information and referral.

Every effort is made to ease the problems of the elderly confined at home. Volunteers establish a visitation service which includes social activities, crafts and home aids. Other seniors also visit the homebound or those in hospitals.

For those who request it, telephone reassurance is available. One senior may be in charge to make calls to check the welfare of others.

Five-Day Bible Clubs

Focusing on the spiritual needs of Lenawee County's youth, the Child Evangelism Fellowship has been conducting five-day clubs throughout the county.

The clubs are Bible clubs held outdoors, one hour for five consecutive days. Teaching materials, especially designed for use out of doors, and are popular with youngsters of all ages.

Beginning Aug. 11-22, 16 clubs will be conducted in our county by Lori Simonelli and Marcia VanDyke, trained student volunteers called "summer missionaries."

The Clubs are affiliated with Child Evangelism Fellowship Inc. which is interdenominational and international in scope.

IT THINKS IT'S A TREE—but it isn't. It's an 8 foot tall tomato plant at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice McIntosh, 4315 Dillingham Dr. The plant is a Yellow Globe and no fertilizers were used. There are only nine tomatoes on the plant, but there are plenty more blossoms. (Photo by Kent Downing)

Bicyclists Must Follow Road Rules Too

By KATHY BROWN

A driver's training program for bicyclists?

This might not be as off beat as it sounds. As the popularity of bicycles increase and riders contribute to a heavier traffic flow, so do problems.

Unless the public, including pedestrian, bicyclist, motorcyclist, and motorist, recognizes the need for observing road safety, new programs will not solve the safety hazards created by thoughtless pedestrians and vehicle operators.

The bicycle season prompts some special reminders for bicyclists.

Surprising as it may seem automobile driving adults have no greater respect for, or concept of, road safety as bicyclists than most young children.

Some bicyclists think they are an exception to the rules of the road just because the bicycle is smaller than a car.

However, bicyclists are bound by state law and local ordinance to follow the same regulations as motorists. They should also follow the same common sense rules of safety to drive defensively.

Bicyclists should take heed of all traffic rules and know the local bike ordinance.

Ride with the flow of traffic, stop at lights and signs as any car or motorcycle.

All bicyclists must ride as near to the right side of the roadway as practicable, exercising care when passing a standing vehicle or one proceeding in the same direction.

Weaving between traffic is a violation. Bikes may pass just as any other vehicle: pass only on the left of traffic on a two way street, or on either the right or the left on a one-way street. Walk across crossing streets.

Driving on sidewalks is illegal. Carrying passengers, having packages obstruct view or driving one handed are likewise illegal.

To drive defensively, hand signals should be given for turns. Bicyclists should be alert for opening car doors, avoid heavy traffic, watch for hazards in the road. Hitching to another vehicle may be fun, but it is illegal and dangerous.

When following in pairs, remember ride the street single file except on roadways or paths exclusively for bicycles.

Following the rules of the road is practical for bicycle riding families and couples since the actions of the bicyclist ahead can be more easily anticipated when bicyclists obey the same rules in a traffic situation.

Bicycle courtesy is not for the bicyclist alone. Cars should recognize the right of the bicyclist to use the road. Warn bicyclists of your oncoming approach or turns with a polite beep of the horn instead of an impatient blast.

(Drivers would appreciate the bicyclist if they were aware the cyclist organization known as the Wheel Men at the turn of the century helped lobby for better roads!)

Another part of safety is regular inspection of bicycles especially brakes, tires and stand. Register with the local police department. In case of theft, police at least have a number to trace.

Law also requires bicycles be equiped with a bell with a signal audible at 100 feet.

During daylight savings time, more riders may find themselves out after dark. Equip bikes and driver for night riding.

Law requires a front white light visible from 500 feet and a rear red reflector, visible from 50 feet. Rear light and pedal and wheel reflectors are also effective at night. And always wear white at night to be seen.

No matter what the age, bicyclists should know the law and safety procedures, prepare bikes for travel and obey the law.

With more and more bicyclists downtown, it is surprising that there are no bike racks available downtown. Only bike racks found by the Tecumseh Herald were at the Public Library and the Junior and Senior High Schools.

If you have discovered you are violating safety regulations and making the bicycle a hazard to others, take a few minutes to read the local bicycle ordinance available at the Police Department or get a copy of "Know Your Bicycle and Motor Cycle Laws," courtesy of the Michigan Sheriffs' Association.

Safety on the road makes bicycling a safer sport for everyone.

Cook's Corner

Gourmet cook of the week is Maxine Calhoun, Tecumseh Herald Clinton editor. Her recipe for cucumber soup, a refreshing dish on a sultry summer day, may be served hot or cold and is sure to make a hit with cucumber fans looking for another way to serve up garden cukes.

COOL-AS-CUCUMBER-SOUP

5 cucumbers, peeled and finely chopped
⅛ medium onion, minced
2 tablespoons chopped celery leaves
1½ teaspoons salt
1½ cups (12 oz.) chicken broth
4 tablespoons butter or margarine
4 tablespoons flour
1½ cups non-dairy powered creamer
1½ cups boiling water

In large saucepan, combine cucumbers, onion, celery leaves, parsley, salt and chicken broth. Cover and simmer over low heat about 30 minutes, stirring occasionally. Puree in blender (or force through food mill and strain).

In heavy saucepan, melt butter over low heat until frothy. Blend in flour with wire whip; cook and stir 1 minute without covering.

Add non-dairy creamer, then boiling water all at once, and beat with wire whip to blend. Increase heat to moderately high; cook and stir until sauce comes to the boil and thickens.

Blend into pureed vegetable mixtures; chill well. Top each serving with a thin slice of cucumber. Makes 1½ quarts.

Flea Market for Caro

CLINTON — A window in the Chic-Tress Beauty Salon displays the variety of wooden toys and other handcrafted articles made by patients at the Caro Regional Center near Saginaw.

Kay Walsh, Mrs. Roberta Flack and Shelly Flint, local residents, who are volunteers working with the state sponsored home for the retarded and epilectic children and adults, arranged the window to display examples of the merchandise that will be available at the benefit flea market during the Clinton Fall Festival, Oct. 3,4,5.

The flea market project goal this year is $1,000, to be used for equipment, such as ceramic kilns, looms and a sewing machine.

Patients at the Caro Center work at small salaries in the rehabilitation program, designed to utilize their abilities and time to the fullest. However, the state does not provide any supplies or equipment, and all must come from volunteer efforts.

Anyone having saleable items to donate to the flea market may call Mrs. Flack, 456-7666 or Mrs. Walsh, 456-4756. Pick-up is offered if needed and it is suggested that donations be made as soon as possible so they may be sorted and prepared for sale.

Also needed are volunteers to assist with the sale on the Festival days.

Buy-a-Taste Nets JC Auxiliary $13

CLINTON — Buy-a-taste food dishes, and their recipes, which were auctioned, netted $13 for members of the Clinton Area Jaycee Auxiliary, Monday night.

Guests included Mrs. Mark Schnizlein, wife of the new band director; Mrs. Thomas Nicholson, both of Water Wheel Estates, and Pat Bertke, of Manchester Jaycee Auxiliary.

Mrs. Rick Knight, chairman of the popcorn project announced plans for a popcorn sale, Aug. 15 and 16 at the State Savings Bank. Proceeds are for the Michigan Kidney Foundation.

Mrs. Gary Krause is in charge of the Badge-a-Minute project. Members will make up Redskins badges for sale at the Clinton football games this fall. Badges will also be ready for Fall Festival. Proceeds are for the Clinton Athletic Fund.

A meeting, open to the public, will be held Sept. 8 to provide information on infant crib death syndrome. In order to raise funds for this Guild for Infant Survival (GIS), Mrs. Hugh McGill's committee will be selling benefit suckers.

Joy Hawkins is chairman of the Bonus Food Basket raffle at the Fall Festival. Proceeds are for a scholarship for a local student.

A 22-family rummage sale will be held Aug. 22 and 23, at the Smith-Kimball Community Center, with Pam Hunt in charge. This project will benefit the Muscular Dystrophy Fund Telethon.

Mrs. Alan Ellerholz presented a film report on the Buckle up Babes (BUBS) project. The Auxiliary hopes to begin a rental program of GM's Love Seat for infants later this fall.

Three JAM awards of jars of jam were presented to members for their individual participation in Auxiliary projects. Honored were Joy Hawkins, Mrs. Ronald Jones and Mrs. McGill.

Auxiliary members were especially appreciative of the mimeograph machine donated by Charles Steffens.

Nine members plan to attend the State Jaycee Auxiliary convention in Ypsilanti this weekend.

Mrs. Roger Hebert was named chairman of the 50's party planned for this fall.

Joy Hawkins explained about the needs of the National Psoriasis Foundation, and she will attempt to interest the State Jaycettes in the project.

Next meeting is Sept. 8 at Water Wheel Center.

Insulation should be used in warm as well as in cold areas of the country. One of the most common misconceptions about insulation is that it is not needed in warm parts of the country. It is just as essential there as it is in cold climates. Insulation keeps out heat just as efficiently as it keeps out cold. An insulated house is at least 10 percent cooler in the summer than an uninsulated one. An insulated house contributes to the lowering of fuel bills, but also to the lowering of energy costs for air conditioners.

When you want plumbing or air conditioning jobs done call on the experts at CLAUDA PLUMBING & HEATING, 1108 W. Chicago Blvd., 423-3121. Your inquiries are invited in person or on the phone and we service everything we sell. Free estimates on a new plumbing system installation or repairs of your present system and we have a complete selection of plumbing fixtures by Kohler, American Standard and Elkay Stainless steel sinks. Open: Hours daily 8 a.m.-5:30 p.m., Fridays until 9 p.m., Sat until 5 p.m.

Handy Hints: A well-insulated house will reduce heat loss by about 50 percent.

Bowlers Plan Hobo Picnic

Guest Speaks to Jaycettes

CLINTON — Vickie St. Louis of Auburn Heights, Michigan JC internal vice-president, was a special guest at the recent membership night of Clinton area Jaycee Auxiliary. She described the various volunteer positions which a Jaycette could enter on a state and national level.

Guests were Mrs. Charles Still, Mrs. Claren Knauss and Mrs. Thomas Nicholson.

Auxiliary duties on the local level were explained by Mrs. Hugh McGill, a Clinton Jaycette and District 27 vice-president.

Mrs. McGill also gave a resume of the many projects undertaken by the local group to raise money for charitable projects or educational efforts on health and accident prevention.

An amusing skit on what Jaycette work means to a member, was performed by Mrs. Ron Jones, April Brooks, Mrs. Alan Ellerholz and Mrs. John Bauer.

Mrs. Nicholson was awarded the door prize, a certificate granting half-price membership.

Mishap occurred on W. Michigan Ave. at River St. in Clinton.

Both vehicles were eastbound, with Ansley in the left lane and Claus in the right, when Ansley turned right into the path of Claus.

THE ELM TREE IN OUR BACK YARD

Oh, how I hope this will not turn into a eulogy for the back yard elm. Not only is it a favorite tree but it is the last elm we have. Long ago all the others succumbed to the dreadful Dutch Elm disease. The tree looked good early in the summer but just lately we have noticed dried and dead leaves. A bad sign.

Of course, the tree has fooled us before. Several years ago, in fact, we almost gave up on it. The leaves turned yellow then dried up and fell. About then someone either told Mom or she read an article that people were having success in keeping their elm trees alive and healthy by giving them injections of turpentine.

We had nothing to loose, the tree was beginning to look so bad. Dad bored several small holes in the trunk and 'administered' liberal doses. Well, whether it was the turpentine or something else the tree soon stopped loosing leaves and seemed to perk up. Since then it has looked well — until now.

When we built this house, and it doesn't seem possible but it was back in 1940, the elm was a mere sapling. As the house was originally staked out, the tree was in the middle of the kitchen.

That just did not seem quite right but, on the other hand, it was too nice a little tree to cut down. The solution was simple, we had them reposition the house.

When the house was built the tree just barely showed above the garage. Now it towers over the house affording shade and protection that will be greatly missed if we are so unfortunate as to loose it.

It looks right, esthetically right too. It holds the house down and gives it proportion. Besides, it is a pretty tree and graceful as only an elm can be. Oh, how we do hope the turpentine works again. Dad is certainly trying.

The birds have always seemed to enjoy this tree as much as we have. The last year or so that I was in high school it had grown enough so that the crotch of one of the lower limbs was opposite the north window in my upstairs bedroom.

A perfect spot for Mrs. Robin to build her mud and grass nest and raise a family. How I did enjoy window-peeking. For many years we could count on a nest there but finally, as the tree continued to grow, the limb became too large and the leaves too far away. The robins put their nest elsewhere.

The weather this summer has been nearly ideal for porch living and, except for the very hottest and coldest days, we have been outside. Outside on the porch that is. The elm tree has played host to some interesting birds and when I am on the porch not all my attention is directed towards the creek.

Practically the only white-breasted nuthatches I have seen lately have been scrambling on the trunk of the elm. The male seems especially handsome, the navy blue of his head and neck is in such sharp contrast to his gray back.

The female is more than a bit on the dullish side. But what really makes them fun is the noise they make. No, not the nasal honking which passes as nuthatch talk.

What I mean is the noise they make climbing the tree — their sharp toe-nails or claws scratch and almost clatter. As the birds zip up and down they truly do make an unbelievable lot of noise. Good for many a chuckle from the porch watchers.

This back door elm is also the tree that has given us the good oriole watching. A young female flew to the end of one of the lower branches several weeks ago. Never have I seen such a performance.

The tip end of the branch itself was spindly and limber, the bird was a bit spindly and limber too. No, she was merely young, not very well co-ordinated.

As the branch dipped and swayed she slipped and twisted around trying to keep her balance. The tail fanning and wing raising that accompanied her act showed how lovely and rich the lady orioles can be. Not the flamboyant orange and black of the male but a striking combination of lemony-yellow and luscious brown.

Our fingers are crossed and the turpentine is flowing in an all out effort to keep alive — for us and the birds — the elm tree in our back yard.

Mail Damage - Federal Crime

Postmaster Jack G. Metcalf said parents and teenagers should be aware that willful damage to mail boxes or mail receptacles is a Federal Crime.

The federal law provides that anyone who willfully or maliciously injures, tears down or destroys any mail box or other receptacle intended or used for the receipt or delivery of mail on any mail route, or breaks open the mail box or willfully or maliciously injures, defaces or destroys any mail deposited in the mail box may be fined $1,000 or imprisoned for up to three years.

The postmaster also said that under the Michigan law the parents may be responsible for vandalism attributed to their children.

Burt Street patrons have complained of seeing teenagers opening mail boxes along the road.

FIREMAN RETIRES AFTER 50 YEARS PLUS— Forrest Weichner, volunteer fireman and captain for several years, of the Ridgeway Township Fire Dept. is retiring from active duty. Firemen and families honored Weichner Sunday with a surprise chicken barbecue in the village park. He is seated here in the older fire truck holding a gold trophy inscribed "Over 50 Years of Service", and a ceramic fireman presented to him by Fire Chief LaVon Tubbs from the entire fire department. Bi-centennial Journey

OLD DIARIES INTERESTING

By THELMA YOUNGLOVE

BRITTON — Diaries kept by some of the early residents of the area often contain interesting historical facts. Statements in most of the diaries were very brief and not dated. The briefness of the entries may be due to the busy life led by those early inhabitants of the community.

"June 24 (year not given) plastering corn in a.m." (perhaps some senior farmer can explain the meaning of plastering corn)

"Bought one cow for $30." (Compare the price of the cow with present day prices).

"Aug. went huckleberrying. Got ½ bu.

"Nov. Husked corn and hooped a barrel.

"Nov. 17 hunting in woods and looking for hoop lumber.

"Nov. John Exelby and me cut hoop stuff all day.

"Nov. 27 - went to Milan to buy geese. Got 14 at 50c each." (Has anyone priced geese in a supermarket recently?)

"Nov. 29 - Drawed sawdust from Kniffen saw mill to bank house. "(In those days it was common practice to bank houses every fall before cold weather set in. Most people used saw dust. It was plentiful and could be had without cost. A frame made of boards was built 12 to 18 inches from the house and the space filled with saw dust. The saw dust served as an insulating material and kept out the wind and cold. In the spring the banking material was removed and the space cleaned. If left the saw dust would rot and it might become infested with rats and mice.)

"Dec. - Sold dried apples. 137 lbs. for 14½ cents a pound.

"Sam Kniffen built addition to saw mill to be occupied by hoop mill.

"John Beasley putting in planing mill. Now have saw and hoop mill, feed mill, planing mill, and cider mill.

"Jan. - 26, 1882 Britton now has two stores, a stave factory, lumber yard, and blacksmith shop.

"1890 - Lenawee County named the Banner Cheese County of the state, and the Banner Dairy County of the U.S. Britton farmers contributed greatly to this honor.

"1894 - Celery ½ cent a bunch.

"1895 - Mr. Ward is the Britton tinsmith.

"Moved the elevator from Ridgeway Sunday May 19, 1895.

"1897 - A bicycle path was built between Britton and Tecumseh.

"A flat car loaded with hickory logs got away from a D.T.I. train in Ridgeway and went down through here at the rate of 40 miles an hour. Captured at Clarksville (Rea.)." (Railroad ran east and west through Britton).

"Britton's first fire department was formed in 1908 after the fire that burned most of the business block. Britton's first fire engine, a hand drawn machine was sold to Henry Ford and is now in the museum at Greenfield Village.

"1912 - Instructed to cut all wild carrots and other noxious weeds." (Wouldn't the looks of the roadsides be improved if all weeds would be cut now?)

"1912 - To gravel LaPlaisance By Turnpike east within the village.

"In 1914 the electric line from Tecumseh was extended to Britton through Ridgeway. This helped greatly in the comfort and growth of the area. The street lights were turned on for the first time Jan. 28, 1914.

"1924 - Moved that hitching posts be taken from the front of the stores and another suitable place found for them. It's doubtful if this generation of young people can vision hitching posts located in front of the stores."

Keeping a diary is not only interesting but may be of value later. What unusual entries of historical importance will future generations find in the diaries that are now being written?

Six Complete Honors Trip

BRITTON — Six scouts of Troop 23 completed a 1500 mile honors trip around Lake Michigan on Aug. 2. Scouts had to earn the right to go on this trip by earning points for attending meetings, participating in troop activities, and advancing the rank.

Those earning the privilege of going were Steve Gilbert, Mike Gorton, Jeff Judkins, Shawn Niblack, Chris Pickell and Bruce Raeburn. Boys were accompanied by Lewis Gilbert and William Raeburn.

Trip started on July 26. Boys visited the Museum of Science and Industry in Chicago. Next stop was at Wisconsin Dells where the scouts toured the Dells area and the Circus World Museum at Baraboo. A visit to the Experimental Aircraft Association air show at Oskosh was next. Group rode on a Ford Tri-Motor airplane at the show.

The following day, tours of an iron mine at Iron Mountain, and the ghost town at Fayette were made. Remaining time was spent swimming and traveling home.

12 Canoe Down Pere Marquette

By Mrs. Gerald Price
Horizon Club Leader

BRITTON — Twelve of the 11th grade Horizon Club girls and seven adults left for a 25 mile canoe trip in Northern Michigan on Pere Marquette River, Aug. 8.

Without the ingenious minds of Clarence Schroeder and Bud Lorenz, tents would never have been staked—the "good ol' reliable" leader left the stakes at home and others had to be improvised.

The first camp night, the girls made acquaintance with members of a ski club and a group of Boy Scouts who camped nearby.

After only two hours sleep, everyone was up the next morning for a hearty breakfast. The day was spent swimming at Ludington in the chilly waters of Lake Michigan. Later when the sun came out, the girls went swimming in the Pere Marquette.

That evening dinners were baked in foil on the campfire, more friends were made and Mr. Schroeder and Mr. Lorenz and Gary Judkins took turns popping corn for the group. Most of the girls spent the night harmonizing favorite tunes.

Next day the girls decided to let Gary and Ruth Ann Judkins carry the noon lunch in their canoe since this was the first trip for Mr. and Mrs. Lorenz and Mrs. Schroeder. But after lunch, Ruth Ann probably wished she had worn her bathing suit.

The girls worked hard last year earning the money for the trip and found it to be a worthwhile and fun experience.

Open House for Hanneviks

BRITTON — An open house honoring the Rev. and Mrs. G.O. Hannevik will be held in the Congregational Christian Church's Fellowship Center Aug. 31, from 2-5 p.m.

The committee for the open house asks members and friends to bring snapshots to the church or to Mrs. Henry Brown for a memory scrap book which is being compiled for the Hanneviks. Snapshots especially wanted are of couples married by the pastor since he bagan his pastorate here in 1957.

Norman Barnard Ordained Friday

BRITTON — Norman Barnard was ordained Friday evening at special services at the Bethel Baptist Church. The Rev. Duane McNeil of Standale Baptist Church, Grand Rapids and former Pastor of the Bethel Baptist Church, gave the ordination address.

Participating clergymen were the Rev. Lowell Barnard, father of the ordained from Arkansas; the Rev. David Holly, pastor of Grace Bible Church, Tipton and representative of the Ordination Council; the Rev. Robert Howder, missionary to Japan, ABWE, Norman's brother-in-law, and clerk of Ordination Council, and the Rev. Gary Williams, pastor of Dover Baptist Church, Clare, Norman's former roommate.

Also taking part in the service were Britton Pastor Gerald L. Booth, Jr., Action of the Church; Bill Bartenslager, scripture reading; deacons Paul Winner and Lauren Gall. Howard Bishop gave the prayer.

Special music was provided by Howard Bishop and a trio, Frank, Leo and Andrew Bishop.

A reception dinner honoring the Rev. Barnard was held in the main dining room.

Belly Dancing at Saline.

By KATHY BROWN

At dusk they slip into their halters and harem pants, tuck their bells and veils into their coin belts and drive their 20th century camels from Tecumseh across the rolling hills of US-12 to the oasis of Saline.

There the women unpack to the strains of mystic Middle Eastern melodies and are greeted by Jameela. For the last 16 weeks, she has led them in a ritual of self-awareness Beledi, the art of belly dancing.

Belly dancing promotes self-awareness because a skilled dancer must learn to use her muscles, to isolate parts of her body for smoothness of movement.

To the primitives, belly dancing was a celebration of life and unity with nature, a fertility dance; to movie makers, belly dancing was an erotic entertainment for sheiks and sultans; but to the several Tecumseh and area women learning it, belly dancing is a "great form of exercise."

"I take the classes for the exercise. I got so sick of Jack LaLaine," said Barbara Feldman.

Others report development of their bustline, strengthening of arms, legs, thighs as well as loss of inches in problem areas such as the waist and hips.

"Belly dancing is not for for the satisfaction of the men, it is for self-gratification. The women find it very self-gratifying. Girls acquire poise and self-confidence," said Jameela.

Women who take the course said they are not specifically interested in pleasing their men, it just happens the whole family becomes interested.

"My husband is real interested in my dancing classes and I try to show him the things I learn. My children laugh and try to copy mommy," told Mrs. Feldman.

"My little four year old loves my finger cymbals, and my husband enjoys my dancing," said Veronica Ottinger.

Jameela also dispelled the Hollywood myth about belly dancing.

"There was no such thing as a sultan clapping his hands and summoning belly dancers. In fact the first belly dancers were considered a free breed of women who danced for their own amusement. Occasionally they would perform for a visiting dignitary," Jameela explained.

She has taught for a year and has developed her own style of Arabic intrepretation that has impressed her students.

"Beginner classes must learn the basics well before continuing, otherwise their dancing will be bad," Jameela said.

During the first eight weeks, students are introduced to hand movements, hip rotation, belly rolls, shimmies, use of fingers cymbals and veils.

Intermediate and advanced classes study more exercises that will enable them to interpret music into an individual dance

At this point costume, complete with veils, finger cymbals, money belts, polish for toes and fingernails, even Eastern cosmetics, enhances the dancer's pride.

Classes have interested women ages 16 to 60. Some observers believe women's liberation has encouraged women to learn a dance once regarded as a matter of sensation and pleasure by a more rigid society.

"Belly dancing can put you in good physical condition, help arthritis, foot problems and is the best exercise around for using a lot of muscles," concluded the instructor.

If you'd like to find out for yourself, classes begin Aug. 19. For more information, readers may call Jameela at (313) 429-2972.

Tecumseh Library

The Young Adult section of the Tecumseh Public Library is brimming with novels of today to catch the interest of Junior High readers.

RUFUS, RED RUFUS by Patricia Beatty is the tragicomic tale of a college campus dog passed from the owner to another. It's as spirited a story as the Irish setter hero.

Betsy Byars' latest book, AFTER THE GOAT MAN isn't about animals at all. It's the summer story of Harold V. Coleman, who thought he was the most miserable person in the world until he met Figgy and his grandfather, whom everybody called the Goat Man.

Readers who recall enjoying the various escapades of Henry Reed by Keith Robertson will find that he still can keep them chuckling with his book, THE YEAR OF THE JEEP. Starting with the summer's "grand and glorious rescue" through to the auction sale you'll enjoy Cloud Selby and his dream of owning a jeep. It's inspired by the author's own son, proving fact can be funny, too.

On a more serious note, NONE OF THE ABOVE by Rosemary Wells follows the changes and final choice of Marcia from "average" to extremely good grades because of family pressure. She has to decide between a challenging college or a safe, unthreatening marriage that her family was sure to reject. Through it all is the story of a girl trying to please everyone, but uncertain of what would be best for herself.

The following baseball books are sure to be late season favorites with local fans. They are new at Tecumseh Public Library.

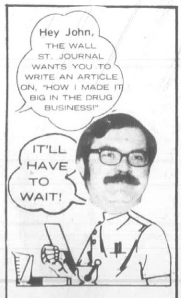
A FALSE SPRING is Pat Jordan's story of how, in failing as a baseball player, he found himself as a man. A promising career in the majors...materialized in this candid narrative of how Jordan coped with disappointment.

JOE, YOU COULDA MADE US PROUD, by Joe Pepitone is another ballplayer's story of a career which went sour. Although successful in baseball, Pepitone's personal life was a series of crises including two divorces and a near nervous breakdown. Pepitone had to quit in order to begin growing up.

WHERE HAVE YOU GONE, JOE DI MAGGIO?, by Maury Allen, is a biography of one of baseball's greats but least known men. The author interviewed over 250 people who knew DiMaggio and covers his entire career, including his marriage to Marilyn Monroe.

BASEBALL WHEN THE GRASS WAS REAL is a nostalgic trip back in time by Donald Honig, who interviewed men in baseball from the 20s to the 40s. Among the former greats who share their memories are Lefty Grove, Bob Feller, Wes Ferrell and Ted Lyons. There are many photos to heighten the baseball fan's pleasure.

BUSH LEAGUE, by Robert Obojski, is a gold mine of information about minor league baseball from 1877 to the present. Avid fans will find a brief historical survey of the minors, chapters on key figures such as Branch Rickey (the father of baseball's farm system) and profiles of individual leagues and players galore.



"The most important thing we'll do today is fill your prescription!"

Majority Says 'No' to County Program

By KATHY BROWN

Tecumseh senior citizens made a large turnout Monday night, the majority opposing Tecumseh's participation in the Lenawee Council of Aging.

A show of hands, called for from the audience after the 45-minute meeting before Council, indicated a majority opposed joining.

About one third of the approximate group of 30 were undecided.

A few said, "I'd have to know more about it before I vote."

Opponents of the LCOA argued they do not want the present senior citizens program taken away, they do not want the city to spend money on the "Adrian Program" and do not want the present director, Ward Eardley, "to lose his job."

No Council action was taken.

"We want you to know the Lenawee Council on Aging program would not change (what you have) only add to it," said Mayor Harold Easton.

"We'd be glad not to spend the money if this is what Tecumseh wants," he added.

"There is a big misunderstanding here. We have no idea of taking away anything. Federal funds are available and we can tap into this program. Presently the LCOA happens to be headquartered in Adrian, it is the county seat. We can't change it," commented Councilman Aden Mead.

"We're talking about a half-time coordinator in addition to Mr. Eardley," said Councilwoman Mary Bowers.

"We already have a full-time coordinator and a full-time wife," declared a woman from the audience, "and I would like to see a more active group than the Golden-Aires."

"I'm not finding fault with the present director, I'm interested in augmenting the present program," explained Councilman Wallace Whiting.

"More is available to senior citizens. We've been paying taxes a long time and should have services available," he commented.

"Are we just hitting a few senior citizens now with the present program? Are we missing some who can't get down to your Thursday afternoon meetings?" asked Councilwoman Bowers.

"We are not taking care of the majority of our senior citizens, this I know from my experience (at the bank). People who need these services are not here," said Mrs. Bowers.

Senior citizens said that Eardley and his wife have already offered rides for senior citizens.

Council members said the recreation director had a big job and cannot devote full-time to the needs of the elderly alone.

Seniors asked why a bus couldn't be available to them exclusively. Council answered that if Tecumseh participated in the LCOA program, the red van that passes through town to pick up the elderly, could be available to Tecumseh for a longer period of time.

Senior citizens also did not understand why the city could not start a fund for senior citizen housing and argued the city should provide housing.

"We're not talking thousands of dollars (for housing) we're talking millions. The city is in no shape to ever build senior citizens housing on its own. We're not like larger cities and can't meet requirements of the federal government in some programs," said Easton.

He also explained some federal grants for senior housing have been depleted, but a Tecumseh group is investigating the possibility of housing for the elderly in Tecumseh.

HOME DESTROYED — Fire totally destroyed the Ridgeway residence of the James E. Hemphill family Wednesday morning when three departments were summoned to the scene. A five-year-old boy reportedly started the blaze in a rear bedroom while playing with matches. Britton firemen answered the alarm first shortly before 9 a.m. About 20 minutes later Tecumseh was alerted, and when the two departments were not able to keep up with the water demand, the Raisin Township tanker was called. Damages to building and contents are in excess of $15,000. At one time firemen practically had the fire under control only to run short of water while tankers were being filled in Britton and Tecumseh. (Photo by Mike Sunderland)

Request Bike Trail Plan

City manager Cal Zorn has asked Region II planners to begin a bike plan for Tecumseh.

Allen Hooper of Region II Planning Commission said planners can start immediately on the plans.

Zorn told Council he has no preconceived idea of what kind of plan Region II would present. A plan which would label existing streets as a bike route was one possibility discussed by Council.

Regarding a scheme for a bike path system, Councilman Dr. Carlton Cook said, "Bicycles should be able to be used on a mode of transportation. Idea of a bike path is to provide a route so a guy can bicycle to work if he so wishes.

Council was also presented with a petition for bicycle paths in the city from Tecumseh and area residents.

Council again discussed the lawlessness exhibited by bicyclists.

"Bicyclists think they are a different mode of transportation and ignore stop signs and traffic regulations," said Councilman Aden Mead.

Councilmen Wallace Whiting and James Palmer stressed the need for a safety program.

"People in cars treat a bicycle like it were nothing," said Councilman Cook. He called attention to the fact bicyclists have a right to safely use the streets, too.

Coach Nix 'Doing Well' after Kidney Transplant

By KATHY BROWN

Wayne Nix, 33 year old English teacher and coach at Tecumseh High School, is reported doing well after a kidney transplant Aug. 6 at University Hospital, Ann Arbor.

Family expects he may return to teaching sometime during the first semester.

The family waited 11 months for a kidney donor.

Two and a half years ago, Nix was diagnosed with failing kidneys. Both kidneys failed within a year.

A year ago August, he was put on dialysis on an outpatient basis until December, when a machine was brought home.

Nix spent an average of four hours three times a week on the machine which works as a kidney to filter the blood and remove fluids.

But the machine was not a burden to the Nix family including his wife, Sharon, their two children, Jenny, 9, and Kathy, 5.

The family took advantage of Nix's leave of absence and traveled with the machine in a van to Florida for a tour of Disneyland last March and to Arkansas this summer.

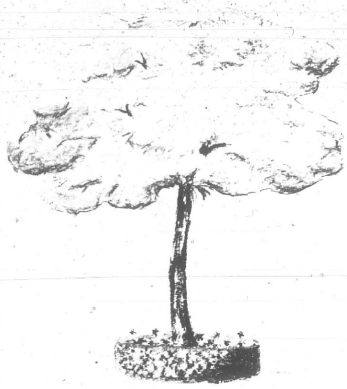
Nix also remained active in church affairs as a coordinator of the high school religious education program at St. Elizabeth Catholic Church.

"He felt very good on the machine," said Mrs. Nix.

Family feels the "awful lot of support, moral and financial," from Tecumseh people was a contributing factor to the family's courage, Nix's good attitude and improved health.

Tecumseh teenagers spent time babysitting for the couple and even tried to organize dances with proceeds to help the family. The Jaycees also came through with financial support.

Nix is presently at University Hospital, Ann Arbor, 48104, Rm. No. 430, 10th floor.



PEG AEBERSOLD'S SKETCH OF TREE

Niblack Joining Bank as Trainee

W. Stewart Niblack, Jr., Britton, will be joining the United Savings Bank of Tecumseh Sept. 1 as a management trainee.

Niblack's initial training will primarily be in the Britton office and the main office in Tecumseh. When he has familiarized himself with banking regulations, policies, and procedures, he hopes to concentrate his efforts in the Britton Branch, presently managed by Arnold Saylor.

Stu sold Niblack's Home for Funerals to Norman Spencer of Petersburg at the end of July. Sale became effective Aug. 15.

The sale marked the end of a family business that Stu's father took over 44 years ago. Stu became director in 1964.

The Niblacks, Stewart and wife Cassie, and their five children - Scott, Denise, Shawn, William S. III, and Wendee Sue - will reside at 254 E. Chicago Blvd., Britton.

Niblack, born 1930, graduated from Britton High School in 1948, attended Hillsdale College and Wayne State University School of Mortuary Science. He received his bachelor of science degree from EMU in 1958 after four years in the Navy.

He attended his Mortuary Science license in 1956, and worked in funeral homes in Kalamazoo and Battle Creek before returning to Britton to purchase the funeral home from his parents in 1963.

Bank management feels that Niblack's intimate knowledge of the Britton area will prove to be very valuable in providing excellent banking services to everyone in the community.

New Addition Is Planned

City Council examined plans Monday night by architect David Siler for the meter and storage room addition at the wastewater plant.

Estimated cost of the 26 x 52 addition on the west side of the wastewater plant is $10,000.

Addition will be used for storage and provide meter repair area.

Cal Zorn, city manager remarked that this will be a closer location than the former site at Patterson and Union Streets.

Change Date

First September meeting of Tecumseh City Council will be Sept. 2 at 7:30 p.m. owing to the Labor Day holiday which falls on the regular meeting date of the first Monday.

Arrest Youth for Robbery

An Ann Arbor youth has been charged with suspicion of unarmed robbery after leaving a passenger at the Clark Service Station on W. Chicago Blvd.

Dennis L. Murdock told officers he was a passenger with Ronald Osburn, 22, Ann Arbor when the vehicle pulled into the station. While Murdock was out of the car, Osburn reportedly drove off despite attempts of Murdock to stop him.

State police arrested Osburn later in Clinton.

Murdock had left his wallet with $75 in the Osburn car.

City To Help Chamber Plant Downtown Trees

Members of the Chamber of Commerce committee, with Dick Eggleston as chairman, have finalized plans for placing bases and trees in the downtown area, but are waiting for final dollar figures for each downtown unit.

A simple design of charcoal colored cement, four-foot round, one foot high, and five inches thick, has been chosen for the base. A 10 foot tree has been selected for planting in the base.

The committee chose to buy the trees and bases this year, as a first in a series of projects to be carried out over the years in the downtown area. This way financial burden will be less on business and the city per year.

Although the exact cost of each base and tree unit has not been determined, committee members have determined it to be in the $150 to $200 range. An individual or company may buy a complete tree and base, or may donate any amount of money toward the completion of the project.

Eugene Stiman, president of Polymeric Processes Inc., 800 S. Maumee, has already indicated that his company is willing to help with the financial cost of the project by contributing $500.

Donations cover the cost of trees, bases, and electrical outlets to each tree, and cover the expense of cutting out the cement for the bases and electrical wiring.

In an effort to help rid Tecumseh of its "asphalt jungle" image, City Council approved the city's part in the project Monday night, and approved the project.

The city will co-ordinate the contractors to do the job, replace the cement over the wiring in the sidewalk and around the bases, and level the bases after delivery.

City Re-appoints Two to Board

James Danforth, Sr. and J.W. Meadows were reappointed by City Council to succeed themselves as members of the Board of Appeals.

Ideas for '76

Tecumseh Bicentennial Committee met with about 12 members of various organizations Tuesday night at the Community Center to discuss the Bicentennial project ideas these groups are considering.

The Brush and Pallet Club has volunteered to design a Bicentennial events calendar composed of its members' original work.

County and city events may both be placed on the calendar at the Tecumseh Public Library sometime in October.

The Library plans to collect old documents, encouraging residents to clean out basements and attics so these historic papers may be placed on permanent loan or copied and returned to owners.

Library is in need of a filing cabinet for this purpose. Interested donors may call Deborah Havener at the library.

"The Bicentennial Committee is not interested in taking the bull by the horns. We are very anxious to facilitate ideas from the community and support the organizations who attempt projects," explained the Rev. David Fox, chairman.

No suggestions for any funded projects have been made so far.

Other ideas suggested include a "Liberty Tree," designating a city tree which would be electrically lighted all year; utilizing the old fire bell in town; using vacant buildings for a youth center; planting red, white and blue flowers by garden clubs.

People also feel strongly about a festival or celebration July 4 week.

Next Bicentennial Committee meeting is Sept. 23 at the Community Center at 7:30 p.m.

Committee Will Meet

Tecumseh Historic District Study Committee will resume its regular meetings on the first Tuesday of the month beginning Sept. 2.

Meeting is at 7:30 p.m. in the Clara Waldron Room of the Tecumseh Public Library.

Public is welcome to attend.

Group was appointed by City Council last year to propose a historic district and guidelines for an ordinance that may preserve Tecumseh's fine old buildings.

Burn Awareness Program

Burns, with their many resulting complications are a major cause of accidental death in Michigan and United States today.

Forty percent of all burn patients are children 10 years of age or younger.

Tecumseh Jaycee Auxiliary plan to improve the quality of life in the community, during the next few months, by generating public awareness of the burn problem; motivate public involvement aimed at reducing the severity of the problem; and inform the public how to help prevent the occurance of possible burn hazards.

They will also seek support for the Burn Centers which are in great demand by the public.

The Auxiliary plans to work through some local service organizations, schools, and church groups.

The women will use films, displays, flyers and public talks from physicians and local firemen.

Della Beevers may be contacted at 423-4549 for further information.

Organ Recitals

Four organ recitals will be performed on Sunday evenings in Sept. 7, 14, 21, 28, by doctoral students of Marilyn Mason, professor of organ at The University of Michigan School of Music.

Series will be presented at St. Peter's Episcopal Church in Tecumseh, at 7 p.m. and are open to the public. A free will offering will be taken.

Organists to perform are Sandra Spencer, Thomas Strode, Linda Pound, Charles Reineck, Paul Wey, Graham Purkerson, Tong Soon Kwak, Francine Mate and Robert Acton.

Recitals will encompass four centuries of organ literature. Composers represented will include Sweelinck, Bruhns, Bohm, Buxtehude, J.S. Bach, Brahms, Schumann, Mendelssohn, Reger and Distler.

All concerts will be performed on the Rudolf von Beckerath organ built in Hamburg, Germany in 1964, the only Beckerath in Michigan.

Bicentennial Bench Poses Question

No one, as we go to press, knows who put it there. But it seems that the cement bench on the corner of S. Ottawa and Chicago Blvd., across from Tecumseh Office Supply, would be a welcome addition to the downtown businnss district by tired shoppers.

The bench with a wooden back bears a Bicentennial advertisement for the Adrian Army recruiting office. Sgt. Knox, station commander said he doesn't know how the bench got to Tecumseh.

Only clue of origin is address across the rim of the bench: Bench Billboard Co., 716 Floral Ave., Terrace Park, Ohio 45174.

Eye Awareness Meeting

Barbara Meyers, chairman for the Tecumseh Jaycee Auxiliary Eye Awareness Week observance, Aug. 25-Sept. 2, announced there will be a special radio program by Betty Flanders on the project, Monday at 10 a.m. on WABJ.

Auxiliary is also decorating a window with an informational display on the subject in the former Ken-Ray location on W. Chicago Blvd.

A special meeting to acquaint the public with the need for Eye Awareness is being planned and will be announced soon.

Five Minor Accidents

Although five accidents investigated the past week were mostly minor, one resulted in personal injury to an eight-year-old bicyclist.

Steven T. Rhodes suffered injuries Saturday when he rode his bike into the path of an auto driven by Joan A. Terrel, 26, of Morenci. The young Rhodes boy came out of E. Cummins into S. Maumee St.

In other mishaps, two operators were cited. A resume is:

Aug. 15 — Steve Camfield, 9103 N. Union St., reported his car damaged while parked behind Gambles. Other driver is unknown.

Aug. 18 — Ethel M. Wright, 67, of 115 W. Pottawatamie, was cited for running a stop sign after a collision with Irene J. Schofield, 60, of 6895 Mill Hwy., at the intersection of S. Maumee and E. Pottawatamie.

Aug. 18 — Frances L. Zimmerman, 27, of 604 Orchard Lane, was charged with failure to yield the right of way after an accident on S. Occidental Rd. with Robert H. Armstrong, 35, of Jackson.

Aug. 19 — Ulis M. Sizemore, Adrian, told police his car was damaged while parked in a lot next to Herrick Hospital.

Library B&E Is Interupted

Clinton State Police just passing along Ottawa St. about 11:30 p.m. Sunday, noticed someone carrying a heavy object in the direction of the U-Haul trailer lot north of the library. Entry was gained through a window broken on the west side of the building.

Tecumseh Police and State Police, using tracking dogs were unable to locate the suspect.

Couple Marry in Oklahoma

First Christian Church, at Bartlesville, Okla., was the setting for the marriage of Rebecca Chapman and Philip Max VanValkenburg, Aug. 16. Ceremony was performed by the Rev. Glenn Platt of the Campus Crusade for Christ.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Chapman, Bartlesville, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raynor W. VanValkenburg, 7764 N. Adrian Hwy.

Soloist was Mrs. David Lawson, of Palos Verdes, Calif., sister of bride. Organist was Mrs. Wayne Maple.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white silk organza gown with a fittted bodice featuring a scoop neckline and full bishop sleeves.

Venetian lace, accented with tiny seed pearls, embellished the bodice, neckline, waistline and the sheer sleeves. Lace motifs trimmed the skirt, which was styled with wide crystal pleating at the hem and swept into a chapel length train.

Her fingertip veil of silk illusion fell from a headpiece covered with lace and was accented with tiny seed pearls. She carried a cascade of white daisy mums, stephanotis, gardenias, baby's breath and ivy.

Matron of honor was Mrs. David Wiley of San Bernardine, Calif., and bridesmaids were Kathy Chapman, sister of bride, Dallas, Texas, Janie Fitzgerald, cousin of bride, Duncan, Okla., and Barbara Godard, Bartlesville, Okla.

They were gowned alike in sheer, blue and lavender flowered dacron with bishop sleeves and scooped neckline, and skirts edged in a wide ruffle. Attendants carried blue daisy mums, and white miniature carnations.

Denis Keith of San Berardino, Calif., was the best man. Ushers were David VanValkenburg, brother of groom, LaJolla, Calif.; Barry Flynn, Houston, Texas; Tom Stevens, Chicago, Ill.

Reception was held at the church.

The bride is a graduate of Oklahoma State University, with a degree in executive secretarial administration. She is on the staff of Campus Crusade for Christ.

Upon their return from a wedding trip in the Ozark Mountains of Arkansas, they will live in San Bernardino, Calif.

Bride's Father Assists Nuptials

McKee Lake Alliance Church, Pinellas Park, Fla., was the scene for the nuptials uniting Carolyn Tubbs and Stephen Van Valkenburg, Aug. 21.

Ceremony was performed by the Rev. Elmore Elchor and the Rev. George Tubbs, father of the bride.

Parents of the couple are the Rev. and Mrs. George Tubbs, Pinellas Park, Fla., and Mr. and Mrs. Raynor Van Valkenburg, 7764 N. Adrian Hwy.

Organist was Mrs. Clyde Sullivan.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a peasant style gown in satin and chiffon.

The bodice was trimmed in needlepoint lace and the long chiffon sleeves were edged at the cuff with matching lace.

Lace also edged the three-tiered chiffon skirt overlay. Lace flowers were scattered on her chapel length veil and she carried a cascade bouquet of an orchid and white sweetheart rosebuds.

Matron of honor was Grace Schaeffer, Phoenix, Ariz., cousin of the bride, and the bridesmaid was Bev Wright of Clearwater, Fla.

They were gowned alike in cotton knit, printed with lavender flowers and white daisies. A deep lavender ribbon sashed the bodice. Their headpieces and bouquets were of lavander carnations and white daisies.

Paul Van Valkenburg, Tecumseh, brother of the groom, was best man. Guests were seated by Paul Tibbs, Pinella Park, brother of the bride.

Reception for 100 guests was held at the church.

The bride is a graduate of Toccoa Falls Institute.

The groom is a graduate of Michigan State University. Both are employed with Campus Crusade for Christ.

Upon their return from Key West and Sanibel Island, the couple will be at home at LaMirada, Calif.

The groom's parents hosted a rehearsal dinner at Heinemann's Cafeteria in Pinella Park.

Boyers - Randall Nuptials

JoAnn Lee Boyers and Airman I-C Joseph Martin Randall recited their marriage vows, in Gloria Dei Lutheran Church, Aug. 16, before the Rev. Laszlo Gero.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Ronald E. Boyers, 500 Orchard Lane, and Mr. and Mrs. E. Norman Randall, 11500 Clinton Rd., Clinton.

Organist was Mrs. Earl D. Mason. Soloist was Timothy Rohrbacher.

As she approached the altar with her father, the bride wore a white sheer organza gown styled with a stand-up Gibson girl collar, bodice trimmed with Chantilly lace and seed pearls and chapel length train.

Her floor length veil was of sheer mesh bordered in Chantilly lace. She carried a cascade of multi-colored tipped carnations and white roses.

Mrs. Eugene Boyers, sister-in-law of the bride was the matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Catherine King and Lynn Winzeler.

Attendants were gowned alike in light blue polyester flocked with vari-colored flowers, princess styled with a long sash tied in back and a high stand-up collar.

Each carried a nosegay of carnations and roses.

Glenn Shelley was best man and the ushers were Robert, Richard and Eugene Boyers, brothers of bride and Bert Ouderkirk.

Reception at the Community Center was attended by 200 guests. Janet Neuman of Capac assisted at the reception. Guests were present from Northern Michigan and Ohio.

The bride was formerly employed at University of Michigan.

The groom is a graduate of Clinton High School and is in the Air Force.

Unite in Double Ring Ceremony

Kay Kitson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Kitson, 605 Herrick Park, and David Lay, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ogland Lay, 215 W. Brown St., were married in a double ring ceremony July 25 at 7 p.m. in St. Elizabeth Catholic Church.

Msgr. Vincent Howard officiated the ceremony.

Mrs. Paul Pateen, Tecumseh, was organist, Peggy Smith, Tecumseh, was soloist.

The bride and groom lit a unity candle to symbolize their union. They presented their respective mother-in-law with a yellow rose.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore her mother's wedding gown. The ivory gown of taffeta featured a fitted princess style with sweetheart neckline, lace inserts, long sleeves with points edged in lace and a lace edged train.

She wore a string of pearls and her waist length veil, edged in lace, was secured by a Camelot headpiece.

She carried white daisies accented with blue, green, yellow and melon colored daisies with gypsophelia.

Tracy Wanzeck of Tecumseh was maid of honor. She wore a blue gown with flocked flowers, styled similarly to the bride's gown. She carried blue daisies with gypsophelia and wore them in her hair.

Laurel Scheuerman of Chicago, and Nancey Kitson, sister of the bride, of Tecumseh, were bridesmaids.

They wore dresses similar to the honor attendant in green and melon, respectively. They carried matching flowers and wore [illegible] pieces.

Cara Muzillo, cousin of the bride from Jackson, was flower girl. She wore a yellow dress in a similar style and carried matching flowers in a basket and wore them in her hair.

Bob Petrovish of Tecumseh was best man. Dan Shaffer and James Sessoms, both of Tecumseh, seated the 200 guests and Joey Kitson, brother of the bride, was ring bearer.

The reception was held at St. Elizabeth's parish hall. Special guests included Mr. and Mrs. Sam DeRose and Mrs. Joe Coscarelli of California, great aunts of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Higgins of Florida, cousin of the bride.

The bride is employed by Herrick Memorial Hospital and is a 1975 graduate of Tecumseh High School. The groom is a student at Michigan Technological University, Houghton.

After a honeymoon in Upper Michigan, the couple will reside at Houghton.

FLICKERS

Our back yard has always been a good flicker spot. Few are the years, when from mid-summer until cold weather spells an end to the porch living, that we do not have better than average flicker watching. This year I must admit that we were worried for a time.

Apparently when we arrived home near the end of May much of the staking out of territory, courting and nest site selecting had been completed. What we missed hearing was first, the 'hammering' on a hollow log, feeder roof, TV antenna or any similar resonating box, and second, the day long maniacal laughter which passes as flicker talk.

The absence of these noises — and there is truly nothing else to call them — made us wonder if perhaps these large attractive birds were not nesting across the creek.

Well, our fears were groundless. We might have missed the first part of the family raising but we have certainly had front row seats for the latter stages.

Although the flicker kids are out on their own now, the family group, as of this dictating, has not broken up. This means that we usually see not one but two or even three flickers at once.

Before going further is it necessary to describe a flicker? I would have thought not until the other day when a visitor asked who the bird was on the creek bank.

So here goes — a flicker is a rather chunky-bodied bird about 13 inches long. Being a member of the woodpecker clan he has a long bill and a short tail.

His light tan front is heavily marked with dark freckles and his darker brown back has blackish striping.

However, the most noticeable field-marks are a black V high on his breast, a vibrant scarlet crescent on the back of his head, and a large white rump spot which flashes as he flies away. Handsome birds!

It has been interesting to notice that our two or three flicker kids usually begin their back yard ant-hunting expeditions in the same way. The mulberry bush - tree, which grows on the creek bank, has long arching branches that hang close to the ground.

The birds first land in this bush-tree, hop from branch to branch, all the time working lower, and finally jump to the ground. There they search for ants and gradually work their way out into the yard.

When we are on the porch our flicker watching is excellent and, as long as there is no loud talking nor any sudden movement, they are quite tolerant of us.

The youngsters handle themselves well. They use their long bills to drill, hammer and explore all promising ant dwellings. Their expertise is testimony to good training.

Several years ago we laughed at a young flicker who had a dreadful time learning this probing technique. It is the appearance that tells the age of this summer's youngsters. Their body-feathers are still a bit fluffy looking and their necks are — they are almost scrawny, they simply aren't feathered out well yet.

One of the kids also sounds young. Never is a flicker musical but this one has a particularly loud, rusty voice. This afternoon she was right by the porch hollering and several days ago she was in the walnut tree.

Mournful, sad, bewildered, plaintive, lost and lonesome. It was for all the world as if she were hollering, "Ma what do I do now?"

Also the other day When I was on the porch, one of the kids flew to the corner of the roof and sat on the eavetrough. His tail stuck out about two inches and that was all I could see.

But what a remarkable sight it was. The two middle tail feathers are stiff and used as props when the bird works on a tree trunk. The tail silhouette I saw clearly showed how these feathers are almost spike like. Amazing.

The summer is truly a success and from the porch we have had absolutely marvelous sessions with the flickers.

County Work Experience Program

By KATHY BROWN

Duncan Judson, 16, likes his summer job and feels he is learning something. "I've had a chance to get out and do things I've never done before and make money I can say I made on my own."

Chris Jackowski, 15, said he would not have had a job this summer, but this summer he has had a chance "to keep off the streets" doing outside maintenance work.

Both boys are two of 12 Tecumseh students between the ages of 14 and 21 who are working this summer because there is an active Work Experience Program in the County.

This year the former Neighborhood Youth Corps was reorganized, given a new name and the accent placed on developing responsible work habits and job training as well as work experience.

Kathy Meade, coordinator of the program for two years, said the applicants, who are mostly high school students or drop-outs, are placed in positions in non-profit organizations.

Here in Tecumseh the students are employed at Tecumseh Public Library, Tecumseh Public Schools, City of Tecumseh and St. Elizabeth Catholic Church. They do everything from filing to indoor maintenance and yard work.

They earn a minimum of $2.10 an hour. Approximately 300 students are placed in jobs close to home in every town in the county.

Program is federally funded through the CETA program and funds are allocated by the three county consortium, Region II including Jackson, Lenawee and Hillsdale counties.

"This year we have added discussion groups for the students and a counselor. This has been helpful to the students because they have the opportunity to discuss lessons in job skills. Not only do they get work experience, they develop career awareness. This is helpful to the communities, too," said Mead.

Orientation sessions were held from June 30 to July 3. Here the basic requirements for holding a job were stressed: appearance, punctuality, minimum absenteeism, alertness and willingness to cooperate with an employer.

Weekly sessions with counselors are held to discuss any problems that arise, but especially to share experiences, view films related to job training or visit a college campus.

Students are allowed to work 19½ hours a week. Organizations who employ students are required to file progress reports and provide supervision for the students.

Counselors and teachers, many of whom are college students, also benefit from working with students in the WEP.

Instead of working, some students are taking classes at Lenawee Vocational-Technical center, headquarters for the program.

Classes include food service, auto body, auto mechanics, welding, business office.

Program is also associated with Upward Bound at Siena Heights and some WEP participants are taking classes at Siena Heights College.

In the fall, the program will be cut back but it is hoped that it can still provide 15 hours of work for WEP students.

Coordinator Kathy Mead is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aden Mead of Tecumseh. She is a graduate of Michigan State University with a degree in community service.

Third Program Set at Library

Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. the third program for young people will be given at the Tecumseh Public Library. Entitled "Power to Young People," it will feature the Youth Liberation group of Ann Arbor.

Their major focus is upon equal legal rights for minors. At the same time, efforts include restructuring society so that more young people will want to be a part of it.

Some of the areas of legal discrimination focused upon include: trials without juries, leaving home without or even with parental permission, school attendance, movie restrictions, curfews, driving, employment, and inability to vote or run for office.

At the same time, the general attitude of "ageism" is to be considered. This is the adult opinion expressed as "for your own good" or "you'll grow out of it." Because of this, the opinions and ideas of youth are likely to be ignored or not taken seriously.

The organization recognizes that the young are not the only ones penalized by society. Other groups also sterotyped are the old as senile, women, the poor, handicapped, and many others.

Earlier programs on the two preceding Tuesdays covered drugs and the juvenile court system. Each program is open to adults also, but participation in discussions is primarily intended for young people.

MARGARET HAWLEY

The Herald To Conduct Area Survey

What do you think of the Tecumseh Herald?

Margaret Hawley of Adrian, a co-op advertising student who has spent the summer working at The Tecumseh Herald, will be asking this question of some 300 Tecumseh and area residents for a readership survey.

She will conduct door-to-door interviews until Aug. 24.

Included in the survey will be questions how often do you read the paper? What is most interesting? What would you like to see changed or added?

Margaret is an advertising student from Ferris State College, Big Rapids in her senior year. The survey is part of her term project.

Bi-centennial Journey

LIVERY STABLES
By Thelma Younglove

Before automobiles came into extensive use, livery stables were active businesses found in nearly every community in lower Michigan.

Britton's livery stable was operated in connection with the hotel. The livery stable was a large barn-like structure located northeast of the hotel.

The stable kept a number of lively, well groomed horses and buggies which they rented to customers for a few hours a day or week. The livery stable also had empty stalls and storage spaces that was rented to travelers owning their own horses and buggies.

Salesmen and other people who came to Britton by train on either the DT&I or the Wabash Railroads and needed transportation to get to their destination could rent a horse and buggy from the livery stable for a reasonable rate. At night the salemen were able to obtain board and lodging at the hotel.

One group of salesmen who patronized the local livery stable were representatives of the "Home Comfort Kitchen Range". These men made house to house calls, especially at farm homes trying to sell ranges.

The salesmen carried miniature "Home Comfort Ranges". The wood and coal burning kitchen stove s were later found in many rural homes.

Often farm people rented a stall at the livery stable when they went to Detroit, Adrian, Maybee, or even Tecumseh by train. Indeed that practice would seem very, very strange to people today.

However in horse and buggy days that was a common practice. Several passenger trains went through Britton daily and a person could go to Adrian and back in much less time by train than with a horse.

At the time of the Lenawee County Fair, many people left their horses at the livery stable and took a train to Adrian. Some people walked from the depot to the Fair Grounds. Others paid to ride.

Later in the day they came back to Britton on an east bound train, got the horse from the livery stable, paid for the use of the stall and returned home in ample time to do the evening chores.

When livery stables were in their hey day, little did people think the time would come in their life time when horses and buggies would no longer be the main way of traveling and livery stables would not be needed. Britton's livery stable was converted into a garage.

Watching "The Freedom Train" with smoke billowing as it clanged along the tracks when it passed through Britton on its way to Detroit this summer brought to mind many memories of the era when the livery stable — train method of travel was a way of life in many parts of Lenawee County.

Ready made paints can often be mixed to an alternate shade. First, mix a sample by taking a small amount of the color in the can you want to modify and a small amount of the pigment you wish to use, and stir them together thoroughly, adding color if it does not seem to be quite what you want. Then brush some on a board and let it dry for several hours. If it is not what you want, try again, doing sample swatches as you go along. In this way, you will be sure to get a really satisfying color scheme.

To be sure you are really satisfied let us at CLAUDA PLUMBING & HEATING, 1108 W. Chicago Blvd., 423-3121 handle your plumbing and air-conditioning needs. Pupils Scheduled To Start Sept. 2

BRITTON — School officially opens at the Britton-Macon Area School Sept. 2. There will be a Teacher's Conference and Organizational Meeting at 9 a.m. in the school cafeteria on Sept. 2.

School starts for all pupils on Sept. 3. There will be a full day of school for all pupils on this day.

Parents of kindergarten children who did not register their child last spring will be able to register them in the afternoon on Sept. 2.

All kindergarten children living northwest of the Wabash Railroad tracks will attend classes in the morning and those living southeast of the tracks will attend in the afternoon.

It is suggested that mothers of kindergarten children put them on the buses the first day. Those who bring their children Wednesday are requested to leave them in the room with the teacher and not remain. It is believed that this method makes it easier for the child to adjust to school on the first day.

New students are asked to enroll at the principal's office the week of Aug. 25 to Aug. 29. The time for registering will be from 9 a.m. to 12 noon and from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. in the afternoon.

Cafeteria lunches will be served on Sept. 3, for all pupils and teachers. Pupils who carry their lunches are expected to eat in the school cafeteria.

The driving of automobiles or motor vehicles by students during the noon hour will not be permitted. If a student wishes to drive his or her car, they must obtain permission from the high school principal.

Karlene's essay, based on the theme "America and Me," was chosen one of the 10 best in a competition involving 4,000 eighth graders from 200 Michigan schools.

The top 10 essays were judged by a panel of high level dignitaries, headed by Governor William G. Milliken, and the best three were selected.

Competition is designed to encourage youth to seriously consider their part in America's future through "America and Me" essays.

Besides Gov. Milliken, other members of the final judging panel included Secretary of State Richard Austin; Clifton R. Petunias Are Praised

BRITTON — Letters each year are received by the village from people traveling through the village as to the beauty of the petunias planted each year by Boy Scouts and Camp Fire Girls and their leaders.

Postmaster George Hawkins passed along the following letter received recently by the post office:

"Dear Postmaster,

I wanted to write and let you know how much I enjoyed passing through Britton last Saturday. What impressed me so much were the colorful petunias that lined the streets on each side. Whoever planted these, to make your town attractive, certainly succeeded."

The Vanishing American

About half of the U. S. dairy farmers in business five years ago no longer are.

In Michigan, the nation's sixth-ranking dairy state, the number of dairy farmers has dropped from about 14,000 in 1964 to7,700 last year. The number is expected to be 4,500 by 1980.

Why?

Feed prices have increased some 72 per cent in the past two years. The cost of fertilizers has doubled. The price of fuel is nearly twice what it was in 1973. Interest rates for loans to enable farmers to expand their operations and update their equipment are higher than in 1973.

And dairy farmers' incomes have not kept pace with those increases in their production costs.

While the number of dairy farmers—and dairy cows—is dwindling, output per farm is increasing through a trend to larger, more efficient dairy farm operations. This is what today's dairy farmers are doing to help meet the needs of the American consumer and to help ward off dependence on other countries for such milk products as cheese, butter and nonfat dry milk.

And that's part of the reason we at MMPA think this Vanishing American is important and it's why we think this great natural resource—the dairy farming industry—is worth preserving.

Dear Sirs:

I would like to correct an error in your report on the School and T.E.A. negotiations of the August 14 issue of your paper. The error is not that of your reporter, but mine.

I inadvertently omitted the names of some of the members of our team.

The names of the people representing the teachers in negotiations are: Joyce Costigan, Patti Aylesworth, Helen Bendes, Ken Feldman, Raeola Lasky, Tedd Todd and myself.

I apologize to you for the error, as well as to the members of our team.

Humbly yours,
George A. Choske

To the Editor:

My question is very short and may seem a little stupid to you but I feel I must ask it anyway.

How come a city as forward looking as Tecumseh, has to send out of town to get both their police chief and president of the Tecumseh Products?

Am I being naive when I believe that Tecumseh has produced some mighty fine and intelligent people?

Why don't we look within our own ranks when it comes to a promotion - but then who said - The hardest town and state for a politician to carry is his own.

No doubt the dinosaur thought—if dinosaurs thought at all—that he was big enough, powerful enough to survive anything. But the dinosaur is extinct.

Man used to think that his brain, his cleverness, his frightening weapons made him a cinch for survival. Now we talk seriously about man's "hope of survival."

No wonder the dinosaur has become fascinating. Poor fellow—so big and powerful and extinct. Surely if he'd had our intelligence and our nuclear warpile, he'd have made it!

But there's always that gnawing uncertainty—maybe it takes something else!

Come to church and you'll be rubbing shoulders with people who are sure it does. For them, mankind's hope is not in the size of the creature . . . but in his soul.

Lovers of the Cherry Ames series of nurse stories will enjoy the three books tracing the career of NANCY KIMBALL, NURSE'S AIDE, NURSE IN TRAINING and SECOND YEAR NURSE. Carli Laklan's stories of hospital life show both the problems and the excitement.

For a different view of hospital life, see FLORENCE NIGHTINGALE'S NUNS by Emmeline Garnett. The founder of modern nursing, Florence Nightingale, is well known for her work with British soldiers in the Crimean Way. Her work was aided by five Sisters of Mercy. This book helps to show what nursing in the 1850's was like.

Moving out of the hospital "quiet zone" is ROAR OF ENGINES by John Clarke. Rather than spotlight the drivers, this book's hero actually builds his own car. The step-by-step process and view of the entire racing scene is sure to interest young car-lovers.

Turning from noise to music is Haskel Frankel's BIG BAND. The efforts of a summer hinge around a promise that the central character can quit school if he can earn his living with his trumpet.

The applause for a band change to cheers for the same author's PRO FOOTBALL ROOKIE. As the air turns colder many a school all-star will be able to enjoy this look at the tough differences required of a professional player.

Equally noisy were the blazing guns in the famous sea battle between the "Monitor" and the "Merrimack." CIVIL WAR SAILOR by Irving Werstein follows the action guaranteed to win you away from television reruns.

For underwater danger follow the air bubbles to MYSTERY OF THE FLOODED MINE by Willard Manus. Excitement over a gold strike climaxes in an underwater battle with divers willing to stop at nothing, even murder.

Family Picnic Is Set at Park

Tecumseh Welcome Wagon will hold a family picnic at Manchester's Carr Park on Aug. 23, at noon, weather permitting. All newcomers are welcome. For information readers may call 423-7686.

Library Service Value Is Discussed

CLINTON — Clinton Township Library Board met Monday evening with representatives of the Lenawee County Library Board to discuss negotiation of a contract for county library services.

Representing the Clinton board were the chairman, Lee Groeb, and trustees, Marjorie Miller, Esther Schmidt and John Colton. Absent were Vi Winder and Agnes Geiger.

Representing the county library board were Karen Lundquist, director; and members Louella Reynolds, and Martin Halley.

Also attending were the librarian, Janet Welch, assistant librarian, Elizabeth Pray, and staffer, Jannalee Welch, Harry Comstock, Clinton Township supervisor; and five citizens.

Extensive discussion concerned the proposal for services offered by the county library board, based on an itemized list of services offered in the past.

Requested cost was "a sum equal to the penal fines and amount of State Aid received by the Clinton Township Library as provided by law."

This year's penal fines, already received by the Clinton library board, amounts to $3,350; and the amount of State Aid is still unknown at this time.

Since Clinton's library is uniquely autonomous, financially, receiving its funds from a levy of one-mill tax on Clinton Township property owners, and is not dependent on the county library as other branch libraries may be, consideration was given to alternate methods of providing specific library services locally at a lesser cost.

Also being considered was a suggestion that a flat fee for services be determined to avoid the fluctuation, which results when amount of penal fines varies from year to year.

Board voted to have two of its members meet with the librarian, Mrs. Welch, and assistant, Mrs. Pray, this week to discuss the 15 points of the Lenawee County Library Board proposed contract. Then, they will report to the full board for action on the matter as soon as possible.

Next regular meeting is Sept. 9 at 7:30 p.m.

CEA and Board To Negotiate

CLINTON — Henry Shade, chairman of the Clinton Education Association (CEA) negotiating team, reports that due to vacations the team has not been meeting with the negotiators for the Clinton Board of Education or three weeks.

However, meetings are expected to resume this week Wednesday at 6 p.m.

This year, for the first time, the school board has hired an attorney, Robert Thrun, of Lansing to represent them.

"This puts a different light on things," Shade said, as he noted the legal difficulties Crestwood teachers have undergone, and the court determination in that matter, regarding teachers strikes.

Negotiations seem to be "hung up on economic issues," Shade said, "although they are still being discussed."

Shade said he is optimistic that the Clinton schools will open on time.

"We really don't want a strike," he said, "and I don't think the board does either."

Other members of the CEA contract negotiating team are Ray Karbon, Alma Woodward, Ann Erickson, Ozzie Hashley and John Jansen.

Superintendent Richard Wegner and Board President Glenn Clark have been sitting in on the sessions occasionally.

Superintendent Wegner stated that at this time he was not free to comment on progress of negotiations with the CEA.

Wegner also stated that he will meet with the international union representative for the secretarial and teacher aide staff, and that he met with the international union representative for the bus drivers and maintenance workers, Monday. Talks will continue.

Still needed, Wegner said, are a special educational teacher, high school level; and a combination high school government, social studies and head wrestling coach.

Put some STOP in your brakes with Grey-Rock.

All cars have brakes. But like anything else on a car, brakes deteriorate over years of use. Eventually they wear to the point where there's no safe stopping power left. You should have your brakes checked at least every 10,000 miles to be sure they're in good working order. And when replacement is needed, specify Grey-Rock, the makers of America's most complete line of brake linings and parts.

Would you like to make pickles but can't find canning lids?

Are you a pickle fancier but fear the muss and fuss of making them will turn you into a pickle puss?

Evelyn Le Fevre, 117 Burt St. has the answer: make refrigerator pickles. Use any jar you like. No cooking of brine necessary.

Refrigerator Pickles

Slice 3 quarts of cucumbers with skins

Slice 2 onions (more or less to taste)

1 green pepper, chopped fine

1 jar pimento (your choice, adds color)

Mix and pour over pickles:

1-3 cup salt

1 teaspoon celery seed

3 cups sugar

2 cups white vinegar

Let pickles stand at room temperature for a few hours and stir occasionally. Use any jar you like for storing, they need not be sealed. Store pickles in the refrigerator. They will last until all are eaten and make a tasty addition to a Thanksgiving feast.

Pickles can be eaten after standing a few hours, but after a week under refrigeration they have a nice color and are good and crispy, said Mrs. LeFevre.

Mrs. LeFevre is a retired school teacher who has taught 17 of her 31 years in the profession in Tecumseh Public School System. Her husband, Joseph, also retired, was a salesman for Meyers Aircraft.

Committee Plans Historic District

By KATHY BROWN

Ecology of natural resources has been a popular cause within the last decade. Only within the last few years have people awakened to preserve another community resource, historic architecture, which represents the community's history and heritage in the science and art of building.

Tecumseh is now awakening to its own architectural gems. For the Bicentennial, the Tecumseh Historic District Study Commttee plans to present the city with a historic district and ordinance to help Tecumseh preserve its architectural heritage.

The Tecumseh Historic District Study Committee was appointed by Tecumseh City Council last year to prepare a report, in accordance with state legislation — Public Act 169, concerning the significance of building sites, structures, features, objects and proposed district in the city.

An historic district is an area or group of areas in the community, not necessarily with contiguous boundaries, containing the greatest concentration of the best examples of historic architecture that represents the city's heritage.

The establishment of the historic district could save buildings worthy of preservation to provide a sense of history and continuity in the life of the community.

Community pride could increase in an area of the city where deterioration could halt and beauty increase since the area could be protected by an ordinance.

"Such an ordinance does not mean you have to paint your house a certain color or that you could not have apartments in the homes," said Mrs. Carlton Cook, chairwoman of the study committee. "This is a citizens' committee working for the city. The ordinance would be designed to serve Tecumseh's needs."

Such an ordinance could function the same as zoning ordinances and refer only to the exterior of the building to prevent the thoughtless and inappropriate alteration of the outside of noteworthy old structures.

It could encourage restoring homes and prevent owners from neglecting property until it detracts from its neighborhood.

The ordinance could allow a historic district commission, appointed by the mayor and Council, to review requests and plans for exterior alterations, construction, repair, moving or demolition of structures in a historic district and could have the power to pass on the plans before a permit for such activity is granted.

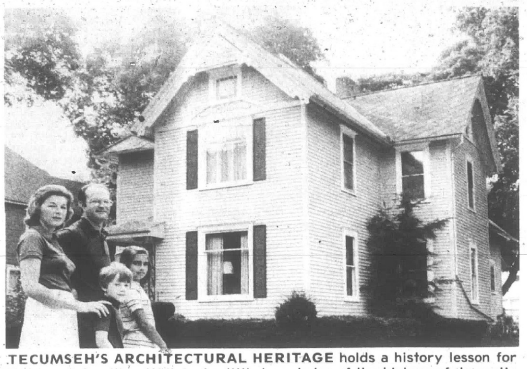
The protective ordinance would not create a "museum" area in which no change occurs. On the contrary, the historic district could reflect a rich mixture of the old and new and be a dynamic, thriving part of the community.

The ordinance could encourage the recycling and continued use of fine old buildings and provide the community with a supply of good housing.

The ordinance could encourage new construction compatible with significant older structures.

The district and ordinance together could enrich the quality of life for people living and doing business there, encourage people to remain in the district, attract new business to the community and create tourist trade.

(NEXT WEEK: What has been accomplished by the Tecumseh Historic District Study Committee so far and what can residents do?)



TECUMSEH'S ARCHITECTURAL HERITAGE holds a history lesson for Tecumseh families. With just a little knowledge of the history of domestic architecture, families can trace the history of their town in the architecture on Chicago Blvd. and other streets. Here Mr. and Mrs. Larry Bauman examine the "gingerbread" detail on the gable of their Chicago Blvd. home with children Jennifer, 10 and Grant, 8. The Historic District Study Committee, appointed by City Council, is preparing a historic district and guidelines for an ordinance that may preserve the exterior character of fine old buildings in Tecumseh. (Photo by Mike Sunderland).

DILLY OF A PICKLE — Debbie Poley, 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Poley, M-50 east of Tecumseh, is shown with a super cucumber, pride of the family garden. "Cuke" weighed in at 2 lbs., 14 oz., and 13 inches long.

This was the second hole-in-one at the club on the 16th hole this season.

Parents Night

Parents of those students enrolled in the third session of swimming lessons are invited to parents night, Aug. 28 at 7 p.m. A demonstration of the students' new swimming abilities will be given.

After the demonstration, the pool will have swimming races. Ribbons will be given to all. Those interested must sign up at the pool prior to Aug. 28.

Tornado Drill Held

A simulated tornado disaster was staged at Herrick Memorial Hospital, Tuesday afternoon with 30 youngsters participating.

Emergency practice for hospital personnel was arranged by August Lay, head X-ray technician at the hospital.

Perhaps, one of the most noteworthy facts to come from the drill was that all of the youngsters lacked any sort of identification.

In a real disaster situation, this could seriously delay identification of victims by authorities.

Mr. Lay suggested that parents be made aware of the necessity for their youngsters to carry some sort of identification at all times.

Uniforms Should Be Returned

All major and pony league baseball players within the Tecumseh Recreation Department must return their baseball uniforms to the community center no later than Aug. 22.

Special Ticket Sales Ended

The Tecumseh Parks and Recreation Department is no longer selling reduced tickets to Seaworld, Cedar Point, African Lion Safari, Bob Lo, and Greenfield Village, as of Aug. 18.

Millage Hits Record High —30.04 Mills

Living today includes the cost of educating our youngsters, and like living, education costs are on the increase.

Tecumseh's School Board set millage for the 1975-76 school year Monday evening with the total millage hitting an all-time record high of 30.04 mills. This amounts to approximately three mills over a year ago.

Breakdown of the 30.04 mills is 27 for operation, up 1.5 mills over last year; 2.34 mills for bond indebtedness, an increase of 1.14 mills because of a scheduled addition to the high school; and .7 mill for operating the library, same millage as in the past.

The millage increase, coupled with a $10 million hike in the district's property valuations, will provide the schools with over $500,000 more in local tax monies this year for operation and bond indebtedness.

The district's valuation last year was approximately $81.5 million, and today it is over $91.1 million.

Supt. Robert Duhan says it was necessary for the schools to collect 27 mills for operation to obtain maximum state aid benefits.

The influx of tax funds comes mainly from the district's increase in property assessments and new construction, not from the millage increase. In June the voters approve a half-mill raise from 18 to 18.5 mills for operating; however, since the schools levied only 17 of the 18 mills last year, the increase in operating millage actually amounts to 1.5 mills, from 17 in 1974 to 18.5 mills this year.

Duhan says the additional half-million dollars will be used primarily for salaries, maintenance, new construction and equipment, and other school costs, all of which have been greatly affected by inflation.

Many costs, such as new contracts with teachers, bus drivers and secretaries, will not be determined until the 1975-76 school year begins.

IN THE WINNER CIRCLE Sunday along with race car driver Richard Petty were Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Carpenter of The Harvey House Motel and Restaurant. Public relations director Brother Bill Frazier tossed the winner's wreath around the motel host's neck as a gesture of thanks for the hospitality. Petty won the NASCAR Champion Spark Plug 400 Grand National stock car race at MIS on Sunday. (Photo by Mike Sunderland)

Trees Plus Base Will Cost $215

Plans are now finalized and cost figures have been set at $215 per unit for Chamber of Commerce trees and bases in the downtown area.

Letters have also been sent out by the special Chamber committee, asking area businessmen for financial support by buying one or more trees.

The 10-foot Sunburst Locust trees and four foot wide bases will be placed primarily in the Two-block downtown area and will have underground electricity running to them.

This year's plan is the first in a series of plans that the committee hopes to accomplish over the years. Goal is to cut down on businesses' and the city's expense in the improvements by carrying out one part of the original downtown approval plan each year.

TEACHERS, BUS DRIVERS WITHOUT CONTRACTS

3,660 Students Start School on Wednesday

Schools will open here as usual for students next Wednesday, but the opening will have a marked difference never before encountered by Tecumseh school officials.

Teachers will be in classrooms without contracts, and bus drivers will be operating the fleet of buses without contracts.

Officials negotiated with the Tecumseh Education Association Tuesday afternoon and with the bus drivers Wednesday. Secretaries have agreed to extend their contracts but have yet to settle on a new one.

Only contracts settled were with the custodians and lunch room supervisors. Negotiations with the TEA and bus drivers are being continued with hopes that settlements can be reached soon. No strikes or similar problems are anticipated.

Supt. Robert Duhan says the schools are expecting an enrollment for 1975-76 of about 3,660. Official enrollment will not be taken until the fourth Friday in September, a date established for state aid purposes.

The projected enrollment is approximately the same as last year when the official enrollment was 3,668, just 12 short of the record 3,680 of 1971.

Teachers will begin the new year next Tuesday with the annual meeting at 8 a.m. at the high school cafeteria. After a short meeting conducted by the superintendent, the teachers will then meet with principals in their respective buildings.

All students, except kindergartners, will begin the school year on Wednesday. Kindergartners will not report until Thursday.

Chamber Abandons Parking Proposals

City officials have been notified by the Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce that it has abandoned for the present all programs relative to off-street parking.

In a letter to the officials from Mary Lou Dangler, Chamber president, the city has been asked to continue it's present parking program, plus metering all spaces.

Mrs. Dangler was questioned about metering all spaces — a complete switch from past Chamber position — and she said that it did not include present non-metered parking stalls.

Her letter also requested:

Parking space stripes.

Identification of fire lanes and enforcement.

Careful positioning of 10-hour, two-hour and one-hour meters.

Parking directions for motorists.

Bicycle parking.

Aggressive acquisition policies for expansion of present off-street parking lots.

Committees

School Board president, Dr. Harold Ocamb, appointed committees and chairmen Monday night.

For administration, Dr. D.L. Phelan is chairman with committeemen Dr. Harold Ocamb and William Macbeth.

Dr. Harold Ocamb is chairman of the policy committee, with Hugh DesErmia and Patricia Tressler assisting.

Building and grounds committee - Hugh DesErmia is chairman with Patricia Tressler and James Records assisting.

On the finance committee, William Macbeth is chairman. James Records and Todd Herrick round out the committee.

Petitions Ready

Petitions for City Council will be available first next Tuesday when prospective candidates can begin collecting signatures necessary for filing.

Filing deadline is Monday, Sept. 15th.

Terms of three councilmen — Harold Easton, Aden Mead and Wallace Whiting — are expiring. It's not known whether they will seek re-election or not at the polls in November.

Final THS Plans Due in September

Monday night, Eugene Cooley explained to School Board officials that after recent meetings with architects, it was his understanding that finalized high school addition drawings would be available for Board approval early in September.

Architects are expected to present a floor plan and detailed drawings.

Addition will include general purpose classrooms, art rooms, music areas and an enlarged cafeteria area. A corridor will be constructed to connect the addition with the school.

Blood Donors Are Needed

Tecumseh Community Center will host the Bloodmobile Sept. 4 from noon to 6 p.m. Previous donors are asked to give blood and first time donors are also needed.

What area residents may not realize is that Lenawee County's high donorship makes it possible for any County resident to receive blood free, either for himself or immediate family.

This precious status could be lost if donorship drops to a low.

Dr. Robert Murray of Tecumseh, Lenawee County Bloodmobile Chairman reminds all donors they are needed and giving blood is simple and easy.

Donors must be in good health, not pregnant or delivered a baby within six months and cannot be on medication.

Volunteers are also needed to take names, assist donors, etc. Interested people may call Marge Ball at 423-4724 after 5 p.m.

Mary Ann O'Connor is in charge of volunteers for the bloodmobile and the Jaycees are recruiting blood donors.

Last year at this time the Tecumseh and Clinton Jaycees sponsored a blood donor competition. Tecumseh collected 156 pints, but did not double the 138 pints collected by Clinton.

New Family Needs Assistance

By KATHY BROWN

A 16 member family of Vietnamese refugees have settled at the convent of St. Elizabeth Catholic Church after their arrival a week ago Wednesday at Detroit Metropolitan Airport.

The Nguyen Vam Ngan family includes the father, mother and seven children ages one to 15, an aunt, uncle and five cousins.

The family came from the Refugee Center at Ft. Chafee, Ark. where 23,000 families are waiting to be sponsored.

The Msgr. Vincent Howard described the family's initial reaction to their American friends was warm. "They are kind of lively and determined and anxious to learn English and be employed.

"Finding employment for them will be our greatest challenge," said Msgr. Howard, "But they are anxious to do any kind of job."

Experiences this past week have proved to the American hosts the family is indeed skillful and quick to learn.

Family is receiving English instruction from Mr. Ky, head of a Vietnamese family sponsored by the Dominican sisters at Adrian. He taught English in Vietnam and every day the adults and children have separate classes at the Tecumseh convent.

Family met with school officials to determine what grades the children will enter. Five young men are expected to enter high school. Msgr. Howard said they hope to begin this fall.

Several of the young men age in their late teens were drafted at age 13 by the army. Their formal education was interrupted but they learned technical skills few American students acquire at that age.

Nguyen Vam Ngan, the father, owned a fishing business. The 37 year old uncle, brother of the mother, was a marine mechanic. The 26 year old aunt, the father's sister, is an excellent seamstress and is sewing for the family.

Family arrived with clothing as their only personal property. Members of the parish with coordinator Jim Kane have met the family's needs so far.

Area residents may contribute garden foods or chests of drawers by contacting Pauline Pizana, 423-7114 or Mrs. Ruth McCann, 423-4974.

A reception is being planned for Vietnamese families in the area sometime this fall.

Other parishioners are considering sponsoring some refugees.

Being unable to attend the last Council meeting, I read with interest the account of the discussion pertaining to Tecumseh joining the Lenawee Council on Aging, which was reported by Mrs. Brown.

I was amazed by the number of questions raised by the several misinformed and misadvised members. For some reason they have not allowed themselves to know of the County program in it's entirety, but have only heard rumors or comments from others who likewise are ignorant of the true facts.

I was pleased to note from the report that several members of the Council, including the Mayor, answered these questions in such a well informed and intelligent manner.

These few members of the Golden-Aires (Wednesday group) probably 15 in number, are trying to control the present and future program for Tecumseh, thinking only of themselves and not the over 400 eligible and other elderly living in this area.

More are reaching the age of 55 every month and these too, are entitled to receive some of the benefits that are provided to each by the Federal and State Commissions.

It is not the "Adrian program" as one commented, but that of the Lenawee Council on Aging, and under Region II, composed of Jackson, Hillsdale, and Lenawee Counties, that is directing the programs.

I have been recently informed by a reliable source, that these members of the Wednesday group, having as their coordinator, Mr. Eardley, are being informed by him just what to say, what to do, and what not to believe.

This misinformation is leading to a bad state of affairs among our elderly here in Tecumseh, all of which was clearly demonstrated at the last Council meeting.

To Whom It May Concern —

The article on Rummage Sales in last weeks paper really ruffled my feathers! Just one more ultimatum in this "so-called" Democracy we live in!

I'll admit some people have gotten rather carried away with their signs but if you want to get right down to the "nitty gritty," how about all the signs on posts pointing to Model Homes - Freedom Trail - Roast Beef Dinners & Craft shows at the Union Hall?

Isn't it a shame what trivial things upset some people?

Rummage Sales are fun and a lot of people benefit from them and I can't see why they should bother anyone else if the sign is posted on the person's own property!

As for sales tax - it's already been paid on these articles once so why again?

Whoever started this complaint should find something more worthwhile to do with their time!

Personally I feel people ought to be free to dispose of their excess possessions in anyway they wish as long as they aren't making a mess of anyone elses life!

Disgusted!

To the Editor:

I read in the paper that another person had been hired by the bank. It was rather shocking to me, because a friend of mine and I both went to the bank seeking a job, and we were told a long story about people that were laid off by the bank. We were told to come back in 6 months. Time must really fly because it hasn't been over a month since we asked for a job.

How about these people who were laid off? Why didn't they get a chance for the job?

They didn't even take our names. It wouldn't have hurt them to keep our names on record.

We are being discriminated against and so are all those on layoff.

How is a young person supposed to get a job when they aren't even given the chance? It's awful hard to have experience in something when they won't let you try.

Addition Is Almost Completed

New section of the Herrick Memorial Hospital is almost ready for use.

Wm. Groover, hospital administrator, gave the Auxiliary volunteer workers a special tour so that when the date for the public open house is set the members may help as hostesses.

One big concern Auxiliarians feel everyone should have a concern for is the landscaping around the building.

With the help of the community a few years back the Auxiliary was able to landscape and change a drab institution into a pleasant, restful, warm and friendly looking building.

Mrs. Carlton Cook, chairman of the landscaping committee would like to continue the landscaping project which would engulf the entire new unit.

This week the lawn was leveled and sodded so the project is underway.

The memorial funds chairman, Mrs. L.D. Thompson has placed envelopes at the visitors desk and gift shop in the hospital and in the United Savings Bank.

The memorial funds are for general equipment, nursing home, heart, and a LANDSCAPING FUND.

This would be an excellent way to remember someone special with a donation in their name to the landscape fund. Why not give a living memorial? suggests the Hospital Auxiliary.

Yellow Buses Ready To Go

By KATHY BROWN

Familiar yellow buses on the roads of the Tecumseh School District will mark the official beginning of school year on Sept. 3.

School buses carry the most precious cargo in the world — our children.

Mike Anderson, supervisor of transportation for the district reminds parents, motorists, students and bus drivers National School Bus Safety Week, Sept. 2 to Sept. 8 is a good time to reflect on the importance of bus safety.

Public cooperation is needed to make 1975-'76 a safe school year.

Students are asked to remember rules of courtesy as bus passengers and enter, be seated and ride the bus in an orderly and safe manner.

Students are cautioned to remember their personal safety when waiting for a bus or crossing the street to board.

If it is necessary to cross a traveled highway after leaving the bus, this procedure should be followed:

Wait until the bus stops. Unload from the front of the bus and wait for the driver's signal to cross. Look both ways and proceed across the highway in front of the bus. Walk in front of the bus when crossing the highway.

Students can also help the bus driver. Warn him or her of approaching danger if the driver is unaware.

Be ready to board the bus, morning and evening at the designated place, at the time on the schedule. Driver is responsible for maintenance of the schedule and cannot wait for tardy pupils.

Report any damage to the driver and keep the bus clean, sanitary and orderly.

Parents should insure children arrive at the bus stop on time; insure their safety going to and from the bus stops; accept joint responsibility with the school authorities for proper conduct of children and make a reasonable effort to understand and cooperate with transportation officials.

Motorists and bus drivers should be especially careful in school bus loading and unloading zones, where statistically most accidents occur.

Drivers should be alert for children crossing the road and be prepared to stop in time when the vehicle in front stops for a school bus.

Stop in front and rear for stopped school buses. This requirement is for the safety of children and the driver's protection.

Mike Anderson, 19 years with the transportation office, is a little superstitious and does not brag about the district's safety record.

In his recollection, however, there have been no serious accidents.

Tecumseh Public Schools utilizes 25 buses transporting daily 4,778 students traveling during the day 1,753 miles for a total of 315,540 miles per year, using 99,000 gallons of gas annually.

Tecumseh district also supervises the transportation system for the Special Education program of the Lenawee Intermediate School District.

Program utilizes 10 buses transporting daily 190 students traveling during the day 1,253 miles for a total of 255,540 miles per year and 41,580 gallons of gas annually.

Three of these buses are orthopedic, equipped with electric hydrolic ramps.

Drivers, which are mostly women," are doing a good job," commented Anderson. Forty-four drivers and three mechanics are imployed.

Drivers must pass a written state competency test and are tested by Western Michigan University; must have a chauffeur's license, take a physical and attend a driver's school.

One Killed In US-12 Accident

CLINTON — Michael Lynn Allen, 24, of Adrian, was killed in a two-car collision at 7:18 a.m. Sunday on US-12 near Lima Center Rd., two miles east of Clinton.

Allen was alone in his car westbound when his automobile was struck by an eastbound auto driven by Stephen Reno, 18, of Westland.

Clinton State Police reported Reno apparently fell asleep, crossed the centerline and hit the Allen car.

Reno and a passenger, Mark Dunn, 17, also of Westland, suffered cuts and bruises.

Tuesday, the Washtenaw County prosecutor issued a warrant for Reno on a charge of negligent homicide.

Allen was born in Morenci, Aug. 4, 1951, son of Thomas and Dorleen Allen. He was employed by Eastern Airlines as a ramp attendant.

On July 18 this year, he married Deborah Barth, who survives.

Other survivors include his parents, two brothers, and grandparents.

Services were Wednesday in Braun Funeral Home, Adrian.

Board To Hire Guards

Supt. Robert Duhan and Eugene Cooley explained to School Board Monday night that they were approached by Ridgeway's PTO on behalf of the elementary school to see if crossing guards could be hired for the intersection of M-50 and Ridge Road.

Tecumseh agreed to assume the responsibility of hiring and placing the guards there.

Officials explained that they were not intending to get into the crossing guard business, but that they would use the $500 authorized by Ridgeway to hire the necessary people for the guards.

Officials went on to explain that the liability they are now assuming is not tremendously greater than in the past.

Program will be implimented on a trial basis for one year.

Roads Are Topic At Franklin Township Board

Regular meeting of the Franklin Township Board was held Aug. 12, 1975 at the Townhall. All board members were present, along with William Mackey, township building inspector.

Water system for some cottages on Sand Lake that is operated by the Children's Summer Camp was discussed. A meeting with Cambridge Township, County Health Department, Summer Camp officials and Franklin Board will be held to discuss the problems.

A resolution setting a meeting date of Sept. 24 to plan Bicentennial activities was offered by Superintendent Platt, supported by Whelan, passed 5-0.

P.A. 201 sewer plan was explained by the supervisor. This plan includes Federal funding of 75 percent, State funding of five percent and local participation of 20 percent.

Portions of Franklin Township, in northwest section of township, are included in Somerset and vicinity study area.

A resolution requesting that this portion of Franklin be included in the survey area was passed. Approximate cost of survey is $3,700, if all nine units of government are included.

Improvement of Breyman Hwy. was discussed. A petition containing 134 signatures was received requesting that Breyman Hwy. be repaved.

An injunction was issued in 1938 prohibiting any widening beyond nine feet of pavement and three feet of berm, and no cutting of trees.

Consensus of the board was that township money should not be used to try and clear the injunction. If petitioners would get the injunction cleared, the township board would then proceed to create an assessment district to pave Breyman Hwy.

Bids were received from the Road Commission to grade, install culvert and catch basin, and pave the Boulevard from Pentecost Hwy. to the fire barn at a cost of $5,300, also, some road from the fire barn west to end of road at a cost of $3,200.

County will pay 25 percent of cost and because of location of fire barn. Township will pay 25 percent for property owners.

Because of the cost and the township has 57 miles of secondary roads, the board has established the policy it cannot pave township roads.

Any paving of township roads must be done through an assessment district, where the cost can be spread over three years to property owners, or property owners can come up with the money and the township then will contract the work.

An application from Donald and Lillian Whelan to enroll their farm in P.A. 116 was received and approved.

At the next board meeting a hearing will be held to establish the millage for seven sections of the township in the Sand Lake Fire Department assessment district.

Jan and Kim Hardy, children of Mr. and Mrs. Delmer Hardy, former Tipton residents, graduated this summer. Jan Marie received her high school diploma from Sunnyside High School, Tucson, Ariz. She was a member of the National Honor Society, Art Honor League and various musical organizations. Jan is attending Arizona State University in Tempe, Ariz., and majoring in music therapy. Kim received his bachelor of science degree from the University of Arizona, Tucson. He was one of three graduates in the field of geological engineering and was on the dean's list throughout college. Kim and his wife, Judy, will continue to live in Tucson, where he has accepted a position with the Duval Mining Co.

Census Is 100 Years Old

Lenawee County farmers probably didn't realize it, but when they filled out their 1974 census forms they were continuing a practice begun more than 100 years ago.

The agricultural census has an interesting history, dating back to its origin in 1840 under the presidency of Martin VanBuren.

Agriculturalist say that censuses are vital because it is necessary to take an inventory of where the nation stands and where it seems to be going. The 5-year census is nationwide measure of the national farming enterprise.

Those benefiting from farm census data include: farmers, manufacturers, farm organizations, processors and dealers, agricultural colleges, agencies within USDA, and public officials.

Weekend Busy for Haskells

CLINTON—Daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Haskell, N. Adrian Hwy., participated in the Lenawee County Fair Queen contest, Tuesday.

Ramona, 17, placed in the top five and was first runner-up in the talent contest with her comedy telephone monologue.

Cindy Haskell, 16, was in the top 10 in the talent contest with her piano solo.

The Haskells had a bit of other excitement, Sunday, when their huge fireplace chimney was struck by lightning. Luckily, the chimney had a lightning rod down through it which channeled the electrical charge to the ground.

However the chimney, weighing a few tons, now is balanced precariously above the roof, awaiting some workman brave enough to tackle the removal job.

Roads Are Topic At Franklin Township Board

Regular meeting of the Franklin Township Board was held Aug. 12, 1975 at the Townhall. All board members were present, along with William Mackey, township building inspector.

Water system for some cottages on Sand Lake that is operated by the Children's Summer Camp was discussed. A meeting with Cambridge Township, County Health Department, Summer Camp officials and Franklin Board will be held to discuss the problems.

A resolution setting a meeting date of Sept. 24 to plan Bicentennial activities was offered by Superintendent Platt, supported by Whelan, passed 5-0.

P.A. 201 sewer plan was explained by the supervisor. This plan includes Federal funding of 75 percent, State funding of five percent and local participation of 20 percent.

Portions of Franklin Township, in northwest section of township, are included in Somerset and vicinity study area.

A resolution requesting that this portion of Franklin be included in the survey area was passed. Approximate cost of survey is $3,700, if all nine units of government are included.

Improvement of Breyman Hwy. was discussed. A petition containing 134 signatures was received requesting that Breyman Hwy. be repaved.

An injunction was issued in 1938 prohibiting any widening beyond nine feet of pavement and three feet of berm, and no cutting of trees.

Consensus of the board was that township money should not be used to try and clear the injunction. If petitioners would get the injunction cleared, the township board would then proceed to create an assessment district to pave Breyman Hwy.

Bids were received from the Road Commission to grade, install culvert and catch basin, and pave the Boulevard from Pentecost Hwy. to the fire barn at a cost of $5,300, also, some road from the fire barn west to end of road at a cost of $3,200.

County will pay 25 percent of cost and because of location of fire barn. Township will pay 25 percent. This leaves 50 percent for property owners.

Because of the cost and the township has 57 miles of secondary roads, the board has established the policy it cannot pave township roads.

Any paving of township roads must be done through an assessment district, where the cost can be spread over three years to property owners, or property owners can come up with the money and the township then will contract the work.

An application from Donald and Lillian Whelan to enroll their farm in P.A. 116 was received and approved.

At the next board meeting a hearing will be held to establish the millage for seven sections of the township in the Sand Lake Fire Department assessment district.

Jan and Kim Hardy, children of Mr. and Mrs. Delmer Hardy, former Tipton residents, graduated this summer. Jan Marie received her high school diploma from Sunnyside High School, Tucson, Ariz. She was a member of the National Honor Society, Art Honor League and various musical organizations. Jan is attending Arizona State University in Tempe, Ariz., and majoring in music therapy. Kim received his bachelor of science degree from the University of Arizona, Tucson. He was one of three graduates in the field of geological engineering and was on the dean's list throughout college. Kim and his wife, Judy, will continue to live in Tucson, where he has accepted a position with the Duval Mining Co.

Put some STOP in your brakes with Grey-Rock.
All cars have brakes. But like anything else on a car, brakes deteriorate over years of use. Eventually they wear to the point where there's no safe stopping power left. You should have your brakes checked at least every 10,000 miles to be sure they're in good working order. And when replacement is needed, specify Grey-Rock, the makers of America's most complete line of brake linings and parts.

Weekend Busy for Haskells

CLINTON—Daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Haskell, N. Adrian Hwy., participated in the Lenawee County Fair Queen contest, Tuesday.

Ramona, 17, placed in the top five and was first runner-up in the talent contest with her comedy telephone monologue.

Cindy Haskell, 16, was in the top 10 in the talent contest with her piano solo.

The Haskells had a bit of other excitement, Sunday, when their huge fireplace chimney was struck by lightning. Luckily, the chimney had a lightning rod down through it which channeled the electrical charge to the ground.

However the chimney, weighing a few tons, now is balanced precariously above the roof, awaiting some workman brave enough to tackle the removal job.

Vandalism Is Light

Vandalism and similar police problems were light and minor here the past week.

Jack Retan, 504 Cairns, reported to police that he found a 10-speed bike in a field near his home. Wheel and other parts were missing from the bike.

Ron Noonan, 11100 Murphy Hwy., told officers that a tarp over a bulldozer on N. Evans St. had been removed and torn, and a transmission dip stick was stolen along with gasoline from the dozer.

John Schaufele, 104 W. Pottawatamie, reported an attempted B&E at his garage. Four motorcycles were stored inside.

Ed Menominee reported a B&E at the high school. Damages were confined to a window and door. No loss was discovered.

Darcy J. Ford Is Music Alternate

CLINTON—Darcy Jean Ford of Clinton has been chosen as second alternate for a National Music Camp scholarship for the 1976 season at Interlochen. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Ford.

Announcement was made on Aug. 17, at the final concert of the summer's last All-State session, which Darcy attended as a trumpet player in the Jazz Band.

A student at Clinton High School, she was chosen from among the approximately 250 Michigan students attending the session by All-State faculty, teachers, staff and students on the basis of outstanding musicianship, dependability, and citizenship.

All-State activities are an integral part of the National Music Camp, now in its 48th summer, and are sponsored by the University of Michigan.

Approximately 1,000 high school and junior high school students from 184 Michigan communities have been arriving at the camp for two-week sessions throughout the summer.

Concerts are held each Sunday, with a scholarship winner announced every two weeks.

THE LACK OF WOODPECKERS

Let's face it, summer is just not the best woodpecker watching time. At least in our yard it isn't. Woodpeckers are around all right but most of the time they are hiding in the trees. And with the heavy foliage this year there is no problem in finding hiding spots either; in fact, it is probably easier to hide than to show oneself in the open.

Of course, the best way to lure birds into good viewing areas is with food and man-offered food for woodpeckers is suet. Suet and warm weather are not too compatible. Which is a roundabout way of saying that during the hot weather months we do not even try to feed woodpeckers.

One day on the porch we enjoyed a bit of good woodpecker action in the backyard elm. A twosome of downys. We knew they were young because of their appearance — downys at this age are absolutely charming.

Their feathers are soft and fluffy, often they look as though they were not even 'fastened' to the birds very well. The black and white of their backs and wings is okay but the white-gray color of the breast is usually more a tattle-tale gray and often there are streaks, smears, and smudges showing. The impression is always of grubby little guys.

As the two chased from branch to branch and up and down the higher portions of the trunk none of us could be sure whether they were serious or playing.

Whenever their bug hunting brought them together there was a short skirmish. To us it looked like fun and if they were serious — well, all I can say is that they were certainly not very ferocious.

Several weeks ago I commented on how noisy the nuthatches were as they scrambled on the rough bark of this tree but the woodpeckers beat them. Their claws must be sharper because the noise was certainly louder.

Perhaps the biggest woodpecker thrill of the whole summer was the late afternoon appearance of a red-headed woodpecker. We had waited and waited for one of these gorgeous creatures to show himself. They were around, once or twice we heard them. They make a noise quite easy to recognize, very woodpeckerish while still being uniquely their own.

When the mulberries were ripe we were sure there would be some good red-head looking. These birds are inordinately fond of the messy black berries. Not only do the adults go into a frenzy of delight during the berry season but it is a prime source of food for the always hungry youngsters.

This year though they must have had their orgies of eating elsewhere, they must have been eating in the back yard when I was inside and moved to the front when I was on the porch. Whatever, the summer of '75 was notable in that we saw no red-heads eating mulberries.

Finally the day came though. I heard that familiar noise and looked up just in time to see a beautiful red-head land on the top of the fence.

From there it was just a short flight to the lower branch of the walnut tree. My goodness, this character equaled a cardinal and oriole in selecting the perfect 'show-off' place.

The background was the dark green of the walnut and the front lighting was the warm soft late afternoon sunshine. Never have the red head, the white body, and the blue-black wings shown to such perfection.

Although summer is never a good time for these tree loving birds, and I suppose there have been as many around as there usually are, I still feel lonesome somehow and bemoan the lack of woodpeckers.

Special Meeting

All members of the Tecumseh Eagles Ladies Auxiliary are asked to a special nomination meeting Wednesday, Sept. 3 at 8 p.m. to fill offices of resigned officers.

Guest Pastor Is Scheduled

He is welcomed and known among the parishioners of Immanuel Lutheran Church, having served as interim pastor during October and November of 1970.

Historic Home Tour Is Set

An architectural assortment and five "First-time" houses will be the highlights of Historic Marshall's (Michigan) 12th annual Historic Home Tour, Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 6-7.

Event is sponsored by the Marshall Historical Society with the cooperation of some 30 civic, social fraternal and religious organizations.

Seven private houses and the city's three quasi-public buildings are being refurnished as part of the city's Bicentennial celebration.

The 10 buildings range in age from 78 to 140. They represent a top-notch cross-section of mid-19th Century architecture, mainly those typical from the 1840's to the 1870's when Marshall was at its 19th Century highpoint.

All are beautifully maintained and decorated. In fact, all of Marshall residents make a special effort to groom their homes, gardens and the entire community for tour time.

Hours will be 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday, and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday.

Church luncheons, bake sales, antique sales, arts and crafts fair, a band concert, an ice cream social, a Civil War encampment, barbershop quartet singing and numerous other events recall the customs and pleasures of 100 years ago.

A Grand Bicentennial Parade will be held each day at noon. Highlight of the Sunday parade will be the 5th Michigan Regiment Civil War Band from Howell.

Free shuttle buses make continuous trips from the parking areas to each of the buildings.

Residents Can Help Committee

Part 2
By KATHY BROWN

Historic districts have been established in other communities such as Grand Rapids, Ann Arbor, Marshall and Grosse Isle. Hudson's business district is now a national historic district which qualifies for federal funds for preservation.

Realizing the value of Tecumseh's architectural heritage, the City Council appointed the Tecumseh Historic District Study Committee to do the work for establishing a historic district and a protective ordinance.

The study committee plans to present the same to the city during the Bicentennial year. What has it accomplished so far?

Under the direction of Cecil Eby, a historic architecture survey has been completed by the committee. The survey will be compiled to give a guide of the types of 19th century architecture, location, present conditions and surroundings.

Historic district will then be proposed on the basis of the survey.

Homes which surveyors could identify as having been build before the 1900s were surveyed north to south between Brown and Cummins Streets and east to west between the Community Center and the business strip. Other homes, considered good examples of style, were also surveyed.

Survey criteria included location and a description of the architecture, external condition and setting.

Results will be grouped into four categories. One group perhaps worthy of national register nomination. These homes could be protected from exterior alteration or uncompatible additions through the ordinance. Restoration could be encouraged.

A second group could include homes worthy of state nomination. Exterior alterations which might damage the character could be controlled by the historic district ordinance.

A third group of homes although more common, balance the neighborhood and support the preceding groups. The remaining homes would hold no particular significance.

Photographs will accompany the survey. The photographic committee with Donald Berkley is progressing toward this end.

Because the city is using a citizens committee, only expense for the survey is photographic supplies, etc., which the city has agreed to pay.

A printed report of the survey must be submitted to the Tecumseh Planning Commission, Michigan Historical Commission and Michigan Advisory Council, in accordance with legislated procedures.

Once the Tecumseh Historic District Study Committee completes its report, a public hearing must be held 60 days after the submittal of the committee report.

Committee submits the final report and draft of the proposed ordinance to the City Council. The committee then dissolves and the City Council's next step is to adopt the ordinance.

Once adopted, the mayor appoints a historic district commission to enforce the ordinance with the city's building inspector. Three to seven members of the commission must be residents of the district.

Members of the Tecumseh Historic District Committee David Ruff, Dick Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Berkley, Mr. and Mrs. Owen Merrill, Mrs. Glenn Driscoll, Mrs. Don Smith, Wallace Whiting, Geraldine French, Earl Mason, Mrs. Larry Bauman and Mrs. Carlton Cook, chairwoman. Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Eby, appointed members, have recently moved to Mississippi.

Is there anything the public can do to speed the establishment of the historic district?

Yes. Although the historic architecture survey has been completed, still much may be done by individuals or groups to compile the history of these homes and answer such questions as who originally built the building and when? Who lived there? What were the former uses of the home? When were alternations made?

Researching this history is vital to the history and culture of the city and for possible registration of the historic district or some of the sites on the national and-or state registers, which not only bestows a significant honor on the city but may also entitle these sites for monies for restoration, when available.

The Historic District Study Committee hopes some community organizations or individuals will undertake historic research as a Bicentennial project.

City Award for Safety

Tecumseh, which has gone 10 years without a pedestrian fatality, has been declared a winner in the American Automobile Association's 36th annual Pedestrian Safety Inventory.

Tecumseh is among four Michigan cities receiving Achievement Awards from AAA. The others are Sparta, Middleville and Huntington Woods.

In 1974, 44 Michigan communities were honored in the AAA competition in which 2,360 cities and 33 states participated.

Forty-two of the 44 Michigan cities honored by the AAA recorded no pedestrian traffic deaths last year - a year in which some 8,600 pedestrians lost their lives in the United States.

Since the AAA began its program of recognizing cities and states for promoting pedestrian safety, the pedestrian death toll has declined steadily. There were 44 percent fewer pedestrian deaths last year than in 1937, even though the number of motor vehicle registrations has climbed 360 percent and motor vehicle miles traveled jumped 365 percent during the period.

Still, AAA points out that pedestrians account for nearly 50 percent of all traffic fatalities in a majority of the nation's urban areas, and 19 percent of all highway deaths are pedestrian fatalities.

LIBRARY OFFERS A START to families and individuals interested in researching the history of Tecumseh's fine old buildings. Files in the Clara Waldron Room are expanding as Deborah Havener, head librarian, illustrates. Library has initiated a Bicentennial project to collect historical records and copies from area residents.

Signs for Bicentennial Communities

Elwood Little of the Lenawee County Bicentennial Committee reported the Michigan Department of Highways offered to put up Bicentennial signs for any and all local governmental units that have been recognized as a Bicentennial Community either by the Michigan American Revolution Bicentennial Commission or by the federal American Revolution Bicentennial Administration.

Since Lenawee County, through the efforts of the County Bicentennial Committee, has been recognized as a Bicentennial Community by both the state and federal agencies involved, every local governmental unit in the county, be it a city, village or township, qualifies for this Department of Highways program.

For further information, local governmental units can contact the County Bicentennial Committee, 265-6071, or they can write directly to the District Traffic and Safety Engineer for the Department of State Highways, James P. Neve, Jr., Two North Plaza, Jackson, Mi. 49202.

Runners Are 'Improved,' Team Eyes Championship

By KENT DOWNING

There's talk among the cross country runners and Coach Bill Croft this year of battling it out with Airport for the Huron League championship.

Last year the Indians ended up fifth in the league, with a 5-5 record. This year the team is "much improved," according to their coach.

The team will have their first chance to prove their ability Sept. 2 in a meet here with Blissfield.

Co-captians Tim Scheff and Brad Sisson, along with Kim Cantrell are expected to be the center of this year's team.

Tim placed in the state meet last year as a sophmore, while Brad is a three year letterman and Kim is a returning sophmore letterman.

Other runners rounding out the team include Jim Harris, Greg Wonderly, Dave Bilke, Kevin Burchett, Mark Oliver and Kent Norris.

Coach Croft explained that he often has quality runners on the team. This year however, he has quality and a rounded-out team that will prove to be a league championship contender.

The Indian squad runs their three mile course at 4 p.m. at Tecumseh Country Club.

Hockey Try-outs

Lenawee Hockey association will be holding try-outs Sept. 5 from 6:30 to 8 p.m.

Try-outs are open to any high school student in Lenawee, if their high school does not have a hockey team. This includes Tecumseh.

Try-outs are at Yost Arena at U of M's campus, State St., Ann Arbor. There is no cost.

For information, call Walter Seal, 423-3454.

LHA Approaches Board, Seeks School Support

Lenawee Hockey Association (LHA) approached Tecumseh School Board Monday night to muster as much support for its program as possible.

The Board agreed to continue allowing announcements to be made about the games at the high school and allowed the group bulletin board space.

Board, however, denied the LHA's request for bus transportation to and from the games for spectators and the band.

Supt. Robert Duhan, speaking for the board, explained that bus transportation would lead to too many responsibilities and liabilities for the school when the program is a non-school function.

Program allows high school students in Lenawee to join a hockey team and play competitively in Jackson's league.

Pool Open - Parents' Night, Races Planned

Tecumseh pool will be open its regular hours the day following Labor Day, Tuesday, for open swimming. It will be the last day of open swimming before school starts Wednesday.

Parents are also reminded that they are invited to a swimming demonstration of the third session students' ability Aug. 28, at 7 p.m.

After the demonstration, the pool will have swimming races with ribbons for all participants. Those interested must sign up at the pool prior to Aug. 28.

League Title Hangs on Unproved Players

After a week of football camp, head coach Pat Connors and his team returned Monday at 8 a.m. for the first day of regular uniformed football practice.

Connors explained that camp was "super." The Birch Lake area, near Vandalia, was perfect for workouts and for accomplishing their three goals — to establish team unity, condition the boys, and teach offense and defense.

Last year the team won the Huron League title with a record of 7-0. They lost once outside of the league. That was to Chelsea in the season's opener 9-8.

This year, Coach Connors says he is "encouraged." He has a lot of good players returning, but not enough of the players have proven themselves yet for a repeat performance of last year's record.

The team's record hangs on those yet unproven players who did not play a great deal last year.

There are 55 on the team so far. Some may drop from the rooster as practice hardens up. There are 16 returning lettermen and a total of 28 seniors on the team. There are 23 juniors and four sophomores.

Returning at quarterback this year is Dave Spillman, but the Indians will also be counting on Dave Bohannon and transfer student Mark Adams.

Tri-captains are Tom Schwartz, Bill Warner, and Dave Spillman.

Season's opener is against Chelsea Sept. 12, with the first home game against Jefferson Sept. 19.

Tecumseh Businessman Preserves Building's 125 Year Old History

By KATHY BROWN

Union Hall, a three story building with an octagonal cupola, was the first brick block built on the south side of West Chicago by C.A. Stacy and Perley Bills just before 1850.

"Generations of stores, offices, and banks have occupied its first floors, lawyers, dentists, the G.A.R. post, and even the public library have used the second story; the rooms on the third floor, have accomodated town meetings, dances, high school commencement exercises and secret societies," tells Clara Waldron in "100 Years A Country Town."

Glenn H. Kohler and wife, Helen, realtors, now own and occupy the building, which includes Kerby's restaurant and The Cake Shoppe, since 1962.

The local business people have scrubbed "ages of dust and dirt" from the building's furnishings and wood decor to restore them.

Furnishings reveal the building's long use as a bank:

A table, six chairs and a matching love seat are believed to be the board of directors'. The maple chairs were found wired together. Kohler refinished the mahogany table and the chairs were refinished in Blissfield.

In 1970, the cupola had to be removed for a new roof. A plank with the names J. Williams and R. Everett, 1851 was found. They may have been the contractors.

Keys, possibly for the front door, were found in the basement.

Initials of the Lilley State Bank are etched in the glass doors of the board room.

Elevated writing tables, which bank depositers undoubtedly used to sign transactions, still remain. Under the glass top, a Lilley State Bank check of the 1920s bears the original bank front and the name "Tom W. Mingay, The Printer, Tecumseh."

The curved marble counter presents a mystery. "Few men knew how to cut, fit and install these. It is possible they and the craftsman were European," said Kohler.

The vault, from the Victor Safe and Lock Co., Cincinnati, Ohio, has been used many years, as evidenced by foot markings on the door. It may not be the original door frame since it reads Tecumseh Savings Bank.

Other features are the wood paneling and ornate ceiling beams, a tile floor now under carpeting and a Grecian motif around the room. The grill work, which formed a teller's window, is stored.

Kohler, prominent in the building's interior restoration, has spent "half of my life time in the building."

He began his real estate office in 1946 after serving in the navy and rented the small front office and later the board room until he bought the building in 1962 from Effa L. Sage, the widow of Charles.

Lucius Lilley, prominent in the bank history of the building, spent his 57 years of Tecumseh banking in the same office in the Union Building, headquarters for three banks.

Lilley arrived in 1855 to be an assistant cashier. After some 60 years in the business he became known as "Mr. Banker."

He was employed as cashier of two short lived banks in the 1860s and 1870s: the National Bank of Tecumsh, whose president was Peter R. Adams and the Bills, Lilley and Co. Bank, headed by Perley Bills.

The Bills Bank collapsed and Lilley organized the Lilley Bidwell and Co. Bank which became the Lilley State Bank with himself as president until his death in 1912.

A portrait of Lilley recovered by Don Smith and a picture of the Lilley State Bank, recovered by Earl Green were given to Kohler, and are reminders of Lilley's influence.

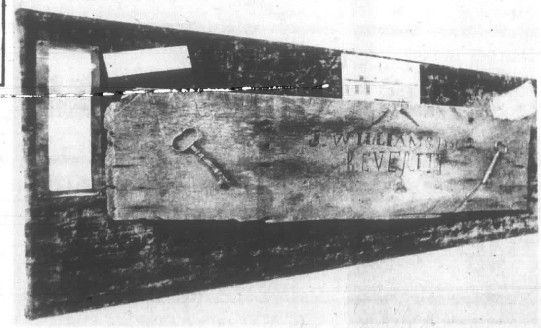
Building was one time city office with Wade Jones as clerk. Residents paid utility bills there. Third floor, now vacant, was used by the American Legion as a meeting hall until 1949. Elmer Eberhardt had an insurance business there until 1972. On the second floor, cake decorating classes are now held.

Building front was covered by tile in the 1950s. "I wish it wasn't there. You can see on the check what the building originally looked like," said Kohler. A clock hung above the entrance and pillars lined the front like sentries.

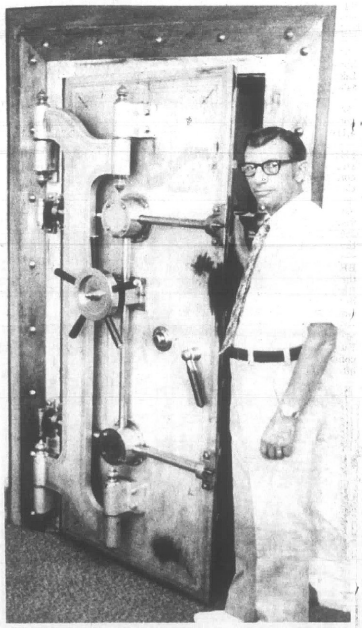
Abstract to the property of 110-114 and 116 W. Chicago Blvd. shows Peter Low acquired it from the United States as part of an 80 acre transaction recorded at the Monroe Land office.

In 1848 deed is recorded under Charles Spafford and wife, Marial, to the trustees of the Union Hall Association, Village of Tecumseh.

Aug. 1931, the Lilley State Bank to the United Savings Bank of Tecumseh and Aug. 8, 1938 United Savings Bank of Tecumseh to Charles F. Sage, and wife, Effa L. are the two entries before the Kohlers assumed ownership in 1962.



PIECING TOGETHER THE HISTORY — Newspaper clippings, a photograph, front door keys and the probable signature of the contractors are clues to the building's history.



DOORWAY TO THE PAST — Glenn Kohler, owner of Union Hall, first brick block on West Chicago Blvd., shows the entrance of the bank vault with its wear markings. Building was predominently used as a bank from the 1860's to the depression era.

Hot water heaters should be located as close as possible to other fixtures using hot water. Consideration must be given to locating the heater close to a flue or chimney to vent it. A well located hot water heater is found close to the chimney flue. Short runs of water piping are economical and result in a minimum loss of hot water. Washing machines should be located close to both water supply and drainage.

Prevent problems with plumbing, heating or air conditioning by having the work done by the experts at CLAUDA PLUMBING & HEATING, 1108 W. Chicago Blvd., 423-3121. We handle new installations and repair or remodel present facilities. We stock a wide selection of products including Kitchen-Aid dishwashers, decorator medicine cabinets, cast iron and fibreglas bathtubs and plumbing fixtures by Kohler, plumbing fictures by Kohler, American Standard and Elkay stainless steel sinks. Open: 8 a.m. - 5:30 p.m. daily, until 9 p.m. Fri., until 5 p.m. Saturday.

HANDY HINTS: Long runs of pipe are uneconomical and less efficient for drainage.

Jewels & gems

By Dick Eggleston

In the 18th century the art of cameo cutting became so popular that people no longer seemed to care if it were done on stone. It was a Scotsman named James Tassie who perfected a paste for reproducing engraved gems. These he copied from the famous collections of the day. In fact, he made about 20,000 paste copies. He also did portraits of distinguished people of the time in this paste. At this time, many gems were made from cut shell as well.

People do care about jewelry and its worth today. You can buy with confidence when you buy from EGGLESTON'S JEWELRY, 107 E. Chicago Blvd., 423-2715. In addition to precious and semi-precious stones for jewelry, we have a wide choice of costume jewelry from fine items to the inexpensive.

GEM GACT: A carat is subdivided into 100 points. Thus, a quarter carat diamond weighs 25 points.

HOLMES, HANNIBAL REPEAT

Country Club Champions

Bill Holmes and Maurine Hannibal repeated as champions at the Tecumseh Country Club this year but not until after Holmes struggled through 38 holes to edge 16-year-old Scott Macbeth in sudden death.

Maurine won her fifth straight title and now holds more titles for the ladies except for Polly Moore, who has nine championships. Maurine defeated Ginger Burrington Sunday, four and three.

Holmes appeared to have his sixth championship wrapped up Sunday at the 16th tee, leading young Macbeth, two up with three holes to go. Rain then cancelled further action and the two renewed their battle Monday afternoon.

Macbeth won the 16th, parring while Holmes three putted from the edge. Both parred the 17th before Macbeth evened the match on the 18th when he chipped to within inches of the cup while Holmes took three to get down from the trap.

The remarkable youngster seemed to have victory in his grasp on the first sudden death hole when Holmes hooked his tee shot behind a tree. It took him two more shots to reach the green and then he two putted for a bogy.

Macbeth hit his second shot on the green, but let victory slide by when he three putted.

On the second sudden death hole — the 38th hole for the two players — Macbeth went over the green on his second shot while Holmes hit the green. The match ended when Macbeth just missed a six-foot putt for a bogy while Holmes parred.

CHAMPION BILL HOLMES AND SCOTT MACBETH

GINGER BURRINGTON, CHAMPION MAURINE HANNIBAL

THIRD FLIGHT—Sandy Sieler, left, won the ladies fourth flight title with a one up win over Shirley Smith.

SECOND FLIGHT—Marty Owen, left, captured the ladies second flight division with a 3-2 win over Irene Feldman.

SECOND FLIGHT—Hal Muskett, right, defeated Steve Sack for the men's second flight title.

Section 1.3

PURPOSE: The purpose of this Ordinance is to regulate and control the subdivision of land within the Village in order to promote the safety, public health, and general welfare of the community. These regulations are specifically designed to:

ARTICLE II

GENERAL PROVISIONS

Section 2.1

SCOPE: This Ordinance shall not apply to any lot or lots forming a part of a subdivision created and recorded prior to the effective date of this Ordinance, except for further dividing of existing lots. Nor is it intended by this Ordinance to repeal, abrogate, annul, or in any way impair or interfere with existing provisions of other laws, ordinances or regulations, or with private restrictions placed upon property by deed, covenant, or other private agreements, or with restrictive covenants running with the land to which the Village is a party. Where this Ordinance imposes a greater restriction upon land than is imposed or required by such existing provision of any other Ordinance of the Village, the provisions of this Ordinance shall control.

Section 2.2

ADMINISTRATION: The approval provisions of this Ordinance shall be administered by the Governing Body in accordance with Act 288, P.A. of 1967 as amended, and by the Planning Commission in accordance with Act 285 Michigan Public Acts of 1931 as amended.

ARTICLE III

PLAT PROCEDURES AND SPECIFICATIONS

Section 3.1

INITIAL PROCEDURES: The proprietor is encouraged to consult the general development plans and detailed plans of any units of government that affect the tract to be subdivided and the area surrounding it. He should also become acquainted with the zoning ordinance, this subdivision ordinance, and other ordinances and requirements which regulate the subdivision of land in the Village. He should also discuss the concepts of the proposed subdivision with the Village Council Planning Commission and with the Staff of the Region II Planning Commission.

Section 3.2

PRE-PRELIMINARY PLAT: The purpose of the pre-preliminary plat stage of the platting process is to acquaint the planning policies of the Village as they apply to the property to be subdivided, and to give the Planning Commission an opportunity to discuss the subdivision with the developer before expensive surveys and drawings are made.

The basic decisions as to the interpretation of planning policy for the site in question, and possible modification of such policy as a result of the proposed development will be made in this procedure. The pre-preliminary plat when approved shall form the basis of the preliminary plat.

3.2.1 FILING PROCEDURES: Ten (10) copies of the pre-preliminary plat and application form, and fees shall be submitted to the Village clerk at least ten (10) days prior to the regular Planning Commission meeting at which the plan is to be considered. The clerk shall check the completeness of the submittal, and, if complete, transmit same to the Planning Commission in adequate time for inclusion in the agenda for the Planning Commission's next regular meeting. If the application is not complete, the clerk shall so notify the applicant in writing and shall list deficiencies. The Planning Commission may require that copies of the plat be submitted to other agencies for review which in the Commission's opinion would have an interest in the proposed development, including the staff of the Region II Planning Commission.

3.2.2 INFORMATION REQUIRED: In applying for approval of the pre-preliminary plat, the proprietor shall submit the following information for the entire tract of land, including land to be developed in stages. Information may be combined for presentation on one or more drawings and in sketch form. However, the Planning Commission shall have the authority to request that the information be divided and presented on more maps than those submitted, in the interest of clarity, speed, and efficiency of the Planning Commission's review. All plans shall be drawn to scale.

Because the purpose of the pre-preliminary plat is to discuss the basic concept and layout of the proposed development in relation to existing and future conditions on and around the site, the proprietor should provide information such as:

1. Description of existing and proposed features on and surrounding the site which are of importance to the proposed development;

2. General description of topographic and soil conditions on the site.

3. A site analysis showing which of the conditions the proprietor intends to retain or modify as part of the subdivision;

4. The concept, general layout, and location of the various uses and facilities to be incorporated within the subdivision;

5. Stages of development;

6. Property dimensions and area;

7. Aerial photograph of the site and surrounding area, with the site defined.

3.2.3 PLANNING COMMISSION REVIEW PROCEDURES:

3.2.3.1 The Planning Commission shall review the pre-preliminary plat for conformance to development policies, the zoning ordinance, and this subdivision regulation ordinance; and shall review the manner in which the plan accomodates or modifies the significant features of the tract.

3.2.3.2 The Planning Commission shall complete its review and act on the pre-preliminary plat within 60 days of the date of filing. The 60-day review period may be extended by written agreement between the Planning Commission and proprietor. If the Planning Commission does not act on the plan within the 60-day period, and if extension is not agreed to, the pre-preliminary plat shall be deemed to be approved.

3.2.3.3 Action of the Planning Commission shall consist of approval, conditional approval, or disapproval. In the case of conditional approval, the Planning Commission shall record the conditions in the minutes and on the copies of the approval and disapproval, the reasons for such action shall be presented to the proprietor in writing and shall be recorded in the minutes of the Commission.

3.2.3.4 Disapproval of the pre-preliminary plat by the Planning Commission concludes official action thereon. Future consideration by the Planning Commission of a proposed subdivision for the subject property shall require submittal of a new application by the proprietor.

3:2.3.5 The Chairman of the Planning Commission shall sign each of five (5) copies of the approved plat and shall cause them to be distributed as follows:
One (1) copy to the clerk for the Governing Body for its information.
One (1) copy to the school board offices having jurisdiction in the subject area,
One (1) copy to the proprietor, and Two (2) copies to be retained in the permanent files of the Planning Commission.

Section 3.3 PRELIMINARY PLAT: TENTATIVE APPROVAL

3.3.1 FILING PROCEDURES: The proprietor shall file ten (10) copies of the preliminary plat and two (2) sepias or other reproducible drawings thereof, application form, and fees with the clerk. The application shall be filed in accordance with Section 3.21 of this Ordinance.

3.3.2 INFORMATION REQUIRED FOR PRELIMINARY PLAT APPROVAL:

1. Name of proposed subdivision.

2. Legal description of the entire site to be subdivided along with a location map showing the proposed subdivision in relation to the existing road system and surrounding properties.

3. Date, north point, scale (not more than 200 feet to 1 inch).

4. Name, address, and phone number of proprietor, other owners, if any, and planner, engineer, surveyor, or designer who prepared the subdivision layout.

5. Names of adjacent subdivisions, layout of streets indicating street names, right-of-way widths and connections with adjoining platted streets, widths and locations of alleys, easements, and public walkways adjacent to or connecting with the proposed subdivision, and lot layout and dimensions of lots adjacent to the proposed subdivision.

6. Topography, existing and proposed, at two (2) foot intervals, with elevations of existing and proposed streets. Proposed grading and landfilling shall be indicated on the plans.

7. Plans and specifications of soil erosion and sedimentation control measures.

8. A site report by the Health Department shall be required for subdivisions that will not be served by public water and sewer. The information listed therein, not required elsewhere in this Ordinance, shall be submitted as part of the application for preliminary plat approval.

9. Ten (10) copies of proposed deed restrictions or protective covenants; if none, a statement of such in writing.

10. Layout and width of right-of-way and pavement of all streets or public ways proposed for the subdivision.

11. Lot layout, dimensions, setback requirements, area (in square feet or acres), and numbers of proposed lots.

12. All parcels or lands to be dedicated or reserved for public use or for use in common by property owners in the subdivision shall be indicated on the preliminary plat, along with any conditions of such dedication or reservation

13. Location and size of all existing and proposed sanitary sewer, storm sewer, and water supply facilities and points of connection or proposed lines to existing lines, elevations and grades, direction of flow, profiles; location of valves and hydrants, location of electricity, telephone, and gas supply lines. Location, description, and details of any on-site facilities to serve the utility needs of the entire subdivision.

14. Preliminary engineering plans for all improvements required by Section 5 4 of this Ordinance. All plans shall be in conformance with applicable local, county, and state standards.

15. Identification, location, and nature of all uses other than single-family residences to be included within the subdivision.

16. Staging of development of the entire subdivision shall be clearly shown on the plan.

17. Location, dimensions, and purpose of all easements shall be shown on the plan.

18. Location and type of sidewalks, street lighting standards, street trees, curbs, water mains, sanitary sewers and storm drains, manholes, basins and underground conduits. The Planning Commission, however, shall have the authority to request that the information be present on more maps than those submitted, in the interests of clarity, speed, and efficiency in the review process.

3.3.3 REVIEW PROCEDURES:

3.3.3.1 The Planning Commission shall review the preliminary plat for conformance to the approved pre-preliminary plat. If the Planning Commission determines that substantial conformance exists, it shall transmit the plat and one reproducible drawing thereof to the School Board or Superintendent in which jurisdiction the proposed subdivision will be located.

3.3.3.2 After receiving comments and recommendations from the school administration, the Planning Commission shall re-evaluate the preliminary plat in view of the new information and may request modifications in the plat. The Planning Commission shall take action on the plat, such action being an approval, conditional approval, or disapproval. The Planning Commission shall transmit the plat together with reasons for its action to the governing body.

3.3.3.2.1 The Planning Commission shall take action on the Preliminary Plat within sixty (60) days of the date of filing of the plat, unless an extension is agreed to as in Section 3.232 of this Ordinance. If no action is taken by the Planning Commission within the sixty (60) day period, and if no extension is secured, the governing body shall assume that the Preliminary Plat has been approved by the Planning Commission.

3.3.3.3 The governing body shall, within thirty (30) days after receiving the Planning Commission's recommendation, tentatively approve or disapprove the Preliminary Plat.

3.3.3.3.1 The governing body shall record its tentative approval on the plat, and return one (1) copy to the proprietor. If disapproved, the governing body shall record its reasons for disapproval and the conditions to be met to qualify for tentative approval, which reasons and conditions shall be sent to the proprietor.

3.3.3.4 After receiving tentative approval from the governing body, the proprietor shall submit the Preliminary Plat to all authorities as required in Sections 113 and 119 of the Subdivision Control Act (Act 228, P.A. 1967 as amended) including the County Drain Commissioner, County Health Department, Department of State Highways, Department of Natural Resources, State Health Department, Water Resource Commission, County Plat Board, and Public Utilities serving the area.

Section 3.4

PRELIMINARY PLAT: FINAL APPROVAL: Final approval of the Preliminary Plat shall confer upon the proprietor for a period of two (2) years from the date of approval, the conditional right that the general terms and conditions under which preliminary approval was granted will not be changed. The two (2) year period may be extended if applied for by the proprietor and granted by the Governing Body in writing. Written notice of the extension shall be sent by the Governing Body to the other approving authorities.

3.4.1 FILING PROCEDURES: The Preliminary Plat for final approval, along with the required written application form and fees shall be submitted to the Clerk at least fifteen (15) days prior to the meeting of the Governing Body at which the plat is to be considered. The Clerk shall determine if the application is complete and thereafter follow procedures set forth in Section 3.2 of this Ordinance.

3.4.2 INFORMATION REQUIRED: The proprietor shall submit the following information to the Governing Body for final approval of the Preliminary Plat.

1. A list of all authorities required by Section 113 to 119, Subdivision Control Act (Act 288, P.A. 1967 as amended) to approve the plat, certifying that the list is complete and that each authority has approved the Preliminary Plat.

2. One approved copy of the Preliminary Plat from each authority as required by Act 288, P.A. 1967 as amended.

3. Copy of receipt from the Village Treasurer that all fees required under this Ordinance have been paid.

4. Final engineering drawings or construction plans of all improvements required under Section 5.4 of this Ordinance.

3.4.3 REVIEW BY THE GOVERNING BODY:

3.4.3.1 The Governing Body shall review the Preliminary Plat at its next regular meeting after submittal of the complete application, or within twenty (20) days of the date of submission to the Clerk. The Governing Body shall give its final approval to the Preliminary Plat if it conforms to the Preliminary Plat given tentative approval by the Governing Body and if all other required approvals have been obtained by the proprietor. The Governing Body shall instruct the Clerk to so notify the proprietor in writing.

3.4.3.2 The Governing Body shall disapprove the plat if it does not conform to the Preliminary Plat given tentative approval, or if it has not been approved by the various authorities as required by Act 288, P.A. 1967 as amended and shall instruct the Clerk to promptly notify the proprietor of the disapproval and the reasons therefore, in writing. The reasons for disapproval shall be recorded in the minutes of the meeting. Notice shall be sent to each of the other approving authorities by the Governing Body.

3.4.3.3 In case of disapproval, further consideration of a plan for subdividing the subject property can only be obtained if the proprietor applies for pre-preliminary plat review.

3.4.3.4 In order to expeditiously reach a reasonable compromise when disapproval of the preliminary plat by the Governing Body is pending, the proprietor and the Governing Body may agree, in writing, to extend the twenty (20) day period. Any changes made in the plan during this extended period shall be sent to each authority that reviewed the Preliminary Plat under Section 113 to 119, Act 288, P.A. 1967 as amended. The approval of each such authority shall be obtained before the Governing Body may accept the plat for approval of the Preliminary Plat. This provision is intended to be used only in situations where, in the opinion of the Governing Body, the conditions standing in the way of final approval are minor.

3.4.3.5 The Governing Body shall instruct the Clerk to note all proceedings in the record of the meeting at which action on the preliminary plat is taken with the record to be open for inspection.

3.4.3.6 No grading, removal of trees or other vegetation, landfilling, or construction of improvements shall commence on the subject property until the proprietor has:

1. Received a written notice from the Clerk that the Governing Body has given its final approval to the Preliminary Plat.

2. Entered into a subdivision agreement with the Governing Body for completion of all improvements required in the Preliminary Plat.

3. Deposited with the Village a bond or other form of security as required by this Ordinance for the provision of improvements.

4. Received a Certificate of Approval or similar evidence of approval of the engineering plans from the Village Engineer of each improvement to be installed prior to approval of the final plat. Where anproval of such plans must be obtained from the County Drain Commissioner, County Health Department, or other County or State agency, the proprietor shall provide evidence of such approvals to the Village Engineer prior to his report and recommendation to the Governing Body. Such plans and approvals shall include those for soil erosion and sedimentation controls as provided in Section 3.32 (7) of this Ordinance.

3.4.4 GUARANTEE OF IMPROVEMENTS: The proprietor shall prepare a detailed estimate of costs of all required improvements not to be installed prior to final plat approval, as provided in Article V of this Ordinance. The estimate of costs shall be checked and approved by the Village Engineer prior to the Governing Body's final review of the Preliminary Plat.

Section 3.5 FINAL PLAT:

3.5.1 FILING PROCEDURES: Final plats shall be submitted in the form required in Act 288, P.A. 1967 as amended, and shall be submitted to the Clerk at least fifteen (15) days prior to the meeting of the Governing Body at which it is to be considered. The Clerk shall check the application for final plat approval for completeness in the manner set forth in Section 3.21 of this Ordinance. A final plat shall not be accepted for review after the date of expiration of the preliminary plat final approval. Final plats shall be submitted to the following agencies, in the indicated order, and the proprietor shall obtain signatures from the agency thereon, prior to filing the final plat with the Governing Body for approval.

County and Village Treasurer
Drain Commissioner
County Road Commission

3.5.2 INFORMATION REQUIRED: All final plats shall be in the form, and contain the information, required by the Subdivision Control Act, Act 288, P.A 1967 as amended.

3.5.2.1 Five (5) mylar copies, four (4) paper prints of the final plat, and the filing and recording fee shall be filed by the proprietor with the Clerk.

3.5.2.2 Abstract of title or other certificate establishing ownership interests and to ascertain if proper parties have signed the plat, for all land included in the subdivison.

3.5.2.3 The proprietor shall provide the Village information which clearly indicates the location, nature, and extent of any changes in the subdivision as constructed, with respect to the final approved preliminary plat. In addition he shall supply a complete record of all improvements that have been installed (other certificates) prior to the final plat application.

3.5.3 REVIEW OF FINAL PLAT:

3.5.3.1 The final plat shall conform closely to the preliminary plat as finally approved. The final plat may cover only a portion of the area covered by the preliminary plat.

3.5.3.2 All improvements and facilities to be provided by the proprietor shall be installed, or adequate security in lieu thereof shall be provided and all dedications and easements shall be evidenced as having been made before the Governing Body may approve the final plat. However, approval of the final plat shall not constitute acceptance of items for dedication. All such installations shall be inspected and approved by the Village Engineer before the Governing Body may approve the final plat.

3.5.3.3 The Governing Body shall review all recommendations and either approve or disapprove the final plat at its next regular meeting after the date of submission or at a meeting called within twenty (20) days of the date of submission. The Governing Body shall approve the plat if it conforms to the final approval of the preliminary plat and to the provisions of the Subdivision Control Act (Act 288, P.A. 1967 as amended).

3.5.3.4 If the final Plat is approved, the Clerk shall transmit the four (4) mylar copies and the filing and recording fee to the Clerk of the County Plat Board. The four (4) paper prints shall be forwarded: four (2) to the Planning Commission; and two (2) to be retained by the Clerk. All mylar copies and paper prints shall have the date of approval marked thereon.

3.5.3.5 If the final plat is approved, the Clerk of the Governing Body shall sign a certificate signifying approval of the final plat by the Governing Body, which shall include the date of approval and the date on which the Clerk signs the certificate.

3.5.3.6 If the final plat is disapproved, the Governing Body shall instruct the Clerk to record the reasons for rejection in the minutes of the meeting, notify the proprietor in writing of the action and the reasons therefore, and return the plat to the proprietor.

ARTICLE IV

SUBDIVISION DESIGN AND DEVELOPMENT STANDARDS

Section 4.1

SCOPE: In considering applications for subdivision of land, the Planning Commission and the Governing Body shall be guided by the design standards set forth in this section. These standards shall be considered to be minimum requirements; where plans adopted by the Planning Commission and for the Governing Body require higher standards, these latter standards shall apply. Waivers in standards shall be waived only under circumstances set forth in Article VI herein.

Section 4.2

STREETS AND ALLEYS: The specifications contained in this Ordinance are the standards for all highways, streets, and alleys which might hereafter be platted or accepted within the Village.

4.2.1 STREET LAYOUT: Streets shall be of sufficient width, suitable location, and adequate construction to conform to the adopted Master Plan. The layout of roads and streets in the subdivision shall provide a continuous circuit for travel, if possible. The arrangement of streets in the subdivision shall provide for the continuation of streets in adjacent subdivisions where such extensions are deemed desirable by the Planning Commission and where such extension is not precluded by topography or existing conditions. The layout shall provide for proper projection of principal streets into adjoining properties not yet subdivided. All such streets shall have a width at least as great as the street being extended.

Residential streets shall be laid out so as to discourage their use by through traffic.

Streets shall be arranged in proper relation to topography to create usable lots, safe streets, and reasonable grades, both for the streets and for driveways intersection therewith.

The street layout shall not isolate lands from existing public streets or roads, unless suitable access is provided, and that such access be granted by easement or dedicated to public use. Such access shall be constructed to standards required by the Village Street Commission or County Engineer.

Opposing streets shall be in direct alignment at the point of intersection. Where offsets cannot be avoided, a minimum distance of 125 feet shall be established between centerlines of the intersecting streets.

Where outlots are required to provide future connections when adjacent areas are platted, such outlots shall be indicated on the plat and designated "future road". Each such outlot shall be sixty-six (66) feet wide and a right-of-way instrument for road purposes shall be executed and filed with the Village Council at the time of plat approval.

Intersections of local roads with collector and arterial roads shall be reduced to a reasonable minimum but shall, in general, be at least 500 feet apart, centerline to centerline, to preserve the traffic carrying capacity of the collector and arterial roads and to reduce the potential of accidents at such intersections. In general, all streets shall intersect each other so that for a distance of a least 100 feet the street is approximately at right angles to the street it joins. In no case shall an intersection form an angle of less than 80 degrees. No more than two streets shall cross at one intersection.

All street construction shall be centered on the street right-of-way. Section line and quarter line roads shall be centered on these lines unless the local engineer approves an exception.

4.2.2 DRAINAGE: All streets and alleys shall be provided with facilities for adequate surface drainage. This may be accomplished by the use of ditches, county drains, natural water courses, or constructed tributaries thereto. It is strongly recommended that this be done with underground storm drains. The storm drain shall be underground and only curb-type design shall be permitted. Exceptions will be made for subdivisions in which each single-family dwelling lot is one acre or larger in area and has a minimum road frontage of 150 feet, in which case a thirty-foot wide pavement section with open ditches will be permitted.

4.2.3 HALF STREETS: Half streets shall generally be prohibited, except where unusual circumstances make them essential to the reasonable development of a tract in conformance with these regulations. Half street dedication will be acceptable only when the boundary of the proposed plat coincides with the boundary of a recorded plat, the other half street has previously been dedicated or on a county-certified road where dedication exists.

4.2.4 CUL-DE-SAC STREETS: Cul-de-sac streets shall not be more than 500 feet in length (100 feet in subdivisions of one acre lots or larger).

Excentions may be made where topographic or other unusual existing conditions would so require. Each cul-de-sac shall terminate with an adequate turnaround of a minimum external diameter of 150 feet. The minimum length of a cul-de-sac shall be 140 feet.

4.2.5 ALLEYS: Alleys shall be prohibited, except in commercial and industrial areas. Where alleys are provided, they shall be at least 30 feet wide. Alleys shall be provided in accordance with standards of the Village Engineer.

4.2.6 PRIVATE STREETS: Private streets are prohibited in subdivisions in which any of the streets are dedicated to the public.

4.2.7 MARGINAL ACCESS STREETS: Where marginal access streets are required, the proprietor shall dedicate property for the purpose of a marginal access street to the Governing Body who shall be responsible for maintaining said marginal access street. A landscaped strip at least ten (10) feet wide shall be provided between the marginal access street and the adjacent, parallel road.

4.2.8 OTHER REQUIRED STREETS: Where a subdivision borders or contains a railroad right-of-way or limited access highway right-of-way, the Planning Commission may require a street approximately parallel to and on one or both sides of such right-of-way, at a distance suitable for the appropriate use of the intervening land (as for park purposes in residential areas, or for commercial or industrial purposes in appropriate districts). Such distances shall be determined with due regard for the requirements of approach grades and future grade separations.

4.2.9 SPECIAL TREATMENT ALONG MAJOR STREETS: When a subdivision abuts or contains an existing or proposed arterial or collector street, the Planning Commission may require marginal access streets, reverse frontage with screen planting contained in a non-access reservation along the rear property line, or such other treatment as might be necessary for adequate protection of residential properties to afford separation of through and local traffic and to retain the traffic carrying capacity of the arterial streets.

4.2.10 STREET NAMES AND HOUSE NUMBERS: Street names shall not duplicate names of any existing street in the Village except where a new street is a continuation of an existing street. Street names may be spelled differently but sound the same shall be avoided. Street house numbers shall be assigned by Consumers Power Company. Generally no street should change direction by more than 90 degrees without a change in street name. In general, streets shall have names and not numbers or letters.

4.2.11 LOCATION FOR UTILITIES: Utilities shall be located so as to best conform to the layout of existing facilities. In streets where no pattern has been established, utilities shall be located in conformance with standards of the Village Engineer.

4.2.12 STREET STANDARDS AND SPECIFICATION: Streets and roads shall be provided in accordance with the street and road standards and specifications adopted by the Village of Britton and the Michigan State Highway and Transportation Department.

TYPE OF STREET ARTERIAL	ROW WIDTH
Boulevards	204'
One-Way Streets	86' - 100'
Two-Way Streets	86' - 120'
Primary Roads	120'
TYPE OF STREET COLLECTOR	ROW WIDTH
Collector Streets	86'
Local Roads	86'
LOCAL
Local Streets	66'
Local Streets in Industrial Subdivisions	86'

Section 4.3

BLOCKS: Blocks generally shall be greater than 500 feet and less than 1320 feet in length as measured from centerlines of streets. No block width shall be less than twice the normal lot depth except where lots back onto a major street, natural feature, or subdivision boundary. A block shall be designed so as to provide two (2) tiers of lots, except where the lots back into a major street, natural feature or subdivision boundary.

In blocks exceeding 800 feet in length, the Planning Commission may require the reservation of a 20 foot wide easement through the block to provide for the crossing of underground utilities and/or pedestrian traffic where needed or desirable, and may specify further, at its discretion, the four-foot wide paved footpath be provided by the proprietor.

Blocks intended for non-residential purposes shall be especially designed for such purposes, and in accordance with zoning ordinance provisions. In such cases, the above dimensions do not apply.

Section 4.4 LOTS:

4.4.1 DIMENSIONS: Lots shall conform to the requirements of local zoning ordinances in terms of width, depth, and area except for outlots that are provided for a designated and approved purpose. The depth of a lot should not be less than one and one-half nor more than three times the width as measured at the building line.

Corner lots shall have extra width to permit appropriate building setbacks from both streets. If the zoning ordinance does not require a greater width, this ordinance shall control in which case the corner lot should be 10 to 20 percent wider than the minimum interior lots. Lots abutting a pedestrian mid-block crosswalk shall be treated as corner lots unless the width of the crosswalk right-of-way is not less than one-third (1/3) of the width of the street right-of-way that the crosswalk intersects.

Lots shall not open or face directly onto a freeway right-of-way, an arterial street or other heavily traveled street, shopping centers, or other large non-residential areas.

4.4.2 LOT FRONTAGE: Lots extending through a block shall be prohibited. Except for corner lots, no lot shall front on two streets.

All lots shall abut, by their full frontage, on a dedicated public street, or an approved private street. Variances to this provision may be permitted in approved planned unit developments.

The portion of a lot bordering on a lake, stream, open area, or similar amenity may be designated as the front provided that a setback can be obtained on the street side equal to the setback provided for the front. In no case, however, shall either setback be less than the front setback required in the zoning ordinance.

4.4.3 FUTURE LOT DIVISION: Where a tract is to be subdivided into lots substantially larger than the minimum size required in the zoning ordinance, or where the tract is in an area which the Planning Commission can reasonably expect to be served with public sewer and water system in the future, but which at time of subdividing does not have sewer and water services available, the Commission may require that streets and lots be laid out so as to permit future resubdivision in a logical manner and in accordance with provisions of this ordinance. Lot arrangements shall allow for ultimate extension of adjacent streets through blocks or the splitting of lots into smaller lots. Whenever such future resubdividing or lot-splitting is contemplated, the plan thereof shall be approved by the Planning Commission before divisions of lots may be made.

4.4.4 UNINHABITABLE AREAS: Land subject to flooding or otherwise deemed uninhabitable in their natural state shall not be platted for residential use, or for any other use that might create danger to health, life or property, or which might increase the flood hazard within or outside the subdivision. Such land shall be set aside for recreation use or shall be retained in its natural state as open space. Such lands may be platted, however, if the features making the lands uninhabitable can reasonably be removed without destruction to adjacent or nearby property or natural features and, if approved, is obtained from the various agencies involved in the review procedure according to this ordinance and the Subdivision Control Act. (Act 288 P.A. 1967 as amended).

4.4.5 LOT LINES: Side lot lines shall generally be perpendicular to the right-of-way lines of curved streets. All sides and rear lot lines should be straight lines unless natural features or street curvature so prevent.

Variations in these provisions may be made when in the opinion of the Planning Commission such variation would result in a better arrangement of lots.

4.4.6 LOTS TO BE BUILDABLE: The lot arrangement shall be such that in constructing a building in compliance with the Zoning Ordinance, topography, or other natural conditions will not create difficulties in locating the building and driveway and in providing adequate yard areas. Acute angles of side lot lines, odd-shaped and pie-shaped lots should be avoided.

The size, shape, and location of each lot should have the following qualities:

(a) A suitable site for placing a house without excess grading, footings, or foundations walls;

(b) Adequate surface drainage away from the house site and outdoor living areas; and

(c) Driveway grades should be reasonable.

4.4.7 SETBACKS AND YARD REQUIREMENTS: Placement of the building on the site shall conform to all yard requirements. However, the proprietor should vary the placement of the building on each lot, particularly the front setback should be varied among several adjacent lots to create a more attractive neighborhood appearance and to relieve the monotony that results from rigid adherence to the minimum requirements.

The setbacks provided should conform to topography and natural features of the site.

4.4.8 ACCESS: Driveways and curbcuts shall conform to standards of the Village Engineer. The curb section of driveways and aprons shall be designed so that excessive breakover angle and rear bumper and exhaust pipe dragging will be eliminated.

4.4.9 ACCESS FROM PRIVATE STREET: Access from private streets shall be deemed acceptable only if such streets are designed and improved in accordance with these regulations.

4.4.10 LOT DIVISION: The division of a lot in a recorded plat is prohibited unless approved, following application to the Governing Body, in conformance with Act 288, P.A. 1967 as amended. No such lot shall be filed with the Village Clerk and shall state the reasons for the proposed division. No lot in a recorded plat shall be divided into lots for building purposes each of which is less in area and dimensions than permitted by the Village zoning ordinance. No building permit shall be issued, nor any construction commenced, until the division has been approved by the Governing Body and the suitability of the land for building sites has been approved by the County Health Department for lots to be served by a public sewer and water system. The division of a lot that results in lots smaller than lots permitted in zoning ordinance may be permitted, but only for the purpose of adding to an existing building site or sites. The application shall so state and shall be in affidavit form.

4.4.11 DIVISION OF UNPLATTED PARCEL: The division of an unplatted parcel of land into two (2), three (3), or four (4) lots involving the dedication of a new street or the extension of any existing streets shall require the approval of the Governing Body prior to the division. Application for division shall be made in writing and shall be accompanied by a drawing of the proposed division. No building or occupancy permit shall be issued in such cases until the Governing Body has approved the division and unless the owner has first secured approval of the County Health Department for lots intended for building purpose and if said lots are not served by public water and sanitary sewer.

4.4.12 RESERVE STRIPS: Privately held reserve strips controlling access to streets shall be prohibited. A one-foot reserve shall be placed at the end of "stub" or dead-end streets which terminate at subdivision boundaries and between half streets, to control access and to prevent erection of structures which might obstruct future street extensions or widenings. The reserves shall be deeded in fee simple to the municipal government.

4.4.13 NON-RESIDENTIAL LOTS: Lots intended for uses other than residential shall be identified on the site plan and shall be specifically designed for such uses, in accordance with provisions of this ordinance and the zoning ordinance.

Section 4.5

PEDESTRIAN WAYS AND SIDEWALKS: Pedestrian ways, other than sidewalks in street right-of-way shall be ten (10) feet wide, when required. The Planning Commission may require a paved walkway to be provided by the proprietor. The pedestrian way shall be treated as an easement.

Sidewalks may be required on both sides of a street, or one side of a street, or in very low-density developments (one acre or larger lots) may be excepted entirely, according to the discretion of the Governing Body, based on recommendations from the various approving agencies. Street rights-of-way shall be sufficient to provide for sidewalks on both sides of the street, except in planned unit developments, where variations may be permitted. Streets leading directly to a school shall have sidewalks on both sides.

Walkways in pedestrian ways and sidewalks shall have a minimum pavement width of four feet, and shall have a minimum lateral slope of 1/8 inch per foot of width. Sidewalks shall be placed one-foot one from the street right-of-way line. Sidewalks shall be concrete, 4 inches thick, with 6 inch thickness under driveways. Driveway aprons shall not break the sidewalk level.

The pavement of pedestrian ways shall consist of concrete, asphalt, stone, or other surface material, according to requirements of the Local Engineer. Planting pockets shall be provided in pedestrian ways for tree and shrub planting. The planting plan and surface treatment shall meet the approval of the Planning Commission. Fences and/or other improvements may also be required if the Planning Commission and/or Governing Body determines such are necessary to protect the adjacent property owners or the pedestrians. The Planning Commission may require that pedestrian ways be lighted, with the lighting to be located so as to adequately illuminate the walkway but not to disturb the adjacent residences. Steps shall not be permitted in sidewalks or pedestrian paths. Grade changes shall be accommodated by ramps.

Section 4.6

NATURAL FEATURES: The Planning Commission shall, wherever possible require the preservation of all natural features which add value to the proposed subdivision and to the community at large, such as large trees or groves of trees, water courses, vistas, historic spots and features, wildlife habitats and ecological areas, and similar irreplaceable assets. The location, nature, and extent of such features shall be identified in the pre-preliminary plat stage and made a part of the plan to the greatest extent possible and feasible. The preservation and/or inclusion of such features may be made a condition of approval of the pre-preliminary plat and the tentative preliminary plat.

Section 4.7

FLOOD PLAINS: Any areas of land within the proposed subdivision which lie either wholly or partially within the flood plain of a river, stream, creek, or lake, or any other areas which are subject to flooding or inundation by storm water shall be clearly shown on the pre-preliminary plat, the preliminary plat, and the final plat. Such land shall not be platted for residential use, and shall not be platted for any other uses that might increase the danger to health, life, or property, or unduly aggravate the flood hazard, for properties within the proposed subdivision or up or downstream therefrom. Such land shall be set aside for uses that will not be endangered by periodic or occasional innundation.

Section 4.8

SURFACE DRAINAGE: Where a subdivision is traversed by a water course, drainage way, channel or stream, a storm water easement or drainage right-of-way shall be provided in accordance with standards of the Engineer or County Drain Commissioner. Such easements shall be placed on the edges of lots and shall not interfere with the usefulness of the lots. Existing drainage-ways may be rechanneled but such rechannelling shall not increase the flow or level, or cause impoundment of water on properties upstream or downstream from the proposed subdivision. Exceptions may be made if such changes conform to an overall drainage plan for the particular drainage district.

The Planning Commission may require the subdivider to carry away by pipe or open ditch in appropriate easements, any spring or surface water that might exist either previous to, or as a result of, the subdivision.

A culvert or other drainage facility to be provided in the proposed subdivision shall, in each case, be large enough to accommodate potential runoff from its entire upstream drainage area, whether inside or outside the subdivision. The Village Engineer or the County Drain Commissioner shall approve the design and size of facility based on anticipated runoff from a ten (10) year storm under conditions of total potential development permitted by the zoning ordinance and recommended in adopted development policies for the area lying within the watershed.

The subdivider shall study the effect of the subdivision on existing downstream drainage facilities outside the subdivision; this shall also be reviewed by the Village Engineer or County Drain Commissioner. Where it is anticipated that the additional runoff resulting from development of the subdivision will overload an existing downstream drainage facility during a ten (10) year storm, the Planning Commission shall notify the Governing Body of such potential condition. In such situations the Planning Commission shall not approve the subdivision until provision has been made for the improvement of said condition.

All drainage improvements shall conform to adopted development plans for the area covered by the proposed subdivision and for the upstream and downstream areas involved.

The Planning Commission may, if it considers such requirements necessary for the proper and safe development of the subdivision and surrounding area, require that the drain be tiled and enclosed.

Section 4.9

EASEMENTS: Utility line easements shall be provided along the rear or side lot lines as necessary for utility lines. Such easements shall be at least 12 feet wide; 6 feet on either side of each lot line. Utility easements on lot lines abutting unplatted land may be 6 feet wide. The proposed layout of telephone and electric utility easements shall be submitted by the proprietor to the utility company serving the area.

All public utilities serving the subdivision shall be underground.

All easements shall be clearly identified on the appropriate plans, as to dimensions, location, purpose, and conditions.

Section 4.10

RESERVATION OF PUBLIC USE AREAS: Where a proposed park, playground, open space, public school, library or other public use area shown in the adopted Land Use Plan, or in an adopted applicable part of such plan is located in whole or in part in a proposed subdivision, such area or areas shall be shown on the plat. Such area or areas may be dedicated to the Village or other applicable public agency by the proprietor if the Governing Body or other applicable public agency approves such dedication. Such areas, if not dedicated, shall be reserved by the proprietor for future purchase by the Village or other appropriate public agency.

The precise nature, location, and extent of the reservation shall be determined during the pre-preliminary plat and tentative preliminary plat stages. The reservation shall be valid for a maximum period of two years from the date on which the Governing Body approves the final plat. If the Governing Body does not purchase the property, or purchases only a portion of the property, the entire property or remaining portion thereof shall revert to the proprietor at the end of the two-year period. The reservation shall freeze the price per acre of the property for the two-year period at the average value per acre that existed at the time the pre-preliminary plat is filed. During the two-year period, the Governing Body, or other public agency shall not be required to pay more than this amount per acre, nor the proprietor required to accept less. Since the Governing Body, or other public agency has the option not to purchase the reserved property, the plan for the entire subdivision should include provisions for utilizing and incorporating the reserved area into the overall plan should it revert to the proprietor.

Section 4.11

CLUSTER DEVELOPMENT: Where the zoning ordinance permits, a proposed residential subdivision may be designed instead as a cluster subdivision for the purpose of creating a more desirable living environment than is possible under the ordinances as applied to individual residential lots; encouraging the provision and maintenance of open space and recreation areas for the residents of the subdivision; obtaining creativity, variety, efficiency, and economy in the physical development pattern of the community; and assuring preservation of natural features of the community and their inclusion into the development pattern of the subdivision and community.

The plan for a cluster development shall be submitted in accordance with the procedures and standards of this Ordinance.

The development must be designed to produce a stable and desirable residential character. Overall densities shall not exceed those permitted in appropriate districts in the zoning ordinance. Open space areas shall meet the standards of open space and recreation areas established in the adopted Land Use Plan. The Governing Body, with advice from the Planning Commission, shall have the right and responsibility to reject a proposed cluster development if the open space areas are, in its opinion, of such size and shape as to be unusable or unmaintainable for open and recreation purposes. Open space provided under cluster or planned-unit development and retained by the developer or property association of homeowners shall remain permanently open for recreation purposes. The open space character of the area shall be secured by restrictive covenant or other means to protect the public's interest in maintaining the density of development and open space character. Such open space and recreation areas shall be set aside as common land for the sole benefit, use, and enjoyment of the subdivision lot owners, present, and future. All open space, tree cover areas, recreation areas, scenic vistas, pedestrian easements or other similar areas, where acreage is a factor in determining the size and extent of commonland, shall be included in the covenants or other measures as permanent open space. Open space in any one cluster development shall be laid out, to the maximum feasible extent, so as to connect with other open space, existing or proposed, in the vicinity, whether such areas are or will be public or private. In the case of two or more adjacent subdivisions, proprietors may cooperatively allocate open space areas, if such areas are coordinated in design and location to an extent acceptable to the Planning Commission.

Cluster subdivisions shall be laid out so as to reduce the lineal feet of street for economy and safety that would otherwise be needed to serve the area; to economize on the cost of utility installations; to retain and take advantage of existing natural features and vistas; to reduce the amount of grading required; to take maximum advantage of storage, absorption, and drainage characteristics of the natural landscape; and to otherwise secure the objectives set forth in this section. In so doing, the minimum lot areas, lot widths, and other standards may be modified in accordance with this ordinance and the Village zoning ordinance.

The cluster subdivision shall be laid out so that its development can be staged in an efficient and economical manner with respect to the opening and maintenance of new streets, the provision of utilities, access to schools and other public and private service facilities, and similar considerations.

Utility easements, such as electric transmissions and storm sewer easements, may be included in the open space area calculation only if they are available to residents of the subdivision, may be landscaped and developed for open space or recreation purposes, and are safe for use by persons engaging in open space and recreation activities.

Open drainage courses, suitably graded and stabilized with sod or other ground cover, and planted with trees, shrubs, and other landscape materials, and made an integral part of the overall open space and recreation system may be acceptable, if approved by the County Drain Commissioner and the County Health Department.

In cluster subdivisions, the common open space shall remain and be maintained in open space in perpetuity. The proprietor shall insure the permanence of both the existence and proper maintenance of the open space by either dedicating it to a public agency responsible for such areas and activities or by dedicating it to a homeowner's association to be made up of the residents of the subdivision. The latter method is, in general, to be preferred.

Where homeowner's associations are to be used, the following conditions shall be met: (1) The association shall be established before dwellings are sold. (2) Membership shall be mandatory for each home buyer and any successive buyer. (3) Open space must be held and maintained as open space in perpetuity. (4) The association shall be responsible for local taxes, maintenance of grounds and facilities, liability insurance, and other similar duties of ownership. Proprietor shall file declaration of covenants and restrictions with the preliminary plats, setting forth these and other features of the association. He shall also supply to the Governing Body a copy of articles of incorporation and a complete set of by-laws of the association.

The Governing Body may require that, in addition to the restrictive covenants and the homeowner's association, an easement over the open space area be given to the public to insure that the area will remain open in perpetuity. Such an easement is intended only to preserve open space, and is not intended to provide public access thereto.

Cluster developments for single-family residences may be provided in areas not served by public water and/or sanitary sewer if each lot is adjacent to an open area which, in the opinion of the County Health Department, can be considered to be part of the site for purposes of supplying the area necessary for drainage fields.

Section 4.12

COMMERCIAL DEVELOPMENTS: Where commercial developments such as shopping centers or office parks fall within the definition of subdivision as set forth in Act 288, P.A. 1967, such development shall conform to all provisions of this Ordinance that may be reasonably applied. Such development shall conform to all zoning ordinance requirements.

In addition to other requirements of this Ordinance, the plan shall show the basic building pattern to be constructed and the general pattern of tenants or types of stores and shops. The parking and circulation pattern shall be clearly delineated and shall be designed so that the circulation system is convenient to customers, can be used with a minimum of congestion, and permits ease of entry and exit from parking spaces. Parking traffic and traffic for entry, exit, and general circulation should be separated (but interconnected) to the maximum feasible extent. Trucking and other service traffic should have its separate circulation pattern. Traffic entering or leaving parking spaces should be controlled so that it cannot move in random patterns, but should be channeled into clearly marked and designed traffic ways. Entry drives shall be so designed and located so as not to create congestion or hazardous conditions on the streets serving the center. Traffic ways from parking areas, in their intersections with entryways, shall be located so as not to interfere with traffic entering or leaving the center.

Parking areas shall be divided into sections and shall be landscaped by planting boxes with trees and shrubs. Wheel stops or other devices shall be used to channel traffic movements within the parking bays.

Landscaping features around the buildings should be provided. Any intended future expansion should be provided for in the layout of the initial center and should be shown on the preliminary plat. The area to be included in the expansion, and all connections thereto, shall be indicated on the preliminary and final plats.

All separate buildings in the center, not connected to the principal center buildings, such as, but not limited to supermarkets, gasoline service stations, theatres, offices, drive-ins, and facilities, shall be shown on the plan, along with the circulation and parking patterns to service such facilities.

Parking spaces shall be provided in number according to the latest standards acceptable to shopping center design, if not otherwise ordained in the ordinance. In general, a ratio of 5.5 spaces per 1000 square feet of gross leasable floor area, or 2.2 square feet of parking area for each square foot of gross floor area, is a reasonable standard. In the latter ratio, the 2.2 square feet of parking area includes drives and pedestrian ways as well as parking bays. Each parking space should be 10 feet wide and 20 feet long.

Pedestrian movement from parking bays to the center and other buildings should be clearly defined and so laid out as to separate, to the greatest extent possible, pedestrians from moving vehicles.

Section 4.13

INDUSTRIAL PARKS: Where industrial developments, such as industrial parks, fall within the definition of subdivision as set forth in Act 288, P.A. 1967, as amended, such developments shall conform to all provisions of this Ordinance that may be reasonably applied. Such developments shall conform to all zoning ordinance requirements.

In addition to the other requirements of this Ordinance, the plan should show the basic pattern of streets, service drives, parking areas, and blocks. Individual lots within each block should be defined as they are sold. The plan should emphasize flexibility to accommodate various industrial needs for space and should concentrate on the size and shape of blocks rather than on individual lots.

The plan shall clearly show the various stages for developing the industrial park.

The parking areas and circulation systems should be clearly delineated. Service and loading areas should be separated from other parts of the parking and circulation system. The parking lots shall be designed so as to channel traffic into appropriate aisles and to prohibit random movements. Streets shall be laid out so as to prohibit through traffic.

All streets within the park shall be designed and constructed to easily and conveniently accommodate the movement of large trucks. The internal circulation system and the points of its connection to the public street system serving it shall be so designed and constructed that congestion or hazardous traffic conditions on either system will not be created. Streets within the park normally shall not be extended to the boundaries of adjacent existing or potential residential areas, or connected to streets intended for predominantly residential traffic.

The entire park shall be landscaped with trees, sod, shrubs, and other materials suitable for the area. Parking lots shall be landscaped. Maintenance requirements for landscaping on each lot shall be set forth in restrictive covenants.

Buffer strips of at least 20 feet in width, and landscaped, shall be required along the side and rear property lines of the industrial park where these abut a residential, agricultural, institutional, or commercial area. The Planning Commission may require provision of a fence, wall, or screen if it determines such is necessary to protect the adjacent areas from litter, trespass, and other nuisances.

Pedestrian movements within the park shall be provided for with sidewalks and clearly marked pedestrian paths. These shall be convenient and safe, with the greatest separation from vehicular traffic feasible.

Restrictive covenants carried in deeds or leases are encouraged to be provided by the proprietor. Items such as, but not limited to, types of activities permitted, minimum site size, site coverage, outdoor storage, landscaping, building design and construction, and sign control should be covered. The covenants should be discussed with the Planning Commission in the pre-preliminary plat and preliminary plat stages. The covenants should be coordinated with, and complementary to, the Village policy controls.

The proprietor's continuing interest in the park shall be clearly described.

All streets in the industrial district shall have curb and gutter and shall be paved, according to standards and specifications of the Village Engineer. Unless otherwise regulated, the grade of streets shall not exceed five percent (5%) from center to curb. Street intersections shall have a minimum curb radius of 50 feet. Drives shall have a minimum curb radius of 25 feet.

Parking and loading on all streets in the industrial district shall be prohibited. Adequate parking and loading areas, and space necessary for maneuvering trucks in loading/unloading operations shall be provided on each site. Parking and loading areas shall be paved and loading areas shall be adequately screened.

Section 4.14

PLANNED-UNIT DEVELOPMENT: Proposed developments generally larger than a subdivision and including some or all of the activities, land uses, and facilities necessary to serve the principal use of the development may be given certain modifications consistent with the public interest. Such modifications are intended to accommodate the site planning, financial, engineering, and other needs of contemporary large development projects. Such modifications may include, but not be limited to, time extensions, schedules for installation of improvements, security requirements for improvements, reduction in minimum lot widths and areas, mixtures of residential densities and building types, etc.

Modifications shall be made in accordance with Article VI of this Ordinance and with the zoning ordinance provisions regulating large scale or planned-unit developments. All required zoning changes shall be made prior to Governing Body approval of the tentative preliminary plat.

The proposed development shall conform to the adopted Land Use Plan with respect to type, location, extent, and density of uses; character and location of roadways; and location and character of neighborhood and community services, facilities, and utilities.

Reservations shall be made in accordance with Section 4.10 of this Ordinance. The approved final preliminary plat shall become a part of the adopted Land Use Plan.

Section 4.15

SOIL EROSION AND SEDIMENT CONTROL: Since considerable erosion can take place prior to the construction of houses and other buildings and features in a subdivision, the various plats for a subdivision shall contain proposed erosion and sediment control measures. The measures shall be incorporated into the final plat and final construction drawings. Erosion and sediment control measures shall conform to the standards established by the Drain Commissioner and the Soil Erosion and Sedimentation Control Act. The measures shall apply to all street and utility installations as well as to the protection of individual lots. Measures shall also be instituted to prevent control erosion and sedimentation during the various stages of construction of the subdivision.

Section 4.16

SEWER AND WATER UTILITIES: Sanitary sewer and water supply facilities shall be designed and located according to the specifications and procedural requirements of the local engineer and the County Health Department.

Storm sewer facilities shall be designed and located according to the specifications and procedural requirements of the local engineer and the County Drain Commissioner.

In areas with on-site sewage disposal systems, tile fields shall be graded so that storm water drains away from such fields.

Section 4.17

RESTRICTIVE COVENANTS: Covenants designed to preserve the character of the subdivision and to help retain its stability, permanence, and marketability are encouraged to be provided by the proprietor. Such covenants should be recorded with the plat and should be blanket covenants that apply to the entire subdivision. Such covenants are intended to complement the public's continuing control of the subdivision through its zoning and building code powers.

Blanket covenants may contain items such as land use controls; architectural controls, including walls and fences as well as buildings; yard and setback requirements; minimum lot size; prohibition of nuisances; regulation of signs; control of type, duration, location, etc., of temporary buildings or vehicles, such as travel trailers, etc., to be stored on each site; scenic or open space easements; and other similar controls.

All covenants shall be discussed with the Planning Commission during the pre-preliminary plat and/or preliminary plat stages and shall be coordinated with existing or anticipated public police power controls.

Covenants should be recorded prior to the sale of any lot within the subdivision.

ARTICLE V

SUBDIVISION IMPROVEMENTS

Section 5.1

PURPOSE: It is the purpose of this section to establish and define the public improvements which the proprietor will be required to provide as conditions for plat approval; to outline the procedures and responsibilities of the proprietor and the various public officials and agencies concerned with the administration, planning, design, construction and financing of public facilities; and to establish procedures for assuring compliance with these requirements.

Section 5.2 GENERAL:

5.2.1 STANDARDS: Improvements shall be provided by the proprietor in accordance with these regulations and/or with any other applicable standards and requirements which may from time to time be established by ordinance by the Governing Body, and by the published rules of the various departments of the Village and county and state agencies.

The improvements required under this article shall be considered as the minimum acceptable standard.

5.2.2 PREPARATION OF PLANS: It shall be the responsibility of the proprietor to have prepared by a registered engineer a complete set of construction plans for the required public streets, utilities, and other facilities required in Section 5.4. Such construction plans shall conform to the preliminary plans which have been approved with the tentative preliminary plat, and shall be prepared in conjunction with the final preliminary plat. Construction plans subject to review and approval by the responsible public agencies and shall be prepared in accordance with their standards and specifications.

Section 5.3 ENGINEERING DRAWINGS OF IMPROVEMENTS:

5.3.1 REQUIRED PRIOR TO CONSTRUCTION: Engineering drawings of all required improvements shall be reviewed and approved by the Village Engineer or Building Inspector, except for improvements to be made under the jurisdiction of the County Road Commission, County Drain Commissioner, or other county or state agencies, in which case the drawings shall be submitted to the appropriate agency for review and approval. Where review and approval of engineering drawings is made by a county or state agency, the Village Engineer or Building Inspector shall obtain written confirmation of such approvals.

No grading, land filling, removal of trees or other vegetation, or construction of improvements shall commence until the engineering drawings of same have been approved as provided in Section 3.436 of this ordinance.

5.3.2 MODIFICATION DURING CONSTRUCTION: All installations and construction shall conform to the approved engineering drawings. However, if the proprietor chooses to make minor modifications in design and/or specifications during construction, he shall make such changes at his own risk without any assurance that the Village or other public agency will accept the changed facility. It shall be the responsibility of the proprietor to notify the appropriate agency of any changes in the approved drawings.

5.3.3 AS-BUILT DRAWINGS: The proprietor shall submit to the Village Engineer or Building Inspector one copy of "as built" engineering drawings of each of the required improvements that have been completed prior to final plat approval. Each set of drawings shall be certified by the proprietor's engineer. Similar drawings shall also be submitted of improvements installed under bond, after final plat approval.

5.3.4 CONSTRUCTION SCHEDULE: The proprietor shall submit to the Village Engineer or Building Inspector a general schedule of the timing and sequence for the construction of all required improvements prior to final approval of the preliminary plat. The schedule shall meet the procedural requirements and inspection needs of the Village, county, and state agencies.

Section 5.4

REQUIRED IMPROVEMENTS: The proprietor shall be required to install the following improvements in accordance with the conditions and specifications of this ordinance.

5.4.1 MONUMENTS: Monuments shall be set in accordance with the State Subdivision Control Act (Act 288, P.A 1967, as amended) and the rules of the State Department of the Treasury.

5.4.2 STREETS AND ALLEYS: All streets, curbs, gutters and alleys shall be constructed in accordance with the standards and specifications of the Village Street Commission or County Engineer as provided in Section 4.2 of this ordinance.

5.4.3 INSTALLATION OF PUBLIC UTILITIES: Public utilities placed in street right-of-ways shall be located in accordance with the County Road Commission or Village Street Commission requirements.

5.4.4 DRIVEWAYS: All driveway openings, from the street surface edge to the property line shall be installed in conformance to standards of the County Road Commission and County Drain Commission or when applicable, to standards of the Michigan Department of State Highways.

5.4.5 STORM DRAINAGE: An adequate storm drainage system, including necessary storm sewers, drain inlets, manholes, culverts, bridges and other appurtenances, shall be required in all subdivisions, and shall conform to the specifications and procedures established by the County Drain Commissioner. All proposed storm drainage construction plans shall be approved by the County Drain Commissioner. Construction shall follow the specifications and procedures of the "State Drain Law".

All natural water drainage ways and impoundment areas shall be preserved at their natural gradient and shall not be filled or interfered with in any way, except as approved by the County Drain Commissioner. If, in the judgement of the Drain Commissioner, a natural water drainage way or impoundment area should be reserved in the public interest, a storm drainage easement of a width or to an elevation specified by the Drain Commissioner shall be required and reserved as a public storm drainage easement or impoundment area with access rights to same. Such shall be noted on plats through the Drain Commissioner and placed on file with the County Register of Deeds. All easements and storm drainage improvements shall be accepted by the County Drain Commissioner for administration, operation, and maintenance, if approved by him.

5.4.6 WATER SUPPLY SYSTEM: When a proposed subdivision is to be serviced by a public water supply system, fire hydrants and other required water system appurtenances shall be provided by the proprietor. If there is no existing or accessible public water supply system, the proprietor may be required to install a water supply system for the common use of the lots within the subdivision in accordance with the requirements of Act 98, P.A. 1913, as amended. All easements and improvements for such systems shall be dedicated to the public and accepted by the Governing Body for administration, operation, and maintenance.

Individual wells may be permitted where public water supplies are not available, in accordance with the requirements of the County Health Department.

All features of the installations shall conform to the requirements of Act 98, P.A. 1913, as amended.

5.4.7 SANITARY SEWER SYSTEM: When a proposed subdivision is to be serviced by a public sanitary sewer system, sanitary sewers and their appurtenances shall be provided by the proprietor. Sewer systems shall comply with provisions of Act 98, P.A. 1913, as amended.

If there is no existing or accessible public sanitary sewer system, a sewer system for the common use of lot owners may be required to be provided by the proprietor, if feasible by the County Health Department, and shall comply with provisions of Act 98, P.A. of 1913, as amended. Where such a system is permitted, said system, together with necessary easements, shall be dedicated to the public and accepted by the Governing Body for administration, operation, and maintenance.

Where it is determined, in the judgement of the Planning Commission, with advice of the local engineer and the County Health Department, that a subdivision cannot be economically connected with an existing public sewer system or that a public sewer system cannot be provided for the subdivision itself, septic tanks and disposal fields on individual lots may be approved if in compliance with standards and specifications of the County Health Department. However, where studies by the Planning Comission or the local engineer indicate that construction or extension of sanitary trunk sewers to serve the property being subdivided appears probable within a three-year period, sanitary sewer mains and house connections shall be installed and capped on each lot therein.

5.4.8 STREET NAME SIGNS: Street name signs shall be installed by the proprietor in appropriate locations at each street intersection in accordance with the requirements of the Village Street Commission or County Road Commission.

5.4.9 SIDEWALKS AND PEDESTRIAN PATHS: Sidewalks and pedestrian paths shall be provided by the proprietor in accordance with Article IV of this ordinance.

5.4.10 RECREATION SITES: Sites for recreation facilities shall be provided by the proprietor as set forth in Section 4.10 of this ordinance.

5.4.11 SCHOOL SITES: Sites for schools shall be provided by the proprietor as set forth in Section 4.11 of this ordinance.

5.4.12 STREET TREES: Trees shall be provided by the proprietor in the terms of both sides of all streets, public or private, and shall be placed at the minimum rate of two (2) per single-family residential lot or at a maximum distance apart of 60 feet. Trees may also be required to be installed according to the same distances in pedestrian ways. Trees to be installed in the street margins shall be of the large deciduous type -- such as, oak, hard maple, ash, hackberry, sycamore. All large decidious trees shall have a minimum caliper of two (2) inches.

The following trees are not permitted in the street margins, pedestrian ways, or any other landscaped area required by this Ordinance: box elder, soft maple, American elm, poplar, ailanthus (Tree of Heaven), and willow.

All trees shall be protected from damage by wind and other elements during the first full year after planting.

5.4.13 STREET LIGHTING: Street lighting shall be located and installed in accordance with Consumer Power specifications. Street lighting poles and standards shall be of metal, treated so as to be non-corrosive. All street lighting poles shall be provided with underground service. Street lights shall be installed prior to the sale of any lots in the subdivision.

5.4.14 UNDERGROUND WIRING: The proprietor shall arrange for all lines for telephone, electric, and other similar services distributed by wire or cable to be placed underground entirely throughout a subdivided area. Such conducts or cables shall be placed within private easements provided to such service companies by the proprietor or within dedicated public ways. Overhead lines may be permitted upon recommendation of the Planning Commission and approval by the Governing Body at the time of final plat approval where it is determined that such lines will not be a detriment to the health, safety, general welfare, design, and character of the subdivision.

All such utilities placed in dedicated public ways shall not conflict with other underground utilities. All such facilities shall be constructed in accordance with standards approved by the Michigan Public Service Commission. All underground utility installations which traverse privately owned property shall be protected by easements granted by the proprietor.

5.4.15 EROSION AND SEDIMENTATION CONTROL: Installation and maintenance of the specified erosion and sediment control measures shall be accomplished as specified in the approved preliminary plat. Any financial guarantees of performance with respect to such measures shall comply with specifications and recommended schedules of the Drain Commissioner.

Section 5.5 GUARANTEE OF COMPLETION OF PUBLIC IMPROVEMENTS:

5.5.1 FINANCIAL GUARANTEE ARRANGEMENTS: In lieu of the actual installation of public improvements as required in Section 5.4 of this Ordinance, the proprietor may elect to provide a financial guarantee of performance in one or a combination of the following arrangements for those improvements which are over and beyond the requirements of the Village Engineer or any other agency responsible for the administration, operation, and maintenance of the applicable public improvement. Such guarantee shall be required for only those required improvements that have not been installed and without certificates of completion prior to the date of application of final plat approval.

5.5.1.1 PERFORMANCE OR SURETY BOND:

5.5.1.1.1 ACCRUAL: The bond shall accrue to the Governing Body for administering the construction, operation, and maintenance of the specific public improvement.

5.5.1.1.2 AMOUNT: The bond shall be an amount equal to the total estimated cost for completing construction of the specific public improvements including contingencies as estimated by the Governing Body.

5.5.1.1.3 TERM LENGTH: The term length in which the bond is in force shall be for a period to be specified by the Governing Body for the specific public improvement.

These deposits shall be made with the Treasurer, or deposited with a responsible escrow agent, or trust company, subject to the approval of the Governing Body.

5.5.1.2.2 DOLLAR VALUE: The dollar value of the cash deposit, certified check, negotiable bond, or irrevocable bank letter of credit, shall be equal to the total estimated cost of construction of the specific improvement including contingencies as estimated by the Governing Body.

5.5.1.2.3 ESCROW TIME: The escrow time for the cash deposit, certified check, negotiable bond, or irrevocable bank letter of credit, shall be for a period to be specified by the Governing Body.

5.5.1.2.4 PROGRESSIVE PAYMENT: In the case of cash deposits or certified checks, as agreement between the Village and the proprietor may provide for progressive payment out of the cash deposit or reduction of the certified check, negotiable bond or irrevocable bank letter of credit, to the extent of the estimated cost of the completed portion of the public improvement in accordance with the FINANCIAL GUARANTEES previously entered in with respect to financial guarantee.

5.5.2 CONDITION OF APPROVAL OF FINAL PLAT: The approval of all final subdivision plats shall be conditioned on the accomplishment of one of the following:

5.5.2.1 The construction of improvements required by this Ordinance shall have been completed by the subdivider and approved by the Governing Body.

5.5.2.2 Surety acceptable to the Village shall have been filed in the form of a cash deposit, certified check, negotiable bond, irrevocable bank letter of credit or surety bond.

5.5.3 INSPECTION OF PUBLIC IMPROVEMENTS UNDER CONSTRUCTION: Before approving a final plat and construction plans and specifications for the required improvements, an agreement between the proprietor and the Governing Body shall be made to provide for checking or inspecting the construction or installation of each improvement and its conformity to the approved plans.

5.5.4 PENALTY IN CASE OF FAILURE TO COMPLETE THE CONSTRUCTION OF A PUBLIC IMPROVEMENT: In the event the subdivider shall, in any case, fail to complete such work within such period of time as required by the conditions of the guarantee for the completion of public improvements, it shall be the responsibility of the Governing Body to proceed to have such work completed. In order to accomplish this, the Governing Body may reimburse itself for the cost and expense thereof by appropriating the cash deposit, certified check, irrevocable bank letter of credit, or surety bond, or the proprietor may have deposited in lieu of a surety bond, or may take such steps as may be necessary to require performance by the bonding or surety company and as included in the written agreement with the Governing Body and the proprietor.

5.5.5 MAINTENANCE BOND: The Governing Body may require, in addition to the security, an amount of 10 percent thereof to cover such contingency expenses that might occur due to failure, unforeseen costs, etc., of any improvement required in these regulations. The period covered by the contingency fee shall not exceed two years from the date of acceptance of the improvement. Excess funds, if any, shall be returned to the proprietor at the end of the two-year period.

5.5.6 PROTECTION AND REPAIR BOND: The Village may also require, in addition to the Performance Bond and the Maintenance Bond, a bond to cover damage that might occur during construction to existing improvements, facilities, or streets on or around the construction site. This bond shall include any cleanup of construction debris from the subdivision that might be necessary.

Section 5.6 INSPECTION OF IMPROVEMENTS:

5.6.1 REQUIRED: All improvements required by this Ordinance shall be inspected by the Village Building Inspector except for improvements to be made under the jurisdiction of the County Road Commission, County Drain Commissioner, and other public agencies in which case engineers or inspectors of each agency will make the necessary inspections. Where inspections are made by other agencies the Village Engineer or inspector shall obtain written reports of each such inspection.

5.6.2 INSPECTION SCHEDULES: It shall be the responsibility of the proprietor to notify the Village or other appropriate public agency when installations are ready for inspection. The proprietor shall arrange with each public agency involved in the subdivision a general schedule and timing of inspections before the preliminary plat is given final approval.

5.6.3 INSPECTION REPORTS: Reports of all inspections of required improvements shall be made by the Village Engineer or Building Inspector.

5.6.4 COMPLIANCE WITH STANDARDS: The proprietor shall bear the final responsibility for the installation and construction of all required improvements according to the provisions of this Ordinance and to the standards of the various public agencies.

5.6.5 ACCEPTANCE: Approval of installation and construction shall not constitute acceptance of the dedication of the improvement.

5.6.6 FEES: The proprietor shall pay all inspection costs incurred by the Village according to schedules determined by the Governing Body, by deposit made at the time of final approval of the preliminary plat. Any funds not used by the Village in its inspections shall be refunded to the proprietor when the subdivision, or stage thereof, is completed.

Section 5.7

SITE CLEANUP: The proprietor shall be responsible for removal of all equipment, material, and general construction debris from the subdivision and from any lot, street, or public way or property therein.

ARTICLE VI

VARIANCES

Section 6.1

GENERAL: The Planning Commission may recommend to the Governing Body a variance from the provisions of this ordinance on a finding that undue hardship may result from strict compliance with specific provisions or requirements of the ordinance or that application of such provision or requirements is impractical. The Planning Commission shall only recommend variances that it deems necessary to or desirable for the public interest. Variances shall apply only to improvements and specifications set forth in this Ordinance. No variances shall be granted on procedures required herein. In making its findings, as required below, the Planning Commission shall take into account the nature of the proposed use of land in the vicinity, the number of persons to reside or work in the proposed subdivision, the probable effect of the proposed subdivision upon traffic conditions in the vicinity, preservation of natural features, and relation to the adopted Land Use Plan. No variance shall be recommended unless the Planning Commission finds the following:

6.1.1 That there are such special circumstances or conditions affecting said property that the strict application of the provisions of this Ordinance would clearly be impractical or unreasonable. In such cases, the proprietor shall first state his reasons in writing as to the specific provision or requirement involved and submit them to the Planning Commission.

6.1.2 That the granting of the specified variance will not be detrimental to the public welfare or injurious to other property in the area in which said property is situated.

6.1.3 That the variance is necessary for the preservation and enjoyment of a substantial property right of the proprietor.

6.1.4 That such variance will not violate the provisions of the State Subdivision Control Act.

6.1.5 The Planning Commission shall include its findings and the specific reasons therefore in its report of recommendations to the Governing Body and shall also record its reasons and actions in its minutes.

6.1.6 That such variance will not have the effect of nullifying the intent and purpose of this Ordinance and the adopted Land Use Plan and Zoning Ordinance of the Village.

6.1.7 The Governing Body, upon recommendation of the Planning Commission, may require conditions to the variance that will substantially secure the objectives of the standards or requirements so varied or modified.

Section 6.2

TOPOGRAPHICAL - PHYSICAL LIMITATION VARIANCE: Where in the case of a proposed subdivision, it can be shown that strict compliance with the requirements of this Ordinance would result in extraordinary hardship to the proprietor because of unusual topography, other physical conditions, or such other conditions which are not self-inflicted or that these conditions would result in inhibiting the achievement of the objectives of this Ordinance, the Planning Commission may recommend to the Governing Body variance modifications or a waiver of these requirements be granted.

Section 6.3

CLUSTER SUBDIVISION AND PLANNED-UNIT DEVELOPMENT VARIANCES: The Governing Body may authorize a variance from specified portio of this Ordinance in the case of a cluster subdivision or planned unit development upon request of the proprietor. The Governing Body shall find that such development is permitted by the Zoning Ordinance and shall have the recommendation of the Planning Commission before acting on the variance.

The Governing Body shall determine, based on the report of the Planning Commission, that the plan provides adequate public spaces and includes provisions for efficient circulation, light and air, and other needs, and otherwise meets the intent of the Zoning Ordinance and the adopted Land Use Plan or parts thereof. The Governing Body, in making its findings shall take into account the considerations set forth in Section 6.1 (General) preceding and the following:

6.3.1 That the proposed project will constitute a desirable and stable community development.

6.3.2 That the proposed project will be in harmony with the existing or proposed development of adjacent areas.

6.3.3 That the standards and requirements of the Zoning Ordinance are met.

6.3.4 That the Planning Commission has reviewed the project plan and recommends its approval as having met the standards and intent of the Land Use Plan, or part thereof, as it applies to the area in and around the subdivision or planned-unit development.

6.3.5 That in granting the variance, it shall be valid only as long as the plan for the complete development is carried out as approved. Any departure from the approved plan shall immediately rescind any variance granted.

6.3.6 That the Governing Body shall establish a time schedule for the completion of the various aspects of the complete subdivision or planned-unit plan.

Variances may include, but not be limited to, reduction in minimum lot area and width, modifications in street and utility standards, yard and setback requirements and permission for mixing of related uses otherwise segregated by the Zoning Ordinance.

Section 6.4

COMMERCIAL AND INDUSTRIAL SUBDIVISION VARIANCES: The Governing Body may authorize a variance from provisions of this Ordinance for commercial and industrial subdivisions, upon request of the proprietor, that are in line with the standards established in Sections 4.12 and 4.13 herein. The Governing Body shall find that the variances do not violate provisions of the Zoning Ordinance and shall have the recommendation on the variances from the Planning Commission before acting therein.

The Governing Body shall determine, based on the report of the Planning Commission, that the variances will result in a plan that meets the following conditions, in addition to those set within Section 6.1 preceding.

6.4.1 That the proposed project will constitute a desirable and stable community development.

6.4.2 That the proposed project will be in harmony with the existing or proposed development of adjacent areas and will not interfere with the liability of adjacent and nearby residential areas.

6.4.3 That the standards and requirements of the Zoning Ordinance are met.

6.4.4 That the Planning Commission has reviewed the project plan, finds that it meets the standards and interest of the Land Use Plan, or part thereof, as it applies to the area in and around the subdivision and recommends its approval.

6.4.5 That in granting the variance it shall be valid only as long as the plan for the complete development is carried out. Any departure from the approved plan and plat shall immediately rescind any variance granted.

6.4.6 That the Governing Body shall establish a time schedule for the completion of the various aspects of the complete subdivision. Variances may include, but not be limited to, modifications in lot areas and width, block sizes, changes in street and utility standards appropriate for commercial and industrial development.

Section 6.5 APPLICATIONS REQUIRED:

6.5.1 REQUIRED IMPROVEMENT VARIANCE OR TOPOGRAPHICAL VARIANCE: Application for any such variance shall be submitted in writing by the proprietor when the preliminary plat is filed for the consideration of the Planning Commission. The petition shall state fully the grounds for the application and all the facts relied upon by the petitioner. The Planning Commission shall submit a report thereon to the Governing Body.

6.5.2 CLUSTER SUBDIVISION, PLANNED-UNIT DEVELOPMENT AND COMMERCIAL AND INDUSTRIAL SUBDIVISION VARIANCES: Application for any such variance shall be made in writing by the subdivider at the time when the preliminary plat is filed for the consideration of the Planning Commission, stating fully and clearly all facts relied upon the proprietor and shall be supplemented with maps, plans, or other additional data which may aid the Planning Commission in the analysis of the proposed project. The plans for such development shall include such covenants, restrictions, or other legal provisions necessary to guarantee the full achievement of the plan. The Planning Commission shall submit a report thereon to the Governing Body, as set forth in Section 6.34 of this Ordinance.

Section 6.6

RESPONSIBILITY FOR GRANTING VARIANCES: The Governing Body shall be the agency for granting variances for relief of hardships or for permitting cluster and planned-unit developments, and variances for commercial and industrial subdivisions.

ARTICLE VII

ENFORCEMENT AND PENALTIES FOR FAILURE TO COMPLY

WITH THIS ORDINANCE

Section 7.1 ENFORCEMENT:

7.1.1 RECORDING OF PLAT: No subdivision plat required by this Ordinance or the Subdivision Control Act shall be admitted to the public land records of the County or received or recorded by the County Register of Deeds, until such subdivision plat has received final approval by the Governing Body. No public board, agency, commission, official or other authority shall proceed with the construction of, or authorize the construction of, any of the public improvements required by this Ordinance unless such public improvement shall have already been accepted, opened or otherwise received the legal status of a public improvement prior to the adoption of this Ordinance unless such public improvement shall correspond in its location and to the other requirements of this Ordinance.

7.1.2 BUILDING AND OCCUPANCY PERMITS:

Bi-centennial Journey

Chores for Farm Youth

By Thelma Younglove

BRITTON—Not too many years ago rural boys and girls had designated chores that had to be done daily. They did not rebel very much at performing their duties.

That was the way of life for almost every farm family and they accepted their responsibilities without much ado.

Homes lacked electricity with the numerous appliances and labor saving devices so common today. Not ever having had these conveniences, people didn't consider their way of living a great hardship.

Now when the electric current is off for a short time, people complain and have a difficult time trying to get along until corrections have been made.

Oil lamps and lanterns supplied the artificial light for homes and barns. They were poor substitutes for our present day lighting systems. Lamp and lantern chimneys had to be washed, wicks trimmed, and filled with oil.

Care of the lamps and lanterns was a task designated to the girls. Taking care of lamps and lanterns was not a girl's only responsibility. Beds had to be made. Floors had to be swept and scrubbed. Dishes must be washed three times a day. (Automatic dish washers were unknown.)

Milk had to be strained, cooled, and taken care of. Once the cream had been removed, butter had to be churned, washed, salted, and stored in crocks or rolls.

Often some of the skimmed milk was made into cottage cheese. The skimmed milk and buttermilk not needed for human consumption was fed to the hogs and chickens.

Meals had to be prepared. Bread, pies, cakes, and cookies were baked in the coal or wood burning range, - a very warm task in hot weather.

Laundry had to be done and the clothes ironed. Girls learned at a very young age to use the old-fashioned sad irons heated on the hot kitchen range. These were by no means all of the tasks girls helped with. Is it any wonder that by the time a girl became an adult she was a skilled homemaker?

Boys had their share of work to do. At an early age they learned to bring the cows from the pasture, help milk, pump water, feed the livestock, clean stalls and bed them. They split kindling wood, carried in the fuel, and emptied the ashes.

They assisted in building, maintaining and repairing fences and machinery. While quite young they started working in the fields. In helping with the farm work the boys gained considerable knowledge of agriculture and animal husbandry.

Farm work was seasonal. In early spring a task for either boys or girls was to collect the duck and goose eggs early in the morning before the eggs had time to chill. This didn't take long, but the thoughts of the gander striking with outstretched wings was frightening.

Often there were orphaned lambs to be bottle fed. Later help was needed to plant the garden. Even fairly young children could aid by dropping potatoes and running errands.

During the summer, poultry had to be fed. Cattle driven to and from the pasture and plenty of water pumped, especially if the wind was not strong enough to keep the windmill in motion. Vegetables had to be brought from the garden and cleaned. Berries were to be picked and there were always many errands to run.

School Opens September 3

Dorcas Class, 10 Guests Meet

BRITTON — Nineteen members of the Dorcas Class of the Britton Congregational Christian Church and 10 guests met in the fellowship center of the church Aug. 21, for a potluck dinner which was in charge of the refreshment committee composed of Mrs. Theo Willis, Mrs. Carrie Murphy, and Mrs. Cora Frayer.

During the meal "Happy Birthday" was sung to honor the birthdays of members having a birthday in August namely: Mrs. Carmen Brown, Mrs. Beverly Fournia, Mrs. Irene Fournia, Mrs. Mandana Frakes, and Mrs. Alta Thompson.

A "thank you" note was read from Mrs. Mandana Frakes who had been a patient at Ford Hospital. Mrs. Theo Willis thanked the class for the gift she received while she was ill.

Mrs. Taylor presented the Rev. and Mrs. Hannevik with a farewell gift.

Mrs. Nora Schultz, program chairman opened the program with a prayer from "Devotions" by Peter Marshall.

She then read articles form an "Ideals" entitled "Country Roads", "Wayside", "To a Young Girl", "To a Young Boy", "Childhood on a Farm", "Days of Lamps", "Our Country", "A Vacation Prayer", "Summer Roads" and concluded with a prayer from "Devotions".

Macon Dialog

by Linda Phillips 423-5213

I held my breath, stuck my head in the oven and waited. The fumes were overwhelming, and I began to choke, but I was determined to hear the VOICE: "What's a nice girl like you doing in a place like this?"

Instead, I heard the plip-plop of the lemon-scented grease-sodden foam as it dripped onto the floor.

Talk about disillusionment!

I have tried so hard to take in my stride disappointments like not hearing the VOICE. But it's becoming increasingly more difficult to hide my hurt feelings over not being one of the "chosen".

For example, the employees of the local hamburger establishment don't burst into song when I place an order. Even though I like all the trimmings on my burger, I'm wondering if I should ask that they be left off so I could hear "Hold the pickle, hold the lettuce. Special orders don't upset us. . ."

I've tried to be patient with my margarine, hoping each time I take it from the refrigerator that it will verbally insist it's butter; and I'd give anything to be able to tell the girls the white tornado came out of my bottle of cleaner and left everything in its side-winding path through the kitchen clean and shining.

You wouldn't believe the hours I've spent in the paper towel aisle at the grocery store waiting for Aunt Bluebelle to appear, admonishing me to "Weigh it for yourself, honey!"

My husband finally talked me into abandoning my vigil by the tank. I was so sure the little man in the boat would come rowing through the blue water.

My greatest disappointment, however, is the fact that my cat still won't cha cha when I feed him. Where have I gone wrong?

SERVING TECUMSEH AND AREA SINCE 1850

VOL. 124 OUR 125th YEAR—NO. 50 THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 4, 1975 TWELVE PAGES—20c

FIRST DAY — Like many mothers with elementary school children, Mrs. Ben Joseph preferred to walk her 8-year-old daughter, Laura, to Patterson for the first day of school. Lisa, 3, was more than happy to bounce along between her sister and mother, on the way there. Laura is in a third grade class and lives with her parents at 404 W. Pottawatamie. Over 3,600 pupils started school Wednesday. (Photo by Kent Downing)

Senior Citizens Continue Opposition to LCOA Plan

For the second time in about two weeks, senior citizens voiced their objections to joining Lenawee Council on Aging.

Nearly 20 senior citizens appeared before Council Tuesday night, and it was clear they did not want to be affiliated with LCOA in Adrian.

When Mayor Harold Easton asked the citizens to raise their hands if they favored joining LCOA, nary a hand appeared. Just the opposite occurred in response to not joining.

In reference to a letter from Clarence H. Osgood, vice president of LCOA, and which was printed in last week's issue of The Herald, one lady summed up her feelings by remarking, "he made us look like puppets by his remarks in his letter. He's way out of bounds."

Councilman Wallace Whiting reported briefly on his visits with senior citizens here and in Adrian.

Council took no action.

Kennedy House Doomed — $75,000 for Restoration

For over two years Council has debated what to do with the old Kennedy house at N. Ottawa and W. Logan Sts.

Tuesday night officials reached a decision - tear it down.

Despite objections from Wallace Whiting, councilman, Council voted 6 to 1 to have the building demolished, ending controversey over the building that dates back to 1851.

Councilmen learned prior to their decision that an architect had estimated that restoration costs could run as high as $75,000 or more. This figure, and apparently lack of interest of others towards buying or saving the structure, resulted in Tuesday evening's decision.

Whiting said the architect's estimated cost was way out of line, and the Kennedy house was a "historical piece of the city and it should be preserved."

Councilwoman Mary Bowers said she was against selling the property and then have the building sit idle and vacant for the next 10 years.

Mayor Harold Easton asked Whiting, "what do we do with it?" This was in response to the high cost of restoring and no buyers.

Dr. Carlton Cook said the building should be removed and the property temporarily landscaped for parking. He went on to say that the property should eventually be sold for private enterprise for a business building.

Councilman James Palmer indicated the site should not be used for parking since that block has "sufficient parking for even the busiest times." He said that he had taken personal surveys recently of parking in the area and there was always parking space available.

Cal Zorn, city manager, says work to tear down the building would start after a few other city projects are completed this fall.

Indoor Pool, Recreation Plan Has No Support

Little support — if any — was gained by Councilman James Palmer Tuesday night when he proposed that the city buy land from the county and build an indoor swimming pool and other recreational facilities.

Site suggested is just south of Russell Rd. and is presently used for Little League ball games.

Palmer said the cooperation of nearby townships should be solicited along with the schools. He remarked that the present city pool, behind the high school, is in a "sad state of affairs," and we need a new pool to handle everyone.

His colleagues quickly pointed out that two years ago the city attempted to build an ice skating arena and other recreational facilities without costing the taxpayers here a single penny. The issue was turned down by the voters about eight to one.

They also reminded Palmer that the schools have attempted to build an indoor pool along with a new high school but have repeatedly been turned down by the electorate. It was also stated that an indoor pool should be adjacent to the high school where it could be used every day.

As to the property suggested, the county once offered it to the city with a price tag of about $4,000 per acre. Officials here lost interest immediately at that time, saying the sale price was ridiculous.

OPENING FINALLY TO THE PUBLIC — An open house for the new wing of the Herrick Memorial Hospital will be Sunday, Sept. 14 from 1 to 5 p.m. Located on the corners of E. Pottawatamie and S. Wyandotte streets, the new wing includes complete laundry, surgical and office areas with a lobby for visitors. Hospital Auxiliary encourages memorial contributions be made to the Landscape Fund to complete the landscaping.

Parking Plan Is Approved

Extremely handicapped people, wishing to shop or do business in downtown Tecumseh, may find it a bit more convenient in the near future.

Council voted Tuesday night to set aside four parking stalls on Chicago Blvd. at Evans St. for the extremely, physically handicapped people.

Councilman James Palmer, who suggested the proposal, originally wanted a total of eight stalls, but then agreed to four. Each stall or parking spot will be adjacent to Evans on the north and south side of Chicago Blvd.

Several councilmen raised questions about enforcement problems that may be encountered but were hopeful that citizens would respect the parking for handicapped in the center of the downtown business section.

Rainfall Tops Eight Inches

City records show that August may have been the rainest on record here with a total rainfall of 8.19 inches.

During the last week of the month, over six inches were recorded with 2.1 inches falling last Friday. Nearly an inch was recorded for Saturday and Sunday.

$71,416 Community Goal, Drive Starting Oct. 15th

Plans have been nearly completed for the 1975 Tecumseh Community Fund Foundation drive, which will be kicked off at the annual Foundation breakfast on Wednesday, Oct. 15.

Mary Bowers, with John Long as her assistant, will head a campaign to raise $71,416, a goal that is nearly $5,000 less than a year ago.

Although the goal is less, a very successful campaign will have to be conducted to meet this year's figure. In 1974, the drive fell about $10,000 short of a $76,316 goal.

If this fall's drive is to meet its goal, much of the slack will have to be picked up by the commercial, professional and residential divisions. Commercial was approximately $6,000 short of its $12,500 goal, and professional and residential were about $1,500 short each of their goals. Only the schools went over.

Mrs. Bowers says committees and division heads will be announced prior to the kick-off breakfast, tentatively set at the Tecumseh Country Club.

Sixteen agencies have been listed for allocations this year, two more than a year ago. First time on the list are Community Action Center and Jobs for Teens.

Major cut of funds from the foundation's drive will be for capital fund division of Tecumseh Park Development. This allocation has been reduced from $12,500 to $6,500.

Tecumseh can be rightfully proud and all efforts to keep Tecumseh beautiful are fitting indeed.

To the Editor:

I am a Goldenaire so feel I am entitled to speak what is on my mind.

It was a shame Mr. Osgood didn't attend the Council meeting referred to in his letter to The Herald.

If his personal reporter said the things Mr. Osgood is repeating as gospel, no wonder his letter is such a farce.

These questions supposedly asked the Council did not consist of all questions, but facts of "why we do not want LCOA." And, as far as the Wednesday group wanting to run things, that is as far from the truth as daylight and dark.

Where on earth does he get 400 eligibles, and why do they not speak what is on their minds, and what they want?

Mr. Osgood said "It is not the Adrian program but under Region II, consisting of Hillsdale and Jackson," and neither is in Lenawee Co. Even Jonesville turned down COA and everyone is might happy they did.

Mr. Osgood's informer about Mr. Eardley telling the Goldenaires what to do, say and think is as far wrong as could be. In fact, it is sheer stupidity.

I don't understand why all of Mr. Osgood's information comes from someone else. Doesn't he have any first hand information?

In Mr. Osgood's last paragraph, he said "this misinformation is leading to a bad state of affairs among our elderly." My observation is that the bad state is being caused by the dust kicked up by Mr. Osgood and his informant's heels. And after all, why shouldn't we all have our own opinion and or right to keep our identity.

Sincerely,
Sarah M. Lowery

Councilman Asks Questions

Why can't we list our industrial property and form an industrial committee were questions raised by James Palmer, councilman, Tuesday night.

Mayor Harold Easton and Cal Zorn, said the property was already listed in numerous publications and with several organizations in the state.

As to an industrial committee, he was reminded that the Tecumseh Area Industrial Association has been active and successful for many years in attracting new industry to Tecumseh.

Their Own Vows Spoken

Martha L. Osburn and Gerald L. Richter spoke wedding vows they wrote at 7:30 p.m. on Aug. 29 in Adrian College Chapel.

The Rev. John A Seim of Zion Lutheran Church, Gibsonburg, Ohio and Robert Osburn, Jr. of Dallas, Texas, the bride's brother, officiated the ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Osburn, Tipton and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale H. Richter, Gibsonburg, Ohio.

Carol Christman was organist and Linda Stephens sang the Lord's Prayer at the close of the service.

Bouquets of white gladiolus, pom-pons and blue statice decorated the altar. Candelabra with ivory bows and greens flanked the aisle.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride selected a candlelight gown of sugar cane material, featuring a pearl and pinch pleat trim on the bodice, high stand-up collar and cuffs on the long sleeves.

Her fingertip veil of ivory illusion was secured by a Camelot lace and pearl covered headpiece, designed by the bride's mother.

She carried a cascade of white roses and baby's breath.

Mrs. Susie Gould of Morenci was matron of honor and Donna Murphy of Tecumseh was maid of honor.

Nancy Burkholder of Hastings, and Kathy Mefford of Dearborn were bridesmaids and Diane Richter, groom's sister, was junior bridesmaid.

The bridesmaids wore gowns of wedgewood blue knit featuring a gathered bodice, long sleeves and hooded jackets of coordinated blue voile floral print.

They carried colonial bouquets of baby's breath and matching fabric flowers, made by the bride.

Donald E. Mount, Columbus, Ohio was best man. Jim and Dave Richter, brothers of the groom of Gibsonburg, Ohio and Ben Osburn, bride's brother of Blissfield and Ronald C. Mauch, groom's cousin of Lindsey, Ohio, seated 200 guests.

A reception was held at the Tecumseh Community Center. Kathy Lewis, Marilyn Dreaw, Lora Osburn, Cindy DeLisle, Karen Worden and Mrs. Ben Osburn served at the reception

The bride is a 1974 graduate of Central Michigan University with a bachelor of science in education. She is a receptionist for Oakbrook Realty, Columbus, Ohio. She was a 1970 graduate of Tecumseh High School.

The groom is a senior at Ohio State University and was a 1972 1972 graduate of Gibsonburg High School. He is employed as a management and sales trainee for DeKalb Seed Co., and is a member of Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity.

Following a wedding trip in Ohio, the couple will reside at 1826 N. 4th St., Apt. A, Columbus, Ohio.

The groom's parents hosted a rehearsal dinner at Richie Hall, Adrian College.

A gown of silk organza over taffeta was chosen by the bride. Lace medallions trimmed the long sleeves and the flared train. A cap of Venice lace held a tiered elbow length veil.

She carried a cascade of daisies, miniature carnations and baby's breath.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Connie McCafferty of Jackson, the bride's sister.

Bridesmaids were Laurie Hale, Rose Rebottaro, and Mrs. Robin Grambling, the groom's sister. Tracy McCafferty of Jackson was flower girl.

Family Assists 50th Anniversary

TIPTON — Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Platt hosted an open house for their 50th wedding anniversary on Aug. 24 at their farm home on Tipton Hwy.

They were assisted by their two sons and family Mr. and Mrs. Richard Platt, Tipton and Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Platt, Anderson, Ind.

Susan Platt, Grand Rapids and Julie Platt, Anderson had charge of the guest book.

The cake, baked by Mrs. Claudia Simpson of Tecumseh, was cut and served by Mrs. Vera Driffill, Tecumseh and Mrs. William Vollmer, Tipton.

Mrs. Robert Platt and Mrs. Mavis Platt presided at the punch bowl. The buffet table was prepared and served by Mrs. Richard Platt, assisted by Mrs. Glen Fisher, sister of Raymond Platt.

The house was decorated with flowers and plants, all gifts to the Platts from their many friends. Among the special gifts and greetings was a telegram from President and Mrs. Gerald Ford from their summer White House at Vail, Colo.

Also a very unusual greeting from Gov. William Milliken and Congressman and Mrs. Edward Hutchinson from Washington.

About 125 guests were present from Lansing, Illinois, Florida and many parts of the county. Among the Adrian guests were Sheriff and Mrs. Germond and Prosecuting Attorney Harvey Koselka and his wife, Natalie.

Mr. and Mrs. John Wolgast, Wheaton, Ill. and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Wilson, Chicago, Ill. returned to their homes Monday after being weekend guests of their aunt and uncle Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Platt and attended the open house for the Platts on Sunday.

Trio Is Dunked While Canoeing on River Raisin

David, 31, and Charlotte Crosby, 21, of Adrian and Carl Martin, 33, of 118 Ottawa St., survived a wild ride on the River Raisin, Sunday. For a time they were all in considerable danger of drowning.

The three started canoeing from Clinton early in the afternoon, from the south Clinton Village bridge behind Pallox Inc. They then lost both canoes as they tipped over in the swift current, a short distance downstream.

Shortly before 5:50 p.m., in an effort to find their lost canoes the trio launched a 12-foot aluminum boat with an outboard motor in the river at the Staib Road bridge, and started north upstream.

They had portaged around the first bridge between the Underwood and Burleson properties and when they got back aboard the boat, the strong current drove the boat into the bridge, upsetting all three into the water.

David Crosby clung to the top of the overturned boat and was swept downstream for 1½ miles. Mrs. Crosby and Martin were able to scramble ashore and called for police assistance.

By the time Clinton State Police, Clinton Fire Rescue Squad and the Lenawee County sheriff's officers arrived at the scene, Crosby was able to get himself to shore unharmed.

Apparently, because of the heavy rains during the past week, both Manchester and Clinton dams were open, greatly increasing the current in the usually navigable river.

Mr. Crosby is the grandson of Mrs. Glenn Driscoll and has been a frequent canoer on the Raisin.

Lynda D. Knight, 302 Maple St., recently graduated from Ferris State College with an associate in applied science degree. She will continue into Ferris' printing management program for a Bachelor of Science Degree. She is an active member of the Delta Zeta Sorority, associate director of a literary magazine there, and has been secretary and treasurer of the college's Printer's club.

Tips for Lunchmaking

Each lunch box should contain one-third of the carrier's total food supply for the day — protective foods as well as energy foods.

Use variety in flavor and texture in the individual lunch. Aim always to include something crisp, something juicy, one hot, one sweet, one tart or salty and one or more colorful foods.

A box equipped with a thermos bottle is a great help to carry hot foods like chili or sloppy joes, leftover meatballs, a hot dog in vegetable soup: fish it out and eat with bun, creamed tuna or beef on English muffin.

Here are 10 ways to faster easier lunchmaking

1. Make up sandwiches in bulk to freeze. Remove as needed. Caution: don't freeze sandwiches with mayonnaise or raw vegetables. Be sure to wrap sandwiches individually. Do the same with muffins, cookies, rolls, etc. Thawing time is about 3 hours.
2. If you bring salads, fix enough for the whole week. Refrigerate in a tightly covered container. Scoop out servings. Add dressing just before eating.
3. Tack a lunch checklist to the kitchen wall to be sure to pack a balanced lunch each day.
4. Two sandwiches can be made as quickly as one. Make them one week; then switch off with a sister, brother, friend.
5. Be prepared for last-minute rushes. On the weekend, gather fruit, containers of yogurt, wrapped servings of cheese. Boil eggs and refrigerate; wash lettuce. Lunches are a snap!
6. Keep lunch things together. Find a special cabinet to store lunch tote, thermos bottle, napkins, plastic containers, etc.
7. Plan the week's lunch menus before shopping; then post the menu on the refrigerator so lunches can be put together automatically.
8. Save leftovers from dinner for a ready-made lunch the next day. Stews, roasts, chili, meat loaf are some good totable goods.

For Adults Only

9. For variety, make the same lunch each day, and trade with a friend at lunchtime. If you have enough friends, you'll never have the same lunch twice!
10. Form a communal lunch group. Mike brings bread, Sue brings cheese, Bob brings the tomatoes. Then sit down and have a picnic.

Macon Dialog

by Linda Phillips 423-5213

For two weeks "oldies but goodies" music sha-boomed sha-boomed throughout our house.

The suits, ties, short hair, angora sweaters and pearl necklaces of 850 graduating seniors in the 1965 Wayne Memorial High School yearbook became a blur as I frantically tried to memorize names and faces before our 10-year reunion which was held last Saturday night.

Thirty-five "kids," showed up.

High school sweethearts Mary Ann and Larry C. attended. They are expecting their fourth child soon. . .

Rusty N. (who now goes by Russ), my lab partner from biology class was there. We fondly recalled our dissection of two frogs, a fish and a worm. Russ is now a policeman on the Westland force. . .

Nobody recognized Gary A. Gary was what we of the class of '65 termed a "greaser." The TV commercials for "the dry look" must have gotten to him because the wet head Gary was obviously dead . .

None of the class' "brains," including Debbie D. and Mike K., made the nostalgic trip. "Off getting a Ph.D. somewhere," I thought.

I later learned Debbie is clerking at S.S. Kresge, and Mike is doing one to five at an institution — not one of higher learning. . .

And Linda D. — who never had so much as one journalism class at old WMHS — is, well I guess you know what she's doing . . .

She enjoyed the Lenawee County Fair, and was surprised to see both the agricultural exhibits and the amusements at the same fair, since they are held at different times and places in her land.

Speaking English, with little or no accent, Stina said she would like to see the southern states while in America.

She is studying languages and expects to be in a career dealing with people.

Sabine Engelbertz, 17, came from Germany, near the Netherlands border, to spend a year at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Richard Dixon and family.

Sabine's mother is a teacher in a gymnasium (high school), and her father is an agricultural counselor. She has three brothers.

She plays guitar, some piano and a wooden flute, likes to read, and is an athlete, playing volleyball, faust ball, and participates in track.

Sabine speaks English fluently, and wants to study for some sort of work with young children.

She would like to visit the Northern states. It's the first time she has been in the United States, but she has visited Canada.

Ray Beck, Sharon Hollow Rd., rural Clinton, is a surgical patient at St. Joseph Hospital, Ann Arbor for more than three weeks. He would appreciate cards from his friends.

Barn Raising for Larry Dicks

CLINTON — Forty men, and nearly as many women and children met the evening of Aug. 25 for a barn raising at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Dicks, nee Carolyn Girbach, at 11000 Willow Rd.

Larry, a diemaker at Ford Motor Co., Saline, had been confined to bed for six weeks and was scheduled for surgery to remove a crushed disk in his back, Aug. 28.

Friends from the United Church of Christ, where Mrs. Dicks is the church organist, worked until dark and nearly completed the 32'x65' pole barn, which Larry had started before he became ill.

Most of the roof and plywood siding were in place by nightfall.

The ladies brought along a bountiful supper, including roasting ears to share.

Children enjoyed riding the pony carts, and Mrs. Dicks showed her visitors through the century-old farmhouse, known as the Albert Reiser farm, which they have been restoring for the past year.

Larry is reported recovering satisfactorily from his surgery, and is already walking about a bit, at St. Joseph Hospital, Ann Arbor.

Middle School Has 62 Cheerleaders

CLINTON — Middle School cheerleading program got off to a good start with a clinic held the week of Aug. 26.

According to the sponsors, Jane McKie and Jan Porter, the high school cheerleaders led the clinic and did an excellent job helping the girls learn the basic skills of cheerleading.

Sandy Marion, Gigi Roberts, Dawn Santy, Wendy Hunt, Eunice Ball and Judy Simison were teachers at the clinic.

There are 62 cheerleaders at the Middle School this year.

Any seventh or eighth grade boy or girl may be a cheerleader, providing they show an interest and are in attendance at practices.

This unique program is so organized because there are many students who are interested in being cheerleaders and this gives many more students the opportunity to participate in an activity that often includes only a select group.

Tradition Carried On

By MAXINE CALHOUN

CLINTON — Nellie Thomas is carrying on the family tradition of using her hands creatively, as she goes about the intricate, time consuming fete of quilting a quilt for each member of her family.

She has saved cloth scraps for the 40 years of her marriage to Don Thomas, while raising two sons and two daughters and she sewed most of their clothing, when they were little.

She recalled how her mother, who died in California last winter at 89, was still making afghans till the end, and had made many quilts in her lifetime.

Raised on a Nebraska farm, Mrs. Thomas remarked how her grandparents had journeyed from the East to the then Dakota Territory, in an open wagon, and staked a homestead claim there, while camping in a hillside shelter for three years.

Her mother was the first of nine children raised by that rugged pioneer couple, beset by all the trials of the times, in a rude land, and surrounded by Indians.

The homely handcrafts were a necessity then, and their heritage is treasured now by this present-day granddaughter.

About 10 years ago, after her family was all raised, Mrs. Thomas decided she'd like to begin quilting and, remembering how her mother and grandmother had done it, she acquired some patterns and started in.

A cathedral window pattern was her first quilt, then she made an appliqued quilt, then came four pieced quilts, and two crazy quilts, her sons' favorites.

The spacious recreation room in the Thomas home on Tecumseh Road, at Clinton's south edge, is filled with Mrs. Thomas' handiwork projects.

Besides three or four quilts in process, (one is always on the wide bolted frame), she has a collection of dozens of beautifully crocheted and hand knitted afghans, and crewel embroidered decorative hangings.

She has sewed for all seven of her grandchildren and says she's not content unless her hands are busy.

Mrs. Thomas will display her quilts and demonstrate the craft of quilting at the Lost Crafts Day event all day Saturday, Oct. 5, during the Clinton Fall Festival, in the Smith-Kimball Community Center.

ARTISTRY IN QUILTS — Nellie Thomas, of Clinton, skillfully blends imaginative design, color, and texture into each handmade quilt for a satisfying hobby. She'll demonstrate how she does it at the Lost Crafts Day, Saturday, Oct. 5, during Clinton's Fall Festival.

We can't miss them — these signs along the intersections of our streets. They protect our school children from physical harm. We see the sign . . . and slow down.

Most of us are deeply concerned about the safety of our youngsters . . . and these signs can be a reminder of a further obligation our society has to its youth. There are dangers in life for which only religious training and faith can prepare us.

Boys and girls approaching maturity deserve the spiritual protection which Christian education provides.

Whenever you approach a school crossing, slow down! But, just don't think safety — think SUNDAY!

Through My Window

BIKES AND BANDS

I like mental pictures, I enjoy situations which trigger my imagination into thinking out what happens next or what happens if. A perfect example occurred several Sundays ago.

The after-dinner bicyclers were either early or perhaps our dinner was late. Actually it doesn't really matter. The fact is that while waiting for dinner I was looking through the south window.

Suddenly a bicycle came up the street. It was an oppressively hot, muggy day and rider was very appropriately dressed. Her shorts and halter looked cool and comfortable.

I have absolutely no idea who she was but as she went by I noticed the cutest little towheaded youngster sitting in a basket on the back of the bike.

As the young woman turned and headed back east I noticed something else. Her left hand suddenly released its grip on the handlebars and reached around to her back.

Quite obviously she was trying to discourage the youngster — she was trying to disengage those little hands from the knot or tie in her halter.

I have no idea whether the youngster was old enough to tease, more probably it was just tiny curious fingers exploring a handy knot. All evening I chuckled at what might have happened —

This summer we have often commented on the ever increasing popuilty of bicycle riding. It so good to see the after-dinner parade and how nice that it is such a family affair.

Last winter in Florida we noticed the same thing. Few youngsters, of course, but after the evening meal it was almost standard practice for people to take a spin around the park on their bikes.

However, the bicycle riding episode that tickled me the most happened not in the evening but in the early afternoon. We had stopped at the park's post office. (Always we are hoping for mail from Michigan.)

What first caught my attention was the outfit the tricycle's rider was wearing. A black bathing suit and a short black and white beach coat, topped by a floppy broad brimmed black and white hat.

And the woman was not young, she must have been in her late 80's. As she neared the building she quit peddling and quickly slowed way down. I could hardly believe my eyes but she aimed right for the side of the building; in fact, she even turned the front wheel a bit.

With a soft nudge she came to a stop. I then realized that this indeed was a calculated maneuver, she probably always stopped by running into a building!

Several weeks ago the telephone rang. The caller's daughter had found a dead bird with an aluminum band around its leg. Where should the band be sent?

I was amazed at how much looking we had to do before coming up with an address. There are all sorts of articles which mention bird banding, stress its importance, delve into the information it provides, and emphasize the importance of returning these bands.

However, surprisingly few gave specific instructions. Finally a booklet published by the Michigan Audubon Society, "Enjoying Birds in Michigan," came to the rescue. The United States Fish and Wildlife Service, Patuxent Research Refuge, Laurel, Maryland.

Bird banding is an extremely interesting and, of course, worthwhile activity. The Fish and Wildlife Service licenses competent people, supplies the equipment, and handles the bookwork.

In '67 the issued two and a half million bands to slightly under two thousand people holding master permits and half that number holding subpermits. They received over ninety-nine thousand recovery reports.

By the way, if you do return a bird band, please be sure to include your name and address as well as a brief description of where you found the bird and, if possible, the reason for its death.

Eventually you should receive a return report telling you where the bird was banded and perhaps other interesting information about it.

I end this rather mixed bag of an article about bikes and bands!

PAULINE and HOWARD BARRETT DANCING THE WESTERN ROUND

Opportunity Is There To Learn To Dance

Western Round Dancing, easier to learn than ballroom dancing, is one of the most rapidly growing forms of entertainment.

The casual friendly atmosphere of Western Round Dancing provides an evening of fun and fellowship.

The opportunity to learn will be provided by the classes which start Sept. 8, at Ridgeway Elementary School, Ridgeway.

People who have never danced, or those who want to learn a different style of dancing are invited to attend.

Fifteen session from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m. on consecutive Mondays will prepare newcomers to join Tecumseh's Shawnee Round Dance Club or one of several other Round Dance clubs in the area.

The classes will be taught by Dave and Shirley Fleck, well known Round Dance teachers in Michigan and Ohio.

The Flecks have been active in Round Dancing for 15 years and have just returned from the most recent session of the Round Dance Callers course at Oklahoma State University.

The classes are limited to couples. For additional information contact Dave or Shirley Fleck, 3444 Orchard Trail Dr., Toledo, Ohio, (419) 535-0806 or Graham or Lois Fleming, 5999 E. Monroe Road, Tecumseh - 423-4702.

Bloodmobile Is Coming, Blood Needed

Tecumseh Community Center will host the Bloodmobile Thursday from noon to 6 p.m. A big call for type "O" negative blood is being made.

Bloodmobile would like to top the 156 pints collected last year but vacation has made it difficult to contact donors and volunteers.

THE LAST AMERICAN HERO

The Vanishing American

Today's dairy farmer milks cows on the edge of a chasm. Standing on one foot. In a high wind.

From his precarious vantage point, he sees increasing costs of such production necessities as seed, feed, fuel and fertilizers; and he sees a farm income declining by comparison.

About half of the U. S. dairy farmers in business five years ago no longer are.

In Michigan, the nation's sixth-ranking dairy state, the number of dairy farmers has dropped from about 14,000 a decade ago to 7,700 last year. The number is expected to be 4,500 by 1980.

Today's dairy farmer knows he cannot stand alone. He knows he needs an ally.

And for 5,400 of the state's 7,700 dairy farmers, that ally is MMPA, a milk marketing cooperative owned and controlled by those it serves.

MMPA, through a variety of service and marketing programs, pledges itself to work for the betterment of its dairy farmer members. MMPA works for a fair return on dairy farmers' investments and works to maintain stability in the complex arena of milk marketing.

Some of MMPA's programs also benefit consumers. The Association encourages high milk production which, combined with sound and positive marketing practices, assures ample milk for Michigan consumers. MMPA also promotes good dairy herd management practices among its members to assure that milk sent to market under the MMPA banner is of highest possible quality.

Dairy farming is the first-ranking segment of the state's No. 2 industry: Agriculture.

And we at MMPA are dedicated to the belief that the Vanishing American is important and to the belief that this great natural resource—the dairy farming industry—is worth preserving.

Tecumseh Library

Tecumseh Public Library has records as well as books! Many new records have recently appeared on the shelves. They can be checked out for two weeks. Here are some of the new arrivals:

The following are musicals:

APPLE TREE. Here are three stories about the war between the sexes: The Diary of Adam and Eve, The Lady and the Tiger, and Passionella. Barbara Harris and Alan Alda sing the leads in each story.

THE FANTASTICS. Two neighbors want their children to marry. Recognizing that children are sometimes contrary, they encourage the young people by putting as many obstacles in their way as possible. The leads are Jerry Orbach and Rita Gardner.

GYPSY. This is the humorous story of one of America's most famous strippers. Ethyl Merman tops the bill in this musical.

Some new movie sound tracks are:

THE STING (Music by Scott Joplin)

A CLOCKWORK ORANGE (features Purcell's "Music for the Funeral of Queen Mary," excerpts from Beethoven's Ninth Symphony, and others.)

THE GRADUATE (music by Simon and Garfunkel)

JONATHAN LIVINGSTON SEAGULL (music by Neil Diamond)

THE WAY WE WERE (songs performed by Barbra Streisand)

Fans of American history will enjoy the following records, which feature music and the spoken word. These records would be very useful for classroom projects or as part of special Bicentennial programs:

HISTORIC MUSIC OF THE GREAT WEST.

WORLD WAR I: HISTORIC MUSIC AND VOICES.

ECHOES OF THE 20's and 30's (original performances by the great stars of the period.)

HISTORIC VOICES AND MUSIC FROM WORLD WAR II

AMERICAN INDIAN CEREMONIAL AND WAR DANCES.

SONGS AND DANCES OF GREAT LAKES INDIANS.

PUEBLO INDIANS IN STORY, SONG AND DANCE

AMERICAN INDIAN DANCES

The library plans to develop a collection of current popular records. Suggestions for records to order are welcome and urged! JOHNNY CASH'S GREATEST HITS AND BUDDHA AND THE CHOCOLATE BOX by Cat Stevens are two of the library's most recent acquisitions in this area.

School Bus Safety Week Sept. 2-8, Take Care When Driving

National School Bus Safety Week, Sept. 2 to Sept. 8, is a good time for motorists to become familiar with state law on stopping for school buses.

The law says that children alighting from a school bus, who must cross the roadway shall do so from in front of the bus.

But children are unpredictable and won't always do what the law says. Drivers are asked to be especially careful and expect the unexpected when a school bus is stopped.

Drivers should be prepared to stop in time. Rear end collisions occur all too often when vehicles strike other vehicles which have already stopped for stopped school buses.

Such accidents often happen when the motorist is inattentive or driving too fast for conditions.

This means the presence of a school bus is a warning that preceding traffic may come to a stop and all drivers should be prepared to do likewise.

Michigan law on stopping for school buses says:

1. Drivers are required to stop when overtaking or meeting a school bus which has stopped to receive or discharge passengers.

2. Stops must be made at least 10 feet in front of, or to the rear of the bus, motorists may not proceed until a school bus resumes motion, or visual signals on the bus are no longer actuated.

3. Drivers need not stop for a stopped school bus at an intersection controlled by a police officer or stop-and-go signal, but may pass the bus at a speed not greater than 10 miles an hour and with due caution.

4. Drivers on the opposite side of a divided highway are not required to stop when meeting a stopped school bus. This applies when two roadways are separated by an intervening space or physical barrier which impedes traffic from crossing from one roadway to the other.

5. When a school bus is about to stop or is stopped to receive or discharge school children, the bus driver is required to give notice by operating flashing red lights, but drivers are still required to stop when the bus is stopped for such purpose even though the red lights may not be operating.

6. The law does not apply in incorporated villages and cities, but stopping can be required by local ordinance if there are signs to inform drivers of the regulation.

Stickmen Sock It to Adrian Maples

By FRANK WEIR

Tecumseh's golf squad got their season off to a convincing start Tuesday beating the Adrian Maples 156-182.

Indian Doug Jacobs was medalist for the varsity with a 37 followed by John Gibson and Steve Lynch each with 39.

Dave Bauman captured junior varsity medalist honors with a 39. Steve Hunter and Dave Graf were next in line each with a 44 for Tecumseh.

The JV squad defeated Adrian 174-182.

The win Tuesday marked the second consecutive year that the Indians have overwhelmed their perennial rivals. Before last year, Tecumseh lost to the Maples seven years in a row.

And head coach Paul Cunningham has high hopes for his charges throughout the coming season. "All things considered, we should be better than last year although its hard to follow a perfect season."

Last year, the Indians won all 12 dual meets, the league meet and the league title. And they tied for first place in the Jefferson Invitational.

The team is again strong this fall having lost the services of just one senior, Paul Lemanski. Varsity lettermen back again include, Scott Macbeth, John Gibson, Doug Jacobs, Steve Lynch and Jeff Steiner. And Steiner in the only senior this year.

Junior varsity lettermen include, Dave Bauman, Keith Bauman, Steve Hunter, Louis Gower, David Graf, Bob Peterson, Kathy Broderick, Sandy Jacobs, and Eric Travis.

Freshman out for the team are, Kevin Koszka, John Faulkner, Frank Lavoy and Jeff Osworth.

Cunningham summarizes his team's fortunes by saying, "we've set high goals for them. We should win the league and place in the regionals. No team has more potential for the state meet. Its just a matter of realizing that potential."

Cunningham is assisted by Vic Stevens.

GETTING OFF ON THE RIGHT FOOT — Tecumseh cross country star Tim Scheff checks his time with coach Bill Croft after the Indians' victory over Blissfield Tuesday 28-30. The contest opened the season for Tecumseh. Scheff placed first with a time of 17:38 for the three mile course. (Photo by Frank Weir)

Indian Harriers Beat Blissfield

Tecumseh's cross-country squad took on Blissfield Tuesday afternoon winning 28-30 opening their season. Both coach Bill Croft and the team members themselves were not entirely pleased with the close win.

"It was hard for the kids to get ready mentally and they did not run well. They weren't pleased with how they ran," Croft said.

Indian Tim Scheff was first in with a time of 17:38 for the three mile course. Next for Tecumseh was Kim Catrell finishing in the fifth spot at 18:17. Dave Bilkie and Kent Norris finished sixth and seventh with respective times of 18:46 and 18:47.

Grabbing ninth through twelve positions were Indians Mark Oliver, Brad Sisson, Dale Carpenter and Kevin Burchett. Their times were 19:12, 19:13, 19:18 and 19:25.

Next action for the Indians is Tuesday at Saline.

Old Teammates Meet on College Gridiron This Saturday at 1:30

Three old Tecumseh football teammates will meet again this Saturday in Detroit.

Dennis Dermyer and Dan Gunder — players for Grand Valley State College — will be starting for their team in a contest with Wayne State University. Mike Eggleston, who graduated with the two boys, is starting for Wayne State.

Dermyer, 6'3", 217 pounds, is a defensive end for Grand Valley. He received all-conference honors last year and also has the distinction of starting every game since arriving at Grand Valley.

Gunder is a defensive free safety weighing in at 180 pounds and standing 5'10". Although Dan hasn't started every game, he's considered "tough" by Grand Valley coaches.

Eggleston, 5'11", 201 pounds, will be starting for Wayne State at strong side safety. A junior, Mike has lettered the last two years on the team and is considered extremely versatile by his coaches.

Game is set for Saturday at Wayne State at 1:30 p.m.

MATCH PLAY WINNERS — Mary Jo Rosacrans and John Kennedy were the respective champions of the ladies and mens match play tourneys at Raisin Valley Golf Course last week. Mary Jo defeated Jeanette Quigley and Kennedy downed Jack Carmichael for their titles.

Champions Named at Raisin Valley

The Raisin Valley Golf Club matches were played the past week and the final winners were presented with trophies by owner Willis Porter.

All matches were played in flights by match play excepting the Junior Tournament which had three 18-hole rounds with handicap.

A medalist trophy was included in the junior group.

The ladies championship was played between Mary Jo Rosancrans and Jeanette Quigley, Adrian. Mary Jo defeated Mrs. Quigley four and three.

The mens championship was between John Kennedy, the young greens Supertindent of Tecumseh Country Club, and Jack Carmichael of Adrian. This was a 36 hole event and Kennedy defeated Carmichael six up with five holes to go. This was John's first championship in golf having been runner-up the previous two years.

The ladies first flight was won by Jenny McCarley of Adrian defeating Selma Kennedy in a sudden death playoff.

In the men's first flight Clyde Locker of Tecumseh defeated Keith Spencer also of Tecumseh in another sudden death playoff on the 20th hole.

The second flight ladies was won by Pauline Konczal and the second flight of the men was between Larry Cote and his son Charles, with Charles winning 5 and 4.

The junior boys played three 18 hole rounds on different days. Ricky Balent of Tecumseh had a net 195 to win first place. Second place was won by Dave Graf with 196. Third place by Tom Frazier with 206.

The medalist, Steven Hunter, shot scores of 79, 76, and 73 for his win.

HARD POSE — Nancy Jahnke and Kitty Day, two Tecumseh girls who attended cheerleading camp at Siena Heights College Aug. 11-13, show one of the more difficult poses they practiced. They were two of 59 participants in the junior cheerleading clinic held annually at the college by the Junior Cheerleading Association of America.

There are three principal types of electric clocks in the United States. The first is called the independent clock, which is very similar to the mechanical clock, except the whole is powered by electricity. The second type is actually a system of clocks which is connected with a central or primary clock by an electric circuit. The third type of American clock uses electricity in such a way that the motor is activated to turn a precise number of revolutions for each second. This is the most common type in the homes today.

HOMEOWNERS CORNER

How to apply wallboard to a curved surface? The flexible types of wallboard will bend sufficiently without braking to cover surfaces. The first thing to do is to cut the board to fit the surface. Prepare the back of the wallboard by scoring at intervals of one half to one inch, using a square and a linoleum knife. Then brake the core beneath each cut. It is best to start the nails into the board before lifting the board into place of nailing. Next, the curved place should be lifted into place and nailed.

Supplies for do-it-yourselfers can be easily found at CLAUDA PLUMBING & HEATING, 1108 W. Chicago Blvd., 423-3121. Hospital Open House Is Sunday for Public

By KATHY BROWN

Herrick Memorial Hospital will host an open house for the $2.8 million addition for the public Sunday from 1 to 5 p.m.

Tour will include the 42-bed medical care facility, surgery suites and the first two phases of the building program, the laundry and emergency rooms, laboratory and kitchen open to the public for the first time.

Total bed count remains at 95.

Addition marks the end of Phase III of the four-phase building program first planned in 1968.

Since then, the hospital operations have been moved from one section to another like a checkers game, explained administrator William Groover.

Tecumseh and the hospital's service area are winners of this round of "checkers" with a more efficient, updated health care facility.

Traffic patterns for people and supplies are more efficient; there is more room and new equipment.

First floor of the addition includes all out-patient services: emergency and out-patient rooms, laboratory, X-ray, surgical suites and physical therapy.

Also on the first floor are new entrance area and lobby, featuring more space, comfortable furniture and a memorial plaque dedicated to Ray Herrick, hospital's chief benefactor.

New business offices are spacious and arranged to make patient admissions more orderly and speedy.

The Hospital Auxiliary gift shop and physical therapy area are brand new facilities, although services were previously offered.

Physicial therapy includes an office, waiting room, two treatment rooms, an exercise room and hydrotherapy room.

New surgical suite features a patient receiving area, patient dressing room, dressing rooms for doctors and nurses and separate entrances to clean core or scrub area, separate patient's entrance to either of two surgery rooms and recovery room.

Area for two more surgery rooms is unfinished.

The X-ray area, remaining from the 1968 section of the hospital, has been remodeled and new patient dressing booths added.

Emergency and out-patient loading and unloading area and ambulance drive are on the far west of the addition. Emergency also has new waiting area.

Second floor has double occupancy patient rooms with 42 new beds, a nursing station and six intensive care coronary unit beds.

Every room has phone, color television, shower and toilet, safety features and emergency bell, patient operated beds, three-way pillow control for reading light, television and two-way intercom with nursing station.

Nursing station has a well defined area for doctors with semi-private dictating booth.

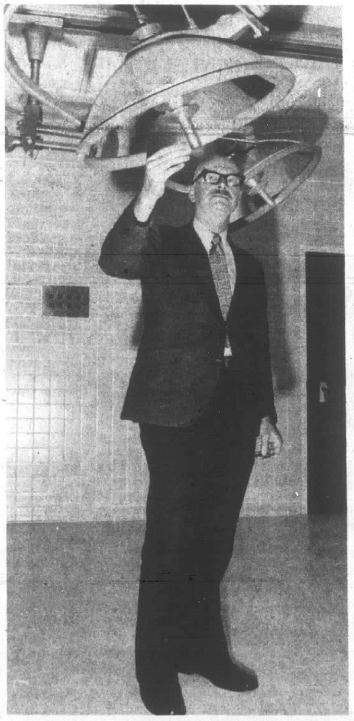
The six bed Intensive CAre Coronary Units (ICCU) electrically monotored, has two-way intercom and visual communication with nurses.

White is an accent color in the interior decoration. Hallways and rooms are bright orange, blue, yellow and green with accent walls.

Basement level has the kitchen and cafeteria, vending room open 24 hours for visitors, central supply, pharmacy, mechanical equipment room, a meeting room available to the public, laundry and housekeeping offices and storage.

Phase four of the hospital building program will include remodeling of the south wing for nursing stations and patient care rooms.

The first floor east will be administrator, medical records and purchasing agent offices. The second floor east will be the new obstetrics wing, presently the surgical area.



SURGICAL SUITES will also be open to the public on the tour Sunday. Hospital administrator, William Groover demonstrates how overhead surgery lamps may be adjusted by the surgeon. (Photo by Cortland Hunt.)

Donations Top $4,000

Downtown businesses and local industry already have started the ball rolling in the first phase of a beautification program for the business district.

Officials, hoping to raise approximately $8,400 to purchase trees and bases, report that the goal is now over halfway reached.

Contributors early in the project are: Trickey's, Inc., Eggleston's Jewelry, Gaston's Jewelry, Holmes Pharmacy, Green's Clothing, United Savings Bank, First Federal Savings, Jean Colgrove Gifts, Masterkraft, Cal's Tog Shop, Polymeric Processes, Inc., Tecumseh Corrugated Box, Easton's Friendly Service, Baldwin Hardware, Don's Beef Buffet and Contented Sole, Tecumseh Herald.

Gifts or pledges in any amount are being accepted, and any business, industry or resident may contribute. Checks should be made out to the City of Tecumseh, Beautification Fund, and sent or mailed to Mary Lou Dangler, president of the Chamber of Commerce, at Gaston's Jewelry.

Each tree and base, including installation and wiring for the holiday seasons, cost $215, and between 35 and 40 are planned for the downtown business district.

Only Four Petitions

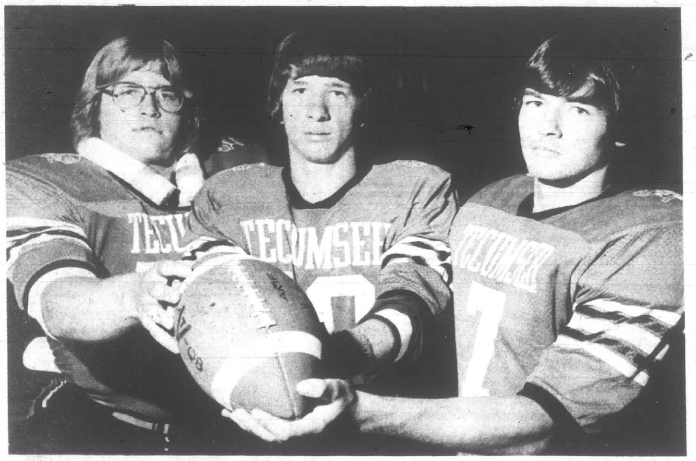
Unless there are more petitions taken out this week, there may not be a race for Council in November.

Vera Gardner, city clerk, reports four petitions have been taken out, but none returned.

Incumbents Harold Easton, Aden Mead and Wallace Whiting have petitions as does Leonard DeMoss, 305 Cairns St. DeMoss indicated a desire to run the last time but a question as to residency requirements apparently prevented him from doing so.

Prospective candidates have until Monday at 5 p.m. to file petitions. Valid signatures of 35 are required for filing.

NEW LOBBY at Herrick Memorial Hospital is more spacious and comfortable with pleasing color, carpeting and cushioned chairs. Memorial plaque in the upper left hand corner is dedicated to the hospital's namesake, Ray Herrick. (Photo by Cortland Hunt)



TRI-CAPTAINS — Leading Coach Pat Connors team this year will be Tom Schwartz, Dave Spillman and Bill Warner. Schwartz is a center and defensive tackle, Spillman quarterback on the offensive unit, and Warner, a halfback and linebacker.

Indians Face Chelsea in '75 Grid Opener

For the third straight year Tecumseh Indians open a football season against Chelsea — hopefully this year on a winning note.

The Indians have fallen the past two years in the opener and will have their hands full this Friday night at Chelsea. Game time is 7:30.

Tecumseh bowed a year ago in a game marred by mistakes losing by one point 9-8. The Indians then jelled, sweeping to a Huron League championship and a victory over Adrian in the finale.

If the Indians pick up where they were at the end of the 1974 season, they stand an excellent chance of stopping Chelsea. If they wait a game or two to jell, then Tecumseh could have another rough evening.

Coach Pat Connors will field a team boasting of good size in the line but small and quick in the backfield. The front four on defense, averaging over 205 pounds, will be the biggest in many years.

The Indians open the league season on Sept. 19 here against Monroe-Jefferson.

Schools Reporting 3,678 Enrollment

Initial enrollment figure in the Tecumseh schools is 3,678, according to Supt. Robert Duhan.

Total enrollment is just two shy of the all-time school record, but is 18 higher than officials projected before the beginning of school. Dropouts between now and Sept. 26th - date for official enrollment - will probably drop the figure closer to the one predicted.

Breakdown shows 1,195 students in the high school, 595 in junior high, and 1,888 in kindergarten through sixth grade.

Last year, the high school's officials enrollment was 1,177, junior high 585, and K-6, 1,906.

Welches Move Dry Cleaners

Welch Cleaners, oldest dry cleaning establishment in town, has moved from S. Maumee to E. Chicago Blvd. at Wyandotte.

Roy and Dorothy Welch have operated their business here for the past 22 years. They were first located at the site now occupied by The Party Shop, and then moved next door when Clayton Mikesell retired and closed his grocery.

Earlier this year the Welches purchased the former Gulf station and are remodeling it for the cleaners.

HS Accepting Registrations

Registrations are still being accepted at the guidance office at the high school for the local schools' adult education program.

The high school completion program includes adult driver education, ceramics, clothing construction, English courses, GED preparation, general math, government, interior decorating, intermediate typing, machine working, natural science, U.S. history and woodworking.

Persons may register by calling the guidance office, 423-5634, or registering personally there. Tom Muncie is the director.

Registrations for courses offered by Monroe County Community College are closed.

Tentative Pacts

Tentative agreements over new contracts have been reached by the Tecumseh schools with the Tecumseh Education Association and secretaries.

Supt. Robert Duhan reports that a tentative agreement was reached with TEA negotiators Tuesday night, ending approximately six months of negotiating sessions.

The agreement will now go before the TEA and School Board for ratification.

A tentative agreement was reached last week with the secretaries.

Still on the bargaining table is a pact between the schools and bus drivers. Only contract settled has been with the maintenance and custodian personnel.

To the Editor:

Am I too late to air my views on the rummage issue?

I am tired of picking up the paper each week and seeing the amount of Rummage Sales published.

I can understand why families are having them, due to the unemployment situation.

Would you, the Public, rather pay higher taxes? Good for you, if you can!

However, I won't be able to, so I donate to Goodwill Industries by giving the workers a job and keeping them on the payroll instead of asking the welfare for help.

I was told once that Tecumseh donated the most items to Goodwill Industries, but now I wonder!

If you don't have a person in your family like those at Goodwill, then you don't realize what I am trying to say.

Thanks for letting me get this out of my system.

How To Judge Your Pharmacist

If you have "yes" answers to most of these questions, you have a good pharmacist. If not, you may want to find another pharmacist.

Is your pharmacy conveniently located in case you need a prescription in a hurry?

Does your pharmacy have reasonable hours of business for prompt, convenient service?

Does your pharmacy have an emergency phone number for after hours?

Does your pharmacy have an honest and fair reputation from its customers?

Is your pharmacy clean and pharmacists presentable?

Is your pharmacist readily accessible, not hidden or out of sight in the pharmacy?

Does your pharmacist answer questions satisfactorily, able and willing to answer drug questions?

Does your pharmacist advise you about the drug, when to take it and its restrictions?

Does your pharmacist tell you how and were to store drugs and how long they're effective?

Does your pharmacist keep complete medication records?

Has your pharmacist explained the use of over-the-counter drugs?

Has your pharmacist told you about savings by using generic drugs?

Does your pharmacy deliver prescriptions, use charge accounts and have after-hour service?

Do you have confidence in your pharmacy to serve you well?

A Pharmacist Is a Professional and Should Be Judged on How Well He Does His Job - And Not Just On His Prices Alone.

Five Test Opportunities For ACT

Students at Tecumseh High School who plan to go on to school after graduation have five opportunities to take the Test Section of the ACT Assessment Program during the 1975-76 school year.

The first of five national test dates on which the ACT Assessment test will be offered is Oct. 18.

Students planning to take the exam on that date must have registered by Sept. 22, it was announced by the Guidance Department.

Information reports resulting from the three hour test and questionnaire sections are sent to the students and their high school counselors, as well as to colleges designated by the students.

THE SEASON'S LAST FAMILY

All summer there is great joy watching the birds busily engaged in the seasonal task of family raising. But there is something extra special about the young birds we are seeing now — they are the last 'batch' of the summer.

It doesn't seem possible that the time has gone so quickly, I can hardly believe the calendar as it says that we are well into September.

I'll bet Papa Cardinal knows exactly how late in the season it is. He looks so tired, so bedraggled, so all worn out.

This business of raising three sets of youngsters must be exhausting. By summer's end he looks more than ready for a change of pace.

Actually, of course, this haggard look is largely due to his worn feathers, he is getting ready for a new suit.

But enough of this chatter, Marda, get on with the telling of what has been happening outside your window. It has almost become a tradition for us to see a family of fresh-out-of-the-nest cardinals over the Labor Day weekend.

This year they arrived a few days early. We heard that familiar shrill and high pitched squeaking, checked the west window picture carefully, and finally spotted Papa C. and two kids.

What a surprise though! The male was none other than my aunt's 'red bird with a blue head'. All summer we have occasionally seen him but never in the company of either a female or youngsters.

We felt perhaps he was an outcast. Now the whole scene changes and possibly he can manage much better than we thought.

The noisy happening on the ground was so typical that we could not help laughing. There were the two youngsters -- big, fluffy, feathered, dark characters -- crouching in front of the male bird. They looked larger than he did and oh, the noise coming out of their dull blackish bills.

He was doing a valiant job of trying to satisfy their hunger but if that seems like an impossible job to us, what must it have seemed to him. No matter how much he stuffed into their wide open mouths they hollered for more.

Two days later the kids were still begging and there was another cardinal nearby. It stayed rather close to the family group but did not join the threesome.

Both young birds and Mama C. wear the same drab light brownish tan color and, when the bird in question hides itself in the shadows of a far away tree, it is often hard to tell the difference. Of course, even a half good-look makes identification easy.

Most of the summer we have not been too faithful in keeping the near-my-window feeder well stocked. There has been plenty of natural food around so we knew no one was going hungry. There is also an over abundance of cats roaming the neighborhood.

As has been said before in this column, we do not feed birds only to have them feed cats. However, with the cardinal family around it was just too much of a temptation and I had Dad put out some fresh sunflower seeds. We would all pay extra attention and try to chase away any cats.

Well, the cardinals promptly came to the feeder but they were not the cardinals we expected. Instead of the youngsters, we had the soon-to-be adults. Both the male and the female were nearing maturity -- they flew well, managed the sunflower seeds expertly, and only their appearance gave away their age. Her topknot was not quite filled out and he was still showing traces of dull light brown on his back and neck.

The sunflowers attracted other youngsters. The two titmice, who we had seen only as flashes of gray in the trees, came down to feast. Here too it was the unsmooth feathers and leggy look which marked them as this year's youngsters.

Their voices were certainly full grown -- that funny titmouse whistle which sounds like an uncompleted call for a dog came through loud and clear.

Guess the calendar is right after all, the near-my-window feeder birds are obviously first or possibly second broods but, certainly when we watched the bald headed cardinal and his kids, we were enjoying the season's last family.

Cystic Fibrosis Starts

September is cystic fibrosis month across the nation. This year the Greater Michigan C-F Chapter will sponsor educational and fund raising Breath of Life Campaigns in more than 400 communities.

Tecumseh's campaign will be Sept. 22-26.

Millions of American children suffer from lung damaging diseases, the second major cause of death among youth, with cystic fibrosis being the most serious.

Cystic fibrosis is an inherited, genetic disease in which a thick, slimy substance clogs the lungs and air ways creating breathing difficulties, high susceptibility to infection, malabsorption of food and lung damage.

As yet there is no cure for this desease; however, a little more than a decade ago most cystic fibrosis babies died at pre-school age but for each year of research a CF child has been given one more year of life, with many children now reaching early adulthood.

Mrs. Frances Foster and Mrs. Barbara Croft are serving as co-chairmen for the C-F drive in Tecumseh and urge residents to respond in any way possible when the C-F marchers come to your home Sept. 22-26.

An organizational meeting for all C-F volunteers will be held on Sept. 17 at 9:30 a.m. at the United Methodist Church, Bishop Reed Rd.

Local Woman Wears Three Hats

By Kathy Brown

At 37, Delores Judson of 724 Ternes, wears three hats. She is a full-time college student at Siena Heights College studying Food Service and Lodging Management, a wife and a mother of three.

"This is more than I ever hoped for. My BA degree is my goal and ultimately I want to be a dietician, which requires 20 more semester hours," said Delores.

Her career plans began with career counseling through Michigan Rehabilitation. She demonstrated a high aptitude for working in food service.

"Since then it grew all out of proportion. I received a grant from the Michigan Department of Education and a gift from Siena Heights, one given to employees or families of Tecumseh Products Co."

Delores began classes part-time in December 1974. By this December, she will be one credit hour away from an associate degree.

Her enthusiasm for learning and determination is apparent.

"As long as financing is available, I'll continue going to school. I have a 3.5 grade average and intend to maintian it because I have the ability.

"My men in my life are my biggest boosters." She described her husband, Leo, and three sons, Duncan, 16, Kenneth, 13 and Douglas, 9.

"My family understands mommy's right to do homework. I wouldn't have been able to do it without the cooperation of my family.

"My husband is so proud. He tells everyone all his kids are in school, one in grade school, one in junior high school, one in senior high school and the oldest one in college.

"We have had a lot of illness in our family. I've been at the receiving end of my husband's love. Now maybe I can do something more to help him.

"The children are very understanding, very proud. They don't say as much to me as to other people. They have always had mom at home. My being away is good for them. They were never quite as self-reliant. This is a necessary learning process for them.

"I've taught the boys to cook and whatever else there is to do around the house. My oldest son got better grades in home ec than in shop.

"The boys are also closer to their father." Leo Judson, laid off since April, was just called back.

"I study twice as much as a 19 year-old. I feel this is necessary for what I want to accomplish.

"At 37, you know what you're in school for. This is a stopping place in my life. I plan to get everything I can from the teachers, students and books."

"Most people say they don't understand young people. They are a darn nice group. They are the quickest to help me. You have to be able to think young to understand them.

"Cooking is my love, my thing. Before I was old enough to reach the stove, my father built me a platform so I could cook beside my mother."

She firmly believes "Nothing happens by accident; God has a hand in everything."

Delores is hopeful about her future in food service. "This industry is moving. The work force hospitality is huge. Good people willing to give of themselves are needed. People will always travel and eat."

The food service and lodging management program at Siena Heights is now a four year program this fall, explained director John Baker.

About 40 students are enrolled in the program which has such famous restaurant-teer advisors as John and Chuck Muir.

Coursework includes food preparation labs and purchasing classes, and some business administration courses to prepare the students how to cook in quantity, what to purchase, how to delegate work and organize workers.

About her classes Delores sighs, "I know they're all gonna be a lot of work."

Delores doesn't have time to fret or look back, only to move ahead.

"With love going both ways, you can accomplish anything."

Hause Joins Aviation Pioneers

Neil R. Hause, 214 S. Maiden Lane, will join the ranks of the national Aviation Pioneers as one of four Tecumsehites who soloed in an aircraft powered by a Curtiss OX5 engine before 1940.

Other local members are Robert LeFevre, who sponsored Hause, Ray Betzoldt and Al Meyers.

"People of the last generation have seen these planes only in museums. They belonged to an era when flying an aircraft was considered highly dangerous and few survived," said LeFevre.

Hause made his first solo at Kelly Field No. 2, San Antonio, Texas, Feb. 1919 in a JN4, affectionately called a Curtiss "old Jenny."

A reunion for state members of the Aviation Pioneers was held at Meyers Airport May 4.

Board Reduces Debt Millage

CLINTON — School Board voted to set operational millage of 24.22 mills for the 1975-76 school year and debt millage was set at 1.88 mills.

This makes a total of 26.10 mills, down from the previous year's 27.62 mills. Only change is in the debt service millage, reduced from 3.40 to 1.88.

Budget approved includes anticipated revenue of $1,397,267 and expected expenditures of $1,472,893. A bank balance of $81,939 on June 30, 1975 was noted.

Attention was called to the many indefinite items at this time, including State Aid, an added cost concept for Special Education Reimbursements, as well as negotiations that have not been finalized with teachers, bus drivers and secretarial staff.

Stan Robertson and Greg VanZandt, school auditors, from Schippers, Kintner and Robertson, Adrian, were present to review and discuss the financial report of the Clinton Community School District.

Consideration was given to whether fund equity money can be used in total or part to balance the 1975-76 budget.

Board accepted the resignation of Walter Kwik, high school resource teacher, and Linda Culbreth, high school girls physician education teacher.

Board approved the hiring of Chris Wittenbach, high school social studies, and wrestling coach; Eva Swenarton, remedial reading teacher in Middle and High School and Roberta Riley, special education.

Mrs. Riley will fill the vacancy of Walter Kwik.

Administration, counselors, teachers, and parents are involved in a needs assessment to determine the current educational needs in the Clinton school district, through the means of standarized pre and post test results, state test results, analysis of academic achievement and teacher objective.

Superintendent Richard Wegner opened the discussion on the ESEA Title I program, which would incorporate the pre-primary and the basic program.

Mrs. Stanley Gibbard, Middle School Counselor, was present to outline the needs assessment.

Mrs. Roberta Rily also outlined the high school resource room program as her responsibility, the general schedule and daily program, as well as the basic philosophy.

Mrs. Eva Swenarton reviewed the concerns of the program at the Middle School level.

After consideration, the board approved the basic conception of the ESEA Title I program for the 1975-76 school year.

Auxiliary heater bids have been received. No board action was taken until further study can be made. This is for heating of swimming pool, so boiler would not be used during the summer months.

Girls high school physical education position is still vacant, and a few extra duty assignments are still open.

Bus construction service area is still being considered. Two carpenters are still working under the CETA program.

Negotiations are continuing with bus drivers, secretaries and teachers.

Put some STOP in your brakes with Grey-Rock.

All cars have brakes. But like anything else on a car, brakes deteriorate over years of use. Eventually they wear to the point where there's no safe stopping power left. You should have your brakes checked at least every 10,000 miles to be sure they're in good working order. And when replacement is needed, specify Grey-Rock, the makers of America's most complete line of brake linings and parts.

Bi-centennial Journey

Past County Fairs

By Thelma Younglove

BRITTON — This year's fair has become history along with many others. No two fairs have been alike.

What a contrast between fairs of recent years and those prior to the time automobiles came into extensive use, when people went to the fair in horse drawn vehicles or by train.

Earlier fairs were held about the third week of September. By then small grains were harvested. Some corn had been cut and shocked. Many fields had not only been prepared for winter wheat but some had been planted.

Considerable preparation had been completed for the coming winter months. Farmers felt entitled to a day of pleasure at the fair, having worked hard for weeks.

School children had been looking forward for days to attending the fair. Some had exhibits on display. Attending the fair was the main topic of conversation during recesses and on the way walking to and from school.

They compared the amount of money they had been saving to spend, discussed what they intended to wear, and what they expected to see at the fair.

Since the fair was held toward the end of September, most people wore winter outfits. Warm winter coats were usually not uncomfortable if one attended the evening entertainment. Often there was frost in the air, and snowflakes were known to have fallen during the week of the fair.

Various modes of transportation were used in getting to the fair. Many families living near the grounds walked. Others went by train, horse and buggy, and starting soon after 1910 a few drove automobiles.

Train schedules were such that fair-goers could board a train quite early in the day and visit the fair and return before time to do the evening chores.

The railroad often added an extra passenger car to accomodate fair patrons during the week of the fair. A surprisingly large number of people were usually waiting at the depot when the train came and more got on at Holloway.

For those driving, small families used one horse on a carriage. Larger families rode in a surrey drawn by a team of horses.

An area between the race track and the railroad tracks was equipped with places to tie horses. Large tanks for watering horses were nearby. About noon owners fed the horses grain and hay brought from home in bags.

Going to the fair with horse and buggy had some compensation. People had plenty of time to see many interesting sights. People living a considerable distance from Adrian arose early and were on their way about the time many people were just arising.

Passing the farm homes along the way gave the fair-goers a chance to observe the smoke curling from the kitchen chimneys and sometimes smell coffee and bacon as the farm wife prepared breakfast for her family.

Some farmers might be on their way to the barn with a milk pail. Others had finished and were returning to the house. Nearly every farm had large flocks of chickens, ducks, and geese. A few had guineas and turkeys. The poultry along with horses, sheep and hogs demanding something to eat made considerable noise.

Natural scenery along the way was pretty. Often frost had nipped the foilage. Much corn had been cut and shocked. There were piles of bright orange pumpkins and green squash.

Luscious purple grapes hung on the vines. Tempting bright red apples on the trees beckoned to be picked. Pretty sumac and bright bitter sweet decorated the fences.

Golden rod and purple asters lined the roadside ditches. Moving at a slower pace people had a better chance to enjoy the beauties of the season.

Having risen early, every one was hungry by noon. Contents of well filled lunch baskets brought from home were spread out on the ground.

How good the fried chicken, homemade bread, baked beans, pickles and pie or cake did taste. Sometimes a melon had been purchased from one of the stands to add to the meal. In those days there were few eating places. Nearly everyone brought lunch from home.

After eating and resting for a short time, more exhibits were viewed. Later adults watched the horse race, many standing along the fence.

By four o'clock the family was becoming weary and started the homeward ride taking different roads than they had driven on earlier in the day.

This gave them a chance to see other homes and scenery. By the time they reached home, the sun was low and the evening chill of autumn was in the air.

Reports were made on the preparations that have been made for the "turkey supper" to be held Sept. 11.

After the business meeting, Marian Olds, program chairman, took charge. Mrs. Mae Willis gave the devotions. Then Mrs. Olds introduced Mr. and Mrs. Donald Berkley who showed beautiful slides they had taken in Massachusetts last summer and told how that small locality in Massachusetts was being restored in as many ways as possible to the way it was in the early 1800s.

At the conclusion of the program refreshments were served from a table decorated in keeping with the Bicentennial theme.

Tecumseh Library

New books by authors already popular have been added to the Young Adult section of the Tecumseh Public Library.

Jeanne Eyerly's three newest additions are WORLD OF ELLEN MARCH; BONNIE JO, GO HOME; and PHAEDRA COMPLEX.

THE WORLD OF ELLEN MARCH follows the feelings of a teenage girl from shame and anger to growing hope when her parents decide on a divorce.

BONNIE JO, GO HOME is one thought of a 16-year old as she travels alone in a strange city seeking an abortion past the earliest stages of pregnancy. The fright, heartbreak, complexities and expense are shown in this personal view of a controversial subject.

PHAEDRA COMPLEX explores the involved relationships that occur when a girl's mother remarries a glamorous foreign correspondent. Rather than sensationalism, Mrs. Eyerly uses understanding to portray the jealousy and eventual growth through family counseling.

Another trio of books comes from Hila Colman. A funny, lively look at the secret thoughts of an 11-year old are revealed in DIARY OF A FRANTIC KID SISTER.

On a more serious note, CHICANO GIRL is a frank look at prejudice. Donna Martinez changes from a naive day-dreamer to a proud, determined fighter aware of her heritage. Fans of Mrs. Colman might also enjoy a suspenseful book in the children's section called END OF THE GAME.

Surrounding Monsters Congregate At Library

Tecumseh Public Library was the scene of a chain of peculiar events on Aug. 20. Monsters from the surrounding area congregated to celebrate the Monster Mash, a party climaxing the 1975 summer reading program, whose theme was "The Monsters are Coming!"

Young monsters played games, danced, and, in darkness, passed around the ears, lips, hand, and arm of a mummy which had come apart at the seams. (Several monsters commented that the parts felt like green peppers, tomatoes, and other familiar objects.) After this appetizing activity, the monsters devoured a large cake and punch.

The most exciting event of the Monster Mash was the presentation of awards for costumes. (All the monsters came in their best clothes.) The awards were:

Far Out Freakiest Monster, Katie Fox; Witchiest-looking Vampire, Sarah Fox; Youngest-looking Witch, Carol Jubenville; Scariest Ghost, Steve McKenzie; Saddest Ghost, Michelle Oberst;

Award for Sneakiest Monster coming as a Male Human Being, Pat O'Brien; King of All Monsters, Andrew Parmley; Thirstiest Vampire, Vicky Parmley; Spookiest Ghost, James Pulley; Ghost with the Most, Scotty Pulley; Creepiest Ghost, Shannon Pulley.

Award for Sneakiest Monster Coming as a Female Human Being, Jennifer Royal; Queen of All Monsters, Petra Spalding; Mummy Who's Been through the Most and Top Male Monster, Doug Speller; Oldest Witch, Kim Speller; Most Ladylike Vampire and Top Female Monster, Susan VanOrsdol.

Judges making the awards were Sheryl Bugbee, Laura Keller, Laura Mead, and Betty Wollenhaupt.

Decorations were created by Lisa Herrera and Marcha Garcia.

Chief perpetrator of the Monster Mash was a purple female vampire named Lois Sprengnether. She moonlights as Tecumseh's librarian.

Eggleston Stars at WSU

Until after the opening game, it isn't certain what position Wayne State University junior Mike Eggleston, of Tecumseh, will play regularly on the Tartars this fall.

He was scheduled to play junior strong safety in the Sept. 6 game against Grand Valley.

The 5-11, 195-pounder is versatile. And, it's been that way in two previous letter-winning seasons for the Tartars who went 5-5-0 in Eggleston's freshman year and 7-3-0 last fall with a season-ending, three-game win string.

As a yearling, Eggleston was a reserve defensive end, an extra linebacker in the Tartar defense, a second-string offensive guard and a member of WSU's specialty teams.

Then-Head Coach Dave Hoover called him a whale of a ballplayer with a great attitude and a lot of aggressivenes.

New Coach Dick Lowry arrived the following spring and found Eggleston had worked on his pass receiving, so he moved the former member of the 1972 Tecumseh Class B State Championship Team to tight end.

Eggleston tied for the pass receiving lead with a dozen catches last year on a run-oriented team, but provided some big third-down receptions and his first collegiate TD, a 29-yarder at Valparaiso on third down as WSU managed a 26-21 win.

This year, he's currently running first string at strong safety, a spot that would make him largely responsible for covering tight end and give him key assignments against the running game of most WSU opponents.

But WSU coaches like defensive backfield aide Walt Staensinski note that if soph Gerald Meginity's knee is OK after last year's surgery and he can go at the spot, Eggleston could be moved to offensive slotback in WSU's Slot-I Offensive or even back at tight end.

All-County and All-League as a prep, Eggleston loves contact and is a punishing blocker or tackler.

A 20-year old education major with an overall B average, Eggleston lives his football goal to "do the very best I can for the team to have a successful season."

Eggleston says the difference between high school and college football is "the hitting is a lot harder (in college) and you don't find too many weak opponents so you must be prepared every week."

Eggleston is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry D. Eggleston, 709 Wenonah St.

Golfers Score Clean Sweep

By FRANK WEIR

Tecumseh's golf squad swept three in a row starting with the Bowling Green Invitational last Saturday.

The Tecumseh team was the only Class B group invited from Michigan to the Invitational held at Bowling Green State University in Ohio. Bedford was the only other Michigan team. All other teams were from Ohio.

Twelve five-man teams attended and Tecumseh won it all with a team score of 327 followed by Huron, Ohio 332, and Galion, Ohio 333.

Indian John Gibson was tournament medalist at 75, Steve Lynch finished in the fifth spot with an 82, and Doug Jacobs was sixth with 83. Scott Macbeth came in at 87 and Jeff Steiner, 89.

The Indians continued their momentum on Monday afternoon when they hosted Hudson beating them 153-179. That score tied the course record for any high school at Tecumseh Country Club.

Gibson was again the medalist with a sizzling 36 followed by Jacobs 38, Lynch 39, Steiner 40, Dave Bauman 43 and Macbeth 44.

Onsted came to town Tuesday also meeting defeat at Tecumseh's hand, 157-182. Jacobs was medalist with a 38. Gibson shot a 39, Macbeth and Steiner a 40, Bauman a 42 and Lynch a 44.

The junior varsity also defeated Hudson convincingly 185-229. JV medalist was Keith Bauman 45, followed by Steve Hunter 46, Sandy Jacobs 49, and Mike Gower 50.

The Indians travel to Bedford on Thursday and then host that same team next Monday before opening their league season against Jefferson next Wednesday in an away contest.

2 Exchange Students Visiting

Already quite adept at English, exchange student Hector David Castro, Jr. has arrived from El Salvador, Central America, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Worth McClure, Shady Lane, to spend the next year attending 11th grade at Tecumseh High School.

HECTOR DAVID CASTRO

Better known as David, the youth, who is 15, has a sister, 13, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hector Castro Sr., are both teachers.

His father is the principal and his mother teaches English in a San Salvador high school. He has an uncle who is the vice-minister of education in El Salvador.

He likes soccer and karate, swims and plays tennis.

This is his first visit to the United States, where he would like to learn the customs and go skiing. Although his land has mountains, it never snows there. He is anxious to tell Americans about his homeland and its people.

Mr. McClure, a retiree, whose children are all raised, says he'll have lots of time to help his exchange student with subjects like chemistry which may prove a little difficult.

Bertrand Rimbault Joffard, from Paris, France, is the 17 year-old exchange student staying with Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Owen and their son, Douglas, 14.

Bertrand, who has studied English for six years, hopes to become an English teacher. He also speaks Italian.

His father, assisted by his mother, sells antiques. His brother, Philippe, 19, is a law student at the University of Paris.

Bertrand's interests include rugby, cross country and Johnny Cash.

He said he would like to learn more about American living while he is here. He commented that the Tecumseh area has much open land and more recreational opportunities compared to his home.

Bertrand will be here until July and will likely visit Lake Michigan, Detroit and Cedar Point with the Owens.

Ordinance Discussed

By FRANK WEIR

Tecumseh's Planning Commission Tuesday evening, discussed a possible change in a city ordinance that presently prevents the construction of new apartments or dwellings in the downtown area.

Ordinance has existed since 1965 and was revised in 1968. Apartments existing before 1965 are allowed to remain, but no square footage may be added to them.

Commission members Carl Lamb and Paul Roekle volunteered to poll downtown merchants, who own buildings, to establish their interest in creating new apartments.

Chairwoman Lynn Cook is contacting other cities about their handling of downtown apartment zoning.

In other business, Commission discussed a priorities list to be submitted to Region II planning.

The list grew out of a questionaire last year, asking area residents what type of capital improvements they would like to see in the city.

City manager Cal Zorn would like a priorities list from the Commission, Council and department heads.

The list will be submitted to Region II which will prepare a summary and a six-year capital improvements plan.

Commission will meet again next Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in City hall.

Children can be taught early to be careful of what is really beautiful, and they will appreciate being part of a family function that is tasteful, as well as tasty.

MEET CHELSEA FRIDAY NIGHT

Indians Have Room for Improvement, But Potential Is Definitely There

By FRANK WEIR

Fall means different things to different people . . . chilly evenings and hot apple cider, spicy donuts, multi-colored leaves and yellow jack-o-lanterns. . .

But to Tecumseh Indian fans, there can be only one definition.

Fall means football.

And Tecumseh is preparing for its season opener against Chelsea this Friday with a squad of 46, including 15 lettermen from last year's championship squad.

The Indians lost only one game last season and that was to Chelsea. They ended with a league record of 7-0 and the conference title.

Part of the secret of that success was steady week-to-week improvement. And the team will have to do much the same this year, having lost 14 seniors.

After a scrimmage with Coldwater, Fowlerville, and Mason last Thursday, head coach Pat Connors sees room for improvement. "We found a few areas we need to work on and that's the point of a scrimmage."

He continues, "We had a pretty good defense, but we'll have to improve in the next week. We also need to work on pass defense and some areas of the offense. It's harder to get the message across in practice. In a game or scrimmage, they get penalized."

Connors did see some strong points in the team during the scrimmage. "Up front our defense was strong against the running game. Nobody moved the ball against us on the ground. And Spillman did a heck of a job (at quarterback). We had good offensive blocking on occasion, and our linebackers did a good job on occasion. Bill Smith (at left end) and Rick Ruttkofsky (at left tackle) both did a good job."

In addition, Jim Egbert and Linvel Lisenbee both stood out as running backs. Lisenbee was especially quick at tailback wearing jersey number 1. Lisenbee impressed players of the other teams as well. A Coldwater player was heard remarking, "Watch out for that number 1. He's got steam coming out of his nose!"

Connors and assistants Bob Ondrovick, Ron Spagnoli and new arrival Dan Howlett lamented the fact that several of the team have been hampered by a flu bug before the scrimmage.

The race for the Huron league title promises to be a close one. Connors comments, "The league is very balanced. There are a lot of teams that could take the title."

Coach Ondrovick mentioned a recent Detroit Free Press article that picked Tecumseh to win the league but added that five other teams will be potential contenders.

Connors sums up by saying, "I definitely think we have the potential. They're hard workers and gutty. We just have to have them hitting the right people at the right time. But if we're going to be where we want to be, we've got a long way to go."

Tri-captains of the team are Tom Schwartz, Bill Warner and Dave Spillman.

The Indians will use a power I set and split T offense. Defense will be Notre Dame 44.

Tentative starting lineup includes, Dave Spillman at quarterback, Ken Biscupski and Doug Bunch at end, Dan Tilton and Mike Creswell at tackle, Mark Hunter and Gary Beasley at guard, Tom Schwartz at center, Jim Egbert at fullback and Linvel Lisenbee at tailback.

Assisting Connors is Bob Ondrovick, Ron Spagnoli, Dan Howlett on varsity; Roger Young and Jerry Fox coach junior varsity; and Ted Todd and Vic Lawson coach freshmen. Connors says of his coaching squad, "They're a bunch of super guys. They're good people, knowledgable about football and they relate well to the kids."

The Indians travel to Chelsea this Friday. First league game is Sept. 19 against Monroe-Jefferson. Games begin at 7:30 p.m.

READY TO REPEAT CHAMPIONSHIP

Skins Have Enthusiasm and New Head Coach

By FRANK WEIR

After a disappointing 2-7 season last year, Clinton's Redskins are hungry for a winning season. New head football coach Don Eaton reports that both "the coaches and team are excited about starting the season."

Enthusiasm is high among the 29 out for the team. Eaton states that the enthusiasm plus the squad's youth are two big pluses. Assistant Jim Pittman states that their enthusiasm is the highest in five years. But they definitely have a job to do before the league opener with Hudson Sept. 19.

A scant four lettermen are returning from last year including captain Ken Roberts, Gary Payeur, Dave Steinmetz and Randy King. The team lost eight seniors.

The 1975 roster includes 10 seniors, 14 juniors, three sophomores and two freshmen. Eaton maintains that the younger players create competition for starting spots and "competition makes for better football players."

He goes on to say, "We have the nucleus of a good, young team." Although Eaton admits he is fairly "naive" to the LCAA league competition, that can be an advantage as well.

"Our entire system is new. The other league teams won't know what to expect in terms of personnel and coaching."

The new coach doesn't plan any big surprises however. "We won't be a fancy team, we'll keep it simple and stress execution. It's very important in high school football to strive for consistency."

He goes on to say that the Redskins will be a running team for the most part.

"My theory is that you have to establish a running game first. If you can't run, you can't pass. Our offense will be an I formation, a power I, pro set. And I'm encouraged about the team. We'll be a very good competitive team. We'll try to play good mistake-free ball. My goal is to teach good technique. If everything is done properly, we'll make few mistakes. I think we'll surprise a lot of people."

Tentative offensive starting lineup includes, Phil Erickson, quarterback; Phil Martiny, fullback; Terry Higgins, back; Ken Roberts, back; Steve Hinz, and Doug Feldkamp, ends; Jeff Voorhies and Bob Santure, tackles; Craig Snyder and Jim Wilson, guards; and Chris Woodward, center.

On defense, Dave Tallman and Steve Hinz, ends; Bob Santure and Gary Payeur, tackles; Terry Reiser and Phil Martiny, linebakcers; Carl Russ, middle guard; Terry Higgins, safety, and Jeff Gibson, Phil Erickson and Ken Roberts, backs.

The Redskins open their season this Friday night against Camden Frontier at home.

Eaton is U of M Graduate

Don Eaton - new head football coach at Clinton — comes from Lancaster, Ohio. He is a graduate of the University of Michigan having received his degree in the spring of 1974, studying social studies and physical education.

He attended U of M on a football scholarship earned while a student at Bishop Fenwick High School in Lancaster. He was active in the U of M football program during his college years and made the varsity squad in his sophomore year.

He was a member of the traveling varsity squad for three years. Eaton was also involved in the intramural basketball program at Michigan.

Coaching experience includes one year as assistant football coach at Riverside High School, where he was in charge of defensive ends, end linebackers, offensive receivers, coordinator and scout.

He also taught 11th grade American history at Riverside which was a Class B school.

Hoping For Better Season Under New Coach

LARGEST TURN-OUT EVER

Tories Plan Another Successful Season

By FRANK WEIR

This year they won't be laughing!

Undoubtedly, there were plenty of chuckles last season when Britton-Macon head football mentor Randy Salisbury predicted a successful season for his Tories.

After all, that was saying something that bordered on the hilarious. Britton had not had a winning season in 18 years, and a league title had eluded them for 37 long years.

But win they did, losing only one game, a non-league contest, to Grosse Pointe Liggett and captured that elusive league championship with a 7-1 record.

Salisbury is again optimistic with 40 players out for the squad, the largest turn-out ever. And that includes seven lettermen from last year's team.

Although Salisbury lost the services of ten seniors last year, including such notables as Doug Armstrong and Mike Servoss, (Servoss holds every rushing and scoring record Britton has) he's counting on returning personnel and young players on the way up.

"We have a definite all-state candidate coming back in Craig Wagenschutz who plays tackle on offense and defense. And our sophomore quarterback Randy Smith can throw. He looks real good."

Fans will remember Smith from last year's baseball squad, when as a freshman, he pitched a two-hit victory over Summerfield, allowing Britton to re-take the conference lead.

But one player doesn't make up a team. Returning lettermen include co-captains Dave Wielfaert and Wagenschutz, Paul Wielfaert and Mike Hintz, all seniors. Junior lettermen are Scott White, Rudy Montalvo and Mark Willaert.

Salisbury is concerned with the team's lack of depth, which is always a problem with a smaller school.

"Most kids just have to play both ways, (on offense and defense). With a smaller school its harder to fill all eleven positions. Depth is our major weakness."

On the plus side, "Quickness is our greatest strength, especially in the offensive line. It's the quickest we've ever had. Wagenschutz is the only player over 170 pounds, but all are quick. And there is a lot of ptential in the junior class."

After last year, the team has a winning attitude Salisbury reports.

The Tories will "basically keep the ball on the ground." They threw but 35 passes last year. Offense will be a straight T with some I formations.

The Tories will be looking to beat St. Thomas who has an "excellent" quarterback returning, according to Salisbury. Other threats include Whiteford and Summerfield. The latter team is returning eight or nine starters. But, all that to the side, Salisbury proclaims, "We are very confident we can win it all again."

They also want a shot at the new-this-year post season state tournaments. "We're hopeful. In our class, we'll have to go 8-0 to have a chance. We're shooting to make the playoffs."

Assisting Salisbury is Jim Sweigart. Mark Lewis is the junior varsity football coach, and Mark Ruhlig is starting a junior high football program.

Opening game for the Tories is against Northwood Sept. 13. First league game will be a week later on Sept. 19 against Whiteford at home.

The tentative starting lineup includes, Randy Smith at quarterback, Mark Willaert at halfback and safety, Dave Wielfaert at end and defensive linebacker, Rudy Montalvo at fullback, Scott White at halfback, Bill Lutz at Tackle, Mike Hintz at guard and middle linebacker, Don Benham at guard and defensive end, Craig Wagenschutz at tackle, Paul Wielfaert at center and defensive linebacker, Allen Hintz at end, Lon Wagenschutz at guard and defensive tackle.

Steve Crittenden and Tim Kurowicki are possible starters.

VOL. 125 OUR 126th. YEAR—NO. 1 | THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 18, 1975 | FOURTEEN PAGES—20c

Van, above, was hit broadside shortly after 6 p.m. Sunday, killing a nine-year-old Adrian girl and critically injuring her grandfather. It marked another tragic accident at the intersection of M-50 and M-52. Tecumseh firemen at the right are working to free Goldie Zarnoch from her car after a mishap Friday evening just north of the city limits on the Tecumseh-Clinton Rd. Miss Zarnoch, still hospitalized in Ann Arbor, miraculously escaped serious injury or becoming a fatality as did three others in the headon collision.

THS Addition Facing Construction Delay

By FRANK WEIR

At a meeting of Tecumseh's School Board Monday night, board members heard a report from Holmes and Black architectural firm on the new high school addition.

Dick Snyder, architect with the firm, told the board that bids on the work could be received in the late winter with construction beginning in the spring of next year. Construction would be completed by the summer of 1977.

Board members expressed concern about the date of completion, having hoped that the addition could be built by the fall of '76.

Snyder was asked by the board if construction could be completed on the food services and music areas by next fall. He replied that this is possible but might require an extended summer vacation.

Board president Harold Ocamb said, "We can't allow a vacation at the end of summer. We've got to have something that is working by Sept. 15. Our schedule is not very flexible."

Ocamb cited students' attendance at Vo-Tech, special education programs and busing conflicts as reasons requiring school starting on time.

He concluded, "As poor as the construction industry is, you'd think contractors would want to meet some deadlines."

Snyder answered that moving up the completion date might cause an increase in costs. Representatives of Holmes and Black will meet with the board's building committee later in the month and will attempt to speed up work on the project.

In a related development, members passed a resolution expressing their intent to continue work on the addition.

Asst. Supt. Eugene Cooley told members that a resolution is required for the sale of bonds to finance the construction.

Pending approval by the Municipal Finance Commission, bonds will be on sale before the end of October, Cooley said.

Monday Vote on Contract

Tecumseh Education Association, local teachers' union, will vote next Monday on a new contract with the schools.

Although details of the contract will not be known until next week, the vote will be on a three-year contract with the exception of salaries and insurance.

It's also known that the base salary for a teacher with a degree will be raised from $9,636 to $9,900 annually. Other economic factors in the new contract will be revealed when the TEA and the School Board ratify the agreement.

Negotiations between the TEA and School Board were concluded last week after six months at the bargaining table.

Tentative agreement also has been reached with the secretaries. Negotiations are being continued with the bus drivers.

Plan Nears Completion

Chamber of Commerce project for trees in the downtown business district appears almost a certainty now with 10 more contributors.

However, the Chamber is still $2,000 short of its $8,500 goal and hopes that other businesses, industry and individuals will contribute — any amount — to the project.

Checks or donations should be made out to the City of Tecumseh, Beautification Fund, and given to Chamber president, Mary Lou Dangler, at Gaston's Jewelry.

'Got the Message'

Mayor Harold Easton told a group of Tecumseh senior citizens Monday night that Council "got the message" and that the seniors do not want the Lenawee Council on Aging.

They had protested at two consecutive council meetings.

Easton told the seniors that the item was not on the Council's agenda and indicated they would have plenty of notice if it were.

Senior Citizens activities in Tecumseh will continue as usual.

Dividend Is Due Oct. 1 from Bank

Board of directors of United Savings Bank declared a quarterly dividend of 35 cents per share at its regular monthly meeting last week, K.C. McElroy, president, announces.

The dividend, payable to 415 shareholders of record on Sept. 15, amounts to $70,000 and will be received by shareholders on Oct. 1.

This quarterly dividend boosts total dividends to shareholders for 1975 to $210,000.

3 Crashes Leave 1 Dead, One Critical, 9 Injured

Three traffic accidents, one just outside the city limits and two others within three miles of Tecumseh, left one dead over the weekend, one in critical condition at Ann Arbor, and injuries to nine others.

In contrast, city police investigated just three mishaps here and all were minor.

The severity of the three area accidents could have easily pushed the death toll to over 10. In each case vehicles were mangled and totalled beyond repair.

First occurred shortly after 10 p.m. Friday when a car and pickup collided head on practically in front of the Friends Church on the Tecumseh-Clinton Rd.

According to the State Police, Francis P. Anderson, 19, Ives, Rd., was driving left of center when he met a car operated by Goldie Zarnoch, 32, Clinton-Manchester Rd., and formerly of Tecumseh.

Miss Zarnoch, daughter of the John Zarnochs, Center Dr., attempted to avoid a collision and swerved to miss the pickup. The vehicles hit squarely on the front right corners.

Tecumseh firemen had to cut her out of the car as she was pinned inside. She is still in St. Joseph Hospital, Ann Arbor, with bruises and cuts, but apparently doing well. She did not suffer a concussion as originally reported.

Anderson and passenger, Charles Heisted, 13, of Tipton were taken to Herrick Hospital, treated and released. Another passenger, Shelly Thompson, 16, Tipton, remains in Herrick Hospital under observation.

About three and a half hours later at 1:45 a.m. Saturday, Dearborn man Robert Mittig, 31, lost control of his car on the same road. He skidded some 600 feet off the road, struck a culvert and then flipped end over end, stopping upright in a Budd Co. drive way.

Mittig suffered a nearly severed foot and is in University Hospital at Ann Arbor.

In what turned out to be the most tragic accident occurred early Sunday evening when an Inkster lady ran a stop sign and flashing lights at M-50 and M-52, slamming broadside into a van carrying six people.

Nine-year-old Tracie Smith, of Adrian, was killed and her grandfather, John Gros Jr., 52, of 2798 Laberdee Rd., was critically injured. He is still critical, but off the critical list and now reported as serious is Stacey Smith, 4, also Adrian.

Mrs. Grof, 49, and Sharon Smith, 28, wife of the van's driver, Donald Smith Jr., 28, Adrian are in Bixby Hospital in fair condition. Mr. Smith was treated and released.

Dorothy Wyatt, 41, Inkster, driver of the car, is in fair condition at Bixby. Her son, Gary, 18, was treated and released.

According to deputy sheriffs, the Wyatt car was northbound when it slammed into the van, traveling on M-50. Three of the six van passengers were thrown out.

All three accidents are still under investigation and no citations had been issued as of Wednesday morning.

Continue To Resign

By KATHY BROWN

Resignations of two more Planning Commission members, William Holmes and William Danley, appointed in May, stunned Council members Monday night.

This makes six resignations and one retirement from the Planning Commission within the past eight months.

Holmes told The Herald reporter he had "no comment, not enough time (for the Planning Commission)."

Danley said he resigned for personal reasons and indicated other business and family obligations.

"There seems to be an epidemic of Planning Commission resignations. Perhaps we ought to have a study as to why this happens. No other board has had this problem ever.

"If we've, usurped responsibilities delegated to the Planning Commission, we should amend that," said Councilman Dr. Carlton Cook.

Councilman Aden Mead questioned whether it was the pressures of meetings and work load.

Commission meets once a month with a summer recess. However, members must familiarize themselves with a great deal of planning terms, regulations and concepts to work effectively.

Councilman James Palmer noted even a member selected from a list of volunteers, solicited through a newspaper ad, also resigned.

Series of resignations began last September when then Chairman Richard Eggleston threatened to resign over Council's slowness to move on the absenteeism of Commissioner Stephen Illeck and the Green Meadows moblie home project.

After a vote of Council's confidence, Eggleston returned to the Commission in October and then resigned in April, but for personal reasons, satisfied with the Planning Commission's accomplishments.

Illeck resigned at the same time giving no reason.

Commissioner LeRoy Betzoldt then resigned after moving from the city, followed by Larry Bauman, vice-chairman, and Merlyn Downing, who retired.

Remaining members are Lynn Cook, chairman, Paul Roekle, Harry Stanifer, Harrison Gonser, Tim Tietsema, Mrs. Jeffrey Baker and Carl Lamb.

Council is expected to appoint two new members to the nine-man commission at the next meeting.

Four File for Council

Only four petitions were returned for the November race for three Council seats, said Vera Gardner, city clerk.

Incumbents Harold Easton, Aden Mead, Wallace Whiting and new candidate, Leonard DeMoss, filed by the Monday 5 p.m. deadline.

A petition for John Underwood was not filed.

Youth Is Sentenced

Richard Peyton, 17, Tecumseh, was sentenced to five years probation, six months in jail with credit since July 23 and ordered to pay $600 court costs on each charge of unlawfully driving away a motorcycle and entering without breaking with intent to commit larceny at Grey Fox Floral.

Peyton set fire accidentally to the downtown business building on July 20. It destroyed the top two floors.

Richard J. Sterling, 20, Tecumseh, was found guilty by a jury on a July 21 charge of breaking and entering the Tecumseh Country Club Pro Shop. A pre-sentence investigation was ordered.

"PITCH-IN" FOR TECUMSEH — Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce presented the City with a $1,000 check toward purchase of 18 waste receptacles for downtown. City will pay $961. Blue topped, double entry containers like one here, will read "Pitch-in" L-r, Paul Roekle who gave the two groups a 30 percent discount, Mayor Harold Easton and Mark King, represents the retail division.

Jewels & gems

By Dick Eggleston

How long has it been since the lady in your life had a gift that was just for her? A delicate piece of jewelry featuring a semiprecious stone, the color of her eyes, perhaps — what could be more thoughtful. And just think how pleased any woman is to receive something more precious, say in diamonds for example. It is possible to buy a really lovely piece of jewelry, a keepsake featuring diamonds, for a price that is quite reasonable — well within the price range of practically anyone's special occasion.

Really lovely pieces of jewelry are available at EGGLESTONS JEWELRY, 107 E. Chicago Blvd., 423-2715. Many fine items as well as inexpensive costume jewelry pieces are handled and we have cuff links, key rings, key chains and engraved initial tie tacks for men. BankAmericard and Master Charges honored.

GEM FACT: In diamonds, generally, the more colorless a stone, the finer the quality.

'Group May Sue City' -Resident

Mrs. James Shough, of 611 Outer Drive, who said she represented most of her neighborhood, complained to Council Monday night of a swamp behind her back yard.

She said the waters of the Raisin River, which form Standish pond behind residents of Herrick Park, are "solid green slime and algae that stinks in the hot summer."

"The only way I could sell my property is fraudalently," she said.

Citing the situation a health hazard, she said a group plans to sue the city if nothing is done.

She said she would like to have the area drained or else have the dam properly controlled to flush the mess down stream with moving water.

She claimed manager Cal Zorn "can't or will not solve the problem" and last summer when the gates were opened the problem did not exist.

Zorn said he did not want to threaten Globe Mill Dam and did not deny the woman's problem.

Councilman Ray Puffer and Mayor Harold Easton both said the swamp condition always existed and water never existed in that area. Puffer said the water would renew itself in three years.

Council told Zorn to consult the Michigan State Department of Natural Resources. Water Resources Commission for a possible solution.

Mrs. Shough said she has contacted the DNR, the Michigan State Department of Health, ECOL and Environmental Health of Lenawee County for assistance.

She told the Tecumseh Herald she has bothered Zorn about the problem for over a year. "I think the city has a closed ear to any solution," she said.

Local Youth Win 2nd Place

Lenawee County's judging team won second place honors and a trip to Kansas City, Mo. to judge at the American Royal in October after the 1975 state championship 4-H livestock judging contest held at Michigan State University, Sept. 6.

Team members Karl Brown, son of Mrs. William K. Brown, Tecumseh and the late William Brown, Dennis Cook and Scott Cook, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Cook of Britton and Ruth Vincent, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Vincent of Tipton each received a silver medal.

Scott Cook was also awarded a bronze medal for third highest individual in the state competition.

The Lenawee County team was selected during the county fair from the highest scores in county wide elimination.

At East Lansing, 23 teams and 89 individuals competed.

Nine classes of livestock were judged and three classes of reasons were given.

Competition teaches youth to develop good judgement, to make accurate decisions, to be able to defend these decisions with logical reasons.

Contest is designed to train future leaders for Michigan's agricultural industry in the fundamentals of sound livestock selection and to recognize Michigan youth who excel in the ability to judge and evaluate livestock.

The Lenawee County Junior team (age 14 and under) placed third overall in state competition.

[illegible] was also selected at the fair.

Team members are Jackie Bortel, Kendra Cook, Deanna and Denise Daisher.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bortel of Britton, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Cook of Britton and Mr. and Mrs. Phil Daisher of Onsted are their parents.

2 Businesses Are Robbed

Two breaking and enterings of Tecumseh businesses were investigated by police Saturday and Monday with a loss between $600 and $700 reported at Whelan Implement on W. Logan.

Whelan employees discovered the loss Saturday morning after finding a coffee maker smashed on a floor. A search then showed considerable equipment and clothing also were missing.

There was no evidence of how the business was entered.

Monday, officers were called that a B&E was in progress at Carl's TV on E. Chicago Blvd. Police report arriving at the store, covering both front and rear entrances within a minute but party or parties had left.

When officers arrived Carl Clark, owner, already was in the store. He told officers that an alarm had awakened him and his wife and he heard noises downstairs.

Two stereos are reported missing.

Bi-centennial Journey

Tramps and Hobos
By Thelma Younglove

BRITTON—Not too many years ago tramps and hobos were very common sights in this part of the country, especially during the warmer months of the year.

Tramps and hobos had many habits in common. They were restless individuals who [illegible] aimlessly reaming - no particular destination in mind.

Apparently they spent summers in the northern states then headed south for the winter months.

Most of the vagrants either walked from place to place or rode the rails on the railroads. While waiting at the crossing in Britton for a freight train to pass through it was not at all uncommon to see several such men riding on the train.

Most tramps traveled light. They seldom carried more than a small pack and some none at all. They were often ragged and dirty.

When the wanderer became hungry he usually appeared at someone's rear door and asked the lady of the house if she could spare a hungry man a bite to eat.

Only a few housewives refused to comply with the request. If the men folks in the family happened to be around the house the stranger might be invited to sit at the kitchen table to eat. During the time he was there he often told of his travels and a bit of his history.

As a rule the wanderer was courteous and thanked the family for the food. If the tramp was not pleased with the hand-out, he often carried it for a distance then tossed it into the roadside ditch and then stopped at the next house and again asked for a bite to eat, hoping to get something that he might like better.

Some tramps were not so eager to accept hand outs without doing some kind of work to earn them. He might offer to split wood or cut weeds.

A less ambitious tramp usually looked around to ascertain if there was a wood pile before he offered to chop kindling to earn a meal.

If a tramp was in a vicinity toward evening he frequently requested permission of the farmer to be allowed to sleep in the barn.

Sometimes a farmer found traces of a stranger having slept in the hay loft without his consent.

Many home owners declared that tramps had a secret code or marking system to let other tramps coming along later know where food could easily be obtained or a place could be found to spend the night.

Quite a few people believed that the transients marked signs or x's on mail boxes or gate posts to indicated that a free meal could be had at that location.

There may have been considerable truth in the belief because certain households had far more visits from tramps asking for a bite to eat than others.

Some transients were good workers but did not like to stay in one place any length of time. Such a person would ask for employment, usually during the harvest season when extra help was needed.

If hired, the man received pay plus board and lodging. Frequently the individual preferred to sleep in the barn. After working for a few days, having earned a little money the urge to move on increased and he moved on.

Since laws have been passed making begging illegal and now that eligible citizens are able to obtain food stamps and Social Security, tramps or hobos are seldom seen.

Through My Window

by Marda Gene Duncan

A SUNNY SEPTEMBER DAY

After a long dreary stretch of dark rainy days it seemed nothing short of miraculous when Tuesday dawned bright and sunny. This was the fourth day in a row that rain slickers, umbrellas and rip boots were not in order.

Perhaps by the time this sees print we will have had such a succession of lovely days that the dismal discouraging beginning of the month will be forgotten.

As of this dictating, it is still much a recent memory that I am gloryingin the sunshine.

Just that it is bright and shiny makes the day an occasion—good bird action is a much appreciated bonus. It all began shortly after Gertie T. had me sitting up, bed position in front of the west window, and reading table 'at the ready'.

On a busy bird day it is amazing how this reading table can be loaded with an interesting book or magazine and not a page will turn. After all, reading can be done anytime but bird watching must be done when there are birds to watch.

On this particular morning there was a stretch of about 30 minutes when I strongly questioned the truth of this last statement. There were birds to watch all right but were they truly worthwhile?

Were they realy worth the effort, the trouble, the vexation, the frustration, the challenge to the blood pressure?

The trees were suddenly alive with the Roger Tory Peterson calls 'confusing all warblers'. Indeed they are!

While Gertie T. was trying to zero in with the binoculars on a little guy in the nearby maple tree I was idly glancing at the mulberry by the white barrier fence.

Actually I was listening to her more than looking at the tree. Did her bird have an eye ring? Or no, it was more a stripe above the eye. Its whole front was light but under the bill there Was almost a white patch. Were there wing bars or no markings or perhaps only slight ones? — with a start I realized I was not hearing Gertie at all but watching intently the action in the top of the mulberry tree.

Half a dozen tiny birds, four to five inches long, were darting and chasing. The undersides of leaves were investigated, the end of the tiniest twigs were tested and with careful, as well as calculated, intent the birds moved from sunshine to dark shade.

They were daring me to identify them. I refused — I was satisfied that they were confusing fall warblers.

What a blessed relief to hear a familiar little chirping and have two tiny bombshells explode from the maple tree then land on the near-my-window feeder.

A pair of chickadee kids. We had seen them several times before but this day's visit was better than most. They stayed at the feeder longer, came back often all day long, and just simply delighted our souls.

That they were this year's young we had no doubt at all — Gertie T., Mom, and I all agreed, somehow Dad missed them. When they were around he wasn't.

One seemed to have a bit more tan on her flanks and the other seemed to have feathers which were more ragged appearing. Both, of course, had the big oversized heads and pretty black and white markings which help make these birds so dear.

And then there were the cardinals. The kids mentioned last week are finally on their own now but the group hangs together. The poor male with his naked and almost ugly looking navy blue head looks more ill kept than ever.

Two of his daughters are absolutely beautiful — even though their bills are just beginning to lose the black color and show hints of faint orange which will soon turn into bright red, the rest of their coloring is superb. They have glorious topknots and have just learned how to hold them straight and erect.

Until seeing them in the bright sunlight we did not appreciate how much scarlet there was in those topknots nor in their wings. As one of the girls settled down on the roof of the covered feeder and sunbathed, her tail was almost red enough to give credit to a male.

The two lovely gals have a brother who is unfortunately taking after his baldheaded father. Body, tail, and wings are all feathered out nicely, his bill is almost as bright as it will ever be, and a few straggly feathers are appearing on his head. Somehow these only make the nakedness of his father more grotesque.

Everything worked well and the birds performed beautifully, it was a grand and glorious sunny September day.

Lucius Lilley's

Estate Continues To Help Needy

By KATHY BROWN

People called the estate a "monument to philanthropy for 600 years."

After the death of his survivors, the $350,000 estate of the prominent 19th century Tecumseh banker, Lucius Lilley, was intended to benefit the poor, aged and children of Tecumseh Township and Lenawee County.

Sixty-three years later, the estate is still in healthy financial condition, having survived depression and mismanagement in its earliest years.

According to the provisions of the last will of Lucius Lilley, signed six days before his death on Feb. 28, 1912, the Lilley children, James R. Lilley and Julia G. Cummins, were to receive a yearly income of $6,000 for life.

Upon death of Lilley's son, Lilley's daughter-in-law, Jean, was to receive $2,000 annually during life to terminate on remarriage.

One thousand dollars of the estate was to be converted into United States government bonds with the remainder in railroad bonds, municipal bonds and real estate.

"Security and not income to be first considered," said the will.

Lilley set up the will "to save my said children from the care and management of my estate and to provide for their comfort and support....in the manner to which they have been accustomed."

Since his children left no survivors, the remainder of the estate was to be expended for the benefit and support of the poor of the Tecumseh Township and Lenawee County.

The [illegible] of the interest was given to the township supervisor, "providing for the comfort and relief of the poor....with special attention to relief of poor children."

Entire remaining interest plus $500 of the remaining principal was to be given to the poor authorities of the county each year.

Deduction from the principal would eventually dispose of the trust.

Estate was not accountable to his children's creditors. Original investments were to be continued "so long as the same shall be considered good and safe by said trustee."

Original trustee of the will was the Detroit Trust Co.

Today the Ann Arbor Trust Co. is trustee.

The eighth account of the estate shows a balance of principal investment, including bonds, cash and notes, to be $114,791, with an estimated annual income of $5,769. Market value of investments is $96,300.

In 1974, $1,000 was paid to township supervisor James Tonneberger for [illegible] the poor of the township and the County Department of Social Services received $3,467 of interest and $500 of the principal as provided in the will.

In 1935, township officials sought removal of the trustee, Detroit Trust Co.

Alleging that more than $150,000 was lost through the exchange of stock belonging to the estate, the township sought reimbursement

The Detroit Trust Co. declared that the depression caused diminuition of the estate and admitted it violated a term of the will to keep $100,000 in U.S. bonds.

The Detroit Trust Co., defendant, exchanged 556 shares of the First National Bank of Detroit for 2,484 shares of Detroit Banking Co. which failed; $157,604 was lost in stocks.

In 1937, an out of court settlement brought the trial to end and the defendant paid $35,000 to the estate, but the trustee continued.

The county still felt it was being overcharged for the services of the trust Co. and so John Thompson of Tecumseh was elected trustee in 1940.

The assets were left in his hands and each year Thompson continued to account for the assests and payments issued.

Thompson was known for his financial expertise. He came to Tecumseh to help with the reorganization of the United Savings Bank in 1933, having been involved with the reorganization of other banks in the state.

Although some individuals apparently thought they could get the fund "rich quick," the original investment terms established in Lilley's will were solid over the years and carried out by Thompson [illegible]

In 1962 Thompson retired from banking and the Ann Arbor Trust Co. became trustee in 1967.

Summer Reading Course Complete

A record number of children completed the 1975 Tecumseh Public Library Summer Reading Club. Over 100 girls and boys read (or heard) the 10 library books required to obtain a certificate of reading achievement.

This was the first year that pre-readers could join by counting books heard. While this affected the number completing the program, it made only a slight increase as this was a new feature.

The Reading Club is intended as a means of keeping reading interest and abilities high. Studies have shown that participants in such programs retain the reading skills better over the summer than non-participants.

Pre-readers are similarly encouraged so that they will look forward to entering the world of reading.

Theme of this year's program "The Monsters are Coming!" was celebrated by: Kassia Adams, Joe Bartenslager, Karen Bartenslager, Grant Bauman, Jenni Bauman, Julie A. ART TREASURE AUCTION — "The Kiss of Judas" an original petit-point created in 1935 for Dr. and Mrs. Bela Vassady in Hungary is valued by Philadelphia art experts at over $400. It survived the Russian invasion of Hungary in 1946 and will be auctioned at the Clinton Fall Festival to benefit the Clinton United Church of Christ and Hungarian Relief. L-r, Serena Vassady, wife of interim pastor, Dr. Bela Vassady of Ann Arbor, Mrs. Charles Steffens, chairman of the church's Fall Festival committee.

Picture To Be Auctioned

(Editor's note — "The Kiss of Judas," is an equisitely detailed peti-point valued at over $400. Here is Mrs. Vassady's story of its history. Auction will take place shortly after noon Oct. 5 in the Clinton Theatre, Clinton, just before the Festival parade. Until then, it will be on display in the window at Jean Magee's Antiques, Clinton.)

By Serena Vassady

The light of flickering candles danced on the old iron-hooped trunk we just unearthed from underneath the ruins. The more than 100 year old trunk "lived" up to our expectations.

It withheld the impact of the caved-in walls and collapsed roof of a house completely demolished by bombs.

During World War II the German Nazis and the Russian Communists used our native country, Hungary as a battlefield. For months bombs fell, cannon balls burst, machine guns crackled.

We became a no-man's land, a cemetery. Whoever survived was lucky if not driven away, and whatever was not destroyed was taken.

Unabashed looting was the order of the day. We hid what we could, but the chance for hiding was slim and the danger to it, fat.

However, somehow we managed to pack and conceal a large trunk filled with some of our precious possessions in the darkest corner of the cellar hoping that the yard-wide stone wall would never collapse.

As it turned out, an extra heavy bomb demolished the house and the looting military riff-raff was in no mood to expand energy for digging through the mountains of rubble.

When the war was over, with a small band of Christian friends we dug a tunnel through the rubbish, in silence but with pounding hearts.

Stealthily, stifled by the smell of the dead, we dug through the mess. And there it was, our trunk, unbroken.

Out of it, among other beloved items, came "The Kiss of Judas," a petit point picture, a work of art of Mlle Fleur de La Salle, a student of art in Paris, for years in charge of the supervision and repair work of the petit point tapestry in Versailles.

Later she moved to Budapest and became the head of an embroidery shoppe concentrating in petit point, an almost extinguished art requiring not only a knowledge of painting and drawing but also an affinity for colors.

"The Kiss of Judas" incorporates in its colors several hundred kinds of thread. The discriminating artist used sometime only a single stitch of color.

The work had to be done strictly by day light, exposing the work to the same slant of light all the time.

Petit point, with its original artistic demands, is a dying art. Even the Continental countries become more and more industrialized.

All such works will soon become extinct like the dinosaur, preserved only by museums for a while. Patience, time and absorption in art are not the diet of our days.

We bid farewell to this work of art with aching heart which is lightened only by the purpose we have in mind.

The one who will become the new owner of "The Kiss of Judas," will hopefully find full satisfaction in it.

Tecumseh Library

Tecumseh Public Library has added many new novels to entertain readers this fall while the frost nips and the rain drips.

The following are new mysteries: HAMMETT, by Joe Gores. It is difficult to write a novel based on a figure from real life, but Gores has succeeded. He builds a mystery novel around Dashiell Hammett, private detective turned writer, who authored THE CONTINENTAL OP, THE MATLESE FALCON and many other mysteries popular in the twenties and thirties. Besides giving the reader part fictionalized history and part biography, he creates a suspense filled plot, placed in San Francisco in 1928. The story begins when Hammett the writer returns to sleuthing after the murder of an old friend whom he had refused to help.

THE ABOMINABLE MAN by Maj Sjowall and Per Wahloo.

KNOCKDOWN by Dick Francis.

TIED UP IN TINSEL by Ngaio Marsh.

AUPRES DE MA BLONDE by Nicolas Freeling.

MAIGRET AND THE MADWOMAN by Georges Simenon.

The NIGHTMARE CHASE by Evelyn Berckman.

DON'T LIE TO ME by Tucker Coe.

The following novels are also new at the library: MALPRACTICE, by Eleazer Lipsky. In this completely engrossing novel, Lipsky treats one of the urgent issues of our day. Manya Schoeder, after a history of hysterical behavior, has undergone successfully, it appears, surgery for brain tumor. Yet in time her condition deteriorates. All the hysterical symptoms return, reinforced by cancerphobia. Does she have a suit for malpractice? Will Mahler, an ex-assistant district attorney of New York City, thinks she does and tries to prove it against an impressive array of legal and medical power.

THE SOUND OF COACHES by Leon Garfield.

ICEBERG by Clive Cussler.

KING OF WHITE LADY by Lance Hill.

THE ROSE AT HARVEST END by Eleanor Fairburn.

THE MASTERS AFFAIR by Burt Hirschfield.

One of Tecumseh's most successful volunteer programs, the Community Drop-In Center is looking for new program ideas and participants.

A planning Committee meeting will be held at the Community Center Sept. 23 at 9:30 a.m.

Due to lack of new participants, meetings may be monthly instead of weekly.

Drop-In center began a few years ago to offer parents in the school district an opportunity to discuss topics of common interest regarding child development, the schools and community resources.

Since then the scope of interests has broadened and men and women, parents and non-parents of all ages have participated in the informal discussions on a variety of topics.

Other community action groups have come out of the Drop-In center including the Little Indian Pre-school and Jobs for Teens and Kick Out the Kinks exercise group.

To the Editor:

I want to thank the City Council and the Chamber of Commerce for cooperating with the Tecumseh Area Historical Society to investigate the feasibility of preserving the Kennedy House.

The loss of this building due to the cost of complete restoration, which was necessary due to years of neglect and alterations, makes the adoption of a historic district and ordinance more imperative than ever to Tecumseh.

A historic ordinance provides a legal way of preserving buildings and their landscapes before neglect and destructive alterations render them to the sad fate of the Kennedy House.

The Historic District Study Committee appointed by City Council is working to present an ordinance, well documented for both the residential and business properties for Council's approval in 1976.

Individuals and organizations are urgently needed to assist in the study now. Documentation of dates is necessary.

Anyone who would like to assist us with this project can contact any committee member: David Ruff, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Berkley, Mrs. Vera Driscoll, Mrs. Don Smith, Wallace Whiting, Geraldine French, Earl Mason, Gina Bauman, Mr. and Mrs. Owen Merrill or ex-officio members: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gross, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Havener or Kathy Brown.

The warmth and charm of these structures in the heart of Tecumseh can never be reproduced. They are reminders to us and future generations of those who cared enough in the past to give Tecumseh extra beauty in their homes, businesses and streets. This heritage is in everyone's hands today.

Sincerely yours,
Lynn Cook,
Historic Ordinance Study Committee Chairman

Here's a Bicentennial theme that needs to be expressed during the upcoming celebration:

"Let's keep it growing for 200 more years . . . Welcome God to America's Bicentennial. . . practice what you pray."

Next meeting for the local bicentennial committee is Sept. 23. Tecumseh's organizations still have an opportunity to get going on projects in honor of America's 200 years of self-government.

Ford Tri-Motor Here Sunday

The Historical Island Airways of Port Clinton, Ohio, will release their treasured historical Ford Tri-Motor plane, for one day Sept. 28, to come to the Al Meyers Airport Inc., of Tecumseh.

Activity is under the auspices of the Ox-5 Aviation Pioneers, Michigan Wing.

Ford Tri-Motored Planes were usually referred to as the "Tin Goose" or the "Flying Washboard."

Public will have an opportunity to see and purchase a ride on the only Ford plane being used today on the shortest airline in the world and learn about its tremendous historical background.

Purchasers of flight tickets will receive a certificate of flight, signed by the pilot, the date of flight, and whether they rode as a passenger or in the co-pilots seat.

This plane was completely overhauled this spring, and is used by the Island Airways, making 11 round trips daily to the Lake Erie Islands.

This is the only aerial school bus operating in the U.S. It transports students and teachers from the other Islands to South Bass Island (Put-in-Bay) to attend and teach in the only high school available to the Island students.

Last year, the "flying students" had an attendance record of four absent days, due to bad weather.

Not only does this plane act as a school bus, but does the work of any land carrier, ambulance, hearse, transport for tourists, vineyard workers, ice fishermen, hunters, groceries, tools, fish, wines and supplies for making the famous Island wines.

There are two Ford Tri-Motor Planes flying today, the other Ford is operated by an independent-operator residing in Ottawa, Kan.

The Ford Tri-Motor Plane has more "firsts" to its credit than any other plane, some are:

- An enclosed pilot cockpit in a large transport, wheel brakes on a large transport, cabin soundproofing, heater, dougnut tires, and cantilever wings on a large transport.
- First aircraft to have movies shown in its cabin for entertainment.
- First meals to be served in a plane, (ThermoFax gas heaters were used to warm food, as well as nursing bottles.)
- First to be used in Transcontinental Air Service (TAT)
